Current White House Releases

WEEKLY COMPILATION OF PRESIDENTIAL DOCUMENTS

This unique service makes available transcripts of the President's news conferences; messages to Congress; public speeches, remarks, and statements; and other Presidential materials released by the White House.

The Weekly Compilation carries a Monday dateline and covers materials released during the preceding week. It includes an Index of Contents and a system of cumulative indexes. Other finding aids include lists of laws approved by the President and of nominations submitted to the Senate, a checklist of White House releases, and a digest of other White House announcements.

This systematic publication of Presidential items provides users with up-to-date information and a permanent reference source concerning Presidential policies and pronouncements.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

[Amdt. 13]

PART 725—FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

Subpart—Flue-Cured Tobacco, 1970-71 and Subsequent Marketing Years

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Basis and purpose. This amendment is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1281, et seq.).

The main purpose of this amendment is to provide for obtaining a producer report of production of unmarketed tobacco at end of season. The regulations have provided for many years for obtaining a producer report of production and disposition of tobacco on MQ-108. This amendment provides for a report of unmarketed tobacco on MQ-108-1 which is really an abbreviated MQ–108. Other amendments are included.

The changes in the regulations to incorporate this amendment are as follows:

1. Section 725.69 is completely rewritten to provide language uniformly adopted for all commodity allotments, bases, and quotas relative to establishing new farm allotments.

2. In § 725.72, paragraph (s) is amended to permit transfers from federally owned land where the land is leased back with uninterrupted possession to the former owner after acquisition under the right of eminent domain.

3. Section 725.73 is amended to include failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster when determining tobacco history acreage and to delete other provisions that are no longer applicable.

4. In § 725.98, paragraph (d) is deleted because the provision is included in revised § 725.69 and paragraph (g) is amended to provide for obtaining a report of unmarketed tobacco from farm operators.

5. In § 725.100, subparagraph (1) of paragraph (d) is amended to clarify that tobacco dealers and buyers are required to furnish the warehouseman an adjustment invoice or buyers settlement sheet on a daily sales basis.

6. In § 725.102, the last sentence of paragraph (b) is amended to provide that reports of truckers, persons redrying, prizing, or stemming tobacco and storage firms are to be furnished to the State ASCS office of the State in which the business is located.

Tobacco farmers are now in the process of marketing their 1972 crop of Flue-cured tobacco covered by these regulations and need to know the provisions of the amendments herein. Hence, it is essential that the amendments contained herein be made effective at the earliest possible date. Accordingly, it is hereby found and determined that compliance with the notice, public procedure and 30-day effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. The amendments contained herein shall become effective upon the date of filing this document with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

The amendments are as follows:

1. Section 725.69 is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.69 Determination of acreage allotments for new farms.

The acreage allotment, other than an allotment made under § 725.68, for a new farm shall be that acreage which the county committee, with approval of the State committee, determines is fair and reasonable for the farm, taking into consideration the past tobacco experience of the farm operator, the land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: Provided, That the acreage allotment so determined shall not exceed 50 percent of the average of the acreage allotments established for two or more but not more than five old farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: And provided further, That, if an acreage is not planted to tobacco on a new tobacco farm, such allotment shall be automatically reduced to zero.

(a) Written application. The farm operator must file an application for a new farm allotment at the office of the county committee where the farm is administratively located on or before February 15 of the year for which the new farm allotment is requested.

(b) Eligibility requirements for operator. A new farm allotment may be established if each of the following conditions is met:

(1) Owner and operator of the farm. The operator shall be the sole owner of the farm. For the purpose of applying this subparagraph (1) a person who owns only part of a farm cannot be considered the owner of the farm except that both husband and wife shall be considered the owner and operator of a farm which they jointly own.

(2) Interest in another farm. The farm operator shall not own or operate any other farm in the United States for which a tobacco allotment or quota for any kind of tobacco is established for the current year.

(3) Availability of equipment and facilities. The operator must own, or have readily available, adequate equipment and any other facilities of production necessary to the production of tobacco on the farm.

(4) Income requirement. The operator must expect to obtain during the current year more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities or products.

(i) Computing operator's income. The following shall be considered in computing operator's income.

(a) Income from farming. Income from farming shall include the estimated return from home gardens, livestock and livestock products, poultry, or other agricultural products produced for home consumption or other use on the farm. The estimated return from the production of the requested new farm allotment shall not be included.

(b) Income from nonfarming. Nonfarming income shall include but shall not be limited to salaries, commissions, pensions, social security payments, and unemployment compensations.

(c) Spouse's income. The spouse's farm and nonfarm income shall be used in the computation.

(ii) Operator a partnership. If the operator is a partnership, each partner must expect to obtain more than 50 percent of his current year income from farming.

(iii) Operator a corporation. If the operator is a corporation, it must have no other major corporate purpose other than ownership or operation of the farm. Farming must provide its officers and general manager with more than 50 percent of their expected income. Salaries and dividends from the corporation shall be considered as income from farming.

(iv) Special provision for low-income farmers. The county committee may waive the income provisions in this section provided they determine that the farm operator's income, from both farm and nonfarm sources, is so low that it will not provide a reasonable standard of living for the operator and his family, and a State committee representative approves such action. In waiving the income provisions the county committee must exercise good judgment to see that their determination is reasonable in the light of all pertinent factors, and that this special provision is made applicable only to those who qualify. In making their determination, the county committee shall consider such factors as size and type of farming operations, estimated net worth, estimated gross family income, estimated family off-farm income, number of dependents, and other factors affecting the individual's ability to provide a reasonable standard of living for himself and his family.

(5) Experience. Operator must have had experience in producing, harvesting, and marketing the kind of tobacco requested. Such experience must have been gained by being a sharecropper, tenant, or farm operator (bona fide tobacco production experience gained by a person as a member of a partnership shall be accepted as experience gained in meeting this requirement) during at least two of the 5 years immediately preceding the year for which the new farm allotment is requested. If the operator was in the armed services during the 5-year period, the period shall be extended 1 year for each year of military service during the 5 years. The experience must have been gained on a farm having a tobacco allotment for such years for the kind of tobacco requested in the application.

(c) Eligibility requirements for the farm. A new farm allotment may be established if each of the following conditions is met:

(1) Current allotment or quota. The farm must not have on the date of approval of a new farm acreage allotment an allotment or quota for any kind of tobacco.

(2) Available land, type of soil, and topography. The available land, type of soil, and topography of the land on the farm must be suitable for tobacco production. Also continuous production of tobacco must not result in an undue erosion hazard.

(3) Entire allotment designated by owner where farm reconstituted. A farm which includes land which has no tobacco allotment because the owner did not designate a tobacco allotment for such land when the parent farm was reconstituted pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter shall not be eligible for a new farm tobacco allotment for a period of 5 years beginning with the year in which the reconstitution became effective.

(4) Eminent domain acquisition. A farm which includes land acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain for which the entire tobacco allotment was pooled pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter, which is subsequently returned to agricultural production, shall not be eligible for a new farm allotment for a period of 5 years from the date the former owner was displaced.

(5) Downward adjustment. The acreage allotments established as provided in this section for each kind of tobacco shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring such allotments in line with the total acreage available for allotment to all new farms.

(6) False information. Any new farm acreage allotment which was determined by the county committee on the basis of incomplete or inaccurate information knowingly furnished by the applicant shall be canceled by the county committee as of the date the allotment was established. When incomplete or inaccurate information was unknowingly furnished by the applicant, the allotment shall be canceled effective for the current crop year except where the provisions of § 725.70(d) apply.

2. In § 725.72, paragraph (s) is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.72 Lease and transfer of tobacco marketing quotas.

* * * * *

(s) Allotment and marketing quota on land under restrictive lease. No transfer under this section shall be made from any land owned by the United States, or any agency or instrumentality wholly owned by the United States, except that the transfer may be approved in cases where the land is leased back with uninterrupted possession to the former owner after acquisition under right of eminent domain. For such transfers, the Government agency or instrumentality is not required to sign the record of transfer.

3. Section 725.73 is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.73 Determining tobacco history acreages.

Tobacco history acreage shall be determined for each farm for which a tobacco farm acreage allotment has been established for the current year.

(a) Farm acreage allotment fully preserved. The farm acreage allotment is fully preserved as tobacco history acreage for the current year if:

(1) In the current year or either of the 2 preceding years (i) the sum of (a) the final tobacco acreage (including failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster) as determined under Part 718 of this chapter, (b) the acreage computed for pounds leased and transferred from the farm under lease and transfer provisions, and (c) the acreage regarded as planted to tobacco under the conservation programs and practices determined pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter, was as much as 75 per centum of the farm's history allotment (basic allotment minus acreage reduced for (1) overmarketings and (2) violation of marketing quota regulations), or (ii) the farm acreage allotment is or was in the eminent domain allotment pool; or

(2) The farm consists of federally owned land for which a restrictive lease is in effect prohibiting the production of tobacco.

(b) Computed history acreage. If the farm acreage allotment is not fully preserved as tobacco history acreage under paragraph (a) of this section, the tobacco history acreage shall be the sum of the acreage (not to exceed the farm acreage allotment) as follows:

(1) Final tobacco acreage (including failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster) as determined under Part 718 of this chapter.

(2) Acreage computed for pounds leased and transferred from the farm.

(3) Acreage regarded as planted to tobacco under the conservation programs and practices.

4. In § 725.98, paragraph (d) is deleted and paragraph (g) is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.98 Producer's records and reports.

* * * * *

* * * * *

(g) Report of production and disposition. In addition to any other reports which may be required by this subpart, the operator on each farm or any producer on the farm (even though the harvested acreage does not exceed the acreage allotment or even though no allotment was established for the farm) shall, upon written request by certified mail from the State executive director, within 15 days after deposit of such request in the U.S. mail, addressed to such person at his last known address, furnish the Secretary on MQ–108, Report of Production and Disposition, a written report of the acreage, production and disposition of all tobacco produced on the farm by sending the same to the State ASCS office showing, as to the farm at the time of filing such report: (1) The number of fields (patches or areas) from which tobacco was harvested from the farm, (2) the total pounds of tobacco produced, (3) the amount of tobacco on hand and its location, (4) as to each lot of tobacco marketed, the name and address of the warehouseman, dealer, or other person to or through whom such tobacco was marketed and the number of pounds marketed, the gross price paid and the date of the marketings, and (5) the complete details as to any tobacco disposed of other than by sale. The operator on each farm or any producer on the farm (even though the harvested acreage does not exceed the acreage allotment or even though no allotment was established for the farm) shall, upon written request on Form MQ–108–1 from the county committee, within the 15 days after deposit of such request in the U.S. mail, addressed to such person at his last known address, furnish the Secretary on MQ–108–1 a written report of the amount of tobacco produced on the farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and its location, and the amount of tobacco produced on any other farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and which is stored on the farm and its location. Failure to file the MQ–108 or MQ–108–1 as requested, the filing of an MQ–108 or MQ–108–1 which is found by the State committee (county committee in the case of MQ–108–1) to be incomplete or incorrect shall, to the extent that it involves tobacco produced on the farm constitute failure of the producer to account for disposition of tobacco produced on the farm and the quota next established for such farm shall be reduced, except that such reduction for any such farm shall not be made if it is established to the satisfaction of the county and State committee (county committee in the case of MQ–108–1) that (i) failure to furnish such proof of disposition was unintentional and no producer on such farm could reasonably have been expected to furnish such proof of disposition: Provided, That such failure will be construed as intentional unless such proof of disposition is furnished and payment of all additional penalty is made, or (ii) no person connected with such farm for the year for which the quota is being established caused, aided, or acquiesced in the failure to furnish such proof.

5. In § 725.100, subparagraph (1) of paragraph (d) is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.100 Dealer's records and reports.

* * * * *

(d) Daily report to warehouseman for buyers corrections account. * * *

(1) Any dealer, buyer, or any other person receiving tobacco from or through a warehouseman at an auction sale or otherwise, which is not invoiced to him or which is incorrectly invoiced to him by the warehouseman, shall furnish to the warehouseman on a daily sales basis an adjustment invoice or buyers settlement sheet.

6. In § 725.102, the last sentence of paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 725.102 Records and reports of truckers, persons redrying, prizing, or stemming tobacco, and storage firms.

* * * * *

(b) * * * Any such person shall report this information to the State ASCS office of the State in which the business is located within 15 days of the end of the marketing year, except for tobacco handled for an association operating the price support program and tobacco purchased by him at auction or for which he had previously reported on Form MQ–79.

PART 726—BURLEY TOBACCO

Burley Tobacco, 1971–72 and Subsequent Marketing Years

On pages 18218 through 18222 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 8, 1972, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to issue regulations for establishing farm marketing quotas, the collection and refund of penalties, and records and reports incident thereto for burley tobacco for the 1971–72 and subsequent marketing years.

Interested persons were given 15 days after publication of such notice in which to submit written data, views, and recommendations with respect to the proposed regulations. The data, views, and recommendations which were submitted pursuant to the notice were duly considered within the limits of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

One comment received in response to the proposed regulations on use of DDT and TDE on tobacco stated that the proposed rules assumes the continuing legality of the use of DDT and TDE on tobacco and pointed out that there are no valid registrations for the use of these pesticides on tobacco. The regulation does not condone the use of DDT or TDE on tobacco. It is addressed solely to enabling the Department to determine whether DDT or TDE has been used on tobacco in order to enforce the provisions of the price support regulations (7 CFR Part 1464) prohibiting price support on tobacco on which these pesticides have been used. The proposed regulations were adopted with the following changes and additions:

1. Section 726.65(b)(2) has been changed to make it clear that tobacco allotment or quota applies to a tobacco allotment or quota for any kind of tobacco.

2. Section 726.68(j) is revised to permit transfers of burley tobacco quotas by lease from federally owned land in those cases where the land was leased back with uninterrupted possession to the former owner after it was acquired under the eminent domain provision.

3. Section 726.92(e) is changed to provide that the operator on each farm or any producer on the farm shall, upon written request on Form MQ-108-1 from the county committee, furnish a written report of the amount of tobacco produced on the farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and its location and the amount of tobacco produced on any other farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and which is stored on the farm and its location. The new Form MQ-108-1 is an abbreviated MQ-108 which has been a provision in the regulations for many years.

4. Section 726.93(a)(4) is changed to provide that tobacco sales bills be sorted and filed in an orderly manner by sale days, numerical or alphabetical order.

5. Section 726.93(a)(7)(i) and (ii) is changed to clarify that dealers and warehouses are to enter name, address, and identification number on tobacco sale bills for each resale of tobacco.

6. Section 726.96 is changed to clarify that each person engaged in the business of redrying, prizing, or stemming tobacco and storage firms handling tobacco shall report required information to the State ASCS office in which the business is located.

7. Other editorial changes are made as appropriate.

8. Authority provision has been added.

Since farmers are now harvesting their tobacco crop in preparation for market it is essential that these regulations be made effective at the earliest possible date. Accordingly, this document is being made effective upon date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 24, 1972.

GLENN A. WEIR,
Acting Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

1. Section 726.51(x) is amended to read as follows:

§ 726.51 Definitions.

* * * * *

(x) Planted or considered planted. Credit assigned in the current year for a farm with an established farm marketing quota when:

(1) Burley tobacco is planted on the farm (including failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster), or

(2) Quota is: (i) Leased and transferred from the farm, (ii) in the eminent domain pool, or (iii) preserved under conservation programs or practices as provided in Part 719 of this chapter, or

(3) The farm consists of federally owned land.

* * * * *

2. In § 726.62(b), the first sentence is amended to read as follows:

§ 726.62 Correction of errors and adjusting inequities in marketing quotas for old farms.

* * * * *

(b) Basis for adjustment. Increases to adjust inequities in quotas shall be made on the basis of the past acreages and yields of tobacco, making due allowances for failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster; land, labor, and equipment, available for the production of tobacco, crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. * * *

* * * * *

3. In § 726.64, the first and second sentences of paragraph (d) are amended and a new paragraph (e) is added to read as follows:

§ 726.64 Marketing quotas and yields for farms acquired under right of eminent domain.

(d) Release and reapportionment. The displaced owner of a farm may, not later than the final release date established by the State committee for the current year, release in writing to the county committee for the current year all or part of the quota for the farm in a pool under Part 719 of this chapter for reapportionment for the current year by the county committee to other farms in the county having quotas for burley tobacco. The county committee may reapportion, not later than the final date established by the State committee for requesting reapportioned acreage for the current year, the released quota or any part of it to other farms in the county on the basis of past production of tobacco, land, labor, and equipment, available for the production of tobacco, crop rotation practices, and soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco. * * *

(e) Closing dates for release and reapportionment. The State committee shall establish a final date for releasing quota to the county committee for reapportionment to other farms in the county having quotas for burley tobacco and a final date for filing a request to receive reapportioned acreage from the county committee for the current year. Such date(s) shall be for the entire State or for areas consisting of one or more counties in the State taking into consideration normal planting dates within the State. The dates will be determined and announced by regulations in this subpart or amendment thereto.

4. Section 726.65 is revised to read as follows:

§ 726.65 Determination of marketing quotas for new farms.

The marketing quota, other than a quota under § 726.64, for a new farm shall be that marketing quota which the county committee, with approval of the State committee, determines is fair and reasonable for the farm taking into consideration the past tobacco experience of the farm operator, the land, labor, and equipment, available for the production of tobacco; crop rotation practices; and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco: Provided, That the marketing quota so determined shall not exceed 50 percent of the average of the marketing quotas established for two or more but no more than five old tobacco farms which are similar with respect to land, labor, and equipment, available for the production of tobacco, crop rotation practices, and the soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco.

(a) Written application. The farm operator must file an application for a new farm marketing quota at the office of the county committee where the farm is administratively located on or before February 15 of the year for which the new farm marketing quota is requested.

(b) Eligibility requirements for operator. A new farm marketing quota may be established if each of the following conditions are met:

(1) Owner and operator of the farm. The operator must be the sole owner of the farm. For the purpose of applying this subparagraph (1), a person who owns only a part of a farm cannot be considered the owner of the farm except that both husband and wife shall be considered the owner and operator of a farm which they own jointly.

(2) Interest in another farm. The farm operator shall not own or operate any other farm in the United States for which a tobacco allotment or quota for any kind of tobacco is established for the current year.

(3) Availability of equipment and facilities. The operator must own, or have readily available, adequate equipment and any other facilities of production necessary to the production of burley tobacco on the farm.

(4) Income requirement. The operator must expect to obtain during the current year more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities or products.

(i) Computing operator's income. The following shall be considered in computing operator's income.

(a) Income from farming. Income from farming shall include the estimated return from home gardens, livestock, and livestock products, poultry, or other agricultural products, produced for home consumption or other use on the farm(s). The estimated return from the production of any requested new farm marketing quota shall not be included.

(b) Income from nonfarming. Nonfarming income shall include, but shall not be limited to, salaries, commissions, pensions, social security payments, and unemployment compensation.

(c) Spouse's income. The spouse's farm and nonfarm income shall be used in the computation.

(ii) Operator a partnership. If the operator is a partnership, each partner must expect to obtain more than 50 percent of his current year income from farming.

(iii) Operator a corporation. If the operator is a corporation, it must have no other major corporate purpose other than ownership or operation of the farm(s). Farming must provide its officers and general manager with more than 50 percent of their expected income. Salaries and dividends from the corporation shall be considered as income from farming.

(iv) Special provision for low-income farmers. The county committee may waive the income provisions in this section provided they determine that the farm operator's income, from both farm and nonfarm sources, is so low that it will not provide a reasonable standard of living for the operator and his family, and a State committee representative approves such action. In waiving the income provisions the county committee must exercise good judgment to see that their determination is reasonable in the light of all pertinent factors, and that this special provision is made applicable only to those who qualify. In making their determination, the county committee shall consider such factors as size and type of farming operations, estimated net worth, estimated gross family farm income, estimated family off-farm income, number of dependents, and other factors affecting the individual's ability to provide a reasonable standard of living for himself and his family.

(5) Experience. Operator must have had experience in producing, harvesting, and marketing of burley tobacco. Such experience must have been gained:

(i) By being a sharecropper, tenant, or farm operator. (Bona fide tobacco production experience gained by a person as a member of a partnership shall be accepted as experience gained in meeting this requirement.)

(ii) During at least two of the 5 years immediately preceding the year for which the new farm quota is requested. If the operator was in the armed services during the 5-year period, extend the period 1 year for each year of military service during the 5 years.

(iii) On a farm having a burley tobacco allotment or quota for such years.

(c) Eligibility requirements for the farm. A new farm marketing quota may be established if each of the following conditions is met:

(1) Current allotment or quota. The farm must not have on the date of approval of a new farm marketing quota an allotment or quota for any kind of tobacco.

(2) Available land, type of soil, and topography. The available land, type of soil, and topography of the land on the farm must be suitable for tobacco production. Also, continuous production of tobacco must not result in an undue erosion hazard.

(3) Entire quota designated by owner where farm reconstituted. A farm which includes land which has no tobacco quota because the owner did not designate a quota for such land when the parent farm was reconstituted pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter shall not be eligible for a new farm marketing quota for a period of 5 years beginning with the year in which the reconstitution became effective.

(4) Eminent domain acquisition. A farm which includes land acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain for which the entire tobacco allotment or quota was pooled pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter, which is subsequently returned to agricultural production, shall not be eligible for a new farm marketing quota for a period of 5 years from the date the former owner was displaced.

(5) Downward adjustment. New farm marketing quotas established as provided in this section shall be subject to such downward adjustment as is necessary to bring the total of such quotas within the total pounds available for quotas to all new farms.

(6) Failure to plant. A new farm marketing quota shall be reduced to zero if no tobacco is planted on the farm the first year.

(7) False information. Any new farm marketing quota which was determined by the county committee on the basis of incomplete or inaccurate information knowingly furnished by the applicant, shall be canceled by the county committee as of the date the quota was established. When incomplete or inaccurate information was unknowingly furnished by the applicant, the quota shall be canceled effective for the current crop year except where the provisions of § 726.66 (d) applies.

(8) New farm yields. A farm yield shall be established for each new farm for which a farm marketing quota is established under this section. Such yield shall be appraised by the county committee based on farm yields established for similar farms in the area.

5. Section 726.68(j) is amended to read as follows:

§ 726.68 Transfer of burley tobacco farm marketing quotas by lease or by owner.

* * * * *

(j) Quotas on federally owned land. No transfer under this section shall be made from any land owned by the United States, or any agency or instrumentality wholly owned by the United States, except that the transfer may be approved in cases where the land is leased back with uninterrupted possession to the former owner after acquisition under right of eminent domain. For such transfers, the Government agency or instrumentality is not required to sign the record of transfer.

* * * * *

6. Section 726.80 is revised to read as follows:

§ 726.80 Identification of kinds of tobacco.

Any tobacco that has the same characteristics and corresponding qualities, colors, and lengths of burley tobacco shall be considered burley tobacco without regard to any factors of historical or geographical nature which cannot be determined by examination of the tobacco. The term "tobacco" with respect to any farm located in an area in which burley tobacco as classified in Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 118 (Part 30 of this title) of the former Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, is normally produced shall include all tobacco, excluding other kinds subject to marketing quotas, produced on a farm unless the county committee with the approval of the State committee determines from satisfactory proof furnished by the operator of the farm that a part or all of such tobacco is certified by the Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, under the Tobacco Inspection Act (7 U.S.C. 511), and regulations issued pursuant thereto, as a kind of tobacco not subject to marketing quotas.

7. Section 726.81 is amended by revoking subparagraph (5) of paragraph (f) and by adding paragraphs (g) and (h) to read as follows:

§ 726.81 Issuance of marketing cards.

• • • • • •

(f) Farm quota data entered on marketing card and supplemental card. • • •

(5) [Revoked]

(g) Lease only marketing card. A marketing card for lease only may be issued in the name of the farm operator for a farm where there is no tobacco available for marketing in the current year if the farm is otherwise eligible to lease marketing quota.

(h) Other data entered on marketing cards and supplemental card. Other data specified in instructions issued by the Deputy Administrator shall be entered on the marketing card.

8. In § 726.85, paragraphs (a) and (e)(3) are amended to read as follows:

§ 726.85 Identification of markетings.

(a) Identification of producer markетings. Each auction and nonauction marketing of tobacco from a farm in a quota area in the current year shall be identified by a marketing card, Form MQ–76, issued for the farm unless an AMS certification shows it to be nonquota tobacco. The reverse side of the marketing card shall show in pounds (1) 110 percent of quota, (2) balance of 110 percent of quota after each sale, and (3) date of each sale. Each producer sale at auction shall be recorded on a Form MQ–72–1, Report of Tobacco Auction Sale, and each producer sale at nonauction shall be recorded on Form MQ–72–2, Report of Tobacco Nonauction Purchase. For producer sales at nonauction, the dealer purchaser shall execute Form MQ–72–2 and shall enter the data on MQ–76. For producer sales at auction, Form MQ–72–1 and Form MQ–76 shall be executed only by the ASCS marketing recorder.

• • • • • •

(e) Separate display on auction warehouse floor. • • •

(3) Make and keep records that will insure a separate accounting and reporting of each of such kinds of tobacco (quota and nonquota) sold at auction over the warehouse floor.

• • • • • •

9. Paragraph (c) of § 726.86 is amended by adding 1971–72 average market price data in subparagraph (1) and 1972–73 rate of penalty data in subparagraph (2) to read as follows:

§ 726.86 Rate of penalty.

• • • • • •

AVERAGE MARKET PRICE

1970–71	72.2
1971–72	80.9

(2) Rate of penalty per pound. • • •

RATE OF PENALTY

Marketing year:	Cent per Pound
1971–72	54
1972–73	61

10. Section 726.88 is amended by revising the last sentence of paragraph (c) to read as follows:

§ 726.88 Penalties considered to be due from warehousemen, dealers, buyers, and others excluding the producer.

• • • • • •

(c) Leaf account tobacco. • • • The actual quantity of floor sweepings which the State executive director determines has been properly identified as floor sweepings and sold and reported as such by the warehouseman shall be considered acceptable proof that such marketings are not marketings of excess tobacco if the amount thereof for the warehouse does not exceed the maximum allowable floor sweepings for the season determined by multiplying the limitation set forth in § 726.51(n) by total first sales of tobacco at auction.

• • • • • •

11. Paragraph (e) of § 726.92 is amended to read as follows:

§ 726.92 Producers' records and reports.

• • • • • •

(c) Report of production and disposition. In addition to any other reports which may be required by this subpart, the operator on each farm or any producer on the farm (even though no allotment and quota was established for the farm) shall, upon written request by certified mail from the State executive director, within 15 days after deposit of such request in the U.S. mail, addressed to such person at his last known address, furnish the Secretary on MQ–108, Report of Production and Disposition, a written report on the production and disposition of all tobacco produced on the farm by sending the same to the State ASCS office showing, as to the farm at the time of filing such report, (1) the total pounds of tobacco produced, (2) the amount of tobacco on hand and its location, (3) as to each lot of tobacco marketed, the name and address of the warehouseman, dealer, or other person to or through whom such tobacco was marketed and the number of pounds marketed, the gross price paid and the date of marketings, and (4) the complete details as to any tobacco disposed of other than by sale. The operator on each farm or any producer on the farm (even though no allotment and quota was established for the farm) shall, upon written request on Form MQ–108–1 from the county committee, within 15 days after deposit of such request in the U.S. mail, addressed to such person at his last known address, furnish the Secretary on MQ–108–1 a written report of the amount of tobacco produced on the farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and its location, and the amount of tobacco produced on any other farm which is unmarketed at the end of the marketing season and which is stored on the farm and its location. Failure to file the MQ–108 or MQ–108–1 as requested, the filing of an MQ–108 or MQ–108–1, which is found by the State committee (county committee in the case of MQ–108–1) to be incomplete or incorrect shall, to the extent that it involves tobacco produced on the farm, constitute failure of the producer to account for disposition of tobacco produced on the farm and the allotment and quota next established for such farm shall be reduced, except that such reduction for any such farm shall not be made if it is established to the satisfaction of the county and State committee (county committee in the case of MQ–108–1) that (i) failure to furnish such proof of disposition was unintentional and no producer on such farm could reasonably have been expected to furnish such proof of disposition: Provided, That such failure will be construed as intentional unless such proof of disposition is furnished and payment of all additional penalty is made, or (ii) no person connected with such farm for the year for which the quota is being established caused, aided, or acquiesced in the failure to furnish such proof.

• • • • • •

12. Section 726.93 is amended by revising the first sentence of the section, the first sentence of subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a), subparagraph (3) of paragraph (a), the second and succeeding sentences of subparagraph (4) of paragraph (a), subparagraphs (7) and (8) of paragraph (a), the first sentence of paragraph (c) and subparagraph (14) of paragraph (g), and paragraph (l) to read as follows:

§ 726.93 Warehouseman's records and reports.

Each warehouse shall keep the records and make the reports separately for each kind of tobacco (quota and nonquota) as provided in this section.

(a) Record of marketing—(1) Auction sale. Each warehouseman shall keep such records as will enable him to furnish the State office with respect to each auction sale of tobacco made at his warehouse the following information. • • •

(3) Buyers corrections account. Each warehouseman shall keep such records including negative adjustment invoices as will enable him to furnish a weekly report on Form MQ–71 to the State ASCS office showing the total pounds of the debits (for returned baskets, short baskets, and short weights of tobacco) and credits (for long baskets, and long weights of tobacco) to the buyers corrections account. Where the warehouseman returns to the seller tobacco debited to the buyers corrections account, the warehouseman shall prepare an adjustment invoice to the seller. This invoice shall be the basis for a credit entry for the warehouse in the buyers corrections account and a corresponding purchase (debit entry) in the case of a dealer on his MQ–79, Dealers Record. Any balancing figure reflected on the warehouseman's summary of bill-outs shall not be included in the buyers corrections account.

(4) Tobacco sale bill and daily warehouse sales summary. • • • The warehouseman shall not weigh in any tobacco for sale unless a marketing card (MQ–76 for producers, MQ–79–2 for dealers) is furnished the weighman or the tobacco is represented to be a nonquota kind which is required to be displayed in a separate area on the warehouse floor under § 726.85(e) of these regulations. The buyer and grade space on the tobacco sale bill shall show nonauction purchases by the warehouse, tobacco grade for tobacco consigned to price support, and the symbol for tobacco bought by private buyers. At the end of each sale day, the tobacco sale bills shall be sorted and filed in an orderly manner by sale days, numerical or alphabetical order, and basket tickets shall be filed in an orderly manner by sale dates or by numerical order. A copy of the executed Form MQ–80, Daily Warehouse Sales Summary, shall be furnished to the marketing recorder for the Kansas City Data Processing Center (KCDPC).

(7) Labeling tobacco sale bill for resale tobacco. In the case of resales, each sale bill shall show resale and: (i) For dealers, the name, address, and identification number of the dealer making each resale; and (ii) for the warehouse, the name, address, and identification number of the warehouse and either "floor sweepings" or "leaf account" tobacco.

(8) Nonquota tobacco or quota tobacco of a different kind. Should tobacco be presented for sale that is represented to be nonquota tobacco or there is question as to what kind of quota tobacco is being offered, an inspection shall be obtained from the Agricultural Marketing Service of this Department (AMS) after the tobacco is weighed and in line for sale. If an AMS inspection shows that a basket or lot of tobacco is of a different kind than that identified by the basket ticket after it is weighed in and a sale bill prepared, such tobacco shall be deleted from the original sale bill and a revised sale bill prepared.

• • • • • •

(c) Marketing card. Each marketing of tobacco from a farm in the burley tobacco producing area shall be identified by a marketing card issued for the farm on which the tobacco was produced (unless prior to the marketing of such tobacco an AMS inspection certificate is obtained showing that the tobacco offered for sale is a kind of tobacco not subject to marketing quotas).

• • • • • •

(g) Daily warehouse sales summary. • • •

(14) At the end of the season, each warehouseman shall: (i) Report on his final MQ–80 for the season the quantities of leaf account tobacco and floor sweepings, if any, on hand and its location, (ii) permit its inspection by a representative of ASCS, and (iii) provide for the weighing of such tobacco (to be witnessed by ASCS) and furnish to ASCS at that time a certification as to the actual weight of such tobacco. After the weight of such tobacco has been obtained as provided in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph, it shall be considered as the official weight for comparing purchases and resales for the purpose of determining the amount of penalty, if penalty is due.

• • • • • •

(l) Maintaining copies of bill-out invoices to purchaser or daily summary journal sheet to reflect daily transactions. For each marketing year, the warehouseman shall maintain copies of the bill-out invoices to the purchaser by grades showing the pounds purchased and identification references to such basic warehouse records as basket ticket or sale bill. In lieu of this requirement, the warehouseman may prepare and maintain for each sale day on a current basis a daily summary journal sheet to reflect for each purchaser (including warehouse leaf account or other similar account) pounds and dollar amounts for:

(1) Tobacco originally billed to the purchaser.

(2) Mathematical billing errors and corrections (added and deducted) from purchaser's adjustment invoices.

(3) Short (deducted) and long (added) weights from purchaser's adjustment invoices.

(4) Short (deducted) and long (added) baskets from purchaser's adjustment invoices.

(5) Net tobacco received and paid for by purchaser.

13. Section 726.94 is amended by revising the general statement at the beginning of the section, the first sentence of paragraph (b)(1)(i), subparagraph (4) of paragraph (c), and paragraph (d), to read as follows:

§ 726.94 Dealer's records and reports.

Each dealer, except as provided in § 726.95, shall keep the records and make the reports separately for each kind (quota and nonquota) of tobacco as provided by this section. Adjustment invoices, including the adjustment invoices for any sale day for which there is no adjustment to be made, required to be furnished to an auction warehouse shall be identified by the warehouse identification number and the reporting dealer's identification number as well as the names of the warehouse and dealers involved in the transaction.

• • • • • •

(b) Nonauction sale (country purchase) to a dealer. (1)(i) Each purchase of tobacco from a producer from a burley tobacco producing area shall be identified by a marketing card issued for the farm on which the tobacco was produced unless prior to purchase an AMS inspection certificate is obtained showing that the tobacco offered for sale is of a kind of tobacco not subject to marketing quotas. • • •

• • • • • •

(c) Record and report of purchases and resales. • • •

(4) At the end of the dealer's marketing operation, but not later than April 1, he shall for each kind of tobacco: (i) Show the word "final" on his final report, MQ–79, for the season, (ii) report on such final MQ–79 for the season the quantity of tobacco on hand and its location, (iii) permit its inspection by a representative of ASCS, and (iv) provide for weighing of such tobacco (to be witnessed by ASCS) and furnish to ASCS at that time a certification as to the actual weight of such tobacco. After the weight of such tobacco has been determined as provided in subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph, it shall be considered as the official weight for comparing purchases and resales for the purpose of determining the amount of penalty, if penalty is due.

• • • • • •

(d) Daily report to warehouseman for buyers corrections account. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 726.95, reports shall be made as follows:

(1) Any dealer, buyer, or any other person receiving tobacco from or through a warehouseman at an auction sale or otherwise, which is not invoiced to him or which is incorrectly invoiced to him by the warehouseman, shall furnish to the warehouseman on a daily sales basis an adjustment invoice or buyers settlement sheet.

(2) Each dealer who purchases tobacco on a warehouse floor for any sale day in which there is no adjustment required in the account as shown on the warehouse bill-out invoice for that sale day, shall file a negative report with the warehouseman for that sale day.

(3) Such reports as required under subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be furnished daily, if practicable (otherwise, they shall be furnished at the end of each week), and shall show the identification number of the purchasing dealer and the identification number of the warehouse where the purchase was made.

• • • • • •

14. Section 726.95 is amended by revising the first sentence of paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 726.95 Dealers exempt from regular records and reports on MQ–79; and season report for exempted dealers.

(a) Any dealer or buyer who acquires tobacco only at auction sale and resells, in the form in which tobacco ordinarily is sold by farmers, 5 percent or less of any such tobacco shall not be subject to the requirements of § 726.94, except as provided in paragraph (d) of § 726.94. • • •

• • • • • •

15. Section 726.96 is amended by revising the last sentence of paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 726.96 Records and reports of truckers, persons redrying, prizing, or stemming tobacco and storage firms.

• • • • •

(b) • • • Any such person shall report this information to the State ASCS office of the State in which the business is located within 15 days of the end of the marketing year, except for tobacco handled for an association operating the price support program, and tobacco purchased by him at auction or for which he has previously reported on Form MQ–79.

• • • • •

16. Section 726.101 is amended by adding the language "warehouse bill-out invoices or daily summary journal sheet, the tissue copy of Form MQ–72–1, Report of Tobacco Auction Sale," immediately following the language "documents,".

17. Section 726.104 is amended by revising paragraphs (d) through (f) and adding new paragraphs (g) through (i).

§ 726.104 Determination of use of DDT and TDE.

• • • • •

(d) Producers right to recertify. Any producer on a farm shall have the right to recertify on MQ–38 to the use or nonuse of DDT or TDE if the recertification is filed with the county committee prior to the time any tobacco has been marketed from the farm or a request has been made to collect a sample of cured leaves.

(e) Collection of samples for chemical analysis. Samples shall be collected from selected producer tobacco crops during weigh-in at the auction warehouse. Samples shall also be collected on any farm where the county committee has reason to believe the producer used DDT or TDE on the tobacco and the producer certified to nonuse of DDT or TDE on the crop.

(f) Producer refusal to permit sampling. If a producer or producer representative refuses to permit the sampling of a tobacco crop, all tobacco of such crop produced on the farm shall be considered by the county committee to have been treated with DDT or TDE.

(g) Chemical analyzation of samples. Each sample shall be analyzed for residues of DDT, TDE, and their metabolites.

(h) Notice to farm operator. A written notice shall be furnished to the operator of each farm where the county committee determines that tobacco, after being transplanted in the field or after being harvested from the farm, was treated with DDT or TDE. Such determination by the county committee shall be based on (1) the certification on MQ–38, or (2) failure to file MQ–38, or (3) refusal to permit sampling, or (4) chemical analysis showing total DDT–TDE residue to be greater than or equal to 3 parts per million. The notice to the farm operator shall constitute notice to all persons who as owner, operator, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, are interested in the tobacco being grown on the farm.

(i) Producer's right to appeal. Any producer on a farm who believes that the DDT–TDE determination for the farm by the county committee is not correct may file an appeal with the county committee asking for reconsideration of such determination. The request for appeal and facts constituting a basis for such reconsideration must be submitted in writing and postmarked or delivered to the county committee within 7 days after the date of mailing of the notice of such determination. The request for appeal must be signed by the person making the appeal. If the appellant believes that the county committee's determination of such appeal is not correct, he may appeal to the State committee within 7 days after the date of mailing of the notice of the decision of the county committee. The decision of the State committee shall be final.

PART 929—CRANBERRIES GROWN IN THE STATES OF MASSACHUSETTS, RHODE ISLAND, CONNECTICUT, NEW JERSEY, WISCONSIN, MICHIGAN, MINNESOTA, OREGON, WASHINGTON, AND LONG ISLAND IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

On October 12, 1972, notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 21538) regarding proposed expenses and the related rate of assessment for the fiscal period September 1, 1972, through August 31, 1973, pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 929, as amended (7 CFR Part 929), regulating the handling of cranberries grown in the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Oregon, Washington, and Long Island in the State of New York. This regulatory program is effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The notice afforded 10 days for interested persons to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with said proposals. None were received.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the proposals which were submitted by the Cranberry Marketing Committee (established pursuant to the amended marketing agreement and order) and set forth in the aforesaid notice, it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 929.213 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) Expenses. The expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Cranberry Marketing Committee during the fiscal period September 1, 1972, through August 31, 1973, will amount to $56,404.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for said period, payable by each handler in accordance with § 929.41, is fixed at $0.03 per barrel of cranberries, or equivalent quantity of cranberries.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) shipments of cranberries are now being made, (2) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rate of assessment herein fixed shall be applicable to all assessable cranberries handled during the aforesaid period, and (3) such period began on September 1, 1972, and said rate of assessment will automatically apply to all such cranberries beginning with such date.

PART 987—DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN RIVERSIDE COUNTY, CALIF.

Establishment of Free and Restricted Percentages and Withholding Factors for 1972–73 Crop Year

The California Date Administrative Committee unanimously recommended establishment, for the 1972–73 crop year, of free and restricted percentages and withholding factors of 100 percent, 0 percent, and 0 percent, respectively, for Deglet Noor, Zahidi, Halawy, and Khadrawy varieties of domestic dates. The crop year began October 1, 1972. The establishment of such percentages and withholding factors is pursuant to the relevant provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 987, as amended (7 CFR Part 987). The amended marketing agreement and order regulate the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif., and are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The free percentages, restricted percentages, and withholding factors, for the 1972–73 crop year, applicable to marketable dates are pursuant to §§ 987.44 and 987.45. These percentages and factors are based on California Date Administrative Committee estimates of supply and trade demand, adjusted for handler carryover. Trade demand means the aggregate quantity of whole or pitted dates which the trade will acquire from all handlers during the crop year for distribution in the continental United States, Canada, and such other countries the Committee finds will acquire dates at prices reasonably comparable with prices received in the continental United States.

With respect to dates of the Deglet Noor variety, the total available supply of marketable dates subject to regulation is estimated at 29.1 million pounds and total trade requirements are estimated at 27.0 million pounds. It is expected that grade and size regulations effective during the 1972–73 crop year will cause a portion of the marketable supply to be sold in the form of products and export outlets. This quantity is expected to be more than the apparent excess of 2.1 million pounds. For dates of the Zahidi variety, the total available supply of marketable dates subject to regulation is estimated at 1.9 million pounds, and total trade requirements are estimated at 2.2 million pounds or 0.3 million pounds more than estimated supplies. The total available 1972–73 marketable supply of Halawys and Khadrawys is estimated at 0.7 million pounds, which approximates estimated total trade requirements.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, the information and recommendations submitted by the Committee, and other available information, it is found that to establish free percentages, restricted percentages, and withholding factors, as hereinafter set forth, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Therefore, the free percentages, restricted percentages, and withholding factors, for the 1972–73 crop year are established as follows:

§ 987.220 Free and restricted percentages, and withholding factors.[1]

The various free percentages, restricted percentages, and withholding factors applicable to marketable dates of each variety shall be, for the crop year beginning October 1, 1972, and ending September 30, 1973, as follows: (a) Deglet Noor variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent; (b) Zahidi variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent; (c) Halawy variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent; (d) Khadrawy variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent.

It is further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule making procedure, and that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) This action relieves current restrictions on date handlers and must be taken promptly to achieve its purpose; (2) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that (a) free and restricted percentages and withholding factors established for a particular crop year shall be applicable during the entire crop year to all marketable dates, and (b) the withholding obligations based on the continued regulations from the preceding crop year shall be adjusted to the newly established percentages upon their establishment; (3) the percentages and withholding factors established herein for the current 1972–73 crop year (which began October 1, 1972), will apply, and adjustment thereto of handlers' withholding obligations are required, automatically, with respect to all such dates; and (4) handlers are aware of the Committee's recommendation that all dates be free of volume regulation and need no additional time to comply therewith.

Chapter II—Federal Reserve System

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

[Regs. D and J]

PART 204—RESERVES OF MEMBER BANKS

PART 210—COLLECTION OF CHECKS AND OTHER ITEMS BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

Computation and Requirements and Payment of Cash Items Upon Presentment; Effective Dates

As a result of the Temporary Restraining Order entered September 19, 1972, by the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia upon petition filed by the Independent Bankers Association of America and the Western Independent Bankers, the effective dates for amendments to the Board's Regulation D (12 CFR Part 204) as set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 28, 1972 (37 F.R. 12713), and for amendments to the Board's Regulation J (12 CFR Part 210) as set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 28, 1972 (37 F.R. 12714), were postponed by the Board of Governors on September 20, 1972, pending judicial determination and subsequent action by the Board.

On October 19, 1972, the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia denied a motion for a preliminary injunction sought by the plaintiffs on the ground that plaintiffs had failed to carry the burden of establishing (1) that they would be irreparably injured if the amendments to Regulation J were put into effect, and (2) that they would be likely to succeed on the merits of the case after full trial. The decision of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia was consistent with the decision rendered on October 10, 1972, by the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California in an action brought by a group of California banks seeking to enjoin full implementation of the Board's Regulation J; this court's decision on a motion for preliminary injunction was also based on these same grounds.

As a result of these court determinations, the Board has decided to implement the amendments to Regulations D and J.

The amendments to Regulation J, which were scheduled to become effective on September 21, 1972, are effective November 9, 1972.

The amendments to Regulation D, which were scheduled to become effective September 21, 1972, are effective November 9, 1972. The amendments to Regulation D, which were scheduled to be effective for the period September 21, 1972, to September 27, 1972, are effective for the period November 9, 1972, to November 15, 1972. The amendments to Regulation D, which were scheduled to become effective on September 28, 1972, are effective November 16, 1972. It should be noted that the date "September 21, 1972" appearing in § 204.5(a)(1)(iii) of Regulation D—in the amendments previously scheduled to become effective for the period September 21, 1972, to September 27, 1972—should now read "November 9, 1972".

By order of the Board of Governors, October 24, 1972.

Assistant Secretary of the Board.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the San Antonio, Tex., transition area.

V 37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

On September 13, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 18565) stating the Federal Aviation Administration proposed to alter the San Antonio, Tex., transition area by enlarging the area to the northwest.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t. January 4, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (37 F.R. 2143), the San Antonio, Tex., transition area is amended to read:

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface bounded by a line beginning at latitude 29°22'30" N., longitude 97°47'00" W.; thence west via latitude 29°22'30" N. to and clockwise along the arc of a 23-mile radius circle centered at latitude 29°31'50" N., longitude 98°28'12" W., to latitude 29°13'15" N., longitude 98°20'00" W.; thence southeast to latitude 29°05'30" N., longitude 98°14'30" W.; thence southwest to latitude 29°01'40" N., longitude 98°21'40" W.; thence northwest to latitude 29°06'30" N., longitude 98°34'10" W.; thence north to the 23-mile radius circle at latitude 29°12'00" N., longitude 98°32'40" W.; thence clockwise along the arc of the 23-mile radius circle to latitude 29°38'00" N., longitude 98°50'15" W.; thence northwest to latitude 29°43'30" N., longitude 98°57'00" W.; thence northeast to latitude 29°53'00" N., longitude 98°50'30" W.; thence southeast to the 23-mile radius circle at latitude 29°47'30" N., longitude 98°42'40" W.; thence clockwise along the arc of the 23-mile radius circle to latitude 29°46'30" N., longitude 98°12'30" W.; thence to latitude 29°43'00" N., longitude 98°01'30" W.; thence to point of beginning and within 5 miles northeast and 8 miles southwest of the La Vernia VOR 149° radial extending from the VOR to 12 miles southeast.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Redescription of Transition Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to redescribe, in part, the Soldotna 700-foot floor transition area to eliminate dual designation of airspace and thereby clarify charting.

Airspace Docket 72-AL-14, effective December 7, 1972, designates the Kenai 700-foot floor transition area as extending within a portion of the existing Soldotna transition area. The Soldotna 700-foot floor transition area is redescribed herein to eliminate this dual designation.

Since this amendment involves a change only in the identity of controlled airspace and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary. However, in order to allow sufficient time to make appropriate changes to aeronautical charts, this amendment will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., December 7, 1972, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (37 F.R. 2143) Soldotna, Alaska, is amended to read as follows:

SOLDOTNA, ALASKA

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Soldotna Airport (latitude 60°28'25" N., longitude 151°02'20" W.), excluding the portion within the Kenai 700-foot floor transition area.

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Designation of Restricted Area

On July 28, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making (NPRM) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 15171) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering an amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a restricted area at Whidbey Island, Wash.

Subsequent to publication of the notice, it was noted that elements of the description were omitted. Accordingly, on August 30, 1972, a supplemental notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 17564) deleting the description contained in the original notice and providing a substitute therefor.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments, but no comments were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., January 4, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 73.67 (37 F.R. 2377) the following restricted area is added:

R-6713, WHIDBEY ISLAND, WASH.

Boundaries.

Beginning at lat. 48°25'00" N., long. 123°05'00" W.; to lat. 48°23'00" N., long. 123°06'00" W.; to lat. 48°16'30" N., long. 123°03'00" W.; to lat. 48°16'30" N., long. 122°55'30" W.; to lat. 48°18'20" N., long. 122°50'30" W.; to lat. 48°25'00" N., long. 122°53'30" W.; to point of beginning, excluding that area within one-quarter mile of Smith Island located at lat. 48°19'10" N., long. 122°50'30" W.

Designated altitudes: Surface to 3,500 feet MSL.

Time of designation: Continuous.

Controlling agency: NAS Whidbey Approach Control.

Using agency: Commander, Fleet Air Whidbey, NAS Whidbey Island, Wash.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act; 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

PART 372a—TRAVEL GROUP CHARTERS

Correction

In F.R. Doc. 72-16841, appearing at page 20808, in the issue of Wednesday, October 4, 1972, the following changes should be made:

1. In the second column on page 20809, in the first complete paragraph directly after the third line, insert, "we shall institute in due course a rule".

2. On page 20812, in the first column, in the 16th line, the word "turn" should read "return".

3. In Appendix C, on page 20822, the word "compute" in the second line of paragraph 3a., should read "computed".

Title 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter I—Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce

PART 30—FOREIGN TRADE STATISTICS

Elimination of Requirements for Authentication of Shipper's Export Declarations

The following amendment is made to the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 27, 1966 (31 F.R. 11367) (15 CFR Part 30). In accordance with administrative procedure 5 U.S.C. 553, notice and hearing on these amendments and postponement of the effective date thereof are unnecessary because the amendment grants and recognizes exemptions and relieves restrictions.

These regulations are issued under the authority of title 13, United States Code, section 302; and 5 U.S.C. 301; Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1950, Department of Commerce Organization Order No. 35-4A, January 1, 1972, 37 F.R. 3461.

Effective date. This amendent to the Foreign Trade Statistics Regulations is effective on the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-1-72).

§ 30.2 [Amended]

1. Footnote 2 to § 30.2 is amended to read as follows:

[2] See also the Export Control Regulations of the Office of Export Control, which may be purchased from the Government Printing Office or Department of Commerce field offices.

2. Section 30.5 is amended to read as follows:

§ 30.5 Number of copies of Shipper's Export Declaration required.

(a) Except as provided elsewhere in these regulations the Shipper's Export Declaration shall be delivered to the carrier or postmasters, as specified in §§ 30.12 and 30.15, in the following number of copies:

(1) In duplicate for shipments, except by mail, destined to all foreign countries except Canada.

(2) One copy only for shipments to Canada and nonforeign areas.

(3) One copy only for mail shipments to all destinations.

(b) In addition to the standard requirements set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, additional copies of Shipper's Export Declarations may be required for export control purposes by the regulations of the Office of Export Control or other Government agencies or in particular circumstances by the Customs Director or by the postmaster.

3. The first parenthetical sentence and footnote 4 of paragraph (h) of § 30.7 are amended to read as follows:

§ 30.7 Information required on Shipper's Export Declarations.

• • • • • •

(a) • • • (See § 30.20(c) for definition of port of exportation.) • • •

• • • • • •

[4] See Export Control Regulations. (See footnote 2 above.)

• • • • • •

4. Section 30.12 is amended to read as follows:

§ 30.12 Time and place Shipper's Export Declarations required to be presented.

For shipments by mail, the Shipper's Export Declaration as required in § 30.1 shall be presented to the postmaster with the packages at the time of mailing. For shipments other than by mail, except as otherwise provided, the Shipper's Export Declaration in the number of copies required by § 30.5 shall be delivered to the exporting carrier prior to exportation. It is the duty of the exporter (or his agent) to deliver the required number of copies of the Shipper's Export Declaration to the exporting carrier prior to exportation; failure of the exporter (or his agent) to do so constitutes a violation of the provisions of these regulations, and renders such exporter (or his agent) subject to the penalties provided for in § 30.95. For shipments by pipeline, the Shipper's Export Declaration is not required to be presented prior to exportation, and exportation will be permitted upon the understanding that the exporter or his agent, within 4 working days after the end of each calendar month, will file with the Customs Director having jurisdiction for the pipeline, a Shipper's Export Declaration in the number of copies specified in § 30.5 to cover exports to each consignee during the calendar month.

5. Footnote 7 to § 30.12 is deleted in its entirety.

§ 30.13 [Deleted]

6. Section 30.13 is deleted in its entirety.

§ 30.14 [Deleted]

7. Section 30.14 is deleted in its entirety.

8. Section 30.15 is amended to read as follows:

§ 30.15 Procedure for presentation of declarations covering shipments from an interior point.

For shipments from an interior point, the Shipper's Export Declaration in the number of copies required in § 30.5 may be prepared and delivered by the exporter or his agent to the inland carrier to accompany the merchandise to the exporting carrier at the seaport, airport, or border port of exportation, or it may be otherwise delivered directly to the exporting carrier. In either case, the Shipper's Export Declaration must be in the exporting carriers' possession prior to exportation. (See § 30.6 for requirements for a separate set of Shipper's Export Declarations for each car, truck, or other vehicle, covering only the merchandise exported in that car, truck, or vehicle.)

9. The existing paragraph of § 30.20 is lettered (a) and new paragraphs (b) and (c) are added reading as follows:

§ 30.20 General statement of requirement for the filing of manifests and Shipper's Export Declarations by carriers.

(b) Except as otherwise specifically provided, declarations should not be filed at the place where the shipment originates if it is to be transshipped within the U.S. area before being dispatched to a foreign country or to its final destination in a nonfarm area. This applies to shipments originating in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands of the United States being forwarded to the United States for transshipment to another destination, and to shipments originating in the United States and being forwarded to Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands of the United States for transshipment, as well as to merchandise being transshipped in Customs Districts within the States of the United States. In such cases, the declarations should be filed only with the Customs Director at the actual port of exportation.

(c) For purposes of these regulations, the port of exportation is defined as the Customs port at which or nearest to which the land surface carrier transporting the merchandise crosses the border of the United States into foreign territory, or, in the case of exportation by vessel or air, the Customs port where the merchandise is loaded on the vessel or aircraft which is to carry the merchandise to a foreign country or to a nonforeign area of ultimate destination.

10. Section 30.21 is amended as follows:

a. The fourth sentence of paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) • • • There shall also be shown for each item of cargo the bill of lading number shown on the declaration covering the item, except that bill of lading numbers are not required on manifests covering cargo destined for Canada or a nonforeign area. • • •

• • • • • •

b. The fifth sentence of paragraph (b) beginning "In such cases" is amended to read as follows:

(b) • • • In such cases the air waybill numbers of such declarations shall be listed on the cargo manifest in the column for air waybill numbers, and the statement "Cargo as per Export Declarations Attached" noted on the manifest. • • •

c. In the second sentence of paragraph (b) delete figure "8" and delete footnote 8 explanation at bottom of column.

Section 30.22 is amended as follows:

a. The last sentence of paragraph (a) is deleted.

b. Paragraph (b) is deleted in entirety.

c. Paragraph (c) is relettered (b) and amended to read as follows:

(b) The exporting carrier shall be responsible for the accuracy of the following items of information (where required) on the declaration: Name of carrier (including flag, if vessel carrier), foreign port of unloading, and the bill of lading or air waybill number.

d. Paragraph (d) is relettered (c), the last sentence thereof is deleted, and the statement immediately preceding the last sentence is amended to read as follows:

(c) • • • These commodities or technical data were included, but not shipped, on a Shipper's Export Declaration filed at ---------- on ----------.
(Port) (Date)

e. Paragraph (e) is relettered paragraph (d).

§ 30.23 [Amended]

12. Except for the first sentence thereof, § 30.23 is deleted in its entirety.

§ 30.34 [Amended]

13. Section 30.34 is amended as follows:

a. The last sentence of paragraph (a) is amended to delete the words "Customs authentication number of" and to substitute therefor the words "bill of lading numbers shown on.";

V 37 - 211 NOV 1 72 XUM

b. The last sentence of paragraph (b) is deleted in its entirety.

§ 30.36 [Deleted]

14. Section 30.36 is deleted and reserved for future use.

15. Section 30.41(b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 30.41 "Split shipments" by air.

• • • • • • •

(b) On each subsequent manifest covering a flight on which any part of a split shipment is exported, a prominent notation "Split Shipment" will be made adjacent to the item on the manifest for ready identification. For the last shipment the notation will read "Split Shipment, Final".

Each subsequent manifest covering a part of a split shipment shall also show in the "number of packages" column only the merchandise carried on that particular flight and a reference to the total amount originally declared for export, e.g., 5 of 11, or 5/11; and immediately following the line showing the portion of the split shipment carried on that flight, a notation will be made showing the air waybill number shown on the original Shipper's Export Declaration and the portions of the originally declared total carried on each previous flight together with the number and date of each such previous flight, e.g., original Shipper's Export Declaration AWB 123; 2 of 11 flight 36A, June 6; 4 of 11, flight 40X, June 10.

§§ 30.42 and 30.43 [Deleted]

16. Sections 30.42 and 30.43 are hereby deleted and reserved for future use.

17. Paragraphs (b) and (d) of § 30.91 are amended as follows:

§ 30.91 Confidential information, Shipper's Export Declarations.

• • • • • • •

(b) • • • possession for official purposes, except for (1) the bill of lading number on the declaration, (2) information on the declaration which is identical with bills of lading or other sources of information available to the carrier, and (3) items of information which are required by export control regulations to be identical or consistent on both documents.

• • • • • • •

(d) Limitations on issuance and reproduction of copies. Consistent with the policy stated in paragraph (c) of this section, and with the confidential status of the document generally, the following limitations are placed upon the issuance of copies to exporters or their agents:

(1) A copy of a Shipper's Export Declaration may be supplied to exporters or their agents only when such a copy is needed by the exporter to comply with: (i) Official requirements for presentation of a copy as authorization for export, (ii) export control requirements, or (iii) U.S. Department of Agriculture requirements for proof of export in connection with subsidy payments. Copies issued to exporters or their agents under subdivisions (ii) or (iii) of this subparagraph will be stamped as follows by the Customs Director:

Certified pursuant to the export control regulations or to fulfill the requirements of a Federal agency and not for any other purpose. May not be reproduced in any form.

(2) Use of copies of the Shipper's Export Declaration in connection with claims for exemption from internal revenue taxes or State taxes is not permitted. Bureau of Customs Circular Letter EXP-4-MC, September 25, 1953 (CL-2861), provides for a proof of export form which may be certified by Customs officers for these purposes.

Title 20—EMPLOYEES' BENEFITS

Chapter III—Social Security Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

[Reg. 1, further amended]

PART 401—DISCLOSURE OF OFFICIAL RECORDS AND INFORMATION

Disclosure of Certain Information to Department of the Army, Department of Defense, for Purpose of Administration of Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services

On March 17, 1972, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 5636) a notice of proposed rule making with a proposed amendment to paragraph (u) of § 401.3 of Regulation No. 1. The proposed amendment to the regulation provides that the Social Security Administration may disclose to the Department of the Army, Department of Defense, certain medicare information for use in administering the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services. Interested persons were given the opportunity to submit within 30 days data, views, or arguments with regard to the proposed amendment.

In accordance with a suggestion from the Department of the Army, the words "Department of Defense" were added after "Department of the Army." This change is appropriate since the Department of the Army is a component organization of the Department of Defense and since the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services operates under the policy guidance of the Department of Defense.

A suggestion has also been made that Social Security Administration fiscal intermediaries and carriers be permitted to authorize the release of medicare information to the Department of the Army, pursuant to the proposed amendment to the regulation. This suggestion has not been adopted. Authorization by the Social Security Administration is desirable for the purpose of achieving uniform application of disclosure practices among intermediaries and carriers. This will also enable the Social Security Administration to systematically evaluate and analyze trends in requests for data and costs involved in responding to such requests. Such authorizations can be obtained promptly from officials in the Bureau of Health Insurance regional offices.

No other comments, except for one which was favorable to the proposed amendment, were received. Accordingly, the amendment as proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the addition of the words "Department of Defense" as noted above.

(Secs. 1102, 1106, and 1871, 49 Stat. 647, as amended, 53 Stat. 1398, as amended, 79 Stat. 331; 42 U.S.C. 1302, 1306, and 1395hh)

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-1-72).

Dated: October 5, 1972.

ROBERT M. BALL,
Commissioner of Social Security.

Approved: October 26, 1972.

JOHN G. VENEMAN,
Acting Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Regulation No. 1 of the Social Security Administration (20 CFR 401.1 et seq.) is further amended as set forth below:

Section 401.3 is amended by revising paragraph (u) to read as follows:

§ 401.3 Information which may be disclosed and to whom.

Disclosure of any such file, record, report, or other paper, or information, is hereby authorized in the following cases and for the following purposes:

• • • • • • •

(u) To any officer or employee of an agency of the Federal or a State government lawfully charged with the administration of a program receiving grants-in-aid under titles V and XIX of the Social Security Act for the purpose of administration of such titles, or to any officer or employee of the Department of the Army, Department of Defense, solely for the administration of its Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS), the following information, except that the release of such information shall not be authorized by a fiscal intermediary or carrier:

(1) Information, including the identification number, concerning charges made by physicians, other practitioners, or suppliers, and amounts paid under title XVIII of the Act for services furnished to beneficiaries by such physicians, other practitioners, or suppliers, to enable the agency to determine the proper amount of benefits payable for medical services performed in accordance with such programs; or

(2) Information as to physicians or other practitioners that has been disclosed under paragraph (i) (l) or (q) of this section; or

(3) Information relating to the qualifications and certification status of hospitals and other health care facilities obtained in the process of determining whether, and certifying as to whether, institutions or agencies meet or continue to meet the conditions of participation of providers of services or whether other entities meet or continue to meet the conditions for coverage of services they furnish; or

(4) Information concerning costs of operation and other pertinent information from the financial reports and other records of providers furnishing services pursuant to title XVIII of the Act.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL

PART 1—REGULATIONS FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT AND THE FAIR PACKAGING AND LABELING ACT

Nonsterile Devices Shipped in Interstate Commerce for Sterilization

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of January 25, 1972 (37 F.R. 1115), a notice was published in which the Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposed that Part 1 be amended by adding a new paragraph (l) to § 1.107 which, under certain conditions, would sanction the practice by which a device that is manufactured and/or assembled, packed, and labeled as sterile in one establishment is shipped or otherwise delivered to another establishment for sterilization. It was proposed, insofar as sterility of the product is concerned, to exempt devices which meet certain conditions from compliance with sections 501(c) and 502(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act during introduction into and shipment in interstate commerce and while they are being held for sterilization following such shipment in interstate commerce.

Interested persons were invited to submit comments on the proposal within 60 days.

Comments were received from four manufacturers and/or distributors of sterile devices, one law firm on behalf of a manufacturer, one contract sterilizer, and one comment was received from an interested individual.

Several comments suggested that § 1.107(l) be clarified and expanded to include those cases involving shipment in interstate commerce of devices for sterilization at a separate facility or establishment owned and operated by the manufacturer. The Commissioner concludes that this comment is valid and the final order has been changed accordingly.

One comment suggested that an agreement should not be required where the manufacturer and the sterilizer share the same ownership but are physically separated. The Commissioner concludes that the same conditions exist for exemption from sections 501(c) and 502(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as provided for in § 1.107(l), regardless of whether sterilization is performed by a contract sterilizer or at an establishment owned and operated by the manufacturer; therefore, this comment is rejected.

A comment was submitted urging that each article or device be labeled "nonsterile" either with a label which could be easily torn or cut off after sterilization or by means of a color code or writing which would be removed by the sterilization process. The Commissioner concludes that such procedures are not necessary to assure absolute sterility of a device and that such procedures may impart an additional element of risk which may contribute to compromising the integrity of the device.

A comment was submitted suggesting that, after sterilization of the device and prior to release from quarantine, each pallet, carton, or other designated unit be conspicuously marked "sterilized-awaiting test results" or an equivalent designation until such time as it is established that the device is sterile. This comment is considered valid and an appropriate revision has been made to reflect the need for conspicuously indicating that a device which has been sterilized and not released from quarantine is awaiting test results.

Therefore, pursuant to provision of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sections 501(c), 502(a), 701(a), 52 Stat. 1049, 1050, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 351(c), 352(a), 371(a)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), Part 1 is amended by adding a new paragraph (l) to § 1.107 as follows:

§ 1.107 Drugs and devices; exemptions.

• • • • • • •

(l) As it is a common industry practice to manufacture and/or assemble, package, and fully label a device as sterile at one establishment and then ship such device in interstate commerce to another establishment or to a contract sterilizer for sterilization, the Food and Drug Administration will initiate no regulatory action against the device as misbranded or adulterated when the nonsterile device is labeled sterile, provided all the following conditions are met:

(1) There is in effect a written agreement which:

(i) Contains the names and post office addresses of the firms involved and is signed by the person authorizing such shipment and the operator or person in charge of the establishment receiving the devices for sterilization.

(ii) Provides instructions for maintaining proper records or otherwise accounting for the number of units in each shipment to insure that the number of units shipped is the same as the number received and sterilized.

(iii) Acknowledges that the device is nonsterile and is being shipped for further processing, and

(iv) States in detail the sterilization process, the gaseous mixture or other media, the equipment, and the testing method or quality controls to be used by the contract sterilizer to assure that the device will be brought into full compliance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(2) Each pallet, carton, or other designated unit is conspicuously marked to show its nonsterile nature when it is introduced into and is moving in interstate commerce, and while it is being held prior to sterilization. Following sterilization, and until such time as it is established that the device is sterile and can be released from quarantine, each pallet, carton, or other designated unit is conspicuously marked to show that it has not been released from quarantine, e.g. "sterilized-awaiting test results" or an equivalent designation.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 30 days after date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Secs. 501(c), 502(a), 701(a), 52 Stat. 1049 1050, 1055; 21 U.S.C. 351(c), 352(a), 371(a))

Dated: October 25, 1972.

SAM D. FINE,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

SUBCHAPTER C—DRUGS

SODIUM OXACILLIN MONOGRAPHS

Recodification and Technical Revisions

In a notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 23, 1972 (37 F.R. 12398) and a correction of July 4, 1972 (37 F.R. 13182), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposed that the antibiotic drug regulations be amended by revising Parts 141a, 146, and 146a and by establishing a new Part 149e to provide for the recodification and technical revisions of the sodium oxacillin monographs. Interested persons were invited to submit their comments in response to the notice of proposed rule making within 30 days. No comments were received. Accordingly, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that the antibiotic drug regulations should be amended as set forth below.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), Parts 141a, 146, and 146a are amended and a new Part 149e is added as follows:

PART 141a—PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

§§ 141a.104, 141a.105, 141a.106, 141a.110, and 141a.117 [Revoked]

1. In Part 141a by revoking §§ 141a.104, 141a.105, 141a.106, 141a.110, and 141a.117 and by reserving them for future use.

PART 146—ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS; PROCEDURAL AND INTERPRETATIVE REGULATIONS

2. In Part 146, § 146.2 is amended by adding a new sentence to the end of paragraph (c) (8) (iii) to read as follows:

§ 146.2 Requests for certification, check tests and assays, and working standards; information and samples required.

* * * * * * *

(8) * * *

(iii) In the case of drugs packaged for repacking or for use in the manufacture of another drug, the sample must be representative of the batch. Such samples may be taken from a composite composed of portions taken from a representative number of bulk containers, the composite consisting of no more than 10 times the amount required for conducting the required tests and assays. Such samples are not required if they have been previously submitted.

* * * * * *

PART 146a—CERTIFICATION OF PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS

§§ 146a.8, 146a.12, 146a.13, 146a.14, and 146a.113 [Revoked]

3. In Part 146a by revoking §§ 146a.8, 146a.12, 146a.13, 146a.14, and 146a.113 and by reserving them for future use.

PART 149e—OXACILLIN

4. By adding a new Part 149e consisting at this time of five sections, as follows:

Sec.
149e.1 Sodium oxacillin.
149e.2 Sterile sodium oxacillin.
149e.3–149e.10 [Reserved]
149e.11 Sodium oxacillin capsules.
149e.12 Sodium oxacillin for oral solution.
149e.13 Sodium oxacillin for injection.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 149e issued under sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357.

§ 149e.1 Sodium oxacillin.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sodium oxacillin is the monohydrated sodium salt of 5-methyl-3-phenyl-4-isoxazolyl penicillin. It is so purified and dried that:

(i) It contains not less than 815 and not more than 950 micrograms of oxacillin per milligram.

(ii) It passes the safety test.

(iii) Its moisture content is not less than 3.5 and not more than 5.0 percent.

(iv) Its pH in an aqueous solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter is not less than 4.5 and not more than 7.5.

(v) Its sodium oxacillin content is not less than 90 percent and not more than 105 percent.

(vi) It is crystalline.

(vii) It gives a positive identity test for the oxacillin moiety.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(ii) Samples required: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Assay for potency by any of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the microbiological agar diffusion assay shall be conclusive.

(i) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.110 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Dissolve an accurately weighed portion of the sample in sufficient 1.0 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), to give a stock solution of convenient concentration. Further dilute an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 5.0 micrograms of oxacillin per milliliter (estimated).

(ii) Iodometric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.506 of this chapter.

(iii) Hydroxylamine colorimetric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.507 of this chapter.

(2) Safety. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 of this chapter.

(3) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(4) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter, using a solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter.

(5) Sodium oxacillin content. Place approximately 60 milligrams of sample, accurately weighed, into a 100-milliliter volumetric flask. Dissolve and fill to volume with distilled water. Pipette a 5.0-milliliter aliquot of the sample solution into a 22- by 200-milliliter test tube, and add 5 milliliters of 10*N* NaOH. Mix the solution, and place the tube in a boiling water bath for 60 minutes. Cool the tube, carefully add 10 milliliters of 6*N* HCl, mix, and replace the tube in the boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Position the tube in the bath so that the liquid level in the tube is the same as the liquid level in the bath. After heating, remove the tube from the bath, carefully agitate the contents of the tube, and cool to room temperature. Quantitatively transfer the contents of the tube to a 250-milliliter volumetric flask. Add approximately 200 milliliters of freshly boiled and cooled distilled water, then 4.0 milliliters of 7.5*N* NH_4OH, and dilute to volume with freshly boiled and cooled distilled water. Treat a sample of the oxacillin working standard in the same manner. Determine the absorbance of the sample and working standard solutions on a suitable spectrophotometer at 235 nanometers against a reagent blank, and calculate as follows:

(6) Crystallinity. Proceed as directed in § 141.504(a) of this chapter.

(7) Identity. Use the sample solution prepared as described in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph and record the ultraviolet spectrum between 230 nanometers and 260 nanometers. It should be basically identical to that of the standard similarly treated.

§ 149e.2 Sterile sodium oxacillin.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sterile sodium oxacillin is the monohydrated sodium salt of 5-methyl-3-phenyl-4-isoxazolyl penicillin. It is so purified and dried that:

(i) It contains not less than 815 and not more than 950 micrograms of oxacillin per milligram.

(ii) It is sterile.

(iii) It is nonpyrogenic.

(iv) It passes the safety test.

(v) Its moisture content is not less than 3.5 and not more than 5.0 percent.

(vi) Its pH in an aqueous solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter is not less than 4.5 and not more than 7.5.

(vii) Its sodium oxacillin content is not less than 90 percent and not more than 105 percent.

(viii) It is crystalline.

(ix) It gives a positive identity test for the oxacillin moiety.

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on the batch for potency, sterility, pyrogens, safety, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) For all tests except sterility: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams, plus one package containing approximately 2 grams.

(b) For sterility testing: 20 packages, each containing approximately 600 milligrams.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency. Assay for potency by any of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the microbiological agar diffusion assay shall be conclusive.

(i) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.110 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Dissolve an accurately weighed portion of the sample in sufficient 1.0 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), to give a stock solution of convenient concentration. Further dilute an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 5.0 micrograms of oxacillin per milliliter (estimated).

(ii) Iodometric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.506 of this chapter.

(iii) Hydroxylamine colorimetric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.507 of this chapter.

(2) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e)(1) of that section.

(3) Pyrogens. Proceed as directed in § 141.4(a) of this chapter, using a solution containing 20 milligrams of oxacillin per milliliter.

(4) Safety. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 of this chapter.

(5) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(6) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter, using a solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter.

(7) Sodium oxacillin content. Proceed as directed in § 149e.1(b)(5).

(8) Crystallinity. Proceed as directed in § 141.504(a) of this chapter.

(9) Identity. Proceed as directed in § 149e.1(b)(7).

§ 149e.11 Sodium oxacillin capsules.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sodium oxacillin capsules are composed of sodium oxacillin with or without one or more diluents and lubricants, enclosed in a gelatin capsule. Each capsule contains sodium oxacillin equivalent to 125, 250, or 500 milligrams of oxacillin. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 120 percent of the number of milligrams of oxacillin that it is represented to contain. Its moisture content is not more than 6.0 percent. The sodium oxacillin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 149e.1(a)(1).

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(b) The batch for potency and moisture.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of 30 capsules.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency—(i) Sample preparation. Place a representative number of capsules into a high-speed glass blender jar containing sufficient 1 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), to give a stock solution of convenient concentration. Blend for 3 to 5 minutes.

(ii) Assay procedures. Use either of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the microbiological agar diffusion assay shall be conclusive.

(a) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.110 of this chapter; diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 5 micrograms of oxacillin per milliliter (estimated).

(b) Iodometric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.506 of this chapter, diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the prescribed concentration.

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(3) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter, using a solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter (estimated).

(4) Safety. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 of this chapter.

(5) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(6) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter, using a solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter.

(7) Sodium oxacillin content. Proceed as directed in § 149e.1(b)(5).

(8) Crystallinity. Proceed as directed in § 141.504(a) of this chapter.

(9) Identity. Proceed as directed in § 149e.1(b)(7).

§ 149e.12 Sodium oxacillin for oral solution.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sodium oxacillin for oral solution is a mixture of sodium oxacillin with one or more suitable colorings, flavorings, buffer substances, stabilizers, and preservatives. When reconstituted as directed in the labeling, each milliliter contains sodium oxacillin equivalent to either 25 or 50 milligrams of oxacillin. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 120 percent of the number of milligrams of oxacillin that it is represented to contain. Its moisture content is not more than 1.0 percent. When reconstituted as directed in its labeling, the pH of the solution is not less than 5.0 and not more than 7.5. The sodium oxacillin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 149e.1(a)(1).

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch for potency, safety, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(b) The batch for potency, moisture, and pH.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch: A minimum of six immediate containers.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) potency—(i) Sample preparation. Reconstitute as directed in the labeling. Place an accurately measured representative aliquot of the sample into an appropriate-sized volumetric flask with sufficient 1 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), to give a stock solution of convenient concentration.

(ii) Assay procedures. Use either of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the microbiological agar diffusion assay shall be conclusive.

(a) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.110 of this chapter, diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 5 micrograms of oxacillin per milliliter (estimated).

(b) Iodometric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.506 of this chapter, diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the prescribed concentration.

(2) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(3) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter using the drug reconstituted as directed in the labeling.

§ 149e.13 Sodium oxacillin for injection.

(a) Requirements for certification—(1) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Sodium oxacillin for injection is a dry mixture of sodium oxacillin and one or more buffer substances, with or without trisodium ethylenediamine tetraacetic acid, and with or without one or more suitable and harmless preservatives. Its potency is satisfactory if it is not less than 90 percent and not more than 115 percent of the number of milligrams of oxacillin that it is represented to contain. It is sterile. It is nonpyrogenic. It passes the safety test. Its moisture content is not more than 6.0 percent. Its pH in an aqueous solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter is not less than 6.0 and not more than 8.5. The sodium oxacillin used conforms to the standards prescribed by § 149e.2(a)(1).

(2) Labeling. It shall be labeled in accordance with the requirements of § 148.3 of this chapter.

(3) Requests for certification; samples. In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2 of this chapter, each such request shall contain:

(i) Results of tests and assays on:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch for potency, moisture, pH, sodium oxacillin content, crystallinity, and identity.

(b) The batch for potency, sterility, pyrogens, safety, moisture, and pH.

(ii) Samples required:

(a) The sodium oxacillin used in making the batch: 10 packages, each containing approximately 300 milligrams.

(b) The batch:

V37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

(f) For all tests except sterility: A minimum of 10 immediate containers.

(2) For sterility testing: 20 immediate containers, collected at regular intervals throughout each filling operation, or 40 immediate containers if each contains less than 600 milligrams.

(b) Tests and methods of assay—(1) Potency—(i) Sample preparation. Reconstitute as directed in the labeling. Then using a suitable hypodermic needle and syringe, remove all of the withdrawable contents if it is represented as a single dose container, or if the labeling specifies the amount of potency in a given volume of the resultant preparation, remove an accurately measured representative portion from each container. Dilute with 1 percent potassium phosphate buffer, pH 6.0 (solution 1), to give a stock solution of convenient concentration.

(ii) Assay procedures. Use either of the following methods; however, the results obtained from the microbiological agar diffusion assay shall be conclusive.

(a) Microbiological agar diffusion assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.110 of this chapter, diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the reference concentration of 5 micrograms of oxacillin per milliliter (estimated).

(b) Iodometric assay. Proceed as directed in § 141.506 of this chapter, diluting an aliquot of the stock solution with solution 1 to the prescribed concentration.

(2) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e)(1) of that section.

(3) Pyrogens. Proceed as directed in § 141.4(a) of this chapter, using a solution containing 20 milligrams of oxacillin per milliliter.

(4) Safety. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 of this chapter.

(5) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.502 of this chapter.

(6) pH. Proceed as directed in § 141.503 of this chapter, using an aqueous solution containing 30 milligrams per milliliter.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 30 days after its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Title 22—FOREIGN RELATIONS

Chapter VI—United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency

PART 605—NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION REGULATIONS

Effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-1-72), a new Part 605 is added to Title 22 of the Code of Federal Regulations to implement Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 5209, March 10, 1972), and the National Security Council Directive of May 17, 1972 (37 F.R. 10053, May 19, 1972) pertaining to classification and declassification of national security information.

The regulations in this part have been approved by the Interagency Classification Review Committee as required by Executive Order 11652 and the National Security Council Directive of May 17, 1972.

GERARD SMITH,
Director, U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

OCTOBER 20, 1972.

605.7 Loss or possible compromise of classified information.
605.8 Data index system and systematic reviews of classified material.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 605 are issued under Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 5209, March 10, 1972) and National Security Council Directive of May 17, 1972 (37 F.R. 10053, May 19, 1972).

§ 605.1 Basis.

These regulations, taken together with the National Security Council Directive of May 17, 1972 "Governing the Classification, Downgrading, Declassification and Safeguarding of National Security Information" (37 F.R. 10053, May 19, 1972), provide the basis for the ACDA security classification program implementing Executive Order 11652, "Classification and Declassification of National Security Information and Material" (37 F.R. 5209, March 10, 1972).

§ 605.2 Classification assignment.

(a) Security classification categories. (1) Official information or material which requires protection against unauthorized disclosure in the interest of the national defense or foreign relations of the United States (hereinafter collectively termed "national security") shall be classified in one of three categories, namely, Top Secret, Secret, or Confidential, depending upon the degree of its significance to national security. No other categories shall be used to identify official information or material as requiring protection in the interest of national security, except as otherwise expressly provided by statute.

(2) As defined in section 1 of Executive Order 11652, security classification categories are:

(i) Top Secret. "Top Secret" refers to that national security information or material which requires the highest degree of protection. The test for assigning "Top Secret" classification shall be whether its unauthorized disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause "exceptionally grave damage" to the national security. Examples of "exceptionally grave damage" include armed hostilities against the United States or its allies; disruption of foreign relations vitally affecting the national security; the compromise of vital national defense plans or complex cryptologic and communications intelligence systems; the revelation of sensitive intelligence operations; and the disclosure of scientific or technological developments vital to national security. This classification shall be used with the utmost restraint.

(ii) Secret. "Secret" refers to that national security information or material which requires a substantial degree of protection. The test for assigning "Secret" classification shall be whether its unauthorized disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause "serious damage" to the national security. Examples of "serious damage" include disruption of foreign relations significantly affecting the national security; significant impairment of a program or policy directly related to the national security; revelation of significant military plans or intelligence operations; and compromise of significant scientific or technological developments relating to national security. The classification "Secret" shall be sparingly used.

(iii) Confidential. "Confidential" refers to that national security information or material which requires protection. The test for assigning "Confidential" classification shall be whether its unauthorized disclosure could reasonably be expected to cause "damage" to the national security.

(b) Authority to classify. (1) Each person possessing classifying authority shall be held accountable for the propriety of the classifications attributed to him. Both unnecessary classification and overclassification shall be avoided. Classification shall be solely on the basis of national security considerations. In no case shall information be classified in order to conceal inefficiency or administrative error, to prevent embarrassment to a person or Department, to restrain competition or independent initiative, or to prevent for any other reason the release of information which does not require protection in the interest of national security. (The term "Department" includes ACDA or any other governmental agency or unit.)

(2) The following ACDA officials have authority to originally classify information or material in each of the three categories under which they are shown below:

Director
Deputy Director
Assistant Directors (4)
Chairman, General Advisory Committee
Such other senior principal deputies and assistants as the Director may specifically designate in writing.

(ii) Secret.

Officials having Top Secret classification authority
Deputy Assistant Directors
Special Assistant to the Director

Counselor
Special Assistant to the Deputy Director
Intelligence Adviser
Classification Adviser
Executive Director
Deputy Executive Director
Contracting Officer
Security Officer
Chief, Communications and Reference Service Center
General Counsel
Deputy General Counsel
Assistant General Counsel (Congressional Relations)
Public Affairs Adviser
Deputy Public Affairs Adviser
Division Chiefs
Staff Director, General Advisory Committee
Officials specifically designated in writing by the Director, including project officers for external research projects classified Secret and above.

(iii) Confidential.

Officials having Top Secret or Secret classification authority
Officials specifically designated in writing by Bureau and Office Heads.

(3) The authority to originally classify vests only to the officials designated and may not be delegated. In the absence of any one of the officials named, the officer duly designated in writing to act in his place may exercise this authority.

(4) Separate listings by name of officials who have been designated in writing as having Top Secret, Secret, and Confidential classification authority will be maintained on a current basis by the Chief, Communications and Reference Service Center, and submitted quarterly to the Chairman of the Interagency Classification Review Committee.

§ 605.3 Classification responsibilities and identification of documents.

(a) Classification responsibilities. (1) Each officer of the agency who signs, authenticates or otherwise produces a document is responsible for determining that it is properly classified and marked. If in doubt, the officer should consult the ACDA Classification Adviser. Any substantial doubts on questions of proper classification or as to whether the material should be classified at all should be resolved in favor of the less restrictive treatment.

(2) A holder of classified information or material shall observe and respect the security classification category assigned by the originator, particularly when incorporating such information or material in new documents. In these cases, the previously assigned classification shall be reflected on the new documents together with the identity of the classifier, and, to help where needed to establish such identity, the document from which the information or material was derived.

(3) Where material requires initial classification for reasons other than those specified in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, it constitutes originally classified material. The responsibility in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph includes responsibility for determining whether the document contains any originally classified material. Where the document contains any originally classified material, the classification must be authorized by one of the officials indicated in § 605.2(b)(2).

(4) In classifying information or material, as a first effort an individual is required to apply a date or event earlier than provided by the General Declassification Schedule for downgrading and declassification of national security information. If he is unable to specify an earlier date or event he will indicate that the General Declassification Schedule applies. Even if the information or material is determined to be exempt from the General Declassification Schedule, unless impossible the exempted information or material shall be assigned and clearly marked with a date or event upon which downgrading and declassification shall occur.

(5) If a holder of classified information believes that there is unnecessary classification, that the assigned classification is improper, or that the document is subject to declassification under Executive Order 11652 and these regulations, he shall follow the procedures described in § 605.4(a).

(b) Identifying classified documents. Each classified document shall show on its face the following:

(1) Its classification category;

(2) Whether it is exempt from the General Declassification Schedule, and if exempt, the appropriate exemption category (see § 605.4(b)(2));

(3) Office of origin;

(4) Date of preparation and classification;

(5) Control number in the case of Top Secret documents;

(6) Whenever possible, a specific date or event upon which downgrading and declassification shall occur; and

(7) The identity of the person at the highest level authorizing the classification and exemption, where applicable (see also paragraph (a)(2) of this section). Where the individual who signs or otherwise authenticates a document or items has also authorized the classification, no further annotation as to his identity is required.

(c) Information or material furnished by a foreign government or international organization. Classified information or material furnished to the United States by a foreign government or international organization shall either retain its original classification or be assigned a U.S. classification. In either case, the classification shall assure a degree of protection equivalent to that required by the government or international organization which furnished the information or material.

§ 605.4 Declassification and change of classification.

(a) General. If a holder of classified information or material believes that there is unnecessary classification, that the assigned classification is improper, or that the document is subject to declassification under Executive Order 11652, he shall refer the document to the responsible bureau or office within ACDA for review and appropriate action. Similarly, if the holder of unclassified information or material has reason to believe that it should be classified, or that the security classification category given to particular classified information or material does not insure adequate protection, he shall safeguard it in accordance with the security classification category deemed appropriate, and submit his recommendation to the original classifier. The ACDA Classification Adviser is available to provide guidance and advice in such cases. Where the document or material was not originally classified within the agency, it will be referred to the Classification Adviser for coordination with the responsible agency (e.g., DOD, AEC), if declassification or downgrading appears to be warranted.

(b) Downgrading and declassification. (1) The objective of the ACDA downgrading and declassification program is to assure that information will be downgraded or declassified when the existing classification is no longer required in the interest of national security. To emphasize its importance in achieving this objective, the General Declassification Schedule as set forth in section 5(A) of Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 10053) is repeated below:

(ii) Secret. Information and material originally classified "Secret" shall become automatically downgraded to "Confidential" at the end of the second full calendar year following the year in which it was originated, and declassified at the end of the eighth full calendar year following the year in which it was originated.

(iii) Confidential. Information and material originally classified "Confidential" shall become automatically declassified at the end of the sixth full calendar year following the year in which it was originated.

(2) Only an official authorized to originally classify information or material "Top Secret" may exempt from the General Declassification Schedule any level of classified information or material originated by him or under his supervision. The use of the exemption authority shall be kept to the absolute minimum consistent with national security requirements and shall be restricted to the following categories:

(i) Classified information or material furnished by foreign governments or international organizations and held by the United States on the understanding that it be kept in confidence.

(ii) Classified information or material specifically covered by statute, or pertaining to cryptography, or disclosing intelligence sources or methods.

(iii) Classified information or material disclosing a system, plan, installation, project, or specific foreign relations matter; the continuing protection of which is essential to the national security.

(iv) Classified information or material the disclosure of which would place a person in immediate jeopardy.

(3) If the originator of a classified document determines that it may be downgraded or declassified on or after the occurrence of a specified event he will note on the front of the document if this will occur earlier than the first automatic downgrading or declassification scheduled to take place under the General Declassification Schedule.

(4) If the person exempting a classified document determines that it may be appropriately placed under the General Declassification Schedule on or after a given date or after the occurrence of a specified event, he will so note on the front of the document. In such cases, the dates of automatic downgrading and declassification shall be governed by the date of the document or the date of placement under the General Declassification Schedule, whichever permits the earlier actions.

(5) The custodian of a classified document or other material which is not otherwise exempted from the General Declassification Schedule shall either downgrade or declassify the document or other material at the end of the periods specified in the General Declassification Schedule in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, or assure that the document or other material will be so downgraded or declassified when next thereafter it is withdrawn from the files.

(6) The Chief, Communications and Reference Service Center, is responsible for monitoring and implementing all automatic downgrading and declassification procedures within ACDA and also for insuring that material or documents classified before the effective date of Executive Order 11652 and which are assigned to Group 4 under previous regulations, are subjected to the General Declassification Schedule.

(c) Authority to change classification. (1) Information or material may be downgraded or declassified by the official originally authorizing the classification, by a successor in capacity, by a supervisory official of either of the above, or by an official specifically designated by the Director. Any ACDA official specifically designated by the Director to have downgrading and declassifying authority must obtain the concurrence of the ACDA bureau or office originating or having substantive responsibility before taking final downgrading or declassification action on any classified information or material. This concurrence may cover classes or categories of documents as well as specific documents. Where there is disagreement involving the action to be taken, the matter will be referred to the Director or Deputy Director for decision.

(2) The authority to upgrade is restricted to (i) the official who originally classified the document or his successor or supervisor provided any of these has authority to classify at the higher level, or (ii) an official having Top Secret original classification authority (see § 605.2(b)(2)(i)).

§ 605.5 Public access to classified information and material.

(a) Request for records. All requests from the public for ACDA records (books, papers, maps, photographs, documentary materials, etc.) must be referred for action to the Chief, Communications and Reference Service Center (CRSC), U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Washington, D.C. 20451. In responding to such requests, the Chief, CRSC, will follow the procedures outlined in Part 602 of this chapter (as amended by 37 F.R. 6665), which are based on the Freedom of Information Act, 81 Stat. 54; 5 U.S.C. 552. In determining that requested records, if they contain classified or administratively controlled information may be withheld under exemptions listed in § 602.40 of this chapter, the Chief, CRSC, may in his judgment arrange for a prompt review for possible declassification or decontrol by the responsible ACDA office or bureau. Sections 602.45 through 602.51 of this chapter provide for an administrative review of a decision by the Chief, CRSC, to withhold a record.

(b) Mandatory review of exempted records over 10 years old. (1) All classified information and material originated after June 1, 1972, which is exempted under § 605.4(b)(2) from the General Declassification Schedule shall be subject to a classification review at any time after the expiration of 10 years from the date of origin, provided:

(i) A department or member of the public requests a review;

(ii) The request describes the record with sufficient particularity to enable the Agency to identify it;

(iii) The record can be obtained with only a reasonable amount of effort.

(2) Information or material which no longer qualifies for exemption under § 605.4(b)(2) of this chapter shall be declassified. Information or material continuing to qualify under § 605.4(b)(2) shall be so marked, and, unless impossible, a date for automatic declassification shall be set.

(3) Members of the public or a department may direct requests for mandatory review of material described above to the Chief, Communications and Reference Service Center (CRSC), U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Washington, D.C. 20451. The Chief, CRSC, will determine that the provisions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph are met, and immediately acknowledge receipt of the request in writing unless a response containing a decision on the request can be made within 4 days. If the request is deficient in its description of the record sought, the Chief, CRSC, will ask the requester to provide additional information whenever possible. Before denying a request on the ground that it is unduly burdensome, the Chief, CRSC, will ask the requester to limit his request to records that are reasonably obtainable. If nonetheless the requester does not describe the records sought with sufficient particularity, or the record requested cannot be obtained with a reasonable amount of effort, the requester will be notified by the Chief, CRSC, of the reasons why no action will be taken and of his right to appeal such decision.

(4) If the request can be acted upon, the Chief, CRSC, will refer the request to the responsible bureau or office within ACDA for appropriate action.

(5) All information or material classified before June 1, 1972, which has been excluded from the General Declassification Schedule by Executive Order 11652, at any time after the expiration of 10 years from the date of origin shall be subject to a mandatory classification review under the same conditions described under subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(6) If the request requires the rendering of services for which fair and equitable fees should be charged pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act and Part 602 of this chapter, as amended by 37 F.R. 6665, the requester shall be so notified.

(7) The office which has been assigned action shall thereafter make a determination within 30 days of receipt or shall explain the reasons why further time is necessary.

(8) If at the end of 60 days from receipt of the request for review no determination has been made, the requester may apply to the ACDA Classification Review Committee for determination (see § 605.6(b)(4)).

(9) Should the office assigned action on a request for review for exemption determine that under the criteria set forth in § 605.4(b)(2) continued classification is required, the requester shall be promptly notified by the Chief, CRSC, and whenever possible, provided with a brief statement as to why the requested information or material cannot be declassified. (It should be borne in mind that the burden of proof is on the Agency to show that continued classification is warranted.) The requester may appeal any such determination to the ACDA Classification Review Committee, and the notice of determination shall advise him of his right (see § 605.6(b)(4)).

(10) If it is determined that the requested information or material no longer warrants classification it shall be declassified and made promptly available to the requester if not otherwise exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act or other provision of law, such as the Atomic Energy Act of 1954.

(11) The Chief, CRSC, is responsible for insuring that the procedures outlined in this paragraph are followed.

(c) Declassification of classified information or material after 30 years. All classified information or material, other than Restricted Data and Formerly Restricted Data, which is 30 years old or more, whether originating before or after June 1, 1972, shall be declassified under the following conditions:

(1) All information and material classified after June 1, 1972, shall, whether or not declassification has been requested, become automatically declassified at the end of 30 full calendar years after the date of its original classification except for such information or material which the Director, ACDA, specifically determines in writing at that time to require continued protection because such continued protection is essential to the national security, or disclosure would place a person in immediate peopardy. In such case, the Director, ACDA, will also specify the period of continued classification.

(2) All information and material classified before June 1, 1972, and more than 30 years old will be systematically reviewed for declassification by the Archivist of the United States by the end of the 30th full calendar year following the year in which it was originated. In his review, the Archivist will separate and keep protected only such information or material as is specifically identified by the Director, ACDA, in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. In such case, the Director, ACDA, will also specify the period of continued classification.

(3) A request by a member of the public or by a Department under section 5 (C) or (D) of Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 5209) to review for declassification documents more than 30 years old shall be referred directly to the Archivist of the United States, if the information or material has not been transferred to the General Services Administration for accession into the Archives and is still in the custody of ACDA. The Archivist shall, together with the Director of ACDA, have the requested documents reviewed for declassification. Classification shall be continued in either case only where the Director of ACDA makes at that time the personal determination required by section 5(E)(1) of Executive Order 11652. The Archivist shall promptly notify the requester of such determination and of his right to appeal the denial to the Interagency Classification Review Committee.

(d) Access by historical researchers. (1) Persons outside the executive branch engaged in historical research projects may be authorized access to classified information or material originated within the Agency provided that the Director determines that:

(i) The project and access sought conform to the requirements of section 12 of Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 5209);

(ii) The information or material requested is reasonably accessible and can be located and compiled with a reasonable amount of effort;

(iii) The historical researcher agrees to safeguard the information or material in a manner consistent with Executive Order 11652 and implementing NSC directives or Agency regulations;

(iv) The historical researcher agrees to authorize a review of his notes and manuscript for the sole purpose of determining that no classified information or material is contained therein;

(v) The security requirements of the Arms Control and Disarmament Act (Sec. 45, 75 Stat. 631; 22 U.S.C. 2585) are adhered to.

(2) An authorization for access shall be valid for the period required but no longer than 2 years from the date of issuance unless a renewed authorization is approved by the Director.

(e) Access by former presidential appointees. Persons who previously accepted policy-making positions to which they were appointed by the President, other than those referred to in section 11 of Executive Order 11652 (37 F.R. 5209), may be authorized access to classified information or material which they originated, reviewed, signed or received while in public office. Upon the request of any such former official, such information and material as he may identify shall be reviewed for declassification in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of Executive Order 11652.

(f) Dissemination of sensitive intelligence information. Information or material bearing the notation "Warning Notice—Sensitive Sources and Intelligence Methods Involved," and such information or material known to be intelligence but not bearing the notation, shall not be disseminated in any manner outside authorized channels without the permission of the originating Department and an assessment by the Intelligence Adviser as to the potential risk to the national security and to the intelligence sources and methods involved.

§ 605.6 ACDA Classification Review Committee.

(a) Membership. The ACDA Classification Review Committee, established pursuant to section 7(B) of Executive Order 11652, is composed of the following members:

Executive Director, Chairman.
Special Assistant to the Director and Executive Secretary of ACDA.
Deputy Assistant Director for International Relations.
Deputy Assistant Director for Science and Technology.
Deputy Assistant Director for Weapons Evaluation and Control.
Deputy Assistant Director for Economic Affairs.
Deputy General Counsel.
Deputy Public Affairs Adviser.
ACDA Classification Adviser.

(b) Functions. The Committee shall:

(1) Have authority to act on all suggestions and complaints with respect to the administration of Executive Order 11652 and the application of NSC directives and ACDA regulations which implement the Executive order within ACDA. Such suggestions and complaints will include those regarding overclassification, failure to classify, or delay in declassifying not otherwise resolved.

(2) Review all appeals of requests for records under the Freedom of Information Act (81 Stat. 54; 5 U.S.C. 552) when the proposed denial is predicated on continued classification under Executive Order 11652.

(3) Consider cases involving repeated abuse of the classification process. Where it finds that unnecessary classification or overclassification has occurred or in cases of repeated abuse or violations of any provision of Executive Order 11652 or implementing NSC Directives, the Committee will make a report to the Director with recommendations as to corrective steps or disciplinary action to be taken. Such steps or disciplinary action may include notifications by warning letter, formal reprimand, and to the extent permitted by law, suspension without pay and removal.

(4) Review and act within 30 days upon all applications and appeals regarding requests for declassification provided the requester has first followed the procedures outlined in § 605.5(b)(3). The Director, acting through the Committee, is authorized to over-rule previous determinations in whole or in part when, in its judgment, continued protection is not longer required. If the Committee determines that continued classification is required under the criteria of section 5(B) of Executive Order 11652 (dealing with exempting from the General Declassification Schedule) it shall promptly so notify the requester and advise him that he may appeal the denial to the Interagency Classification Review Committee.

(c) Chairman. In addition to chairing the ACDA Classification Review Committee, the Chairman has specific responsibility for:

(1) Insuring within the Agency effective compliance with and implementation of Executive Order 11652, NSC directives issued pursuant to section 5 of the order, and ACDA regulations;

(2) Carrying out decisions of the Director on recommendations submitted by the Committee under paragraphs (b)(3) and (4) of this section;

(3) Submitting to the Chairman of the Interagency Classification Review Committee:

(i) Copies of listings by name of the officials who have been designated in writing to have Top Secret, Secret, and Confidential classification authority. Such lists will be submitted quarterly and maintained on a current basis by the Chief, CRSC;

(ii) Quarterly reports of ACDA Classification Review Committee actions on classification review requests, classification abuses and unauthorized disclosures;

(iii) Progress reports on information accumulated in the Agency's data index system; and

(iv) Such other reports as the Chairman of the Interagency Classification

V 37 - 211 NOV 1 72 XUM

Review Committee may find necessary for the Committee to carry out its responsibilities.

§ 605.7 Loss or possible compromise of classified information.

Any person who has knowledge of the loss or possible compromise of classified information shall immediately report the circumstances to the ACDA Security Officer. The Security Officer will take appropriate action on such cases, including initiation of an immediate inquiry into the matter and notification to any other interested Departments.

§ 605.8 Data index system and systematic reviews of Classified Material.

(a) Establishment. A computer supported data index system within the Communications and Reference Service Center will be established no later than July 1, 1973, for Top Secret, Secret, and Confidential information in selected categories approved by the Intergency Classification Review Committee as having sufficient historical or other value appropriate for preservation. The data index system shall index such selected categories produced and classified after December 31, 1972, and for each document indexed will contain the data specified by the NSC Directive of May 17, 1972 (37 F.R. 10053, May 19, 1972). In addition to indexing classified information and material in approved categories, the data index system will also provide current accountability records as prescribed by the Director.

(b) Systematic reviews. All information and material in the data index system which has been originally classified within ACDA after June 1, 1972, shall be systematically reviewed by the Communications and Reference Service Center at least once each year for the purpose of making such information and material publicly available in accordance with the determination regarding declassification made by the classifier pursuant to § 605.3(a). All such information and material becoming declassified at or prior to the end of each calendar year shall be identified. Upon request the information will be made available to the public in accord with the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act.

Title 24—HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary, Department of Housing and Urban Development

[Docket No. R-72-216]

PART 0—STANDARDS OF CONDUCT

Miscellaneous Amendments

These amendments to Part 0 of Subtitle A of Title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations are made to effect certain minor changes and clarifications and to update the appendix so as to reflect the current organization of the Department.

Since these amendments relate to Department management and personnel, notice and public procedure and a deferred effective date are unnecessary.

1. Section 0.735-101 is amended by adding new third and fifth sentences so that the section reads as follows:

§ 0.735-101 Purpose.

The maintenance of unusually high standards of honesty, integrity, impartiality, and conduct by Government employees and special Government employees is essential to assure the proper performance of the Government business and the maintenance of confidence by citizens in their Government. The avoidance of misconduct and conflicts of interest on the part of Government employees and special Government employees through informed judgment is indispensable to the maintenance of these standards. At the same time, the Department fully supports maximum participation by its employees in voluntary activities not in conflict with these standards. To accord with these concepts, this part sets forth the Department's regulations prescribing standards of conduct and responsibilites, and governing statements of employment and financial interests for employees and special Government employees. To insure a uniform application of these regulations, any questions or requests for interpretations shall be directed to the Department Counselor or a deputy counselor.

2. In § 0.735-105, paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) are amended to clarify the language, as follows:

§ 0.735-105 Reviewing statements and reporting conflicts of interest.

(a) Subpart D of this part and the appendix to this part identify the categories of positions and, as necessary, the specific positions the incumbents of which are required to submit statements of employment and financial interests.

(b) When a statement submitted under Subpart D of this part and the appendix to this part or information from other sources indicates a conflict between the interests of an employee or special Government employee and the performance of his services for the Government the employee or special Government employee concerned shall be provided an opportunity to explain the conflict or appearance of conflict.

(c) When the conflict or appearance of conflict is not resolved by the Department Counselor, he shall report the information concerning the conflict or appearance of conflict to the Secretary.

• • • • • •

3. Section 0.735-204(a) is amended (i) by substituting the word "activities" for the word "employment" in subparagraph (2); (ii) by inserting the word "Outside" before the word "activities" in subparagraph (3); (iii) by substituting the words "outside activities" for the first word, "Employment" in subparagraphs (5) and (7); and (iv) by adding the word "development" and rearranging the language in subparagraph (7) so that they read as follows:

§ 0.735-204 Outside employment and other activity.

(2) Outside activities which tend to impair his mental or physical capacity to perform his Government duties and responsibilities in an acceptable manner;

(3) Outside activities that may be construed by the public to be the official acts of the Department;

• • • • • •

(5) Outside activities that may involve the use of information secured as a result of employment in the Department to the detriment of the Department or the public interest, or that may give preferential treatment to any person, corporation, public agency, or group;

• • • • • •

(7) Outside activities related to or similar to the substantive programs conducted by any part of the Department. This includes, but is not limited to, the broad fields of real estate, mortgage lending, property insurance, construction, construction financing, land planning, and real estate development.

• • • • • •

4. In § 0.735-205, paragraph (a)(3) is amended, a new paragraph (c) is added [which includes the text of § 0.735-406 which is being deleted], and present last paragraph (c) is redesignated as paragraph (d) as follows:

§ 0.735-205 Financial interests.

(3) Acquire securities issued by the Federal National Mortgage Association or guaranteed by the Government National Mortgage Association or the Community Development Corporation.

• • • • • •

(c) The interest of a spouse, minor child, or other member of an employee's immediate household is considered to be an interest of the employee. For the purpose of this section, "member of an employee's immediate household" means those blood relations who are residents of the employee's household.

• • • • • •

5. The introductory text of § 0.735-213 is amended to read as follows:

§ 0.735-213 Prohibited activities by former employees.

A former officer or employee or former special Government employee of the Department shall not:

• • • • • •

6. Section 0.735-214(p) is amended by deleting "608" so that the paragraph reads as follows:

§ 0.735-214 Miscellaneous statutory provisions.

• • • • • •

(p) The prohibitions against political activities in Subchapter III of Chapter 73 of title 5, United States Code, and 18 U.S.C. 602, 603, and 607.

• • • • • •

7. Section 0.735-214 is amended by adding a new paragraph (r) to read as follows:

§ 0.735-214 Miscellaneous statutory provisions.

• • • • • •

(r) The prohibition against the employment of an individual convicted of felonious rioting or related offenses (5 U.S.C. 7313).

8. Section 0.735-401 is amended by revising the last sentence in paragraph (d) so that paragraph (d) reads as follows:

§ 0.735-401 Employees required to submit statements.

• • • • • •

(d) Employees classified below GS-13 who are in positions which otherwise meet the criteria in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section. These positions have been approved by the Civil Service Commission as exceptions that are essential to protect the integrity of the Government and avoid employee involvement in a possible conflict-of-interest situation. These positions are included among those identified by footnote 1 in the appendix to this part.

§ 0.735-406 [Deleted]

9. Section 0.735-406 is deleted.

10. The appendix is revised to read as follows:

Title 25—INDIANS

Chapter I—Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior

SUBCHAPTER A—PROCEDURES; PRACTICE

PART 5—RESERVATION ACCELERATION PROGRAM (RAP)

This notice is published in exercise of rule making authority delegated by the Secretary of the Interior to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs by 230 DM 2 (32 F.R. 13938).

On page 12326 of the June 22, 1972, FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 12326), there was published a notice of proposed rule making to add a new Part 5 to Subchapter A, Chapter I, Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The regulations establish the Reservation Acceleration Program (RAP) to give federally recognized Indian tribes the opportunity to consult with Bureau of Indian Affairs line officials on restructuring Bureau services to provide maximum support for the tribes' comprehensive development plans. The regulations were proposed pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 301.

Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed regulations.

No objections have been received and the proposed regulations are hereby adopted as set forth below with the following correction:

1. In § 5.4(c), the word "Commission" is changed to read "Commissioner."

The new Part 5 shall become effective 30 days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

LOUIS R. BRUCE,
Commissioner.

Sec.
5.1 Purpose.
5.2 Applicant eligibility.
5.3 Application submission and acceptance.
5.4 Implementation procedures.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 5 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301.

§ 5.1 Purpose.

The regulations in this part govern the procedures by which Indian or Native Alaska communities may negotiate with the Bureau of Indian Affairs to restructure the Bureau's programs.

§ 5.2 Applicant eligibility.

Applicant must be an Indian or Native Alaska community currently receiving services from the Bureau of Indian Affairs or an intertribal organization representing a group of such communities.

§ 5.3 Application submission and acceptance.

(a) The governing body of the community or the intertribal organization making application must support participation in the Reservation Acceleration Program by a formal resolution. The resolution requesting participation in the program may be submitted at any time to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

(b) If the applicant is a community or communities served by a single Bureau of Indian Affairs Agency which serves no other communities, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs will, within 30 days after the date the application is received, inform the applicant of the date when negotiations may begin. In other cases, the Commissioner will direct members of his staff to meet with the applicant to develop special procedures that are acceptable both to the Commissioner and to the applicant. As soon as such procedures are accepted, a date for the start of negotiations will be announced.

§ 5.4 Implementation procedures.

(a) Leaders of communities selected to participate in the program will meet with the staff of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Agency that serves their communities to familiarize themselves with all aspects of the current Bureau program in their locality. The governing body will then prepare recommendations for changes in the Bureau program that it feels will support the comprehensive development plans of the community. These recommendations will be discussed with the Agency staff to determine if the Superintendent has the authority to implement them. When agreement is reached on those recommendations which are within the Superintendent's authority, he will implement them providing the changes proposed will not adversely affect services to other communities. All RAP recommendations will be forwarded to the area office.

(b) The same procedures described for negotiations at the Agency level will also apply at the area office level. In addition, when a community indicates it would be willing to exchange Bureau funds or staff in a single activity for funds or staff of another activity, the Area Director will be responsible for contacting other communities within his service area to inform them of the offer. When such an exchange is agreed to by all parties, the Area Director will implement it. Other recommendations that are within his authority and on which agreement is reached will also be implemented immediately by the Area Director.

(c) All RAP recommendations will then be forwarded to the Central Office where the negotiation process will be repeated. The Commissioner will be responsible for contacting other area offices to facilitate program exchanges that could not be made within a single area.

(d) Upon completion of the Central Office negotiations, the agreement will be signed by the tribal leader, the Superintendent, the Area Director and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

(e) The Area Director will be responsible for making any changes in the staffing or program of the area office that are necessary to implement the agreement.

Title 29—LABOR

Chapter XVII—Occupational Safety and Health Administration, Department of Labor

PART 1923—SAFETY AND HEALTH PROVISIONS FOR FEDERAL AGENCIES

Deletion

Under authority in section 33 of the Federal Employees' Compensation Act, as amended (5 U.S.C. 7902(b)–(e)); Executive Order No. 11612 (36 F.R. 13891); and Secretary of Labor's Order No. 12–71 (36 F.R. 8754), Part 1923 of Chapter XVII of Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby deleted.

It is the intention of the Secretary of Labor to replace the regulations in this Part 1923 with safety and health provisions for Federal agencies pursuant to section 19 of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1609, 29 U.S.C. 668; and Executive Order No. 11612 (36 F.R. 13891)).

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 26th day of October 1972.

G. C. GUENTHER,
Assistant Secretary of Labor.

PART 1951—GRANTS FOR IMPLEMENTING APPROVED STATE PLANS

On August 5, 1972, notice of proposed rule making setting the requirements and procedures for awarding grants to the several States for the purpose of implementing section 23(g) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1590), was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 15880). After consideration of all such relevant matter as was presented by interested persons, the new part is hereby adopted, subject to the following changes:

1. In paragraph (b) of § 1951.11, the words "with 10 copies" are changed to read "with two copies."

2. In paragraph (b) of § 1951.25, the period is removed after the last word in the paragraph and insert after the word "therefor" the words "together with the effective date."

3. In paragraph (a) of § 1951.42, the words "Department's Property Handbook for Occupational Safety and Health Administration For Grantees" are changed to read "Occupational Safety and Health Administration Property Administration Guide."[1]

4. Add footnote "3" to the bottom of page after footnote "2" for paragraph (a) of § 1951.42 to read as set forth below.

5. In paragraph (b) of § 1951.42, the words "Department's Property Handbook for Occupational Safety and Health Administration For Grantees" are changed to read "Occupational Safety and Health Administration Property Administration Guide"

Effective date. This new Part 1951 shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11–1–72).

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 26th day of October 1972.

G. C. GUENTHER,

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 1951 issued under secs. 8(g), 23, 84 Stat. 1600, 1613.

Subpart A—Applicability and Definitions

§ 1951.1 Purpose and scope.

(a) This part contains the procedures for making grants to the several States for the purposes listed in section 23(g) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1590).

(b) Under section 23(g) of the Act, the Assistant Secretary is authorized to make grants to the States to assist them in administering and enforcing programs for occupational safety and health contained in State plans approved by the Assistant Secretary pursuant to section 18 of the Act and Part 1902 of this chapter.

As used in this part and in grant instruments entered into pursuant to this part:

(a) The terms "State," "Assistant Secretary," and "Act" are defined as provided in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) respectively, of § 1950.2 of this chapter.

(b) "State plan" means a plan submitted by a State to the Assistant Secretary for approval as set out in Part 1902 of this chapter.

V37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

(c) "Approved State plan" means a State plan which the Assistant Secretary has approved.

Subpart B—Applications

§ 1951.10 Eligibility.

Grants under this part may be awarded only to a State agency, designated by the Governor of a State, which has had its State plan approved by the Assistant Secretary and which has submitted an application for a grant under this part. Such an application may be funded by a grant under this part for an amount not to exceed 50 per centum of the total cost to the State of implementing the State plan for the period covered by the grant application. The grant application must contain proposed costs which are allowable (i.e., directly allocable to implementing the approved plan, reasonable, and not otherwise barred by law, regulation, or policy). In addition, the State agency must be able to demonstrate that it can and will maintain such fiscal records and file with the Assistant Secretary such fiscal reports as are necessary to ensure the appropriate recordation of costs during the period of any grant awarded under this part.

(a) An application for a grant under this part shall be submitted in such manner and at such time as the Assistant Secretary may prescribe.[1] The application shall contain a budget and sufficient cost detail with which to associate estimated cost elements with specific activities under the State plan, as more particularly described in the instructions for a grant application.[1]

(b) An application with two copies must be submitted by a State agency, designated by the Governor of a State, to the appropriate Regional Administrator of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, U.S. Department of Labor.

(c) The application shall be executed by an individual authorized to act for the applicant State agency and to assume on behalf of the State agency those obligations imposed by the terms and conditions of any award, including the regulations of this part.

(d) The application must contain assurances satisfactory to the Assistant Secretary that the State agency has available to it sufficient funds and other resources with which it will match the Federal share of the cost of implementing the approved State plan.

(e) The application must bind the applicant to accept the grant conditions and other requirements of this part.

§ 1951.12 Action upon application.

(a) The Assistant Secretary shall proceed to pass upon each application for a grant within a reasonable time following its receipt. In passing upon each application, the Assistant Secretary shall consult with a representative of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare designated to establish liaison with the Assistant Secretary for the purpose of assisting the latter's evaluation of grant applications. In so doing, he may act through such officers and employees and such experts or consultants engaged for this purpose as he determines are specially qualified to evaluate the particular grant application. Any recommendations of such representative as to approval or disapproval of an application shall be reduced to writing, and due regard shall be given to any such recommendations.

(b) The State agency shall be notified of action taken on its application. In the event of either a deferral (for further clarification, for final approval of the State plan, for lack of funds, or, otherwise, for further evaluation) or a disapproval, the notice shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the grounds for such deferral or disapproval, except where there is an affirmation of a previous disapproval. Any deferral or disapproval of an application shall not preclude its reconsideration or a reapplication within a reasonable time. Such request for reconsideration by or a reapplication to the Assistant Secretary shall be in writing. In his discretion, the Assistant Secretary may afford the applicant an opportunity for informal oral presentation concerning the request for reconsideration or reapplication.

(c) It is the policy of the Secretary of Labor to encourage the submission of applications for grants to fund approved State plans. To the extent practicable, the Assistant Secretary shall provide technical assistance to any State agency in the preparation of an application and in the correction of any defective application.

(d) If a grant is made, the initial award shall set forth the amount of funds granted and shall specify the period for which the grant is contemplated. The grant may provide that additional funds will be added at a later time, provided that grant performance is satisfactory and appropriations are available. Grantees will be required to make separate application for continued support beyond the expiration of the period covered by any grant under this part.

Subpart C—Award and Termination

§ 1951.20 Grant awards.

Within the limits of funds available for such purpose, the Assistant Secretary shall approve grant applications and make awards, in writing, for grants under this part, which grants shall specify the period covered by the award and the terms and conditions with which the grantee must comply in incurring costs in implementing the approved State plan, provided further, that the regulations in this part shall be incorporated by reference into and become a part of any grant awarded hereunder.

The Assistant Secretary was delegated under Secretary of Labor Order 12–71, effective April 28, 1971 (36 F.R. 8754) and Secretary of Labor Order 19–71, effective June 18, 1971, the general authority of the Secretary to review applications for grants and make awards under section 23 of the Act and was empowered to subdelegate that authority to such officers and employees as he deems appropriate. The delegation to the Assistant Secretary, therefore, includes the power to issue, amend, and repeal rules under this part and to provide any policy, regulations, or guidelines by which this part is implemented. He may, with respect to any grant award, impose additional conditions prior to or at the time of any award when, in his judgment, such conditions are necessary to assure safe and healthful working conditions for working men and women, to assure or protect advancement of the approved State plan, or to promote the conservation of grant funds.

(a) The amount of any award shall be determined by the Assistant Secretary on the basis of his estimate of the sum necessary for all of the direct costs of implementing the approved State plan plus an additional amount for indirect costs, if any, which will be calculated by the Assistant Secretary either: On the basis of his estimate of the actual indirect costs reasonably related to the plan; or on the basis of a percentage of all of the estimated direct costs of the project when there are reasonable assurances that the use of such percentage will not exceed the approximate actual indirect costs. Such award may include an estimated provisional amount for indirect costs or for designated direct costs subject to upward (within the limits of available funds) as well as downward adjustments to actual costs when the amount properly expended by the grantee for provisional items has been determined by the Assistant Secretary: Provided, however, That no grant shall be made for an amount in excess of 50 percentum of the total cost as found necessary by the Assistant Secretary for the carrying out of the plan. In determining the grantee's share of the costs of implementing the approved State plan for the period to be covered by the grant, the grantee may not include (1) costs for which Federal grants from other sources have been or may be claimed or received, or (2) costs used to match other Federal grants, or (3) costs to be met from the Federal share of grant related income.

(b) All amounts awarded, whether provisional or otherwise, remain subject to accountability as provided under Subpart E of this part.

(c) To be an allowable cost under any grant awarded under this part, the cost that is paid or incurred by the grantee must be, in the opinion of the Assistant Secretary:

(1) Allocable. A cost must be necessary to implement the approved State plan and expended in accordance with this part and those conditions imposed in the grant instrument.

(2) Reasonable. A cost must be reasonable in amount.

(3) Timely. A cost must have been incurred after the effective date of the grant and prior to its expiration or termination.

(4) Documented. A cost must be supported by satisfactory evidence.

(d) Except as may otherwise be provided by this part, the identification of direct and indirect costs will be consistent with the generally accepted and established accounting practices that the grantee applies to its own activities provided it is in conformance with the applicable principles set forth in Chapter 29 and Subpart 1–15.7 of Chapter 1 of Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations.

(e) While §§ 1–15.712–2 and –3 provide respectively that expenditures which may increase the value of or useful life of facilities and capital assets shall be allowable only with the prior approval of the grantor agency, nevertheless, such costs will not be approved for grants awarded under this part unless the application clearly and convincingly establishes that the State agency cannot implement the approved State plan unless such expenditures are allowed.

(f) Any grant awarded under this part shall not commit or obligate the United States in any way to make any additional or supplemental or other award or continuation with respect to implementing that portion of the approved State plan covered by the proposed grant. However, the Assistant Secretary may, from time to time, within the period of time covered by the grant under this part, amend upward the initial grant award with respect to the implementation of an approved State plan, without any change in the plan or the period covered by the grant, where he finds, on the basis of such progress and accounting reports as he may require, that the amount of any prior award was less than the amount necessary to implement the approved State plan within the period covered by the grant and that the State will match such increase.

The Assistant Secretary shall from time to time make payments to a grantee of all or a portion of any grant award, either in advance or by way of reimbursement for expenses to be incurred or incurred in the project period, to the extent he determines such payments necessary to promote prompt initiation and advancement of the implementation of that portion of the approved State plan covered by the period for which the grant is given. Payments will be made in a manner, monthly or otherwise, that will closely approximate the grantee's rate of expenditure, except that no partial Federal payment may be made in an amount that would bring the aggregate amount of all partial payments to an amount in excess of the total non-Federal or matching State share which the State has available at the time of such partial payment. All such payments shall be recorded by the grantee in accounting records which will disclose the financial results of a grant award, such as authorizations, program income, obligations, assets, liabilities, and disbursements, in terms of the Federal and State shares. Amounts paid shall be available for expenditure by the grantee in accordance with the regulations of this part throughout the grant period subject to such limitations as are contained in this part and in the grant instrument.

§ 1951.24 Federal share; matching requirements.

(a) Federal funds will be granted on the basis of grant applications and may be used to meet not more than 50 percentum of the cost of implementing the approved State plan.

(b) The non-Federal or matching participation by the State may be derived from a variety of sources, including:

(1) Cash contributions. Cash contributions represent the grantee's cash outlay, including the outlay of money contributed to the grantee by other public (other-than-Federal) agencies and institutions and private organizations and individuals, except that funds originating from another Federal source or funds provided by a State as its matching share under another Federal grant may not be counted as part of a State's matching share for grants awarded under this part.

(2) In-kind contributions. In-kind contributions represent the value of non-cash contributions provided from any of the sources in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and are creditable as part of the State's matching share to the extent cash contributions from the same source would have been.

(a) Discontinuance by agreement. Whenever, in the judgment of the Assistant Secretary and the designated State agency, the continuation of the performance of the grant by the grantee would produce results of no value in furthering the purposes of either the Act or the approved State plan, the parties shall enter into a written agreement terminating the grant.

(b) Termination by the Assistant Secretary for default. Any grant awarded under this part may be revoked or terminated, in whole or in part, by the Assistant Secretary at any time within the period of the grant, whenever he finds that in his judgment the grantee has failed in a material respect to comply with the terms and conditions of the grant or the regulations of this part. The grantee shall be promptly notified of such finding in writing and given the reasons therefor, together with the effective date.

(c) Constructive termination by the Assistant Secretary. If, under the procedures of section 18(f) of the Act, including notice and an opportunity for a hearing, the Assistant Secretary notifies the State agency of his withdrawal of approval of a previously approved State plan, such notice shall operate constructively as notice of termination of any grant awarded under this part.

(d) Termination by the grantee. A grantee may at any time terminate or cancel its performance of an approved grant by notifying the Assistant Secretary in writing setting forth the reasons for such termination.

(e) Accounting. Upon any termination, the grantee shall render an accounting pursuant to Subpart E of this part. Credit shall be allowed to the grantee as a cost under the grant of the amount required to settle, at minimum cost, any noncancelable obligations properly incurred by the grantee prior to receipt of notice of termination.

Subpart D—Special Grant Conditions

§ 1951.30 Political activity.

Under the provisions of the Federal Hatch Act (Political Activities Act of August 2, 1939, as amended; 5 U.S.C. 1501ff), all State or local agency officers and employees whose principal employment is in connection with activities financed by any grant under this part, irrespective of whether they are under the merit system, are prohibited, with certain exceptions, from:

(a) Using official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or a nomination for office, or affecting the result thereof.

(b) Directly or indirectly coercing, attempting to coerce, commanding, or advising any other State or local officer or employee to pay, lend, or contribute any part of his salary or compensation or anything else of value to any party, committee, organization, agency, or person for political purposes.

(c) Actively participating in political management or in political campaigns.

§ 1951.31 Nondiscrimination.

(a) The State shall comply with the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (42 U.S.C. 2000d) which provides that no person in the United States shall on the ground of race, color, or national origin be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance and shall comply with the implementing rules issued by the Secretary of Labor with the approval of the President (29 CFR Part 31).

(b) The State shall comply with E.O. 11246 dated September 24, 1965, as amended, with regard to equal employment opportunities, and all rules, regulations, and procedures prescribed pursuant thereto.

§ 1951.32 Procurement standards.

Grantees, when procuring property and services, shall use their own procurement standards and procedures which are based upon their laws, rules, or regulations, which as a minimum shall provide that:

(a) All proposed procurement actions shall be reviewed selectively by grantee

[1] Instructions may be obtained from the Regional Administrators of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

V 37 - 211 NOV 1 72 XUM

officials to avoid purchasing unnecessary or duplicative items. Where appropriate, lease versus purchase considerations shall be given and documented.

(b) All procurements, advertised or negotiated, shall be accomplished by obtaining adequate and effective competition to the maximum practicable extent, unless restricted by the nature and complexity of the material or services being procured. Where sealed bids are obtained by formal advertisement, the awards will be made to the lowest responsible bidder whose bid is responsive to the invitation for bids and is the most advantageous.

(c) Single source procurement and sole source procurements shall be adequately documented to support the selection of vendors and the prices accepted. Procurement by brand names shall be limited to sole source procurements.

(d) The type of contracts or purchase orders used (i.e., fixed price, cost reimbursable, etc.) shall be appropriate for the particular procurement and for promoting the best interest of the grant program involved. A "cost-plus-a-percentage-of-cost" method of contracting shall not be used.

(e) Solicitation for bids or quotations shall contain a clear and accurate description of the technical requirements for the material, product, or service to be procured and exclude any features which restrict competition.

(f) All procurements shall be conducted so as to avoid any possibility or appearance of collusion or conflict of interest.

(g) A system of contract administration shall be maintained to assure:

(1) Contractor conformance with the terms, conditions, and specifications of the contract or purchase order;

(2) Adequate expediting and timely followup of all purchases.

(h) All contracts awarded by grantees, exclusive of purchase orders, shall provide for unilateral termination by the grantee. In addition, such contracts shall provide for conditions of default and those situations where the contract cannot be completed through no fault of the contractor, i.e., termination for the convenience of the grantee.

To the extent the grantee has not established rules or policies which it uniformly applies regardless of source of funds in determining the amounts and types of reimbursable travel expenses, the Standardized Government Travel Regulations (OMB Circular No. A–7) [1] shall be applied in determining the amount of grant funds chargeable for travel expenses.

Subpart E—Grantee Accountability

§ 1951.40 Date of final accounting.

In addition to such other accounting as the Assistant Secretary may require, a grantee shall render, with respect to each grant, a full accounting as provided herein, as of a date which shall be either (a) the end of the period covered by the grant or as that date may have have been extended by mutual agreement or (b) the date of termination as provided in §1951.25, whichever first occurs.

§ 1951.41 Accounting for grant award payments.

With respect to each approved grant, the grantee shall account for the sum total of all amounts paid by presenting or otherwise making available vouchers or any other evidence satisfactory to the Assistant Secretary of expenditures for direct or indirect costs meeting the requirements of § 1951.22: Provided, however, That where the amount awarded for indirect cost was based on a predetermined fixed-percentage of estimated direct costs, the amount allowed for indirect costs shall be computed on the basis of such predetermined fixed-percentage rates applied to the total, or a selected element thereof, of the reimbursable direct costs incurred.

(a) As used in this section the term "equipment" means an article of property procured or fabricated, in whole or in part with grant funds, which is complete in itself, is of a durable nature, and has an expected, service life of more than 1 year. Equipment on hand as of the date established in § 1951.40 for which accounting is required in accordance with the procedures set forth in the "Occupational Safety and Health Administration Property Administration Guide" [2] shall be identified and reported by the grantee in accordance with such procedures, and, accounted for by one or a combination of the following methods, as determined by the Assistant Secretary:

(1) Retention of equipment for other occupational safety and health projects. Equipment may be used, without adjustment of accounts, on other grants within the scope of the Act or other activities, by the grantee, which the Assistant Secretary determines in writing, fall within the objectives of the Act, and no other accounting for such equipment shall be required: Provided, however, (i) That during such period of use no charge for depreciation, amortization, or for other use of the equipment shall be made against any existing or future Federal grant or contract, and (ii) if, within the period of its useful life, the equipment is transferred by sale or otherwise for use outside the scope of the Act, the Federal portion of the fair market value at the time of transfer shall be refunded to the Federal Government.

(2) Sale or other disposition of equipment, crediting of proceeds or value. The equipment may be sold by the grantee and the net proceeds of the sale credited to the grant account for project use, or they may be used or disposed of in any manner by the grantee by crediting to the grant account the Federal share of the fair market value on the termination date. To the extent equipment purchased from grant funds is used for credit or "trade-in" on the purchase of new equipment, the accounting obligation shall apply to the same extent to such new equipment.

(3) Return or transfer of equipment. The equipment may be returned to the Federal Government by the grantee or may be transferred to another grantee for the purpose of pursuing an objective within the scope of the Act.

(b) The grantee can be relieved of accountability for equipment by request, to the Assistant Secretary, in accordance with instructions in the "Occupational Safety and Health Administration Property Administration Guide" when the erty is:

(1) Excess to the grantee's needs;

(2) Discovered to be missing from inventory or is destroyed or damaged;

(3) Desired by the grantee for cannibalization;

(4) Desired by the grantee for use in a "trade-in" transaction;

(5) Requested for return by the Department; and

(6) Disposed of as required in grant closeout procedures.

All program income (i.e., licenses, fees for inspection and otherwise, levies, royalties, etc.) except that income excluded below, earned during the grant period shall be retained by the grantee and, in accordance with the grant agreement, shall be deducted from the total project cost for the purpose of determining the net cost on which the Federal share will be based. The income in the two exceptions listed below may be retained by the State without credit to the cost of any grant awarded under this part. The two exceptions are:

(a) All interest income earned by a State government (including State agencies and instrumentalities) on deposits or investments of advance Federal payments of the Federal share of grants awarded under this part, except that interest or other income earned by a local unit of government (e.g., county, municipality, city, town, or school, or any agency or instrumentality of such local unit of government) shall be returned in its entirety to the Department for deposit in the U.S. Treasury.

(b) All revenue from fines and/or penalties.

[1] The Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A–7 instructions are available for inspection at the Regional Administrative Office of the Assistant Secretary for Administration and Management, Department of Labor.

[2] Information concerning the "Guide" may be obtained from the Regional Administrators of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

§ 1951.44 Final settlement.

There shall be payable to the Federal Government as final settlement, with respect to each approved grant, the total sum of:

(a) Any amount not accounted for pursuant to this subpart;

(b) Any credits for equipment as provided in § 1951.42;

(c) Any credits for residual material of a consummable nature, title to which has not been previously waived by the Assistant Secretary;

(d) Any credits for earned income as provided in § 1951.43(a); and

(e) Any other settlements required pursuant to § 1951.43.

Such total sum shall constitute a debt owed by the grantee to the Federal Government and shall be recovered from the grantee or its successors or assignees by set off or other action as provided by law.

§ 1951.45 Disputes.

Any disputes, concerning a question of fact arising as the result of the State agency's performance of any grant awarded under this part, shall be resolved by applying the disputes and appellate procedures and related clauses contained in §§ 1–1.318 and 1–7.101–12 of Chapter 1 and § 29–1.318 and Part 29–60 of Chapter 29 of Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations, except that:

(a) The word "contract" shall mean grant awarded under this part;

(b) The word "contractor" shall mean grantee;

(c) The term "contracting officer" shall mean the Assistant Secretary or his designee;

(d) The requirements in this section in no way alter, diminish, or in any way affect the responsibilities of the Assistant Secretary under section 18(f) of the Act with regard to a State's failure to comply substantially with any provision of the State plan or the State's remedies, as provided in section 18(g) of the Act, concerning a decision of the Assistant Secretary, under section 18(f), for which decision the State wishes to obtain judicial review.

§ 1951.46 Copyrights and patents.

(a) Any application for a grant award under this part shall constitute the consent of the grantee to give the Federal Government, its officers, agents, and employees, acting within the scope of their official duties, a royalty-free, nonexclusive and irrevocable license throughout the world to publish, translate, reproduce, deliver, perform, dispose of and sublicense such subject data or inventions, whether copyrighted or patented, any "subject data" (including writing, sound recordings, pictorial reproduction, drawings, or other graphical representatives and works of any similar nature) or invention, originated in or arising out of activities financed by this grant, whether or not within the scope of the approved State plan.

(b) Laboratory notes, related technical data and information pertaining to inventions or discoveries shall be maintained for such periods, and filed with or otherwise made available to the Assistant Secretary or those he may designate at such times and in such manner as he may determine necessary to carry out such Departmental regulations.

(c) Except as may otherwise be provided under the terms and conditions of the award, the grantee may copyright without prior approval any publications, films, or similar materials developed or resulting from implementation of a State plan supported by a grant under this part, subject, however, to a royalty-free, nonexclusive license or right in the Federal Government to reproduce, translate, publish, use, disseminate, and dispose of such materials and to authorize others to do so.

(d) Appropriate measures shall be taken by the grantee and by the Assistant Secretary to assure that no contracts, assignments, or other arrangements inconsistent with this grant obligation are continued or entered into and that all personnel involved in the supported activity are aware of and comply with such obligation.

§ 1951.47 Retention and custody of records.

(a) Record retention requirements, for the designated State agencies, established by the State governments receiving grants under this part are deemed adequate except that financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other records pertinent to a grant program shall be retained for a period of 3 years, with the following qualifications:

(1) The records shall be retained beyond the 3-year period if audit findings have not been resolved.

(2) Records for nonexpendable property which was acquired with Federal grant funds shall be retained for 3 years after final disposition of the property.

(3) When grant records are transferred to or maintained by the Department, the 3-year retention requirement is not applicable to the grantee.

(b) The retention period starts from the date of the submission of the final expenditure report or, for grants which are renewed annually, from the date of the submission of the annual expenditure report.

(c) State agencies are authorized, if they so desire, to substitute microfilm copies in lieu of original records.

(d) The Assistant Secretary shall request transfer of certain records to his custody from State governments when he determines that the records possess long-term retention value. However, in order to avoid duplicate recordkeeping, he may make arrangements with State governments concerning the retention of any records which are continuously needed for joint use.

(e) The Secretary and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have access to any books, documents, papers, and records of the State governments and their subgrantees or subcontractors which are pertinent to a specific grant program for the purpose of making audit, examination, evaluation, excerpts and transcripts. As used in this subsection, political subdivisions, e.g., counties, cities, towns, etc., are, to the extent their relationship to the designated State agency is applicable, considered to be subgrantees or subcontractors. The substance of this subsection shall be inserted in any subgrant or subcontract entered into by the designated State agency under any grant awarded under this part.

(f) No restriction is placed on State agencies which limits public access to the State governments' records except when records must remain confidential for the following reasons:

(1) To prevent a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(2) To specifically comply with a Federal Executive order or statute requiring the record to be kept secret.

(3) To protect commercial or financial information obtained from a person or firm on a privileged or confidential basis.

(4) To avoid the disclosure of any other information which can be exploited for the purpose of personal gains.

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter XII—Defense Supply Agency

SUBCHAPTER B—MISCELLANEOUS

[DSA Reg. 5500.7]

PART 1281—HEARING RULES FOR SANCTION PROCEEDINGS, EXECUTIVE ORDER 11246

OCTOBER 13, 1972.

Part 1281 is added to Title 32 of the Code of Federal Regulations, reading as follows:

Sec.
1281.1 Purpose and scope.
1281.2 Definitions.
1281.3 Background.
1281.4 Responsibilities.
1281.5 Procedures.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 1281 are issued pursuant to sections 205, 208, 209, 301, 302(b), and 303(a) of Executive Order 11248, as amended, 30 F.R. 12319; 32 F.R. 14303; 41 CFR 60–1.26; Department of Defense Directive 1100.11.

§ 1281.1 Purpose and scope.

To outline responsibilities to govern the practice and procedure for proceedings conducted, and decisions made, by the Agency precedent to the imposition of sanctions under section 209(a) (5) and (6) of Executive Order (EO) 11246, for violations of EO 11246, and rules, regulations, and orders thereunder. This part is applicable to HQ DSA and the Defense Contract Administration Services Regions.

V 37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

§ 1281.2 Definitions.

(a) Agency. The Defense Supply Agency (DSA).

(b) Agency Counsel. Counsel of the DSA primary field activity assigned to represent the Agency.

(c) Director. Director of DSA.

(d) Hearing Examiner. The hearing officer designated by the Director pursuant to section 208(b) of EO 11246, as amended, and 41 CFR 60–1.26(b) to conduct hearings under section 209 of the EO.

(e) Notice. Notice of hearing.

(f) Party. A respondent; the Director, DSA; and any person or organization participating in a proceeding pursuant to this regulation.

(g) Respondent. A person or organization against whom sanctions are proposed because of alleged violations of EO 11246, and rules, regulations, and orders thereunder.

§ 1281.3 Background.

(a) Applicability of rules. These rules of procedure supplement the provisions of 41 CFR 60–1.26(b). The rules govern the practice and procedure for hearings conducted by the Director, DSA, with respect to the impositions of sanctions under sections 208(b), 209(a) (5) and (6) of EO 11246, as amended, and DOD Directive 1100.11.

(b) Waiver, modification. Upon notice to all parties, the hearing examiner or the Director may, with respect to matters pending before him, modify or waive any rule herein upon determination that no party will be prejudiced and that the ends of justice will be served thereby.

(c) Computation of time. In computing any period of time under these rules or in an order issued hereunder, the time begins with the day following the act, event, or default, and includes the last day of the period, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, in which event it includes the next following business day.

(d) Form and filing of documents and pleadings—(1) Form. Documents and pleadings filed pursuant to a proceeding herein shall be dated, the original signed in ink, shall show the docket description and title of the proceeding, and shall show the title, if any, and address of the signatory. Copies need not be signed, but the name of the person signing the original shall be reproduced.

(2) Filing; service—(i) Manner of service. Service upon any party shall be made by the party filing the document or pleading by delivering a copy or mailing a copy to the last known address; Provided, however, That the notice of hearing shall be sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, pursuant to 41 CFR 60–1.26(b)(1).

(ii) Upon whom served. All papers shall be served upon counsel of record and upon parties not represented by counsel; and upon the Agency Counsel or his designate.

(iii) Proof of service. A certificate of the person serving the pleading or other document by personal delivery or by mailing, setting forth the manner of said service shall be proof of the service.

(iv) Number of copies. An original and three copies of all documents and pleadings shall be filed.

§ 1281.4 Responsibilities.

(a) The Director, DSA will:

(1) Designate a hearing examiner for each proceeding.

(2) Make a decision in each proceeding on the basis of the record before him.

(b) The Agency Counsel will represent the Agency in all aspects of the hearing proceeding.

(c) The Office of Counsel, HQ DSA (DSAH–G) will:

(1) Provide technical assistance to DSA activities on matters pertinent to this Part 1281.

(2) Maintain this Part 1281 in a current status and review it annually.

§ 1281.5 Procedures.

(a) Prehearing procedures—(1) Notice of proposed cancellation, termination or ineligibility. Actions shall be commenced under these rules and 41 CFR 60–1.26(b)(2) by service of a written notice signed by the Director, on the contractor or subcontractor against whom the Director seeks the imposition of sanctions. The notice shall indicate whether the Director proposes to cancel or terminate, or cause to be canceled or terminated, in whole or in part, any one or more contracts or subcontracts, or to declare the prime contractor or subcontractor ineligible for further contracts or subcontracts under Section 209 of the order. The notice shall contain a concise jurisdictional statement, a short and plain statement of the matters furnishing a basis for the imposition of sanctions, an enumeration of the sanctions being proposed, and a citation of the provisions of the order and regulations pursuant to which the requested action may be taken.

(2) Answer—(i) Filing and service. Within 14 days after receipt of the notice of proposed cancellation, termination or ineligibility, Respondent shall file an answer and a hearing request with the hearing examiner or the Director.

(ii) Contents; failure to file. The answer shall admit or deny specifically, and in detail, matters set forth in each allegation of the notice unless Respondent is without knowledge, in which case the answer shall so state, and the statement shall be deemed a denial. Matters not specifically denied shall be deemed admitted. Matters alleged as affirmative defenses shall be separately stated and numbered. Failure to file an answer shall constitute an admission of all facts recited in the notice.

(iii) Hearing request. The request for a hearing shall be included as a separate paragraph of the answer.

(3) Amendments. The Director may amend the notice once as a matter of course before an answer is filed, and Respondent may amend its answer once as a matter of course not later than 10 days after the filing of the original answer. Other amendments of the notice or of the answer to the notice shall be made only by leave of the hearing examiner. An amended notice shall be answered within 7 days of its service, or within the time for filing an answer to the original notice, whichever period is longer unless the hearing examiner orders otherwise.

(4) Notice of hearing. In response to Respondent's request for a hearing, a notice of hearing shall be served on the Respondent pursuant to 41 CFR 60–1.26(b)(1). Such notice shall contain the time, place, and nature of the hearing and the legal authority under which the proceedings are to be held.

(5) Motions; disposition of motions—(i) Motions. Motions shall state the relief sought, the authority relied upon and the facts alleged, and shall be filed with the hearing examiner. If made before or after the hearing itself, these matters shall be in writing. If made at the hearing, they may be stated orally; but the hearing examiner may require that they be reduced to writing and filed and served on all parties in the same manner as a formal motion. Within 7 days after a written motion is served, or such other time period as may be fixed, any party may file a response to a motion.

(ii) Disposition of motions. The hearing examiner, or Director, may not grant a written motion prior to expiration of the time for filing response thereto, except upon consent of the parties or following a hearing thereon, but may overrule or deny such motion without awaiting response; Provided, however, That prehearing conferences, hearings, and decisions need not be delayed pending disposition of motions. Rulings by the hearing examiner shall not be appealed prior to the transfer of the case to the Director, but shall be considered by the Director when the case is transferred to him for decision.

(6) Participation by interested persons. (i) To the extent that proceedings hereunder involve employment of persons covered by a collective bargaining agreement, and compliance may necessitate a revision of such agreement, any labor organization which is a signatory to the agreement shall have the right to participate as a party.

(ii) Other persons or organizations shall have the right to participate as parties if the final decision of the Director could adversely affect them or the class they represent, and such participation may contribute materially to the proper disposition of the proceedings.

(iii) Any person or organization wishing to participate as a party under this paragraph shall file and serve upon the hearing examiner, and all parties a petition within 7 days after the commencement of the action. Such petition shall concisely state (a) the petitioner's interest in the proceedings, (b) who will appear for petitioner, (c) the issues on which petitioner wishes to participate, and (d) whether petitioner intends to present witnesses.

(iv) The hearing examiner shall determine whether each petitioner has the requisite interest in the proceedings and shall permit or deny participation accordingly. Where petitions to participate as parties are made by individuals or groups with common interest, the hearing examiner may request all such petitioners to designate a single representative to represent all such petitioners; provided that the representative of a labor organization qualifying to participate under subparagraph a above must be permitted to participate in the proceeding. The hearing examiner shall give each petitioner written notice of the decision on his petition; and if the petition is denied, he shall briefly state the grounds for denial and shall then treat the petition as a request for participation as amicus curiae. The hearing examiner shall give written notice to each party of each petition granted.

(v) Any other interested person or organization wishing to participate as amicus curiae shall file a petition before the commencement of the final hearing with the hearing examiner. Such petition shall concisely state (a) the petitioner's interest in the hearing, (b) who will represent the petitioner, and (c) the issues on which petitioner intends to present argument. The hearing examiner may grant the petition if he finds that the petitioner has a legitimate interest in the proceedings, and that such participation may contribute materially to the proper disposition of the issues. An amicus curiae is not a party but may participate as provided in this paragraph.

(vi) An amicus curiae may present a brief oral statement at the hearing, at the point in the proceedings specified by the hearing examiner. He may submit a written statement of position to the hearing examiner prior to the beginning of a hearing, and shall serve a copy on each party. He may also submit a brief or written statement at such time as the parties submit briefs and exceptions, and shall serve a copy on each party.

(7) Admissions as to facts and documents. Not later than 14 days prior to the date of the hearing, except for good cause shown, or not later than 14 days prior to such earlier date as the hearing examiner may order, any party may serve upon an opposing party a written request for the admission of the genuineness and authenticity of any relevant documents described in, and exhibited with, the request, or for the admission of the truth of any relevant matters of fact stated in the request. Each of the matters as to which an admission is requested shall be deemed admitted, unless within a period designated in the request (not less than 7 days, and not more than 10 days, after service thereof) the party to whom the request is directed serves upon the requesting party a sworn statement either (i) denying specifically the matters as to which an admission is requested, or (ii) setting forth in detail the reasons why he cannot truthfully either admit or deny such matters.

(8) Production of documents and things and entry upon land for inspection and other purposes. (i) After commencement of the action, any party may serve on any other party a request to produce and/or permit the party, or someone acting on his behalf, to inspect and copy any unprivileged documents, phonorecords, and other compilations which contain or may lead to relevant information and which are in the possession, custody, or control of the party upon whom the request is served. If necessary, translation of data compilations shall be done by the party furnishing the information.

(ii) After commencement of the action, any party may serve on any other party a request to permit entry upon designated property which may be relevant to the issues in the proceeding and which is in the possession or control of the party upon whom the request is served for the purpose of inspection, measuring, surveying or photographing, testing, or sampling the property or any designated object or area.

(iii) Each request shall set forth with reasonable particularity the items to be inspected and shall specify a reasonable time and place for making the inspection and performing the related acts.

(iv) The party upon whom the request is served shall respond within 7 days after the service of the request. The response shall state, with respect to each item, that inspection and related activities will be permitted as requested, unless there are objections, in which case the reasons for each objection shall be stated. The party submitting the request may move for an order with respect to any objection or to other failure to respond.

(9) Depositions upon oral examination—(i) Deposition; notice of examination. After commencement of the action, any party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, having personal or expert knowledge of the matters in issue, by deposition upon oral examination for the purposes of discovery and the perpetuation of testimony. A party desiring to take a deposition shall give reasonable notice in writing to every other party to the proceeding. The notice shall state the time and place for taking the deposition and the name and address of each person to be examined, if known, and, if the name is not known, a general description sufficient to identify him or the particular class or group to which he belongs. The notice shall also set forth the categories of documents the witness is to bring with him to the deposition, if any. A copy of the notice shall be furnished to the person to be examined unless his name is unknown.

(ii) Production of witnesses; obligation of parties; objections. It shall be the obligation of each party to produce for examination any person, along with such documents as may be requested, at the time and place, and on the date set forth in the notice, if that party has control over such person. Each party shall be deemed to have control over its officers, agents, employees, and members. Depositions shall be held within the county in which the witness resides or works. The party or prospective witness may file with the hearing examiner, an objection within 3 days after the identity of such witness first becomes known, stating with particularity the reasons why the party cannot or ought not to produce a requested witness. The party serving the notice may move for an order with respect to such objection or failure to produce a witness. All errors or irregularities in compliance with the provisions of this section shall be deemed waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is or, with due diligence, might have been ascertained.

(iii) Before whom taken; scope of examination; failure to answer. Depositions may be taken before any officer authorized to administer oaths by the law of the United States or of the place where the deposition is held. At the time and place specified in the notice, the officer designated to take the deposition shall permit each party to examine and cross-examine the witness under oath upon any unprivileged matter which is relevant to the subject matter of the proceeding, or which is reasonably calculated to lead to the production of relevant and otherwise admissible evidence. All objections to questions, except as to the form thereof, and all objections to evidence are reserved until the hearing. A refusal or failure on the part of any person under the control of a party to answer a question shall operate to create an irrebuttable presumption that the answer, if given, would be unfavorable to the controlling party, unless the question is subsequently ruled improper by the hearing examiner. Provided, That the examining party shall note on the record during the deposition the question which the deponent has failed, or refused to answer, and state his intention to invoke the presumption if no answer is forthcoming.

(iv) Subscription; certification; filing. The testimony shall be reduced to typewriting by the officer taking the deposition or under his direction, and shall be subscribed by the witness in the presence of the officer who shall attach his certificate stating that the witness was duly sworn by him, and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony and exhibits given by the witness, and that said officer is not of counsel or attorney to any of the parties nor interested in the proceeding. If the deposition is not signed by the witness because he is ill, dead, cannot be found, or refuses to sign it, such fact shall be noted in the certificate of the officer and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed. The officer shall immediately deliver any original copy of the transcript, together with his certificate, in person or by mail to the hearing examiner. Copies of the transcript and certificate shall be furnished to all persons desiring them, upon payment of reasonable charges therefor, unless distribution is restricted by order of the hearing examiner for good cause shown.

(v) Rulings on admissibility; use of deposition. Subject to the provisions of this section, objection may be made at the hearing to receiving in evidence any deposition or part thereof for any reason which would require the exclusion of the evidence if the witness were then present and testifying. Any part or all of a deposition, so far as admissible in the discretion of the hearing examiner, may be used against any party who was present or represented at the taking of the deposition or who had reasonable notice thereof, in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Any deposition may be used by any party for the purpose of contradicting or impeaching the testimony of the deponent as a witness.

(b) The deposition of a party or of anyone who at the time of taking the deposition was an officer, director, or managing agent, or was designated to testify on behalf of a public or private corporation, partnership, association, or governmental agency which is a party may be used by the adverse party for any purpose.

(c) The deposition of a witness, whether or not a party, may be used by any party for any purpose if the hearing examiner finds: (1) That the witness is dead; or (2) that the witness is unable to attend or testify because of age, illness, infirmity, or imprisonment; or (3) that the party offering the deposition has been unable to procure the attendance of the witness by notice; or (4) upon application and notice, that such exceptional circumstances exist as to make it desirable to allow the deposition to be used.

(d) If only part of a deposition is introduced in evidence by a party, any party may introduce any other parts by way of rebuttal and otherwise.

(vi) Stipulations. If the parties so stipulate in writing, depositions may be taken before any person at any time or place, upon any notice and in any manner, and when so taken may be used like other depositions.

(10) Prehearing conferences. (i) Within 14 days after the answer has been filed, the hearing examiner shall establish a date for the prehearing conference to include all parties and petitioners for status as a party whose petition has not yet been ruled on. Written notice of the prehearing conference shall be sent to all participants in the conference. At the prehearing conference the following matters shall be considered:

(a) Simplification and delineation of the issues to be heard;

(b) Stipulations, admissions of fact, and of contents and authenticity of documents;

(c) Limitation of number of witnesses, particularly the avoidance of duplicate expert witnesses, and exchange of expert witness lists;

(d) Scheduling dates for the exchange of witness lists (except as provided in (c) of this subdivision) and exhibits;

(e) Offers of settlement;

(f) Scheduling of such additional prehearing conferences as may be considered necessary; and

(g) Such other matters as may tend to expedite the disposition of the proceedings.

(ii) The record shall show the matters disposed of by order and by agreement in the prehearing conference. The subsequent course of the proceeding shall be controlled by such action.

(b) Designation and responsibilities of hearing examiner—(1) Designation. Hearings shall be held before a hearing examiner designated by the Director. After service of an order designating a hearing examiner to preside, and until such examiner makes his decision, motions and petitions shall be submitted to him. In the case of the death, illness, disqualification, or unavailability of the designated hearing examiner, another hearing examiner may be designated to take his place.

(2) Authority and responsibilities. The hearing examiner shall propose findings and conclusions to the Director on the basis of the record before him. In order to do so, he shall have the duty to conduct a fair hearing, to take all necessary action to avoid delay, and to maintain order. He shall have all powers necessary to those ends, including, but not limited to, the power to:

(i) Hold conferences to settle, simplify, or fix the issues in a proceeding, or to consider other matters that may aid in the expeditious disposition of the proceeding by consent of the parties or upon his own motion;

(ii) Require parties to state their position with respect to the various issues in the proceeding;

(iii) Require parties to produce for examination those relevant witnesses and documents under their control;

(iv) Administer oaths;

(v) Rule on motions, and other procedural items on matters pending before him;

(vi) Regulate the course of the hearing and conduct of participants therein;

(vii) Examine and cross-examine witnesses, and introduce into the record documentary or other evidence;

(viii) Receive, rule on, exclude, or limit evidence, and limit lines of questioning or testimony which are irrelevant, immaterial or unduly repetitious;

(ix) Fix time limits for submission of written documents in matters before him, and extend any time limits established by this part upon a determination that no party will be prejudiced and that the ends of justice will be served thereby;

(x) Impose appropriate sanctions against any party or person failing to obey an order under these rules which may include:

(a) Refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting him from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(b) Excluding all testimony of an unresponsive or evasive witness, or determining that the answer of such witness, if given, would be unfavorable to the party having control over him; and

(c) Expelling any party or person from further participation in the hearing.

(xi) Take official notice of any material fact not appearing in evidence in the record, which is among the traditional matters of judicial notice.

(xii) Recommend whether the Respondent is in current violation of Executive Order 11246, as amended, and applicable rules, regulations and orders, as well as the nature of whatever corrective action may be necessary to bring the Respondent into compliance with the equal employment opportunity clause;

(xiii) Recommend to the Director the adoption of a consent order agreed to by the parties in settlement of the issues in a proceeding; and

(xiv) Take any action authorized by these rules.

(c) Hearings and related matters—(1) Appearances—(i) Representation. The parties or other persons or organizations participating pursuant to these rules have the right to be represented by Counsel.

(ii) Failure to appear. In the event that a party appears at the hearing and no party appears for the opposing side, the party who is present shall have an election to present his evidence in whole or such portion thereof sufficient to make a prima facie case before the hearing examiner. Failure to appear at the hearing shall not be deemed to be a waiver of the right to be served with a copy of the hearing examiner's recommended decision and to file exceptions to it.

(iii) Appearance of witnesses. (a) A party wishing to procure the appearance at the hearing of any person having personal or expert knowledge of the matters in issue shall serve on the prospective witness a notice setting forth the time, date and place at which he is to appear for the purpose of giving testimony. The notice shall also set forth the categories of documents the witness is to bring with him to the hearing, if any. A copy of the notice shall be filed with the hearing examiner and additional copies shall be served upon the opposing parties.

(b) It shall be the obligation of each party to produce for examination any person, along with such documents as may be requested, at the time and place, and on the date set forth in the notice, if that party has control over such person. Each party shall be deemed to have control over its officers, agents, employees, and members. Due regard shall be given to the convenience of witnesses in scheduling their testimony so that they will be detained no longer than reasonably necessary.

(c) The party or prospective witness may file an objection within 3 days after the identity of such witness first becomes known, stating with particularity the reasons why the party cannot produce a requested witness. The party serving the notice may move for an order with respect to such objection or failure to produce a witness.

(2) Evidence; testimony. Formal rules of evidence shall not apply, but rules or principles designed to assure production of the most probative evidence available shall be applied, as the hearing examiner directs. Testimony shall be given orally by the witnesses at the hearing, but may, in the discretion of the hearing examiner, be prepared in writing and served on all parties within 10 days prior to the hearing. A witness shall be available for cross-examination, and, at the discretion of the hearing examiner, may be cross-examined without regard to the scope of direct examination as to any matter which is relevant and material to the proceeding. The hearing examiner may exclude evidence which is immaterial, irrelevant, or unduly repetitious.

(3) Objections; exceptions—(i) Objections. If a party objects to the admission or rejection of any evidence or to the limitation of the scope of any examination or cross-examination or the failure to limit such scope, he shall state briefly the grounds for such objection. Rulings on all objections shall appear in the record. Only objections made before the hearing examiner may be relied upon subsequently in the proceedings.

(ii) Exceptions. Formal exception to adverse ruling is not required. Rulings by the hearing examiner shall not be appealed prior to the transfer of the case to the Director, but shall be considered by the Director upon filing exceptions to the hearing examiner's recommendations and conclusions.

(4) Offer of proof. An offer of proof made in connection with an objection taken to any ruling of the hearing examiner excluding proffered oral testimony shall consist of a statement of the substance of the evidence which counsel contends would be adduced by such testimony; and, if the excluded evidence consists of evidence in written form or consists of reference to documents, a copy of such evidence shall be marked for identification and shall accompany the record as the offer of proof.

(5) Public documents. Whenever a party offers a public document, or part thereof, in evidence, and such document, or part thereof, has been shown by the offeror to be reasonably available to the public, such documents need not be produced or marked for identification, but may be offered for official notice as a public document item by specifying the document or relevant part thereof.

(6) Ex parte communications. The hearing examiner shall not consult any person, or party, on any fact in issue unless upon notice and opportunity for all parties to participate. No employee or agent of the Federal Government engaged in the investigation and prosecution of this case shall participate or advise in the rendering of the recommended or final decision, except as witness or counsel in the proceeding.

(7) Oral argument. Any party shall be entitled upon request to a reasonable period between the close of evidence and termination of the hearing for oral argument. Oral arguments shall be included in the official transcript of the hearing.

(8) Official transcript. The agency will designate the official reporter for all hearings. The official transcripts of testimony taken, together with any exhibits, briefs, or memoranda of law filed therewith, shall be filed with the hearing examiner. Transcripts of testimony may be obtained from the official reporter by the parties and the public at rates not to exceed the applicable rates fixed by the contract between the agency and the reporter unless distribution is limited by order of the hearing examiner for good cause shown. Upon notice to all parties, the hearing examiner may authorize such corrections to the transcript as are necessary to reflect accurately the testimony.

(9) Summary judgment—(i) For agency. At any time after the expiration of 14 days from the commencement of the action or after service of a motion for summary judgment by the respondent, the agency counsel may move the hearing examiner with or without supporting affidavits for summary judgment in his favor upon all claims or any part thereof.

(ii) For respondent. The respondent may, at any time after commencement of the action, move the hearing examiner with or without supporting affidavits for a summary judgment in his favor as to all claims or any part thereof.

(iii) Other parties. Any other party to a formal proceeding under this part may support or oppose motions for summary judgment made by the agency or respondent, in accordance with this section, but may not move for a summary judgment in his own behalf.

(10) Motion and proceedings thereon. The motion shall be served upon all parties and the hearing examiner at least 15 days before the time fixed for the hearing on the motion. The adverse party or parties may serve opposing affidavits prior to the day of hearing. The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the notice and answer, depositions, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. A summary judgment rendered for or against the agency or the respondent shall constitute the hearing examiner's findings and recommendations to the Director on the issues involved. Hearings on motions made under this section shall be scheduled by the hearing examiner and may be postponed until the date established in the notice for the final hearing on the merits.

(11) Case not fully adjudicated on motion. If on motion under this section judgment is not rendered upon the whole case or for all the relief asked and a final hearing is necessary, the hearing examiner at the hearing of the motion, by examining the notice and answer and the evidence before him and by interrogating counsel, shall, if practicable, ascertain what material facts exist without substantial controversy and what material facts are actually and in good faith controverted. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the facts that appear without substantial controversy, including the extent to which relief is not in controversy, and directing such further proceedings as are just. At the hearing on the merits, the facts so specified shall be deemed established, and the final hearing shall be conducted accordingly.

(12) Form of affidavits; further testimony; defense required. Supporting and opposing affidavits shall be made on personal knowledge, shall set forth such facts as would be admissible in evidence, and shall show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein. Sworn or certified copies of all papers or parts thereof referred to in an affidavit shall be attached thereto or served therewith. The hearing examiner may permit affidavits to be supplemented or opposed by depositions or further affidavits. When a motion for summary judgment is made and supported as provided in this section, an adverse party may not rest upon the mere allegations or denials in his notice or answer, but his response, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in this section, must set forth specific facts showing there is a genuine issue for final hearing. If he does not so respond, summary judgment, if appropriate, shall be rendered against him.

(13) When affidavits are unavailable. Should it appear from the affidavits of a party opposing the motion that he cannot for the reasons stated present by affidavit facts essential to justify his opposition, the hearing examiner may refuse the application for summary judgment or may order a continuance to permit affidavits to be obtained or depositions to be taken or discovery to be had or make such other orders as are just.

(14) Affidavits made in bad faith. Should it appear to the satisfaction of the hearing examiner at any time that any of the affidavits presented pursuant to this section are presented in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the hearing examiner may make such orders and impose such sanctions as may be appropriate against the offending party.

(d) Posthearing Procedures—(1) Proposed findings of fact and conclusions. Within 20 days after receipt of the transcript of the testimony, each party and amicus may file a brief with the hearing examiner. Such briefs shall be served simultaneously on all parties and amici, and a certificate of service shall be furnished to the hearing examiner. Requests for additional time in which to file a brief shall be made to the hearing examiner, in writing, and copies shall be served simultaneously on the other parties. Requests for extensions shall be received not later than 3 days before the date such briefs are due. No reply brief may be filed except by special permission of the hearing examiner.

(2) Record for recommended decisions. The transcript of testimony, exhibits, and all papers, documents, and requests filed in the proceedings, including briefs, but excepting the correspondence section of the docket, shall constitute the record for decision.

(3) Recommended decision. Within 20 days after the filing of briefs, or, if the parties elect not to file such documents, not more than 20 days after the close of the hearing, the hearing examiner shall recommend findings, conclusions, and a decision. These recommendations shall be certified, together with the record to the Director for his decisions. The recommended findings, conclusions, and decisions shall be served on all parties and amici to the proceeding.

(4) Exceptions to recommended decision. Within 14 days after receipt of the hearing examiner's recommended findings, conclusions, and decision, any party may submit exceptions to said recommendation. These exceptions may be responded to by other parties within 10 days of their receipt by said parties. All exceptions and responses shall be filed with the Director. Service of such briefs and exceptions and responses thereto shall be made simultaneously on all parties to the proceeding, and a certificate of service shall be furnished to the Director. Requests to the Director for additional time in which to file exceptions and responses thereto shall be in writing and copies thereof shall be served simultaneously on other parties. Requests for extensions must be received no later than 3 days before the exceptions are due.

(5) Record. After expiration of the time for filing briefs and exceptions, the Director shall make a decision on the basis of the record before him. The record shall consist of the record for decision, the rulings, the recommended findings, conclusions, and decision of the hearing examiner, and the exceptions and briefs filed subsequent to the hearing examiner's decision.

(6) Final decision. The Director may affirm, modify, or set aside in whole or in part, the recommended findings, conclusions, and decision of the hearing examiner. The decision of the Director shall not be final without the approval of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Reserve Affairs) and the approval of the Director, Office of Federal Contract Compliance, Department of Labor.

By order of the Director, Defense Supply Agency.

GEORGE W. JOHNSON, JR.,
Colonel, U.S. Air Force, Deputy Staff Director, Administration.

Title 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS AND PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Chapter 3—Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

PART 3-1—GENERAL

Subpart 3-1.4—Procurement Responsibility and Authority

RATIFICATION PROCEDURE

Chapter 3, Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as follows. The purpose of this amendment is to reflect current authorizations for the ratification of unauthorized contractural commitments.

It is the general policy of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to allow time for interested parties to take part in the rule making process. However, the amendment herein involves an internal administrative procedure. Therefore, the public rule making process is deemed unnecessary in this instance.

Section 3-1.405-50 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3-1.405-50 Ratification procedure.

Requests received by contracting officers for ratification of commitments made by personnel lacking contracting authority shall be procesed as follows:

(a) The individual who made the unauthorized contractual commitment shall furnish the contracting officer all records and documents concerning the commitment and a complete, written statement of facts, including, but not limited to, a statement as to why the procurement office was not utilized, why the proposed contractor was selected and a list of other sources considered, description of work to be performed or products to be furnished, estimated or agreed contract price, citation of appropriation available, and a statement of whether the contractor has commenced performance.

(b) The contracting officer will review the file and forward it to the head of the procuring activity or the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Administration (see § 3-1.405(b)) with any comments or information which should be considered in evaluation of the request for ratification. If legal review is desirable, the head of the procuring activity or the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Administration will coordinate the request for ratification with the Office of General Counsel, OS (GBA).

(c) If ratification is authorized by the head of the procuring activity or Deputy Assistant Secretary for Administration, the file will be returned to the contracting officer for issuance of a purchase order or contract as appropriate.

(d) Heads of the procuring activities or their designees, the Director, Office of Administrative Services, OS, and Director, Office of Regional and Community Development, or their designees, will report quarterly number and dollar value of (1) requests for ratifications received and (2) ratifications authorized during each calendar quarter. Reports shall be submitted in an original and one copy to the Director of Procurement and Material Management, OASAM, to arrive no later than 30 calendar days after the close of each reporting period. Negative reports, where applicable, are required.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-1-72).

Dated: October 25, 1972.

N. B. HOUSTON,
Deputy Assistant Secretary for Administration.

Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter V—National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Department of Transportation

[Docket No. 72-5; Notice 2]

PART 571—FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARDS

Lamps, Reflective Devices, and Associated Equipment

This notice amends 49 CFR 571.108, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 108, Lamps, reflective devices, and associated equipment to specify stop and turn signal lens area requirements that are identical for all motor vehicles less than 80 inches in overall width.

As the NHTSA explained in its proposal published April 8, 1972 (37 F.R. 7107), Standard No. 108 requires (table III) passenger cars, multipurpose passenger vehicles, trucks, and buses to be equipped with "Class A" turn signal lamps. Class A lamps prior to Standard No. 108 were generally found only on vehicles whose overall width is 80 inches or more. Class A lamps differ from Class B lamps in having a minimum effective projected illuminated area of 12 square inches rather than 3½ square inches. Paragraph S4.1.1.7 of Standard No. 108, however, permits passenger cars to meet Class A photometrics through an effective projected illuminated area not less than that of a Class B lamp (3½ square inches). The NHTSA, in response to a petition from Jeep Corp., proposed that this exception be provided for all vehicles less than 80 inches in overall width, instead of being limited to passenger cars, and that stop lamps be included as well.

The comments received supported the proposal. Recommendations were also made as to standardization of lens area, and identification of lamps providing Class A photometric values. These will be treated as suggestions for future rulemaking since they were beyond the scope of the proposal.

In consideration of the foregoing the first sentence of paragraph S4.1.1.7 of 49 CFR 571.108, Standard No. 108, is revised to read:

Turn signal lamps and stop lamps on each multipurpose passenger vehicle, truck, trailer, and bus less than 80 inches in overall width and on each passenger car shall meet the photometric minimum candlepower requirements for Class A turn signal lamps, and shall have effective projected illuminated areas not less than those of Class B Lamps as specified in SAE Standard J588d, "Turn Signal Lamps," June 1966.

Effective date: January 1, 1973. Because the amendment relaxes a requirement and creates no additional burden, it is found for good cause shown that an effective date earlier than 180 days after issuance is in the public interest.

(Secs. 103, 119, National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966, 15 U.S.C. 1392, 1407, delegation of authority, 49 CFR 1.51)

Issued on October 26, 1972.

CHARLES H. HARTMAN,
Acting Administrator.

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

[S.O. 1106, Amdt. 1]

PART 1033—CAR SERVICE

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co.; Authorization To Operate Over Tracks of Penn Central Transportation Co.

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Railroad Service Board, held in Washington, D.C., on the 24th day of October 1972.

Upon further consideration of Service Order No. 1106 (37 F.R. 15307), and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That: § 1033.1106 Service Order No. 1106 (The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. authorized to operate over tracks of Penn Central Transportation Co., George P. Baker, Richard C. Bond, Jervis Langdon, Jr., and Willard Wirtz, Trustees) be, and it is hereby, amended by substituting the following paragraph (e) for paragraph (e) thereof:

(e) Expiration date. The provisions of this order shall expire at 11:59 p.m., January 31, 1973, unless otherwise modified, changed, or suspended by order of this Commission.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective at 11:59 p.m., October 31, 1972.

(Secs. 1, 12, 15, and 17(2), 24 Stat. 379, 383, 384, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 1, 12, 15, and 17(2). Interprets or applies secs. 1(10-17), 15(4), and 17(2), 40 Stat. 101, as amended, 54 Stat. 911; 49 U.S.C. 1(10-17), 15(4), and 17(2))

It is further ordered, That a copy of this amendment shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of all railroads subscribing to the car service and car hire agreement under the terms of that agreement, and upon the American Short Line Railroad Association; and that notice of this amendment be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., and by filing it with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

By the Commission, Railroad Service Board.

REVISION OF THE MEMBERSHIP ROLL OF EASTERN BAND OF CHEROKEE INDIANS, NORTH CAROLINA

Eliminating Time Limits for Filing Applications

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

This notice is published in exercise of authority delegated by the Secretary of the Interior to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs by 230 DM 2 (32 F.R. 13938).

Notice is hereby given that it is proposed to revise Part 47, Subchapter F, Chapter I, of Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations. This revision is proposed pursuant to Resolution 110 passed by the Tribal Council of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians of North Carolina on February 16, 1972, and section 2 of the Act of August 21, 1957 (71 Stat. 374).

The purpose of the revision is to remove the time limit for filing applications, change the terms of office of the members of the Enrollment Committee, define Tribal Enrollment Office as used in the revision, and delete certain eligibility requirements for persons born after August 21, 1957, which no longer apply. With the revision of Part 47 the present definition in § 47.1(e) "Persons who are in the Armed Forces of the United States" is no longer applicable. Therefore, in the revision § 47.1(e) defines "Tribal Enrollment Office."

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed revision to the Superintendent, Cherokee Agency, Cherokee, N.C. 28719, within 30 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The table of contents for Part 47 of Chapter I, Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations is revised to read as follows:

PART 47—REVISION OF THE MEMBERSHIP ROLL OF THE EASTERN BAND OF CHEROKEE INDIANS, NORTH CAROLINA

Sec.
47.1 Definitions.
47.2 Purpose.
47.3 Announcement of revision of roll.
47.4 Basic membership roll.
47.5 Removal of deceased persons from the roll.
47.6 Additions to the roll.
47.7 Applications for enrollment.
47.8 Applications for minors and incompetents.
47.9 Application form.
47.10 Where application forms may be obtained.
47.11 Proof of relationship.
47.12 Enrollment Committee.
47.13 Tenure of Enrollment Committee.
47.14 Appeals.
47.15 Current membership roll.
47.16 Eligibility for enrollment of persons born after August 21, 1957.
47.17 Relinquishment of membership.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 47 issued under sec. 2, 71 Stat. 374.

1. Section 47.1 (e), (f), and (g) are revised to read as follows:

§ 47.1 Definitions.

As used in this part:

* * * * *

(e) "Tribal Enrollment Office" means the Tribal Enrollment Clerk working in concert with the Enrollment Committee.

(f) "Tribal Enrollment Clerk" means the individual working in the Tribal Enrollment Office.

(g) "Enrollment Committee" means the three individuals appointed by the Tribal Council in accordance with Section 47.12.

* * * * *

2. Sections 47.5 and 47.6–47.15 are revised to read as follows:

§ 47.5 Removal of deceased persons from the roll.

The name of any person who was not alive as of midnight August 21, 1957, shall be stricken from the basic membership roll by the Tribal Enrollment Office upon receipt of a death certificate or other evidence of death acceptable to the Tribal Enrollment Office.

§ 47.7 Applications for enrollment.

Each adult person who believes he meets the requirements for enrollment established herein may submit to the Tribal Enrollment Office an application for enrollment as a member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians.

§ 47.8 Applications for minors and incompetents.

Applications for enrollment of minors may be filed by the parent, next of kin, recognized guardian, or other person responsible for their care. Applications for enrollment of persons known to be in mental or penal institutions may be filed by the Principal Chief of the Eastern Band of Cherokee.

§ 47.9 Application form.

The form of application for enrollment will be prepared by the Tribal Enrollment Office and, in addition to whatever information the Enrollment Committee may deem necessary, shall contain the following:

(a) The name and address of the applicant. If the application is filed on behalf of a minor, the name and address of the person filing the application and his relationship to the minor.

(b) The name, relationship, tribe and roll number of the ancestor or ancestors through whom enrollment rights are claimed, and whether applicant is enrolled with another tribe.

(c) The date of death of such ancestor, if deceased.

§ 47.10 Where application forms may be obtained.

Application forms will be supplied by the Tribal Enrollment Office of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, Council House, Cherokee, N.C. 28719, upon request, either in person or by mail.

§ 47.11 Proof of relationship.

If the applicant's parents or other Eastern Cherokee ancestors through whom the applicant claims enrollment rights are unknown to the Tribal Enrollment Office, the Tribal Enrollment Office may request the applicant to furnish such additional information and evidence as it may deem necessary to determine the applicant's eligibility for enrollment. Failure of the applicant to furnish the information requested may be deemed sufficient cause for rejection.

§ 47.12 Enrollment Committee.

The Tribal Council shall appoint either from within or without the membership of the Council, but not from without the membership of the Band, a committee of three (3) persons to serve as the Enrollment Committee. The Enrollment Committee shall review all applications for enrollment filed in accordance with the existing regulations, and shall determine the qualifications of the applicant for enrollment with the Band. The Enrollment Committee may perform such other functions relating to the enrollment and membership in the Band as the Tribal Council may from time to time direct.

§ 47.13 Tenure of Enrollment Committee.

The members of the Enrollment Committee shall be appointed to serve a term of office of 2 years by each newly elected Tribal Council.

§ 47.14 Appeals.

Any person whose application for enrollment has been rejected by the Enrollment Committee shall have the right to appeal to the Tribal Council from the determination made by the Enrollment Committee: Provided, That such appeal shall be made in writing and shall be filed in the office of the Principal Chief for presentation to the Tribal Council within sixty (60) days from the date on which the Enrollment Committee issues notice to the applicant of his rejection. The applicant may submit with his appeal any additional data to support his claim to enrollment not previously furnished. The decision of the Tribal Council as to whether the applicant meets the requirements for enrollment set forth in this part shall be final. The Tribal Council shall review no applications for enrollment except in those cases where the rejected applicant appeals to the Council in writing from the determination made by the Enrollment Committee.

§ 47.15 Current membership roll.

The membership roll of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians shall be kept current by striking therefrom the names of persons who have relinquished their membership in the Band as provided in § 47.17 and of deceased persons upon receipt of a death certificate or other evidence of death acceptable to the Tribal Enrollment Office, and by adding thereto the names of individuals who meet the qualifications and are accepted for membership in the Band as set forth in this part.

3. Section 47.16 (a), (b), and (c) are revised to read as follows:

§ 47.16 Eligibility for enrollment of persons born after August 21, 1957.

(a) Persons possessing one-sixteenth or more degree Eastern Cherokee Indian blood and born after August 21, 1957, may be enrolled in either of the following manners:

(1) An application to have the person enrolled must be filed by or on behalf of the person by the parent or recognized guardian or person responsible for his care, which application shall be accompanied by the applicant's birth certificate or by other evidence of eligibility of the applicant for enrollment that the Tribal Enrollment Office may require.

(2) In the absence of such application within 6 months after a person's birth, the Tribal Enrollment Office shall be authorized and encouraged to obtain evidence relating to the eligibility of the person for enrollment in the Eastern Band, and present an application in his behalf to the Enrollment Committee which may proceed to enroll the person if the evidence submitted meets the criteria.

(b) A person adopted in accordance with applicable laws by either tribal members or nonmembers, shall be considered for enrollment as a tribal member if the person otherwise meets the requirements for enrollment.

(c) A person born to an enrolled member of the Band and an enrolled member of another Tribe, and said person is enrolled in the other Tribe, may be transferred from the rolls of the other and added to the rolls of the Eastern Band if he meets the general requirements for enrollment and, in addition:

(1) A death certificate or other acceptable evidence of the death of the parent enrolled in the other Tribe is received and the surviving parent who is a member of the Eastern Band makes application for enrollment by way of transfer.

(2) Upon receipt of divorce documents in the Tribal Enrollment Office, there is evidence of custody of the minors being awarded to the parent who is a member of the Band and the parent awarded custody makes application for enrollment of the minors with the Eastern Band by way of transfer.

* * * * *

No further changes are made in the text of Part 47.

JOHN O. CROW,
Deputy Commissioner.

INTERSTATE MOVEMENT OF BIRDS

Proposed Relief of Restriction

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the administrative procedure provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553, that pursuant to the provisions of sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, sections 1 and 2 of the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, sections 4, 5, 6, and 7 of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, and sections 3 and 11 of the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111, 112, 113, 115, 117, 120, 123, 124, 125, 126, 134b, 134f), consideration is being given to amending § 82.4 of Part 82, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, as follows:

In § 82.4, paragraph (c) would be redesignated as paragraph (d), and a new paragraph (c) would be added to read:

§ 82.4 Restrictions on interstate movement from quarantined areas.

* * * * *

(c) A lot consisting of no more than two psittacine or mynah birds or birds of any other species, which are not known to be affected with or exposed to any communicable disease of poultry, which are caged and are personal pets may be moved interstate by the owner thereof from any quarantined area, if (1) prior to such movement, the owner of such birds signs and furnishes to a Federal inspector in the State of origin of the movement [1] a notarized declaration under oath or affirmation stating that the birds have been in his possession for a minimum of 90 days preceding the interstate movement, that such birds have not shown any signs of illness during that period, and that such birds have not been in contact with poultry or other birds (including association with any other birds at exhibitions or in aviaries) in the quarantined area during that period; (2) prior to such movement, the owner signs an agreement[2] on a form obtainable from a Federal inspector in the State of origin of the movement[1] stating that the birds will be maintained in his personal possession separate and apart from all poultry or other birds, in a place approved by the Deputy Administrator, at destination, for a minimum of 30 days following such interstate movement and until released by a Federal or State inspector of the State of destination[3]; that the birds will be made available for health inspection by a Federal or State inspector, or both, upon request until so released, and that Federal or State officials of the State of destination[3] will be immediately notified if any signs of disease are noted in any of the birds or any of the birds die during that period; and (3) there is compliance with the terms of such agreement.

* * * * *

The proposed amendments would permit the interstate movement of not more than two personal pet birds from quarantined areas under conditions specified to prevent the spread of poultry disease, including the requirement of no contact with poultry or other birds for 90 days preceding movement interstate and the requirement of isolation for 30 days following such movement.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them with the Deputy Administrator, Veterinary Services, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Hyattsville, MD 20782, within 20 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the Federal Center Building, 6505 Belcrest Road, Room 370, Hyattsville, MD 20782, during regular business hours in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Done at Washington, D.C., this 26th day of October 1972.

[1] Information as to the location of such inspectors can be obtained from the Deputy Administrator, Veterinary Services, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

[2] Owners will be provided a copy of the agreement containing the name and address of the appropriate Federal and State officials of the State of destination. Animal Health officials in States of destination of pet birds to be moved from a quarantined area will be immediately notified by the Federal official in the originating State when such movement into the particular State is made under a declaration furnished to such Federal official.

VIRUSES, SERUMS, TOXINS, AND ANALOGOUS PRODUCTS

Definitions

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the provisions contained in section 553(b) of title 5, United States Code (1966), that it is proposed to amend certain of the regulations relating to viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products in Part 101 of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, issued pursuant to the provisions of the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act of March 4, 1913 (21 U.S.C. 151–158).

This proposed revision of Part 101 would change the title to "Definitions"; would amend § 101.1 to state the purpose of words and phrases defined in six sections to be added to Part 101; would revoke obsolete words and phrases defined in § 101.1; would recodify words and phrases in § 101.1 in the new sections which are considered accurately defined; would recodify and also redefine some words and phrases for clarity; and would add new definitions to be used in the interpretation of regulations in Parts 101 through 117 of this subchapter.

1. Part 101 is amended to read:

PART 101—DEFINITIONS

(o) Research investigator or research sponsor. A person who has requested authorization to make interstate movements of an experimental biological product for the purpose of evaluating such product as provided for in Part 103 of this subchapter or has been granted such authorization.

(p) Premises. All buildings, appurtenances, and equipment used to produce and store biological products located within a particular land area shown on building plans or drawings furnished by the applicant or the licensee and designated by an address adequate for identification.

(q) Establishment. One or more premises designated on the establishment license.

(r) U.S. Veterinary Biologics Establishment License. A document, sometimes referred to as an establishment license, which is issued pursuant to Part 102 of this subchapter, authorizing the use of designated premises for production of biological products specified in one or more unexpired, unsuspended, and unrevoked product license(s) or special license(s).

(s) Licensed establishment. An establishment operated by a person holding an unexpired, unsuspended, and unrevoked U.S. Veterinary Biologics Establishment License.

(t) U.S. Veterinary Biological Product License. A document, sometimes referred to as a product license, which is issued pursuant to Part 102 of this subchapter to the holder of an establishment license, as a part of and ancillary to the establishment license, and which authorizes production of a specified biological product in the designated licensed establishment.

(u) U.S. Veterinary Biological Product License (Special). A document, sometimes referred to as a special license, which is issued pursuant to Part 102 of this subchapter to the holder of an establishment license as a part of and ancillary to the establishment license and which authorizes production of a specified biological product in the licensed establishment subject to such restrictive production, distribution, or use of the product as indicated on the license.

(v) U.S. Veterinary Biological Product Permit. A document, sometimes referred to as a permit, issued to a person authorizing the importation of specified biological products subject to restrictions and controls as provided in the regulations.

(w) Biological products. The term biological products, sometimes referred to as biologics, biologicals, or products, shall mean all viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products of natural or synthetic origin, such as allergens, antitoxins, vaccines, tuberculins, live microorganisms, killed micro-organisms, and the antigenic or immunizing components of micro-organisms, intended for use in the diagnosis, treatment, or prevention of diseases of animals.

(x) Microorganisms. Minute organisms, which are sometimes referred to as organisms, which may introduce or disseminate disease of animals.

§ 101.3 Biological products and related terms.

When used in conjunction with or in reference to a biological product, the following terms shall mean:

(a) Licensed biological product. A biological product prepared within a licensed establishment by a person holding an unexpired, unsuspended, and unrevoked product license or special license for such product.

(b) Experimental biological product. A biological product which is being evaluated to substantiate an application for a product license, special license, or permit.

(c) Completed product. A biological product in bulk or final container produced in compliance with the regulations to final form and composition.

(d) Finished product. A completed product which has been bottled, sealed, packaged, and labeled as required by the regulations.

(e) Released product. A finished product released for marketing after all requirements have been satisfactorily complied with.

(f) Fraction. A specific antigen, its antibodies, or its antitoxin which constitutes a component of a biological product.

(g) Diluent. A liquid used to rehydrate a desiccated product, Provided, That, when used in a test procedure, diluent may mean a liquid used to dilute another liquid.

(h) Serial. The total quantity of biological product in final composition which has been thoroughly mixed in a single container and identified by letters and/or numbers: Provided, That, when all or part of a serial of liquid biological product is packaged as diluent for all or part of a serial of desiccated product, the resulting combination packages shall be considered a serial of the multiple fraction product.

(i) Subserial. Each of two or more properly identified portions of a serial which are further processed at different times or under different conditions such as, but not limited to, being desiccated in different size final containers and/or at different times.

(j) Outline of production. A detailed protocol of methods of manufacture to be followed in the preparation of a biological product and which may sometimes be referred to as an outline.

(k) Product Code Number. A number assigned by Veterinary Services to each type of licensed biological product.

§ 101.4 Labeling terminology.

Terms pertaining to identification and packaging of biological products shall mean:

(a) Label. All written, graphic, or printed matter:

(1) Upon or attached to a final container of a biological product;

(2) Appearing upon any immediate carton or box used to package such final container; and

(3) Appearing on any accompanying leaflets, inserts, or circulars, on which required information or directions as to the use of the biological product shall be found.

(b) Labeling. All labels and other written, printed, or graphic matter accompanying the final container.

(c) Final container. The unit, bottle, vial, ampule, tube, or other receptacle in which any biological product is marketed for distribution and sale.

(d) True name. The name entered on the product license, special license, or permit at the time of issuance to differentiate the biological product from others: Provided, That, the principal part of such name shall be emphasized on such license or permit by being more prominently lettered than descriptive terms which may be necessary to complete the differentiation.

(e) Serial number. Letter(s) and/or number(s) used to identify and distinguish one serial from others.

(f) Expiration date. A date designating the end of the period during which a biological product, when properly stored and handled, can be expected with reasonable certainty, to be efficacious.

(g) Label number. A number assigned to each label or sketch when submitted for review to Veterinary Services.

§ 101.5 Testing terminology.

Terms used when evaluating biological products shall mean:

(a) Standard requirement. Test methods, procedures, and criteria established by Veterinary Services for evaluating biological products to be pure, safe, potent, and efficacious, and not to be worthless, contaminated, dangerous, or harmful under the Act.

(b) Supplemental Assay Methods or SAM's. Guidelines issued by Veterinary Services to aid in conducting tests prescribed in Standard Requirements.

(c) Pure or purity. Quality of a biological product prepared from pure cultures to a final form relatively free of extraneous micro-organisms (living or dead) and extraneous material (organic or inorganic) and free of extraneous micro-organisms or material which in the opinion of the Deputy Administrator may adversely affect the safety, potency, or efficacy of such product.

(d) Safe or safety. Freedom from properties causing undue local or systemic reactions when used as recommended or suggested by the manufacturer.

(e) Sterile or sterility. Freedom from viable contaminating microorganisms as demonstrated by procedures prescribed in Part 113 of this subchapter, Standard Requirements, and outlines.

(f) Potent or potency. Relative strength of a biological product as determined by test methods or procedures as established by Veterinary Services.

(g) Efficacious or efficacy. Specific ability or capacity of the biological product to effect the result for which it is offered when used under the conditions recommended by the manufacturer.

(h) Dose. The amount of a biological product recommended on the label to be given to one animal at one time.

(i) Vaccinate. An animal which has been inoculated, injected, or otherwise administered a biological product being evaluated.

(j) Control animal. An animal, which may be referred to as a control, used in a test procedure for purposes of comparison or to add validity to the results.

(k) Day. Time elapsing between any regular working hour of one day and any regular working hour of the following day.

§ 101.6 Cell cultures.

When used in conjunction with or in reference to cell cultures, which may be referred to as tissue cultures, the following terms shall mean:

(a) Batch of primary cells. A pool of original explanted cells derived from normal tissue including up to the 10th subculture.

(b) Cell line. A pool of explanted cells which are 11 or more subcultures from the tissue of origin.

(c) Subculture. Each flask to flask transfer or passage regardless of the number of cell replications.

(d) Master Cell Stock (MCS). The supply of cells of a specific passage level from which cells for production of a vaccine originate.

V 37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

§ 101.7 Seed virus.

When used in conjunction with or in reference to seed virus, the following terms shall mean:

(a) Master Seed Virus. The passage level of virus, sometimes referred to as MSV, which has been selected and permanently stored by the licensee from which all other seed virus is derived within permitted passage levels.

(b) Working Seed Virus. Any passage level of virus, sometimes referred to as WSV, between the Master Seed Virus and production virus.

(c) Production Seed Virus. That passage of virus, sometimes referred to as PSV, which is used directly without further propagation for inoculation of the embryos or cell cultures used for preparation of a production lot of vaccine.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, or arguments regarding the proposed regulations to Biologics Staff, Veterinary Services, Federal Center Building, Hyattsville, Md. 20782, within 60 days after date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at such times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27 (b)).

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

CANDICIDIN

Proposed Change in Potency Assay Method

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has evaluated a request to amend the antibiotic drug regulations by revising the potency assay method for both candicidin vaginal ointment and candicidin vaginal capsules to provide for the addition of 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole to both the n-hexane and the dimethylsulfoxide used in the extration of candicidin. The Commissioner concludes that the proposed method is less time-consuming and yields more accurate results.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), it is proposed that Part 148v be amended as follows:

1. By revising § 148v.3 in paragraph (b) (1) to read as follows:

§ 148v.3 Candicidin vaginal ointment.

* * * * *

(b) * * *

(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.111 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Place an accurately weighed representative portion of the sample into a separatory funnel containing approximately 50 milliliters of n-hexane (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole). Shake the sample and n-hexane until homogeneous. Add 15 milliliters of dimethylsulfoxide (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole) and shake well. Allow the layers to separate. Remove the bottom layer and repeat the extraction procedure with a second 15-milliliter portion of dimethylsulfoxide (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole). Combine the extractives in a suitable volumetric flask and fill to volume with sterile distilled water. Further dilute an aliquot with sterile distilled water to the reference concentration of 0.06 microgram of candicidin per milliliter (estimated).

2. By revising § 148v.4 in paragraph (b) (1) to read as follows:

§ 148v.4 Candicidin vaginal capsules.

* * * * *

(b) * * *

(1) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.111 of this chapter, preparing the sample for assay as follows: Remove the tips from two capsules and express the ointment from each capsule into a separatory funnel containing approximately 50 milliliters of n-hexane (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole). Shake the sample and n-hexane until homogeneous. Add 15 milliliters of dimethylsulfoxide (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole) and shake well. Allow the layers to separate. Remove the bottom layer and repeat the extraction procedure with a second 15-milliliter portion of dimethylsulfoxide (containing 0.1 percent butylated hydroxyanisole). Combine the extractives in a suitable volumetric flask and fill to volume with sterile distilled water. Further dilute an aliquot with sterile distilled water to the reference concentration of 0.06 microgram of candicidin per milliliter (estimated).

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to designate a 700-foot transition area at Ada, Okla.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch, Air Traffic Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Post Office Box 1689, Fort Worth, TX 76101. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Forth Worth, Tex. An informal docket will also be available for examination at the Office of the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch, Air Traffic Division.

It is proposed to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (37 F.R. 2143), the following transition area is added:

ADA, OKLA.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet AGL within a 5-mile radius of the Ada Municipal Airport (latitude 34°48'20" N., longitude 96°40'15" W.) and within 3.5 miles each side of the 139° bearing from the Ada RBN (latitude 34°48'30" N., longitude 96°40'23" W.) extending from the 5-mile radius area to 8.5 miles southeast of the RBN.

The proposed transition area will provide controlled airspace for aircraft executing approach/departure procedures proposed at the Ada, Okla., Municipal Airport.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348) and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on October 20, 1972.

VOR FEDERAL AIRWAY

Proposed Extension

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would extend VOR Federal airway No. 134 from Grand Junction, Colo., to Denver, Colo., including a south alternate.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Rocky Mountain Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Park Hill Station, Post Office Box 7213, Denver, CO 80207.

All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. The proposal contained in this Notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the Office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

The proposed amendment would extend V-134 from Grand Junction to Denver, including a south alternate via INT Kremmling 121° M (135° T) and Denver 219° M (232° T) radials. The extension of V-134 from Grand Junction to Glenwood Springs Intersection would have the same alignment and floors as the existing portion of V-8S. Between Glenwood Springs and Denver the airway floor would be 1200' AGL.

The portion of this proposed route between Glenwood Springs and Denver is presently published as a direct route in Part 95 of the Federal Aviation Regulations. However, approximately 25 daily flights en route to/from Aspen, Colo., are expected to operate thereon during the winter season, and a charted airway with bearings and minimum en route altitudes would provide convenience and additional safety for these flights over mountainous terrain.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)) and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on October 25, 1972.

[Serial No. I-4410]

IDAHO

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

OCTOBER 6, 1972.

The Department of Agriculture has filed an application, Serial No. I-4410, for the withdrawal of lands described below from all location and entry under the mining laws but not the mineral leasing laws, subject to valid existing rights.

The applicant desires the land for public purposes as the Musselshell Camas Historic Site in the Clearwater National Forest.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Room 398 Federal Building, 550 West Fort Street, Post Office Box 042, Boise, ID 83702.

The authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of adjusting the application to reduce the area to the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, to provide for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, to eliminate lands needed for purposes more essential than the applicant's, and to reach agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

He will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the Department of Agriculture. The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record. If circumstances warrant it, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place which will be announced.

The lands involved in the application are:

Feed Grain Donations

Pursuant to the authority set forth in section 407 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1427), and Executive Order 11336, I have determined that:

1. The chronic economic distress of the needy members of the Kaibab-Paiute Indian Tribe located on Indian lands in Arizona, has been materially increased and become acute because of severe drought during the 1971, and 1972, growing seasons creating a serious shortage of livestock feeds. These lands are reservation or other lands designated for Indian use and are utilized by members of the Indian tribe for grazing purposes.

2. The use of feed grain or products thereof made available by the Commodity Credit Corporation for livestock feed for such needy members of the tribes will not displace or interfere with normal marketing of agricultural commodities.

Based on the above determinations, I hereby declare the reservation and grazing land of this tribe to be acute distress areas and authorize the donation of feed grain owned by the Commodity Credit Corp. to livestockmen who are determined by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior, to be needy members of the tribe utilizing such lands. These donations by the Commodity Credit Corp. may commence upon signature of this notice and shall be made available through the duration of the existing emergency or to such other time as may be stated in a notice issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 13, 1972.

[File No. 23(72)-4]

LESLIE WEBB & CO., LTD.

Order Denying Export Privileges for an Indefinite Period

In the matter of Leslie Webb & Co., Ltd., Blackford House, Sutton, Surrey, England, respondent.

The Director, Compliance Division, Office of Export Control, Bureau of International Commerce, U.S. Department of Commerce, has applied for an order denying to the above named respondent all U.S. export privileges for an indefinite period because the said respondent, without good cause being shown, failed to furnish answers to interrogatories and failed to furnish certain records and other writings specifically requested. This application was made pursuant to § 388.15 of the Export Control Regulations (Title 15, Chapter III, Subchapter B, Code of Federal Regulations).

In accordance with the usual practice, the application for an indefinite denial order was referred to the Hearing Commissioner, Bureau of International Commerce, who, after consideration of the evidence, has recommended that the application be granted. The report of the Hearing Commissioner and the evidence in support of the application have been considered.

The evidence presented shows the following: The respondent, Leslie Webb & Co., Ltd., is a trader and exporter of machinery with a place of business in Sutton, Surrey, England; in February 1970 the respondent placed an order with a supplier in the United Kingdom for 80 U.S.-origin pumps of particular design, having a total value in excess of $7,300; the United Kingdom supplier ordered and received said pumps from the United States and sold and delivered them to respondent; the respondent knew or had reason to know that the pumps were of U.S. origin; the respondent reexported said pumps from the United Kingdom and there is reason to believe that the destination was Cuba or another destination that would not have been authorized by the Office of Export Control.

The Compliance Division is conducting an investigation into the above transaction to ascertain what disposition the respondent made of the pumps in question, and whether there were violations of the Export Control regulations.

It is impracticable to subpena the respondent, and relevant and material interrogatories regarding its disposition of the pumps in question were served on it pursuant to § 388.15 of the Export Control regulations. The respondent also, pursuant to said section, was requested to furnish certain specific documents relating to said transaction. The respondent has failed to furnish answers to said interrogatories or to furnish the documents requested, and it has not shown good cause for such failure. I find that an order denying export privileges to said respondent for an indefinite period may properly be entered under § 388.15 of the Export Control regulations and that such an order is reasonably necessary to protect the public interest and to achieve effective enforcement of the Export Administration Act of 1969, as amended.

Accordingly, it is hereby ordered:

I. All outstanding validated export licenses in which respondent appears or participates, in any manner or capacity, are hereby revoked and shall be returned forthwith to the Bureau of International Commerce for cancellation.

II. The respondent is denied all privileges of participating, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity, in any transaction involving commodities or technical data exported from the United States, in whole or in part, or to be exported, or which are otherwise subject to the Export Control regulations. Without limitation of the generality of the foregoing, participation prohibited in any such transaction, either in the United States or abroad, shall include participation, directly or indirectly, in any manner or capacity: (a) As a party or as a representative of a party to any validated export license application; (b) in the preparation or filing of any export license application or reexportation authorization, or any document to be submitted therewith; (c) in the obtaining or using of any validated or general export license, or other export control document; (d) in the carrying on of negotiations with erspect to, or in the receiving, ordering, buying, selling, delivering, storing, using, or disposing of any commodities or technical data in whole or in part, exported or to be exported from the United States; and (e) in the financing, forwarding, transporting, or other servicing of such commodities or technical data.

III. Such denial of export privileges shall extend not only to the respondent, but also to its agents, employees, representatives, and partners, and to any other person, firm, corporation, or business organization with which the respondent now or hereafter may be related by affiliation, ownership, control, position of responsibility, or other connection in the conduct of trade or services connected therewith.

IV. This order shall remain in effect until the respondent provides responsive answers, written information and documents in response to the interrogatories heretofore served upon it or gives adequate reasons for failure to do so, except insofar as this order may be amended or modified hereafter in accordance with the Export Control regulations.

V. No person, firm, corporation, partnership, or other business organization, whether in the United States or elsewhere, without prior disclosure to and specific authorization from the Bureau of International Commerce, shall do any of the following acts, directly or indirectly, or carry on negotiations with respect thereto, in any manner or capacity, on behalf of or in any association with the respondent or any related party, or whereby the respondent or related party may obtain any benefit therefrom or have any interest or participation therein, directly or indirectly: (a) Apply for, obtain, transfer, or use any license, shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, or other export control document relating to any exportation, reexportation, transshipment, or diversion of any commodity or technical data exported or to be exported from the United States, by, to, or for any such respondent or related party denied export privileges; or (b) order, buy, receive, use, sell, deliver, store, dispose of, forward, transport, finance, or otherwise service or participate in any exportation, reexportation, transshipment, or diversion of any commodity or technical data exported or to be exported from the United States.

VI. A copy of this order shall be served on respondent.

VII. In accordance with the provisions of § 388.15 of the Export Control regulations, the respondent may move at any time to vacate or modify this indefinite denial order by filing with the Hearing Commissioner, Bureau of International Commerce, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, an appropriate motion for relief, supported by substantial evidence, and may also request an oral hearing thereon, which if requested, shall be held before the Hearing Commissioner, at Washington, D.C., at the earliest convenient date.

Dated: October 24, 1972.

This order shall become effective on October 31, 1972.

Director,

[Docket No. S-296]

COLONIAL TANKERS CORP., AND NATIONAL TRANSPORT CORP.

Notice of Multiple Applications

Notice is hereby given that applications have been filed under the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended, for operating-differential subsidy with respect to bulk cargo carrying service in the U.S. foreign trade, principally between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, to expire on June 30, 1973 (unless extended only for subsidized voyages in progress on that date). Inasmuch as the below listed applicants, and/or related persons or firms, employ ships in the domestic, intercoastal or coastwise service, written permission of the Maritime Administration under section 805(a) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, will be required for each such applicant if its application for operating-differential subsidy is granted.

The following applicants have requested permission involving the domestic, intercoastal, or coastwise services described below:

Name of applicant: Colonial Tankers Corp. (Colonial).

Description of domestic service and vessels: On January 10, 1962, a related company of the applicant, American Export Lines, Inc. (Export), was granted written permission for SS Orion Hunter, now the SS Western Hunter, to be operated by a company related to Export, for the carriage of petroleum and/or petroleum products, in bulk, in the domestic, coastwise, or intercoastal commerce of the United States as an adjunct to worldwide operation of such vessels. The authority was not extended beyond the economic life of the vessel or expiration of Export's subsidy contract, whichever shall first occur.

Written permission is now required by the applicant (Colonial) notwithstanding the previous grant to a related company (Export) or the fact that a voyage in the proposed service for which subsidy is sought would not be eligible for subsidy if the vessel carried domestic commerce of the United States on that voyage.

Name of applicant: National Transport Corp. (National).

Description of domestic service and vessels: The same as for Colonial Tankers Corp.

Written permission is required by this applicant (National) as a related company to Colonial Tankers Corp.

Interested parties may inspect these applications in the Office of The Secretary, Maritime Subsidy Board, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce Building, 14th and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20235.

Any person, firm, or corporation having any interest (within the meaning of section 805(a)) in any application and desiring to be heard on issues pertinent to section 805(a) or desiring to submit comments or views concerning the application must, by close of business on November 8, 1972, file same with the Maritime Subsidy Board/Maritime Administration, in writing, in triplicate, together with petition for leave to intervene which shall state clearly and concisely the grounds of interest, and the alleged facts relied on for relief.

If no petitions for leave to intervene are received within the specified time or if it is determined that petitions filed do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Maritime Subsidy Board/Maritime Administration will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

In the event petitions regarding the relevant section 805(a) issues are received from parties with standing to be heard, a hearing has been tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m., November 10, 1972, in Room 4896, Department of Commerce Building, 14th and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20235. The purpose of the hearing will be to receive evidence under section 805(a) relative to whether the proposed operation (a) could result in unfair competition to any person, firm, or corporation operating exclusively in the coastwise or intercoastal services, or (b) would be prejudicial to the objects and policy of the Act relative to domestic trade operations.

Dated: October 30, 1972.

NATIONAL TRANSPORT CORP. AND COLONIAL TANK CORP.

Notice of Multiple Applications

Notice is hereby given that the following corporations have filed application for an operating-differential subsidy contract to carry bulk cargoes to expire on June 30, 1973 (unless extended only for subsidized voyages in progress on that date). The bulk cargo carrying vessels proposed to be subsidized and the trades in which each purposes to engage are presented also.

Operators' names:
National Transport Corp., 26 Broadway, New York, NY 10004.
Colonial Tankers Corp., 26 Broadway, New York, NY 10004.

Vessel names and vessel description

s.t. National Defender, tanker.
s.t. Western Hunter, tanker.

The foregoing applications may be inspected in the Office of the Secretary, Maritime Subsidy Board, Maritime Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C., during regular working hours.

These vessels are to engage in the carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities in the foreign commerce of the United States (U.S.) from ports in the United States to ports in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.), or other permissible ports of discharge. Liquid and dry bulk cargoes may be carried from U.S.S.R. and other foreign ports inbound to U.S. ports during voyages subsidized for carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities to the U.S.S.R.

Full details concerning the U.S.-U.S.S.R. export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities subsidy program, including terms, conditions, and restrictions upon both the subsidized operators and vessels, appear in the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 21, 1972 (37 F.R. 22747).

For purposes of section 605(c), Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (Act), it should be assumed that each vessel named will engage in the trades described on a full-time basis through June 30, 1973 (with extension to termination of approved subsidized voyages in progress on that date). Each voyage must be approved for subsidy before commencement of the voyage. The Maritime Subsidy Board (Board) will act on each request for a subsidized voyage as an administrative matter under the terms of the individual operating-differential subsidy contract for which there is no requirement for further notices under section 605(c) of the Act.

Any person having an interest in the granting of one or any of such applications and who would contest a finding of the Board that the service now provided by vessels of U.S. registry for the carriage of cargoes as previously specified is inadequate, must, on or before November 8, 1972, notify the Board's Secretary, in writing, of his interest and of his position, and file a petition for leave to intervene in accordance with the Board's rules of practice and procedure (46 CFR Part 201). Each such statement of interest and petition to intervene shall state whether a hearing is requested under section 605(c) of the Act and with as much specificity as possible the facts that the intervenor would undertake to prove at such hearing. Further, each such statement shall identify the applicant or applicants against which the intervention is lodged.

In the event a hearing under section 605(c) of the Act is ordered to be held with respect to any application(s), the purpose of such hearing will be to receive evidence relevant to (1) whether the application(s) hereinabove described is one with respect to vessels to be operated in an essential service, served by citizens of the United States which would be in addition to the existing service, or services, and if so, whether the service already provided by vessels of U.S. registry is inadequate and (2) whether in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon.

If no request for hearing and petition for leave to intervene is received within the specified time, or if the Board determines that petitions for leave to intervene filed within the specified time do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Board will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

Dated: October 30, 1972.

By order of the Maritime Subsidy Board.

Secretary.

Docket No. 72-00424-70-54600. Applicant: Arizona State University, Tempe, Ariz. 85281. Article: Optical diffractometer (with U.S. laser). Manufacturer: Polaron Instruments, Ltd., United Kingdom. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in research involving analysis and optical processing of electron micrographs. The experiments to be conducted will be the evaluation of biological material images to test electron optical systems for imaging defects such as defocus, astigmatism, etc., and reconstruction of the images to emphasize and examine periodic components in the presence of optical noise. The article will also be used for instruction of graduate students in advanced concepts and research methods.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: The article has basic usefulness for the applicant's purposes in that it operates in the manner of an optical analog computing device. We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) that the characteristics of the article described above are pertinent to the applicant's intended purposes. HEW further advises that it knows of no comparable domestic instrument of equivalent scientific value to the article for the applicant's intended use.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

Notice of Consolidated Decision on Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Batch Microcalorimeters

The following is a consolidated decision on applications for duty-free entry of batch microcalorimeters pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 F.R. 3892 et seq.). (See especially § 701.11(e).)

A copy of the record pertaining to each of the applications in this consolidated decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Special Import Programs Division, Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 72-00623-01-07520. Applicant: The Johns Hopkins University, Purchasing Department, Charles and 34th Streets, Baltimore, Md. 21218. Article: LKB batch microcalorimeter. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to investigate the chemical thermodynamics of muscle proteins and larger functional fragments of muscle. Specific experiments include the thermal effects of the reaction of the muscle protein myosin with its substrate adenosine triphosphate, the reaction of glycerinated myofibrillar suspensions and actomyosin with adenosine triphosphate, and the reaction of calcium ions with sarcoplasm and muscle proteins. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: June 19, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: October 6, 1972.

Docket No. 72-00624-01-07520. Applicant: University of Georgia, Department of Biochemistry, Boyd Research Center, Athens, Ga. 30601. Article: LKB batch microcalorimeter. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for measurement of enthalpies of ligand binding to proteins: Magnesium, salts, and substrates to yeast enolase, sodium dodecysulfate to ovalbumin, anilinonapthalene sulfonic acid to bovine serum albumin, and AT to formyltetrahydrofolate synethetase. This is to correlate these data with data obtained previously by other methods to get a better understanding of how proteins bind ligands, and what effect ligand binding have on proteins. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: June 19, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: October 6, 1972.

Comments: No comments have been received in regard to any of the foregoing applications. Decision: Applications approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign articles, for the purposes for which the articles are intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: Each foreign article has a sensitivity of 1 microcalorie. We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) in its respectively cited memoranda that the sensitivity of each article is pertinent to the purposes for which it is intended to be used. HEW further advises that it knows of no domestically manufactured instrument which is scientifically equivalent to any of the articles cited above for each applicant's intended use.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to any of the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty-free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 F.R. 3892 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 72-00617-00-46040. Applicant: National Institute of Dental Research, Building 30, Bethesda, Md. 20014. Article: Universal camera with magazines and counting drive. Manufacturer: Siemens AG, West Germany. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for studies concerned with the examination of various tissues and synthetic materials to determine the following: (1) Changes in the functional state of secretory cells following exposure to various experimental procedures; (2) intercellular junctions in vertebrate and nonvertebrate tissues; and (3) the chemical nature and morphology of the various mineral phases in bones and teeth.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application.

Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States.

Reasons: The application relates to compatible accessories for an instrument that had been previously imported for the use of the applicant institution. The article is being furnished by the manufacturer which produced the instrument with which the article is intended to be used and is pertinent to the applicant's purposes.

The Department of Commerce knows of no similar accessories being manufactured in the United States, which is interchangeable with or can be readily adapted to the instrument with which the foreign article is intended to be used.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty-free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 F.R. 3892 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 72-00611-90-29900. Applicant: State of Alaska, Department of Fish and Game, Subpart Building, Juneau, Alaska 99801. Article: Pluralis filter, Model FA-HCF-P-6. Manufacturer: R. E. Flatow and Co., Inc., Canada. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in studies involving the rearing and genetic manipulations of fishes. It will provide a filtered water supply which will not clog and impede water flow through small interspaces. The most critical aspect is to efficiently, without failure or interruption, remove all living matter above 15 microns in size. This allows the associated ultraviolet ray treatment to destroy the remaining organisms and provide sterile water to carry large numbers of eggs and fish in an extremely crowded environment without the otherwise inevitable introduction of diseases from the water supply.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: For its intended purposes the applicant institution requires a complete water filtration system designed to provide a hatchery with a controlled environment and disease-free water. The foreign article is a complete system which satisfies the applicant's requirements by providing in-service backwash of individual filtration units and utilizing filter elements designed to avoid contamination of the filtrate while assuring optimum filtration results. We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) in its memorandum dated October 6, 1972, that the characteristics of the article described above are pertinent to the applicant's research studies. HEW further advises that it knows of no comparable domestic instrument of equivalent scientific valtue to the article for the applicant's intended purposes.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

Docket No. 73-00037-75-27000. Applicant: University of California, Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, Calif. 94720. Article: Two (2) electron tubes type TH-515. Manufacturer Compagnie Generale de Telegraphie, France. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used as spares to identical tubes now in service in a proton-deuteron accelerator complex (the Bevatron) to furnish power at approximately 200 MHz for the second of three stages of acceleration, a 50 MeV linear accelerator.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: The applicant's use for experiments in high energy physics using a proton-deuteron accelerator requires replacement components with the same mechanical specifications for physical replacement and the same electrical specifications for the operation of the accelerator as the article. We are advised by the National Bureau of Standards (NBS) in its memorandum dated October 4, 1972, that the characteristics described above are pertinent to the purposes for which the article is intended to be used. NBS also advises that it knows of no domestically manufactured instrument which is scientifically equivalent to the foreign article for the applicant's intended use.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Food and Drug Administration

[Docket No. FDC-D-474; NADA 6-588V]

SALSBURY LABORATORIES

Salsbury's Sulfaquinoxaline; Order Vacating Notice of Withdrawal; Notice of Opportunity for Hearing

A notice withdrawing approval of new animal drug application (NADA) No. 6-588V, Salsbury's Sulfaquinoxaline; by Salsbury Laboratories, Charles City, Iowa 50616, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 8, 1972 (37 F.R. 18230).

Counsel for Salsbury Laboratories objected to said notice on the grounds that proper procedure was not followed in withdrawing the above-named NADA in that no opportunity for hearing was published. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs finds that no opportunity for hearing has been published. Therefore, said notice of withdrawal is hereby vacated insofar as the above-named product is concerned and an opportunity for a hearing is provided for by this notice.

Salsbury Laboratories submitted for review by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group labeling on Sulquin Soluble Powder and associated this drug on their NAS/NRC Form A submission with NADA No. 6-588V. The Academy's review of this product was the subject of an announcement published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 9, 1970 (35 F.R. 11069, DESI 6391V). Administration records, including a Salsbury Laboratorie's letter of January 25, 1972, reveal that NADA No. 7-285V provides for the product, Sulquin Soluble Powder and that NADA No. 6-588V provides for the product, Salsbury's Sulfaquinoxaline.

Regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 14, 1971 (36 F.R. 18375) (21 CFR 135.35), required that each applicant for whom a new animal drug application or supplement for a drug for use in animals became effective or was approved at any time prior to June 20, 1963, shall submit in duplicate certain specified information for each dosage form within 90 days from the effective date of said regulations (October 14, 1971). The referenced regulation (§ 135.35) states that if reports show that a new animal drug is not marketed or has been discontinued a notice may be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER proposing to withdraw approval of such application, on any of the grounds specified in section 512 of the Act (21 U.S.C. 360b). Salsbury Laboratories by letter of January 4, 1972, responded by advising the Commissioner that the above-named drug, Salsbury's Sulfaquinoxaline, is not now marketed.

Salsbury Laboratories did not submit efficacy data for Salsbury's Sulfaquinoxaline as required by the notice regarding drug effectiveness which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 9, 1966 (31 F.R. 9426). In addition, Salsbury Laboratories has failed to submit information on this product in response to the statements of policy and interpretation regarding animal drugs and medicated feeds (§ 135.102) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 23, 1970 (35 F.R. 16538).

Information available to the Commissioner fails to establish that the drug is effective or that there would be no residue of this product in food derived from treated animals when the drug is administered in accordance with the conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in its labeling.

Therefore, in accordance with the provisions of section 512 of the act (21 U.S.C. 360b), the Commissioner hereby gives the applicant, and any interested person who would be adversely affected by an order withdrawing such approval an opportunity for a hearing at which time such persons may produce evidence and arguments to show why approval of the above-named NADA should not be withdrawn.

Within 30 days after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, such persons are requested to file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Food and Drug Administration, Room 6-88, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852, a written appearance electing whether:

1. To avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing; or

2. Not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing.

If such persons elect not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing, the Commissioner, without further notice, will enter a final order withdrawing approval of NADA No. 6-588V.

Failure of such persons to file a written appearance of election within said 30 days will be construed as an election by said persons not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing.

The hearing contemplated by this order will be open to the public except that any portion of the hearing concerning a method or process which the Commissioner finds is entitled to protection as a trade secret will not be open to the public, unless the respondent specifies otherwise in his appearance.

If such persons elect to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing, they must file a written appearance requesting the hearing and giving the reasons why approval of the new animal drug application should not be withdrawn together with a well-organized and full-factual analysis of the clinical and other investigational data they are prepared to prove in support of their opposition to the grounds for this notice. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials but must set forth the specific fact showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact requiring a hearing. When it clearly appears from the data in the application and from the reasons and factual analysis in the request for the hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the withdrawal of approval of the applications, the Commissioner will enter an order stating his findings and conclusions on such data. If the hearing is requested and justified by the response to this notice, the issues will be defined, an administrative law judge will be named, and he shall issue a written notice of the time and place at which the hearing will commence.

Responses to this notice will be available for public inspection in the Office of the Hearing Clerk (address given above) during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

This notice is issued pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512, 82 Stat. 343-51; 21 U.S.C. 360b) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120).

Dated: October 26, 1972.

SAM D. FINE,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

SALSBURY LABORATORIES, ET AL.

Certain New Animal Drug Applications; Order Vacating Notice of Withdrawals; Notice of Opportunity for Hearing

In announcements in the FEDERAL REGISTER of October 17, 1969 (34 F.R. 16635 DESI 11036V), July 9, 1970 (35 F.R. 11069, DESI 6391V), July 9, 1970 (35 F.R. 11071, DESI 7055V), July 21, 1970 (35 F.R. 11645, DESI 9695V), August 6, 1970 (35 F.R. 12565, DESI 12409V), August 22, 1970 (35 F.R. 13490, DESI 10285V), and September 4, 1970 (35 F.R. 14103, DESI 7779V), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs announced the conclusions of the Food and Drug Administration following evaluation of reports received from the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group, on the following drugs:

1. Enheptin Soluble, NADA (new animal drug application) No. 7-982V; by American Cyanamid Co., Post Office Box 400, Princeton, NJ 08540.

2. Triple Sulfa Solution, NADA No. 7-055V; by Jensen-Salsbury Laboratories, 520 West 21st Street, Kansas City, MO 64141.

3. Sulfabrom, NADA No. 12-409V; by Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories, Division of Merck & Co., Rahway, NJ 07065.

4. Purina Hepzide Blackhead Control, NADA No. 11-179V; by Ralston Purina Co., Checkerboard Square, St. Louis, MO 63188.

5. Kaobiotic Suspension, NADA No. 9-695V; by the Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, MI 49001.

6. (a) SQS (Sulfaquinoxaline), NADA No. 6-895V; (b) Histosep-S, NADA No. 7-779V; and (c) Histocarb Soluble, NADA No. 11-501V; by Whitmoyer Laboratories, Inc., 19 North Railroad Street, Myerstown, PA 17067.

A notice withdrawing the approvals for the above new animal drug applications was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 8, 1972 (37 F.R. 18230).

The Commissioner finds that no opportunity for hearing was published prior to the notice of withdrawal of these applications. Therefore said withdrawal notice is vacated and a notice of opportunity for hearing is hereby provided to the holders of the above listed NADA's.

The cited initial announcements invited the holders of said new animal drug applications and any other interested persons to submit pertinent data on the drugs' effectiveness. Jensen-Salsbery Laboratories responded to the announcement of July 9, 1970 (35 F.R. 11071, DESI 7055V) and the statements of policy and interpretation regarding animal drugs and medicated feeds October 23, 1970 (35 F.R. 16539) by submitting revised labeling for Triple Sulfa Solution. Their submission was found to be inadequate in that (1) The labeling lacked proper directions for the intravenous route of administration; (2) no data were presented to indicate that 72 hours (6 milkings) after the latest treatment would provide milk free of drug residues; (3) the "caution" statement was not identical to that published in the statement of policy (21 CFR 135.-102); and (4) the manufacturing and control portions of the application were not updated. No other data were submitted in response to said announcements and available information fails to provide substantial evidence that these drugs will have the effect they purport to have when administered in accordance with the conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in their labeling.

In accordance with the provisions of section 512 of the act (21 U.S.C. 360b), the Commissioner hereby gives the applicants, and any interested person who would be adversely affected by an order withdrawing such approval an opportunity for a hearing at which time such persons may produce evidence and arguments to show why approval of the above-named new animal drug applications should not be withdrawn.

Within 30 days after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, such persons are requested to file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Food and Drug Administration, Room 6-88, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852, a written appearance electing whether:

1. To avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing; or

V 37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

2. Not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing.

If such persons elect not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing, the Commissioner, without further notice, will enter a final order withdrawing approval of the new animal drug applications.

Failure of such persons to file a written appearance of election within said 30 days will be construed as an election by said persons not to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing.

The hearing contemplated by this order will be open to the public except that any portion of the hearing concerning a method or process which the Commissioner finds is entitled to protection as a trade secret will not be open to the public, unless the respondent specifies otherwise in his appearance.

If such persons elect to avail themselves of the opportunity for a hearing, they must file a written appearance requesting the hearing and giving the reasons why approval of the new animal drug application should not be withdrawn together with a well-organized and full-factual analysis of the clinical and other investigational data they are prepared to prove in support of their opposition to the grounds for this notice. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials but must set forth the specific fact showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact requiring a hearing. When it clearly appears from the data in the application and from the reasons and factual analysis in the request for the hearing that no genuine and substantial issue of fact precludes the withdrawal of approval of the applications, the Commissioner will enter an order stating his findings and conclusions on such data. If the hearing is requested and justified by the response to this notice, the issues will be defined, an administrative law judge will be named, and he shall issue a written notice of the time and place at which the hearing will commence.

Responses to this notice will be available for public inspection in the Office of the Hearing Clerk (address given above) during regular business hours, Monday through Friday.

This notice is issued pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512, 82 Stat. 343–51; 21 U.S.C. 360b) and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120).

Order Scheduling Prehearing Conference and Evidentiary Hearing

In the matter of Tennessee Valley Authority (Watts Bar Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2), Dockets Nos. 50-390 and 50-391.

Notice is hereby given that a prehearing conference in the captioned proceeding will be held on November 6, 1972, at 11 a.m. local time, Rhea County Courthouse, Dayton, Tenn. 37321.

The purpose of the prehearing conference is as follows:

1. Simplification, clarification, and specification of the issues;
2. The necessity or desirability of amending the pleadings;
3. The obtaining of stipulations and admissions of fact and of the contents and authenticity of documents to avoid unnecessary proof;
4. Identification of witnesses and the limitation of the number of expert witnesses, and other steps to expedite the presentation of evidence;
5. The setting of a hearing schedule; and
6. Such other matters as may aid in the orderly disposition of the proceeding.

The evidentiary hearing on environmental issues will be held on November 29, 1972, at 11 a.m. local time, in the same courtroom. The time and place for the evidentiary hearing on radiation and safety issues will be set later by a second public notice.

All members of the public are entitled to attend the prehearing conference as well as the subsequent evidentiary sessions of the hearing.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

VERMONT YANKEE NUCLEAR POWER CORP.

Order Designating Location of Hearing

In the matter of Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. (Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Station).

At a session of evidentiary hearings held on October 26, 1972, in Brattleboro, Vt., the Regulatory Staff of the Commission stated that one of their witnesses was unable to attend hearings in Brattleboro but could be available in Washington, D.C. With the consent of attorneys for the parties, a session of evidentiary hearings was scheduled for November 9, 1972, at a location to be designated in Washington, D.C. It is contemplated that this further session will be the last of evidentiary hearings in this proceeding.

Wherefore, it is ordered, In accordance with the Atomic Energy Act, as amended, and the rules of practice of the Commission, that an evidentiary session of hearings shall convene at 10 a.m. on Thursday, November 9, 1972, in Room 111, Lafayette Building, 811 Vermont Avenue NW., Washington, DC.

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Order Regarding Specific Commodity Rates

Issued under delegated authority October 20, 1972.

Agreements have been filed with the Board pursuant to section 412(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (the Act) and Part 261 of the Board's economic regulations, between various air carriers, foreign air carriers, and other carriers embodied in the resolutions of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), and adopted pursuant to the provisions of Resolution 590 dealing with specific commodity rates.

The agreements name additional specific commodity rates, as set forth in the attachment hereto,[1] and reflect reductions from the otherwise applicable general cargo rates. The agreements, which have been assigned the above-designated CAB agreement numbers, were adopted pursuant to unprotested notices to the carriers and promulgated in IATA letters dated October 16, 1972, and October 13, 1972, respectively.

Pursuant to authority duly delegated by the Board in the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.14, it is not found that the subject agreements are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act; Provided, That approval is subject to the condition hereinafter ordered.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

Agreements CAB 23338 and 23339, R-1 through R-3, be and hereby are approved: Provided, That approval shall not constitute approval of the specific commodity descriptions contained therein for purposes of tariff publications: Provided further, That tariff filings shall be marked to become effective on not less than 30 days' notice from the date of filing.

Persons entitled to petition the Board for review of this order, pursuant to the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.50, may file such petitions within 10 days after the date of service of this order.

This order shall be effective and become the action of the Civil Aeronautics Board upon expiration of the above period, unless within such period a petition for review thereof is filed or the Board gives notice that it will review this order on its own motion.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

O,O-DIETHYL S-[2-(ETHYLTHIO ETHYL] PHOSPHORODITHIOATE

Notice of Establishment of Temporary Tolerances

In response to a request from South Dakota State University, Brookings, S. Dak. 57006, temporary tolerances are established for residues of the insecticide O,O-diethyl S-[2-(ethylthio)ethyl] phosphorodithioate in or on rye straw at 5 parts per million and rye grain at 0.3 part per million.

It has been determined that temporary tolerances for residues of the insecticide in or on rye straw and rye grain, at the above levels, will protect the public health. These temporary tolerances are established on condition that the insecticide will be used in accordance with the temporary permit which is being issued concurrently.

These temporary tolerances expire December 31, 1972.

This action is taken pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(j), 68 Stat. 516; 21 U.S.C. 346a(j)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038).

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

INSTRUCTIONAL TELEVISION FIXED SERVICE COMMITTEE

Notice of Fall Meeting

OCTOBER 24, 1972.

FCC Commissioner H. Rex Lee has announced that the 1972 meeting of the National Committee for the Instructional Television Fixed Service (ITFS) will be held at 4 p.m. on November 1 in Las Vegas during the annual convention of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters, scheduled to be held at the Las Vegas Hilton Hotel. Information concerning the room location will be announced at the NAEB convention. As always, the meeting will be open to all interested observers.

In announcing the meeting, Commissioner Lee stated: "Many of the original purposes in setting up this committee have been achieved. The field of instructional communications is expanding so that ITFS, as all other media, can no longer stand alone. Cable and satellites both are likely to play significant roles in any educational technology system, including those in which ITFS may now be the dominant or sole factor. Questions have legitimately been raised whether the ITFS Committee should be phased out or whether it should be expanded to include these other areas of instructional communications."

Accordingly, the main agenda topic for the meeting will be the future of the committee. Views of educators in addition to committee members will be welcomed on this subject. Other matters to be discussed are the relationship of ITFS to the new cable television rules, and the allocation of the 2500 MHz band by the World Administrative Radio Conference for educational uses.

The National Committee for the Instructional Television Fixed Service is made up of FCC, other Federal agency representatives, and members of the educational community. Its current 46 members represent all educational levels, users, and geographical areas. It was formed in October 1965 to assist in planning for efficient use of ITFS frequencies in local areas. It provides information and acts as liaison between the Commission and educators with ITFS interests. Commissioner Lee is Chairman of the Committee. Dr. Robert L. Hilliard, Chief of the FCC Educational Broadcasting Branch, is Executive Vice Chairman.

Instructional Television Fixed Service (ITFS) was established by the FCC on an experimental bnsis in 1963 and on a regular basis in 1971 to provide multiple frequencies in the 2500 MHz band for in-school educational television use. It is not a broadcast service. A single ITFS system can provide up to four simultaneous channels for in-school service, plus response systems. About 140 systems with some 400 channels were on the air in September 1972 and about 40 systems with some 120 channels had outstanding construction permits. ITFS is currently serving about 8,000 schools with about 5 million students. ITFS is now being used in several areas as a means for distributing materials for continuing education, for educational data exchange, improving communication among various governmental entities, and as a two-way communication service providing instantaneous feedback from students to instructors.

INTERDEPARTMENT RADIO ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Use of Guidelines

OCTOBER 11, 1972.

FCC Chairman Dean Burch has informed Clay T. Whitehead, Director, Office of Telecommunications Policy (OTP), that the Commission has no objections to the use of guidelines developed by the Interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee (IRAC) for determining when common carriers are required to obtain Commission radio authorization even though Government frequencies are to be used.

(On February 3, 1971, the Commission adopted a public notice stating that common carriers, which provide service to the U.S. Government, are subject to titles II and III of the Communications Act to the same extent as when such services are provided to any other customer. Because of the uncertainty which developed among carriers and various Federal agencies as to when a radio station qualifies as a Government station under section 305(a) of the Act, IRAC developed its guidelines to assist Federal agencies in making the determination.)

The following is the text of the letter to Dr. Whitehead:

This is in response to the letter of June 14, 1972, from Mr. W. Dean, Jr., to Mr. Raymond E. Spence, concerning the use of Government frequencies by common carriers and requesting the Commission's views with regard to guidelines for such use developed by the Interdepartment Radio Advisory Committee (IRAC) in response to the Commission's public notice of February 4, 1971 (FCC 71-106).

These guidelines read:

"The following guidelines are to assist in the determination of whether or not a station belongs to and is operated by the United States as specified in section 305(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, As Amended:

"a. The department or agency concerned should be able to exercise effective control over the radio equipment and its operation; and

"b. The department or agency concerned assumes responsibility for contractor compliance with Executive Branch, departmental, or agency instructions and limitations regarding use of the equipment and ensures that such instructions and limitations are met when operating under the authority of an Executive Branch frequency authorization to the department or agency; and

"c. The station should be operated by an employee of the department or agency or by a person who operates under the control of the department or agency on a contractual or cooperative agreement basis, and who is under supervision of the department or agency sufficient to ensure that Executive Branch, departmental, or agency instructions and limitations are met.

"It is recognized that a Government agency may make a contract arrangement for maintenance or operation of a radio station under its control without diminishing the effective control of, or responsibility for, such station, provided the appropriate limitations or requirements are specified.

"Since the foregoing may not cover every case, or where there may be doubt, the determination will be made by the department or agency concerned after consultation with the OTP/FCC as appropriate."

The Commission has no objections to the use of these guidelines in appropriate cases.

PANEL 8 OF CABLE TECHNICAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Membership Solicited

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

FCC Chairman Dean Burch has announced the appointment of Panel Chairmen for the Cable Television Technical Advisory Committee (C-TAC). The committee was established to formulate technical standards for carrying television broadcast signals, cable-originated programs, return (two-way) communication, and various miscellaneous cable services.

The following is a listing of the nine C-TAC panels and their chairmen:

Panel 1: Measurement Methods & Instrumentation, Mr. Kenneth A. Simons, Jerroid Electronics Corp.

Panel 2: Subjective Evaluation of Picture Quality, Mr. Archer S. Taylor, Malarkey, Taylor & Associates.

Panel 3: TV Receivers for Cable TV, Mr. Bernard D. Loughlin, Hazeltine Corp.

Panel 4: Class II Cable Television Channels, Mr. Larry Janes, Capitol Cablevision Corp.

Panel 5: Cable Frequency Assignments, Mr. Henry M. Diambra, Westinghouse Broadcasting, Inc.

Panel 6: Technical Operations, Mr. Herbert Michels, Time-Life Broadcast, Inc.

Panel 7: Interface Compatibility, Mr. James W. McNabb, MCI Communications Corp.

Panel 8: Television System Coordination, Mr. Howard T. Head, A. D. Ring & Associates.

Panel 9: Class III and IV Channels (Bidirectional), Mr. Joseph A. Stern, Goldmark Communications Corp.

The work of the various panels is handled by engineers from the cable television and related industries who have volunteered their services on the panels. Industry engineers have not yet had an opportunity to volunteer for service on Panel 8, however, since it was the most recently formed.

The task of Panel 8 is the identification of the technical characteristics of the overall television system where picture quality may be affected by the combined characteristics of more than one portion of the system. The panel is charged with describing the technical operating environment involved in the formulation of cable standards and will conduct such actual testing as may be needed to accomplish its objectives.

Any individual wishing to volunteer his services on Panel 8 should inform either the Commission, or the Panel Chairman at the following address:

Howard T. Head, A. D. Ring & Associates, 1771 N Street NW., Washington, DC 20036, Telephone: 202-296-2315

Chairman Burch heads C-TAC. Cable TV Bureau Chief Sol Schildhause is Vice Chairman.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

JAPAN-ATLANTIC AND GULF FREIGHT CONFERENCE AND TRANS-PACIFIC FREIGHT CONFERENCE

Notice of Agreement Filed

Notice is hereby given that the following agreement has been filed with the Commission for approval pursuant to section 15 of the Shipping Act, 1916, as amended (39 Stat. 733, 75 Stat. 763, 46 U.S.C. 814).

Interested parties may inspect and obtain a copy of the agreement at the Washington office of the Federal Maritime Commission, 1405 I Street NW., Room 1015; or may inspect the agreement at the field offices located at New York, N.Y., New Orleans, La., and San Francisco, Calif. Comments on such agreements, including requests for hearing, may be submitted to the Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, Washington, D.C., 20573, within 20 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person desiring a hearing on the proposed agreement shall provide a clear and concise statement of the matters upon which they desire to adduce evidence. An allegation of discrimination or unfairness shall be accompanied by a statement describing the discrimination or unfairness with particularity. If a violation of the Act or detriment to the commerce of the United States is alleged, the statement shall set forth with particularity the acts and circumstances said to constitute such violation or detriment to commerce.

A copy of any such statement should also be forwarded to the party filing the agreement (as indicated hereinafter) and the statement should indicate that this has been done.

Notice of agreement filed by:

Charles F. Warren, Esq., 1100 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, DC 20036.

Agreement No. 8600-2 is a modification of the joint agreement between the Japan-Atlantic and Gulf Freight Conference and the Trans-Pacific Freight Conference authorizing committees of each conference to meet together on a working basis. As stated by the conferences' counsel's letter of transmittal: "The purpose of the agreement is explicitly to authorize committees of each conference sitting in Tokyo to confer, discuss, consider, and investigate matters of mutual interest within the scopes of their respective conference agreements, and to authorize such committees to submit separate or joint recommendations upon such matters subject to the right of independent action. In addition, in respect to such matters, authority is sought to enable the common conference Chairman to issue joint circulars, and as the need may arise, to conduct joint studies. The latter authority is requested in order to reduce the now not inconsiderable cost and time burden placed upon the conferences' administrative machinery."

The working committees mentioned above are to be distinguished from the policy meetings at the owners level otherwise authorized by Agreement No. 8600.

Dated: October 27, 1972.

By order of the Federal Maritime Commission.

FRANCIS C. HURNEY,
Secretary.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. CI73-285]

BELCO PETROLEUM CORP.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Take notice that on October 20, 1972, Belco Petroleum Corp., Agent (applicant), 630 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10017, filed in Docket No. CI73–285 an application, pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to United Gas Pipe Line Co. (United) from the Glendale Area, Trinity County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant requests authorization pursuant to § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70) for a sale of natural gas to United from the Glendale Area for 1 year at 35 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a. Applicant proposes to initiate such sales for 1 year commencing with the expiration of deliveries of gas to United from the subject leases for a period of 60 days pursuant to § 157.29 of the Commission's regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.29).

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 7, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Secretary.

[Docket No. E-7784]

BOSTON EDISON CO.

Notice of Proposed Rates and Conditions

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Take notice that Boston Edison Co. (Edison) on October 3, 1972, tendered for filing Exhibits B–PR and C–PR to its general service for resale tariff. Edison states that the sole purpose of the new exhibits is to provide generally applicable rates and conditions for partial requirements services for Edison's wholesale for resale customers seeking such services. Edison claims that the filing makes no change in the availability, rates, or conditions for all requirements service provided under Edison's general service for resale tariff, the new rates for which are the subject of Docket No. E–7738. The proposed rates described in the company's transmittal letter is summarized as follows:

Edison states that the rates for transmission services, installed reserve capacity service, and operating reserve capacity service are initial rates for new services. Edison contends that the concept of firm base, firm intermediate, and firm peaking load power is also new, but that all requirements customers are entitled to receive firm partial requirements power under S rates until these partial requirements rates become effective under the Federal Power Act.

Edison says that the partial requirements rates submitted herewith are based upon the same revenue requirements as Edison's Rate S–2 which has been suspended for 5 months and will become effective January 1, 1973. Edison also claims that it will refund from the initial date of service under the partial requirements rates filed herewith, any amounts for firm base, intermediate or peaking load power which would be or may be found excessive if the revenue requirements in Edison's cost of service are found to be excessive by the Federal Power Commission in the S–2 case. According to Edison, if such revenue requirements are found to be excessive, the partial requirements rates for firm load power can easily be recomputed under the methods set forth in Exhibit C–PR which was submitted with this proposal and appropriate refunds made with interest. Also, the company says that if any change in methods for use in determining the partial requirements rates for firm load power should be found appropriate resulting in a finding that the rates filed herewith are excessive, refunds similarly would be made.

Edison contends that it cannot provide any estimate as to its likely revenues under the rates for partial requirements services since it does not have any firm requests for any of the services and the commercial operation dates of three atomic units are not known. Edison says that No.—— (BE–503), however, establishes the fact that the firm load power revenues under the partial requirements tariff match those under Rate S–2, so that what is involved under this filing is actually a reduction in Edison's revenues when a customer buys its power elsewhere.

No description of special facilities is submitted because Edison says it is unaware at this time of any facilities which need to be installed or modified to provide the partial requirements services.

Because Edison has a special contract rate for partial requirements service to the town of Braintree which was entered into on March 25, 1969, and the firm power rate in that special contract was based upon an Edison 1965 cost of service study, Edison argues that the rate is clearly no longer compensatory. Upon the expiration of that special contract, it is Edison's position that its partial requirements tariff will be applicable to Braintree, as well as all other customers taking the services provided for in the tariff.

Edison proposes to make these rates effective 30 days after this submission for filing or as soon thereafter as partial requirements services are provided. Edison says it is not in a position to state precisely when any of the services will be required.

Unless the partial requirements rates are effective when these units come on the line, Edison contends that it will have no applicable rate available covering transmission services or installed or operating reserve services.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before November 10, 1972. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

Secretary.

[Docket No. E-7780]

IDAHO POWER CO.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 25, 1972.

Take notice that on October 2, 1972, Idaho Power Co. (applicant), a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Maine and qualified to transact business in the States of Idaho, Oregon, Nevada, and Wyoming, with its principal business office at Boise, Idaho, filed an application with the Federal Power Commission, pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act, seeking an order authorizing the issuance of not to exceed $100 million in principal amount at any one time outstanding of unsecured promissory notes in the form of: (1) Short-term borrowings obtained from banks and evidenced by unsecured notes ($79 million); and (2) in the form of commercial paper ($21 million).

(1) Notes in the sum of not to exceed $79 million in an aggregate amount would be issued as bank loans, evidenced by and not to exceed 1 year after date thereof. Such bank loans would be made at the "prime rate" applicable in New York, N.Y., for commercial banks loans will provide character. Applicant anticipates that said bank loans will provide that the interest rate will change within the period of said loans, so that they remain constant with the prime rate applicable in New York. Applicant also requests that the authorization include the right to renew such of said short-term notes as expire prior to 1 year from the date of such authorization; and that the principal amount of such renewals, if made, either of notes issued under the authorization herein or of notes issued under the exemptions set forth in 204(e) of the Federal Power Act, shall not be considered as replying against, or a reduction of, the $84,136,400 authorization herein requested.

(2) Unsecured promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount of not to exceed $21 million at any one time outstanding would be issued and sold by applicant to one or more commercial paper dealers. Each note issued as commercial paper would be dated the date of issuance, have a maturity of not more than 270 days from the date thereof and be discounted at the rate prevailing at the time of issuance for commercial paper of comparable quality and maturity.

Proceeds from the borrowing will be used in the further financing of applicant's construction expenditures for 1973, now estimated at approximately $127,793,000. The balance of funds required for construction is expected to be undertaken early in 1973, but the amounts and types of securities and the exact timing of the issuance has not yet been determined.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 3, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petition to intervene or protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceedings. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. The application is on file with the Commission and is available for public inspection.

IOWA POWER & LIGHT CO.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 25, 1972.

Take notice that on October 16, 1972, Iowa Power & Light Co. (applicant) of Des Moines, Iowa, filed an application seeking authority pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act to enter into a guaranty agreement with the trustee of pollution control revenue bonds to be issued by the city of Council Bluffs, Iowa, in the amount of $4 million, which bonds will be sold by the city as soon as possible after obtaining approval of this guaranty.

Applicant is incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa with its principal business office at Des Moines, Iowa, and is engaged in the electric and gas utility businesses within the State of Iowa.

The bonds of the city will be sold to purchase air pollution abatement equipment at Iowa Power & Light Co.'s Council Bluffs Steam Electric Generating Station at Council Bluffs, Iowa, which installation is expected to be completed in the fall of 1974. Said equipment will be leased by the city to the applicant and payments under said lease will be sufficient to pay principal, premium, if any, and interest due on said bonds. The bonds will not be issued by the applicant. The rate of interest will be negotiated at a private sale of the bonds between the city and the underwriters.

The authorization sought is for applicant to issue an independent guaranty to the trustee and holders of the bonds of payment of principal, premium, if any, and interest on said bonds. No payments will be required under the guaranty if all payments are made pursuant to the lease.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 17, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

OCTOBER 25, 1972.

Take notice that Southern Natural Gas Co. (Southern), on October 16, 1972, tendered for filing revised tariff sheets to its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1, proposing increased rates and charges in the amount of $14,346,887 annually, to become effective November 16, 1972, or in the event the proposed rate increase of Southern's gas supplier, Sea Robin Pipeline Co. (Sea Robin) is suspended in Docket No. RP73-47, to become effective on the day Sea Robin's rates are made effective.

Southern states that the proposed increase in rates is occasioned solely by and will compensate it only for the jurisdictional portion of the increase in its cost of purchased gas and cost of transportation resulting from Sea Robin's rate increase filing in Docket No. RP73-47. Southern states that the instant filing reflects the effect of the increased rates filed by Sea Robin on the rates included in the "Proposed Tariff Sheets" filed by Southern on September 29, 1972, in Docket No. RP73-46, to become effective November 1, 1972, upon which the Commission has not yet acted. Southern states that in the event that tariff sheets other than the "Proposed Tariff Sheets" in Docket No. RP73-46 are in effect prior to the effective date of the tariff sheets tendered herein it will file appropriate substitute tariff sheets reflecting the Sea Robin increase.

Southern states that other than the costs filed for herein all other items of cost included in this filing are identical to those in the rate increase filings in Dockets Nos. RP72-91, et al.

Copies of the filing have been served upon Southern's jurisdictional customers and interested State commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a protest, or if not previously granted intervention in Dockets Nos. NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in FPC Gas Tariff

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Take notice that Northern Natural Gas Co. (Northern) on September 27, 1972, tendered for filing proposed changes in its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 4. The proposed changes would incorporate in Northern's tariff a purchased gas adjustment (PGA) clause applicable to its jurisdictional sales made in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico on a system operated independently of the main pipeline system. Concurrently, Northern filed a purchased gas increase to cover the increase from 17.0 cents per Mcf to 21.73 cents per Mcf to be made effective by Colorado Interstate Gas Co. (CIG), the system's sole supplier, on October 1, 1972. Northern requests waiver of section 154.22 and any other applicable sections of the Commission's regulations under the Natural Gas Act to allow the PGA clause to become effective as of October 11, 1972, and the rate increase thereunder to take effect on October 12, 1972, or on such later dates as the Commission may order.

Copies of the filing were served upon Northern's affected jurisdictional customers and the State commissions of New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before November 10, 1972. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

CONSOLIDATED BANKSHARES OF FLORIDA, INC.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

Consolidated Bankshares of Florida, Inc., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 80 percent or more of the voting shares of Union Trust National Bank of St. Petersburg, St. Petersburg, Fla. (Union Bank).

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant controls seven banks with aggregate deposits of approximately $306 million, representing 1.9 percent of total deposits in commercial banks in Florida and is the 12th largest banking organization and bank holding company in the State. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971, adjusted to reflect holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through September 15, 1972.) The acquisition of Union Bank ($156 million deposits) would increase Applicant's share of State deposits by 1 percentage point, and Applicant would become the eighth largest banking organization in Florida.

The Board has on two previous occasions denied applications for the acquisition of Union Bank (55 Bulletin 615, and 48 Bulletin 480). In both cases the Board found that the proposed acquisitions would foreclose significant potential competition. In one case, the Applicant was the leading organization in the adjoining market, and in the other, was one of the States leading banking organizations which simultaneously received approval to acquire a smaller bank in St. Petersburg. In the instant case Applicant's operations are concentrated in the Fort Lauderdale area and its closest banking subsidiary is located 150 miles from the St. Petersburg area. No present competition exists between Union Bank and any of Applicant's present subsidiary banks. It further appears unlikely that any significant competition would develop between Applicant's present subsidiaries and Union Bank in the future due to the wide separation of the banking offices, the number of banks in the intervening area, and State laws restricting branching. It is true, as in the earlier applications, that the proposal will eliminate Union Bank as a potential lead bank of a new holding company. However, Union Bank has demonstrated no inclination to organize a bank holding company, and as this is its third proposed affiliation with an existing holding company it appears unlikely that Union Bank is willing to serve as a lead bank. Consummation of the proposed acquisition would have no adverse effects on existing or potential competition, nor would it have any adverse effects on any competing banks in the area.

Union Bank serves St. Petersburg banking market (approximated by the southern portion of Pinellas County) as the second largest of 25 banks, controlling approximately 15.6 percent of market deposits. There are 12 banking organizations represented in the market. The largest market bank holds deposits of $176 million, and seven banks smaller than Union Bank control deposits ranging from $94 million to $39 million.

The financial condition and managerial resources of Applicant and its present subsidiaries are satisfactory and future prospects of each appear favorable. The financial condition and managerial resources of Union Bank, as supplemented by Applicant, will also be satisfactory. Prospects for Union Bank appear favorable. Considerations relating to banking factors are consistent with approval of the application.

The present ownership and management of Union Bank are desirous of selling the bank and have shown a reluctance to expand or improve its services. Applicant proposes to increase the lending limit and correspondent banking services of Union Bank, to expand its drive-in facilities, to develop an efficient data processing department, and to furnish capital for future expansion. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the communities to be served are consistent with and lend some support to approval of the application. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the proposed transaction would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 20, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

FIRST NATIONAL CITY CORP.

Acquisition of Bank

First National City Corp., New York, N.Y., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 100 percent of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of the successor by merger to The Central Valley National Bank, Central Valley, N.Y., to be named Citibank (Mid-Hudson). The factors that are considered in acting on the application are set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

First National City Corp. is also engaged in the following nonbank activities: mortgage banking; reinsurance with regard to life insurance policies and group accident and health certificates in conjunction with mortgage loans; commercial factoring; commercial financing; leasing; real estate consulting; general management consulting; travel services and travelers checks; data processing; real estate held for community development projects; freight deconsolidation; investment management; community development projects; and ownership of an apartment building. In addition to the factors considered under section 3 of the Act (banking factors), the Board will consider the proposal in the light of the company's nonbanking activities and the provisions and prohibitions in section 4 of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1843).

The application may be inspected at the office of the Board of Governors or at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Any person wishing to comment on the application should submit his views in writing to the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551, to be received not later than November 21, 1972.

FIRST TENNESSEE NATIONAL CORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

First Tennessee National Corp., Memphis, Tenn., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 100 percent of the voting shares of the successor by merger to First Bank and Trust Co., Dyersburg, Tenn. (Bank). The bank into which Bank is to be merged has no significance except as a means to acquire all the shares of Bank. Accordingly, the proposed acquisition of the shares of the successor organization is treated herein as the proposed acquisition of shares of Bank.

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant is the largest banking organization in Tennessee, controlling five banks with aggregate deposits of $1.0 billion, representing 11.6 percent of total banking deposits in the State of Tennessee. (Banking data are as of December 31, 1971, adjusted to reflect holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through September 30, 1972.) The acquisition of Bank ($17.4 million deposits) would increase applicant's share of State deposits by 0.20 percentage points and would not result in a significant increase in the concentration of banking resources in the State.

Bank, located in Dyersburg, Tenn., is one of four banks having offices in a market area which includes all of Dyer County. It holds 24.4 percent of total market deposits as the second largest bank; whereas the largest bank controls 58.9 percent, and the third and fourth largest hold 11.0 and 5.8 percent, respectively. It appears that consummation of the proposal would have no adverse effect on any competing bank.

Applicant's nearest subsidiary banking office is located in a separate market area, approximately 70 miles from Dyersburg. There is no meaningful present competition between any of applicant's offices and Bank. In view of the distances involved and restrictions placed on branching by Tennessee laws, there appears to be little likelihood for the development of any significant amount of future competition between these institutions.

The Department of Justice has commented that, in its view, the proposed acquisition is likely to have an adverse effect on potential competition. The Department expressed the opinion that the Dyersburg area is potentially attractive for de novo entry by applicant because of the "population growth" and attractive economic outlook" for that area and emphasized the presence of two significantly smaller banks in Dyer County, either of which might possibly serve as a vehicle for such entry with less serious competitive consequences than the proposed acquisition. It also voiced concern about possible increases in statewide concentration of banking resources in Tennessee which it anticipates may result from continuing expansion by that State's large multibank organizations through the acquisition of banks with significant or leading positions in local markets.

It appears to the Board that the market served by Bank would not be particularly attractive for de novo entry by applicant or for its acquisition of a foothold bank. Population per banking organization is 7,607 in Dyer County, as compared with a statewide average of 13,125. Moreover, while the town of Dyersburg has experienced satisfactory population growth, reflecting a shift of population from the rural areas of the county to the town as a result of the increasing industrialization of this predominantly agricultural area, the population growth of Dyer County as a whole (only 3 percent in the decade of the 1960's) has lagged behind that of the State (10 percent during the same period).

In the Board's judgment, size or locational disadvantages preclude the two smallest banks in Dyer County from having comparable attraction to applicant as vehicles for entry into that market. Both such banks have their head offices in outlying villages, and although the larger of the two banks also has two branches in Dyersburg, it has total deposits of only $7.9 million.

The Board has concluded that competitive considerations are consistent with approval of the application.

In view of applicant's plans to improve the capital position of one of its subsidiary banks, it appears that applicant, its group of banks, and Bank are in generally satisfactory financial condition; their managements are capable, and prospects for each appear favorable. Banking factors are consistent with approval of the application. Although the major banking needs of Dyer County residents are being served at the present time, the proposed affiliation would extend the range of services presently offered by Bank, especially in the areas of trust, investment management, and automated customer services, would place Bank in a better position to compete for larger commercial accounts, and should enable Bank to compete more effectively with its substantially larger competitor, First Citizens National Bank of Dyersburg. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the communities to be served are consistent with and lend some support to approval of the application. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the proposed acquisition would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated: (a) Before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 24, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

FIRST VIRGINIA BANKSHARES CORP.

Proposed Acquisition of Company Engaged in Certain Consumer Lending and Insurance Sales Activities

First Virginia Bankshares Corp., Falls Church, Va., has applied, pursuant to section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y, for permission to acquire voting shares of the successor by merger to Benson Investment Corp., Birmingham, Ala., and indirectly thereby the shares of National Management Co., Atlantic Finance Co., Allied Finance Company of Albany, Inc., Augusta Loan and Finance Co., Delta Loan and Finance Company of Columbia, and Atlanta Finance Company of Louisiana, Inc. Benson Investment Corp. operates various offices in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, and South Carolina under the names "Allied Finance Co.", "Atlantic Finance Co.", "Delta Loan Co.", "B.I.C. Financial Services", "Benson Financial Services", "Delta Finance Co.", and "Acme Finance Co." Notices of the application were published on August 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, or 24, 1972, in various newspapers circulated in the 20 communities in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, and South Carolina where Benson Investment Corp. or its subsidiaries maintain offices.

Applicant states that the proposed subsidiary would engage in the activities of making personal loans, consumer sales financing, and mortgage lending. Such activities have been specified by the Board in § 225.4(a) of Regulation Y as permissible for bank holding companies, subject to Board approval of individual proposals in accordance with the procedures of § 225.4(b). Applicant also states that the proposed subsidiary would engage in the sale of credit life, health, and accident insurance and property insurance on household goods and automobiles serving as collateral for its extensions of credit, such insurance being sold exclusively to its debtors. Under certain conditions described in 12 CFR 225.128, such insurance sales activities have been specified in § 225.4(a) of Regulation Y as permissible for bank holding companies.

Interested persons may express their views on the question whether consummation of the proposal can "reasonably be expected to produce benefits to the public, such as greater convenience, increased competition, or gains in efficiency, that outweigh possible adverse effects such as undue concentration of resources, decreased or unfair competition, conflicts of interests, or unsound banking practices." Any request for a hearing on this question should be accompanied by a statement summarizing the evidence the person requesting the hearing proposes to submit or to elicit at the hearing and a statement of the reasons why this matter should not be resolved without a hearing.

The application may be inspected at the offices of the Board of Governors or at the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond.

Any views or requests for hearing should be submitted in writing and received by the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551, not later than November 21, 1972.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, October 25, 1972.

ROBLES, INC.

Order Approving Formation of Bank Holding Company and Retention of Insurance Agency Activities

Robles, Inc., Oberlin, Kans., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)) of formation of a bank holding company through acquisition of an additional 58.6 percent of the voting shares of State Bank of Herndon, Herndon, Kans. (Bank). Applicant at present owns 24 percent of the voting shares of Bank.

At the same time, Applicant has applied for the Board's approval, under section 4(c)(8) of the Act and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y to retain its insurance agency, Herndon Insurance Agency, Herndon, Kans. (Agency), a general insurance agency in a community of less than 5,000 persons.

Notice of receipt of the applications has been given in accordance with sections 3 and 4 of the Act, and the time for filing comments and views has expired. The Board has considered the applications and all comments received in the light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)), and the considerations specified in section 4(c)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and finds that:

Applicant presently owns 120 shares of Bank and proposes to acquire an additional 293 shares of Bank from its own principal shareholders (including 137 shares purchased from minority shareholders in 1971). Bank, with deposits of $2.3 million, controls 11.7 percent of commercial bank deposits in Rawlins County and is the fourth smallest of five banks in the county. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971.) Since the transaction essentially involves only a change from individual to corporate ownership, consummation of the proposal will have no significant adverse effects on existing or potential competition.

Considerations relating to the financial and managerial resources and prospects of Applicant and Bank appear to be satisfactory and consistent with approval. In this connection, the Board has determined that the previous purchase of the 137 shares from minority shareholders was done on a basis which was substantially equivalent to the present offer. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the communities to be served are consistent with approval of the application. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the transaction would be in the public interest and that the acquisition of Bank should be approved.

Applicant acquired Agency in 1966 and operates Agency from bank premises. Agency is the only general insurance agency in Herndon, a community of less than 5,000 persons. The Board has previously determined by regulation that the operation of such an agency is closely related to banking (12 CFR 225.4(a)(9)(iii)).

There is no evidence in the record indicating that consummation of the proposal would result in any undue concentration of resources, unfair competition, conflicts of interest, or unsound banking practices. Approval of the application would enable Applicant to continue to provide a convenient source of insurance agency services for Herndon and nearby areas. Based on the foregoing and other considerations reflected in the record, the Board has determined that the balance of the public interest factors that the Board is required to consider regarding the acquisition of Agency under section 4(c)(8) is favorable and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the applications are approved for the reasons summarized above. The acquisition of bank shares shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City pursuant to delegated authority. The determination as to Agency's activities is subject to the Board's authority to require reports by, and make examinations of, holding companies and their subsidiaries and to require such modification or termination of the activities of a holding company or any of its subsidiaries as the Board finds necessary to assure compliance with the provisions and purposes of the Act and the Board's regulations and orders issued thereunder, or to prevent evasion thereof.

By order of the Board of Govenors,[1] effective October 24, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

SOUTHWEST BANCSHARES, INC.

Acquisition of Bank

Southwest Bancshares, Inc., Houston, Tex., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 100 percent of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of the successor by merger to Gulf Coast National Bank, Houston, Tex. U.N. BANCSHARES, INC.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

U.N. Bancshares, Inc., Springfield, Mo., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 90 percent or more of the voting shares of Pulaski County Bank, Richland, Mo. (Bank).

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant, the 12th largest banking organization and 11th largest bank holding company in the State, controls two banks with aggregate deposits of $113.6 million, representing 0.9 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in Missouri. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971, adjusted to reflect bank holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through September 30, 1972.) Consummation of the proposal herein would increase applicant's share of commercial bank deposits in the State by only 0.05 percent and would not result in a significant increase in the concentration of banking resources in the State.

Bank ($6.7 million in deposits) is the second largest of three banks in the Richland banking market with control of approximately 37 percent of area deposits. There is no significant existing competition between any of applicant's subsidiary banks and Bank, nor is there a reasonable probability of competition developing in the future in view of the distances between Bank and applicant's banking subsidiaries (the closest banking subsidiary is located about 80 miles from Richland), the low population per banking office (considerably below the statewide average), and Missouri's restrictive branching laws. It appears, therefore, that consummation of the proposal herein would not likely have any adverse effects on existing or potential competition.

The financial and managerial resources and future prospects of applicant and its subsidiaries are regarded as satisfactory and consistent with approval. The financial resources of Bank are satisfactory; its future prospects are favorable; and its management is regarded as generally satisfactory. Considerations relating to convenience and needs lend weight toward approval of the application as affiliation with applicant would allow Bank to introduce more specialized services into the market, and better enable Bank to meet the anticipated increasing demands for real estate and commercial loans as the area develops. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the proposed acquisition would be in the public interest, and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis pursuant to delegated authority.

UNITED CAROLINA BANCSHARES CORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

United Carolina Bancshares Corp., Whiteville, N.C., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 49 percent of the voting shares of Capitol National Bank, Raleigh, N.C. (Bank), a proposed new bank.

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant controls three banks with aggregate deposits of approximately $222 million, representing 2.7 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in the State, and is the ninth largest banking organization in North Carolina. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971, unless otherwise noted, adjusted to reflect bank holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through September 30, 1972.) Since Bank is a proposed new bank, no existing competition would be eliminated by consummation of the proposal nor would concentration be increased in any relevant area. The proposed site of Bank is in the heart of downtown Raleigh, the capital of North Carolina, and a rapidly growing urban area. The relevant banking market is Wake County and Bank would compete in this market with 13 banks, including five of the six largest banks in North Carolina, which control approximately 91 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in the market (as of June 30, 1970).

The financial and managerial resources of applicant and its subsidiary banks are deemed satisfactory in view of applicant's commitment to provide additional capital for its two largest subsidiary banks, and projected growth and earnings for the group appear favorable. Bank, as a proposed new bank, has no financial or operating history; however, its prospects under applicant's group are consistent with approval of the application. It appears that the major banking needs of the area are being adequately served at the present time. However, Bank would provide an additional source of convenient banking services to the area. Considerations under convenience and needs aspects of the proposal are consistent with approval. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the proposed acquisition would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after that date, and (c) Capitol National Bank, Raleigh, N.C., shall be opened for business not later than 6 months after the effective date of this order. Each of the periods described in (b) and (c) may be extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 24, 1972.

[SEAL] TYNAN SMITH,
Secretary of the Board.

VALLEY FALLS INSURANCE, INC.

Order Approving Formation of Bank Holding Company and Retention of Insurance Agency

Valley Falls Insurance, Inc., Valley Falls, Kans., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(1) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)) of formation of a bank holding company through retention of 51 percent of the voting shares of Kendall State Bank, Valley Falls, Kans. (Bank), and the acquisition of an additional 37 percent of the voting shares of said Bank.

At the same time, applicant has applied for the Board's approval under section 4(c)(8) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and § 225.4(b)(2) of Regulation Y to continue to engage in certain permissible insurance agency activities through the retention of Valley Falls Insurance, Inc., Valley Falls, Kans. (Agency).

Notice of receipt of these applications was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 2, 1972 (37 F.R. 8915), and the time for filing comments and views has expired. The Board has considered the applications and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act, and the considerations specified in section 4(c)(8) of the Act.

Applicant was organized in January 1971 and on February 1, 1971, acquired a majority of the shares of Bank without the prior approval of the Board. Applicant commenced its insurance agency activity de novo shortly thereafter. On June 22, 1971, the Board, in order to avoid the imposition of unnecessary hardships, issued an order which provided that any company which acquired a bank between December 31, 1970, and that date, without securing prior Board approval because the company lacked knowledge of the Bank Holding Company Act Amendments of 1970, might file an application to retain the Bank and, thus, cure its violation of the Act. In this connection, however, the Board provided that the standards to be applied to applications to retain shares would be the same as those normally applied to applications for prior approval. Applicant apparently acted without knowledge of the Act and the application has been considered on that basis.

Bank ($6.7 million in deposits as of December 31, 1971) is the only bank in Valley Falls, a rural community of about 1,200. Agency conducts a general insurance business from the premises of Bank. Since the transaction involves only a change from individual to corporate ownership, consummation of the proposal will have no adverse effects on existing or potential competition.

The financial and managerial resources and future prospects of applicant, Bank and Agency are consistent with approval. It is noted that Bank's satisfactory condition was reached only after it came under applicant's control. Additionally, the Board regards the offer to be made to minority shareholders as being substantially equivalent to the price paid for the shares of majority shareholders. Although applicant will incur considerable debt in acquiring Bank, its income from Bank and Agency will provide sufficient revenue to adequately service the debt. Furthermore, applicant's acquisition of Bank will assure continued operation of the only bank in Valley Falls. Accordingly, considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the community to be served, with respect to the acquisition of Bank, lend weight toward approval. It is the Board's judgment that consummation of the transaction would be in the public interest and that the application to acquire Bank should be approved.

Agency was commenced de novo and is one of three insurance agencies in Valley Falls. The operation by a bank holding company of a general insurance agency in a community with a population of less than 5,000 is an activity that the Board has previously determined to be closely related to banking (12 CFR 225.4(a)(9)(iii)).

There is no evidence in the record indicating consummation of the proposal would result in any undue concentration of resources, unfair competition, conflicts of interest, unsound banking practices or other adverse effects on the public interest. On the basis of the foregoing and other facts reflected in the record, the Board has determined that the considerations affecting the competitive factors under section 3(c) of the Act and the balance of the public interest factors the Board must consider under section 4(c)(8) in permitting a holding company to engage in an activity on the basis that it is closely related to banking both favor approval of the applicant's proposal.

Accordingly, the applications are approved for the reasons summarized above. The acquisition of Bank shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order, or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City pursuant to delegated authority. The determination as to Agency's activities is subject to the Board's authority to require reports by, and make examinations of, holding companies and their subsidiaries and to require such modification or termination of the activities of a holding company or any of its subsidiaries as the Board finds necessary to assure compliance with the provisions and purposes of the Act and the Board's regulations and orders issued thereunder, or to prevent evasion thereof.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 24, 1972.

[SEAL] TYNAN SMITH,
Secretary of the Board.

SELECTIVE SERVICE SYSTEM

REGISTRANTS PROCESSING MANUAL

The Registrants Processing Manual is an internal manual of the Selective Service System. The following portions of that manual are considered to be of sufficient interest to warrant publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Therefore these materials are set forth in full as follows:

[Temporary Instruction 631-3]

EXTENDED PRIORITY SELECTION GROUP REPORTING

OCTOBER 18, 1972.

1. It is desired to have an RSN breakdown of registrants who are expected to be in the Extended Priority Selection Group in 1973. This information is to be submitted with the Availability of Registrants (SSS Form 117) for the months of October 1972 through March 1973.

2. The Extended Priority Selection Group will be reported in two parts on the attached form, Availability of Extended Priority Selection Group—Classes 1-A and 1-A-O (SSS Form 117-A), as follows:

a. Part 1. For the October, November, and December 1972 reports, Part 1 will consist of those registrants who are expected to enter the Extended Priority Selection Group on January 1, 1973, from the 1972 First Priority Selection Group (RSN 1 through 95). For the January, February, and March 1973 reports, Part 1 will consist of registrants who actually entered the Extended Priority Selection Group on January 1, 1973, from the 1972 First Priority Selection Group (RSN 1 through 95).

b. Part 2. All registrants actually in the Extended Priority Selection Group other than those specified in paragraph 2a of this instruction will be reported in Part 2 each month (October through March).

V 37 - 211 NOV 1 72 XUM

3. A registrant reported in Part 1 shall not be reported in Part 2 and vice versa. Column entries will be made in the same manner as on the SSS Form 117. The totals in Item 21 are the sum of Items 1 through 20. Such totals should agree with the entry in Item 2 of the SSS Form 117.

4. The SSS Form 117-A is to be reproduced locally.

5. This temporary instruction terminates upon submission of the March 1973 SSS Form 117-A.[1]

CHAPTER 617—THE REGISTRATION CERTIFICATE

SECTION 617.1 Effect of date of birth that appears on registration card (SSS Form 1). The date of birth of the registrant that appears on his Registration Card (SSS Form 1) on the day before the lottery is conducted to establish his random sequence number will be conclusive as to his date of birth in all matters pertaining to his relations with the Selective Service System.

SEC. 617.2 Issuing of duplicate registration certificate. 1. A duplicate SSS Form 2 shall be issued to a registrant by the local board with which he is registered upon receipt of his request made by letter or SSS Form 6 and the presentation of satisfactory proof to the local board that the SSS Form 2 of the registrant has been lost, destroyed, mislaid, or stolen.

2. A registrant may complete and file a request for a duplicate Registration Certificate (SSS Form 2) made on a Request for Duplicate Registration Certificate or Notice of Classification (SSS Form 6) at his own or any other local board. When he makes such request by letter he may file it only at his own local board. If the registrant files a request made on Request for Duplicate Registration Certificate or Notice of Classification (SSS Form 6) at any local board other than the local board with which he is registered and the registrant's own local board or the place of residence of the registrant at the time of registration is within its State, the local board with which the request is filed shall immediately mail the request to the local board having jurisdiction of the registrant. If the local board with which the request is filed has any doubt as to which other local board in its State has jurisdiction or if the registrant's own local board or his place of residence at the time of registration is not within its State, it shall mail the request to its State director for transmission to the proper local board. Upon receipt of the request, the local board with which the registrant is registered shall issue a duplicate Registration Certificate (SSS Form 2) to the registrant. If the registrant has appeared in person at his local board to file the request, the local board shall deliver the duplicate Registration Certificate (SSS Form 2) to him. If the registrant has filed the request through another local board or by letter, the duplicate Registration Certificate (SSS Form 2) shall be mailed to him at his mailing address. A sample letter for this purpose is Attachment 617-1 which shall be used when issuing duplicates of SSS Form 2 and/or SSS Form 110 to inform the registrant of his duty to return any previous issuances.

SEC. 617.3 Changes to registration certificate when Selective Service Number remains unchanged. The local board shall record changes in registration information which do not affect the selective service number by issuing a corrected SSS Form 2. It shall mark the "Change" block of the form. (See Procedural Directive of SSS Form 2 for distribution.) Such changes shall include name change, day or month of birth change, social security number change, date of registration change, or place of birth change. Changes in descriptive information, other than those resulting from registration errors, shall not be included. No cancellation action shall be taken when any of the above changes are made.

(Local Board Stamp)

DEAR SIR: Attached is your:

☐ duplicate Registration Certificate (SSS Form 2).
☐ duplicate Notice of Classification (SSS Form 110).

If any such certificate previously issued to you is in your possession or you later regain possession of any such certificate previously issued, it is your duty to immediately return to this local board the previously issued certificate. However, any SSS Form 110 which does not reflect your current classification need not be returned and should be destroyed.

Authorized Signature

Sections 613.3 and 613.5 were revised on November 1, 1972, to read as follows:

SEC. 613.3 Use of the Tally Sheet (SSS Form 4) and preparation of the Registration Card (SSS Form 1). 1. At the option of local board, the Tally Sheet (SSS Form 4) may be used as a temporary work sheet of registrants' names and selective service numbers, prior to entries being made in the Classification Record (SSS Form 102). The use of the tally sheet is not mandatory.

2. The Registration Card (SSS Form 1) shall be completed. The registrar will prepare the registration card or provide such assistance as the registrant requires in order for him to prepare it. It shall be typewritten or clearly printed in ink.

SEC. 613.5 Preparation and issuance of registration certificate, registration questionnaire and notice of classification. 1. When a man has completed the SSS Form 1 at his own local board within the prescribed time for registration and his identity and address have been verified, use the following procedure:

a. Assign his selective service number from the SSS Form 102, administratively assign him to 1-H and complete and issue SSS Forms 2 and 110.

b. The SSS Form 100 should be completed at time of registration or issued to the registrant with instructions to complete the SSS Form 100 and return within 10 days.

c. If it is more efficient to do so, the local board may delay the action in (a) and (b) and mail the SSS Form 2 and SSS Form 110 within 10 working days. The SSS Form 100, if not completed at time of registration, shall be mailed with instructions to return the Form within 10 days.

2. A registrant who registered at his own local board after the prescribed time, but prior to the day the lottery is conducted to establish his random sequence number, and who has presented proper identification and verification of his address, will be issued or mailed his forms in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 1.

3. A registrant who registered at his own local board without any verification of his address, shall not be issued his SSS Form 2 and SSS Form 110. The forms will be completed and mailed to him within 10 working days. The SSS Form 100 may be completed at time of registration or mailed to him with instructions to return the form within 10 days.

4. A registrant who registered at his own local board on or after the day the lottery is conducted to establish his random sequence number, shall not be issued or mailed an SSS Form 2 and SSS Form 110 until satisfactory evidence of date of birth has been received. The registrant shall be instructed to furnish such evidence within 10 days. If the evidence has not been received within 10 days, the local board will endeavor to secure evidence of date of birth. The local board should contact county or State bureau of vital statistics or other sources that may be available. If the local board does not receive satisfactory evidence of date of birth within 30 days, the file shall be forwarded to the State director.

5. When registration is accomplished at a local board other than registrant's local board of jurisdiction only completion of SSS Form 1 (except for SSN) is required. If possible, the SSS Form 100 may be completed and signed at that time. The registrant shall be advised that his SSS Form 1 will be forwarded to his local board of jurisdiction which will mail him his SSS Forms 2 and 110, and SSS Form 100 if it was not completed at the time of registration. The registrar should also advise any registrant who registered on or after the day the lottery is conducted to establish his RSN and who did not present satisfactory evidence as to his date of birth, that the evidence will be required by his local board of jurisdiction prior to issuing his SSS Forms 2 and 110.

6. When the registration has been accomplished at a place other than a local board, the registrar shall inform the registrant that the SSS Forms 2 and 110 will be mailed to him by his local board. At the close of business each day, the registrar shall forward the SSS Form 1 and any SSS Form 100 which may have been completed to the local board which appointed the registrar. If the registrar is in a foreign country, the registrar shall deliver the completed SSS Form 1 to the chief registrar of the embassy or consular office which appointed him, for transmittal to the Director of Selective Service.

7. When registration has been accomplished at a local board other than the registrant's local board of jurisdiction, the registrar shall forward the SSS Form 1 (and SSS Form 100, if completed) at the close of business that day to the local board having jurisdiction over the registrant's place of residence, if known. Otherwise, it shall be forwarded to the State director of selective service concerned, for transmittal to the proper local board.

[Temporary Instruction 632-11]

INDUCTION OF CERTAIN REGISTRANTS DURING THE PERIOD DECEMBER 12 THROUGH DECEMBER 19, AND DECEMBER 26 THROUGH DECEMBER 28, 1972.

OCTOBER 18, 1972.

Registrants in the following categories may be forwarded for induction during the periods shown above:

1. Postponed registrants whose postponements terminate in December.

2. Volunteers for induction.

3. Violators who are willing to submit to induction.

Arrangements for such inductions should be coordinated with the AFEES commanders. Registrants other than those mentioned above will not be scheduled for induction during the period December 12 through December 29, 1972.

This temporary instruction terminates on December 30, 1972.

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[Declaration of Disaster Loan Area 427; Class B]

SHELLFISH FROM COASTAL AREAS IN MAINE, MASSACHUSETTS, AND NEW HAMPSHIRE

Products Disaster Declaration

Whereas, many small businesses situated in coastal areas of the States of Maine, Massachusetts, and New Hampshire are engaged in harvesting and shipping soft-shell clams, hard-shell clams and mussels; and

Whereas, the action of local authorities in banning the sale of clams and mussels contaminated by toxic red tide algae, has resulted in substantial economic injury to many small businesses; and

Whereas, the Food and Drug Administration has recalled shucked, fresh, and frozen hard- and soft-shell clams, and mussels; and

Whereas, it has been determined that red tide algae is a natural phenomenon caused by unknown factors and that it has resulted in toxicity in clams and mussels,

Now, therefore, as Administrator of the Small Business Administration, I hereby declare that the foregoing circumstances constitute a disaster within the meaning of section 7(b)(4) (Public Law 88-64) of the Small Business Act, as amended. Applications will be received from individuals and small business concerns which have suffered economic injury as a result thereof. Financial assistance, if found to be necessary or appropriate, will be extended to small business concerns determined by the Small Business Administration to have suffered economic injury as a result of this disaster. No applications under this declaration shall be accepted subsequent to December 31, 1972.

KANEKALON WIGS FROM HONG KONG

Notice of Investigation and Hearing

Having received advice from the Treasury Department on September 29, 1972, that kanekalon wigs from Hong Kong are being, or are likely to be, sold at less than fair value, the U.S. Tariff Commission has instituted investigation No. AA1921-109 under section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)), to determine whether an industry in the United States is being or is likely to be injured, or is prevented from being established, by reason of the importation of such merchandise into the United States.

Hearing. A public hearing in connection with the investigations will be held in the Tariff Commission's Hearing Room, Tariff Commission Building, 8th and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C., beginning at 10 a.m., e.s.t., on November 17, 1972. All parties will be given an opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard at such hearing. Requests to appear at the public hearing should be received by the Secretary of the Tariff Commission, in writing, at its offices in Washington, D.C., not later than noon, Tuesday, November 14, 1972.

Issued: October 27, 1972.

By order of the Commission.

RESOLUTION BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY ADOPTED JUNE 22, 1972

Whereas the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, by act approved March 22, 1972 (Chapter No. 552, Tennessee Public Acts, 1972, p. 307), has ceded to the United States concurrent criminal jurisdiction over the portion of Stewart County, Tenn., lying within the boundaries of the Land Between the Lakes; and

Whereas section 355 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended (40 U.S.C. sec. 255), authorizes acceptance of such cession on behalf of the United States by an authorized officer of any independent agency of the United States having immediate custody and control of the lands or interests therein affected by such cession; and

Whereas the Director of Land Between the Lakes and the General Counsel deem it desirable in the interest of facilitating administration of Land Between the Lakes that such cession be accepted in accordance with the terms of the United States statute cited in the preceding clause, and have recommended to the General Manager, who in turn has recommended to the Board, that the Director of Land Between the Lakes be authorized and directed to accept such cession on behalf of the United States; and

Whereas the Board finds that such acceptance is desirable in the interest of facilitating administration of the Land Between the Lakes;

Be it resolved, That the Director of Land Between the Lakes be and he is hereby authorized and directed to accept on behalf of the United States, in the form filed with the records of the Board as Exhibit 6–22–72s, the aforesaid cession by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee of concurrent criminal jurisdiction over the portion of Stewart County, Tenn., lying within the boundaries of the Land Between the Lakes and to notify the Governor of the State of Tennessee of such acceptance.

NOTICE OF ACCEPTANCE OF JURISDICTION BY THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

To: The Honorable Winfield Dunn, Governor of the State of Tennessee.

The Governor of the State of Tennessee is hereby respectfully notified, pursuant to the provisions of section 355 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended (40 U.S.C. 255), that the undersigned Director of Land Between the Lakes, under the authority of the U.S. statute cited above and a resolution adopted June 22, 1972, by the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority, a certified copy of which resolution is attached hereto, hereby accepts, on behalf of the United States, cession to the United States of concurrent criminal jurisdiction over that portion of Stewart County, Tenn., within the boundaries of the Land Between the Lakes as made and effected by the Act of the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee approved March 22, 1972 (Chapter No. 552, Tennessee Public Acts, 1972, p. 307), for the purposes and subject to all the terms and conditions stated in such Act, effective upon the Governor's receipt of this notice.

Done at Knoxville, Tenn., this, the 23d day of June, 1972.

ROBERT M. HOWES,
Director, Land Between the Lakes.

CERTIFICATE OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I hereby certify that the original of the foregoing "Notice of Acceptance of Jurisdiction by the United States of America" was received at Nashville, Tenn., on the 28th day of June, 1972.

MOTOR CARRIER APPLICATIONS AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCEEDINGS

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

The following publications are governed by the new Special Rule 1100.247 of the Commission's rules of practice, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of December 3, 1963, which became effective January 1, 1964.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicant, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.[1]

APPLICATIONS ASSIGNED FOR ORAL HEARING

MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

No. MC 29120 (Sub-No. 138) (Republication), filed March 2, 1972, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issues of March 30 and June 8, 1972 (as amended), and republished this issue. Applicant: ALL-AMERICAN TRANSPORT, INC., 1500 Industrial Avenue, Post Office Box 769, Sioux City, SD 57101. Applicant's rereseantative: Mead Bailey (same address as applicant). An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board, dated October 3, 1972, and served October 17, 1972, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of meats, meat products, meat byproducts, dairy products, and articles distributed by meat packinghouses, as defined by sections A, B, and C of Appendix I to the report in Descriptions in Motor Carrier Certificates, 61 MCC 209 and 766 (except hides and commodities in bulk), from the facilities of Wilson Certified Foods, Inc., at Marshall, Mo., to points in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin, restricted to the transportation of traffic originating at Marshall, Mo., and destined to points in the named States; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted in this order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate herein will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such republication, during which period any proper party in interest may file an appropriate petition for leave to intervene in this proceeding setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

NOTICES FOR FILING OF PETITIONS

No. MC 42487 (Sub-No. 578) (Notice of Filing of Petition for Modification of Certificate), filed August 17, 1972. Petitioner: CONSOLIDATED FREIGHTWAYS CORPORATION OF DELAWARE, Menlo Park, Calif. Petitioner's representative: Eugene T. Liipfert, 1660 L Street NW., Suite 1100, Washington, DC 20036. Petitioner presently holds a certificate in MC 42487 (Sub-No. 578), authorizing, as pertinent, operation as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes with certain restrictions. The following restriction applies to a portion of the motor cargo rights: Restriction: All of the operating authority in (Part 2) of (A) above shall be subject to the limitation that no shipments shall be transported over routes described thereunder between any two points, both of which are west of the Illinois-Indiana State line, except that shipments may be transported from Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., to Chicago, Ill., and points in Illinois within the Chicago, Ill., commercial zone as defined above. The authority in (Part 2) of section (A) of the Sub-578 certificate authorized operations over a route network extending generally from Anoka, Minn., and Des Moines, Iowa, on the west, through Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio to Youngstown, Ohio, and Sharon, Pa., on the east. (Generally the restricted routes connect on an end-to-end basis with other motor cargo routes to the eastern seaboard.) Alternate routes covering the same general territory are set forth in (Part 10) and (Part 11) of section (A) of the Sub-578 certificate, and these alternate routes are similarly restricted. By the instant petition, petitioner seeks to have the language of each of these restrictions modified by striking the words "west of the Illinois-Indiana State line" and substituting therefor the words "located in the area comprised of the States of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois." As modified, the restriction in (Part 2) of section (A) would read: Restriction: All of the operating authority in (Part 2) of (A) above shall be subject to the limitation that no shipments shall be transported over routes

[1] Except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant (on applications filed after Mar. 27, 1972) states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

V 37-211 NOV 1 72 XUM

described thereunder between any two points, both of which are located in the area comprised of the States of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois, except that shipments may be transported from Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., to Chicago, Ill., and points in Illinois within the Chicago, Ill., commercial zone as defined above. Similar changes would be made in the restrictions governing the alternate routes. Any interested person desiring to participate may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views, or arguments in support of or against the petition within 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

No. MC 127355 (Correction), filed September 13, 1972, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of September 27, 1972, republished in part, as corrected, this issue. Petitioner: M & N GRAIN COMPANY, a Corporation, 804 East Hickory, Nevada, MO 64772. Petitioner's representative: Donald J. Quinn, 1012 Baltimore, Suite 900, Kansas City, MO 64105.

NOTE: The purpose of this partial republication is to correctly classify the previous publication as a Notice of Filing of Petition for Modification of Permit. The rest of the petition remains as previously published.

No. MC 134477 (Sub-No. 13) (Notice of Filing of Petition for Modification of Certificate), filed October 13, 1972. Petitioner: SCHANNO TRANSPORTATION, INC., 5 West Mendota Road, West St. Paul, MN 55118. Petitioner's representative: Paul Schanno (same address as above). Petitioner presently holds a certificate in No. MC 13447 (Sub-No. 13), authorizing operation as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of cooked, cured, or preserved meats, in vehicles equipped with mechanical refrigeration, from the plantsite of Peters Meat Products, Inc., at St. Paul, Minn., to Laurens and Sioux City, Iowa, with no transportation for compensation on return except as otherwise authorized. Restriction: Restricted to the transportation of traffic originating at the above-named plantsite and destined to the above-named destination points. By the instant petition, petitioner seeks modification of its certificate to read as follows: "from the plantsite of Schweigert Meat Co. at Minneapolis, Minn., in lieu of the present wording "from the plantsite of Peters Meat Products, Inc., at St. Paul, Minn." Any interested person desiring to participate may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views, or arguments in support of or against the petition within 30 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

APPLICATION FOR CERTIFICATES OR PERMITS WHICH ARE TO BE PROCESSED CONCURRENTLY WITH APPLICATIONS UNDER SECTION 5 GOVERNED BY SPECIAL RULE 240 TO THE EXTENT APPLICABLE

No. MC 60014 (Sub-No. 32), filed October 16, 1972. Applicant: AERO TRUCKING, INC., Post Office Box 308, Monroeville, PA 15146. Applicant's representative: A. Charles Tell, 100 East Broad Street, Columbus, OH 43215. Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: General commodities (except those of unusual value), classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, and commodities in bulk, between points in Connecticut. NOTE: Applicant states that the requested authority can be tacked with its existing authority, but indicates that it has no present intention to tack and therefore does not identify the points or territories which can be served through tacking. Persons interested in the tacking possibilities are cautioned that failure to oppose the application may result in an unrestricted grant of authority. This application is a matter directly related to MC-F-11693, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of October 26, 1972. If a hearing is deemed necessary, applicant requests it be held at Washington, D.C.

APPLICATIONS UNDER SECTIONS 5 AND 210a(b)

The following applications are governed by the Interstate Commerce Commission's special rules governing notice of filing of applications by motor carriers of property or passengers under sections 5(a) and 210a(b) of the Interstate Commerce Act and certain other proceedings with respect thereto (49 CFR 1.240).

List of CFR Parts Affected

The following numerical guide is a list of the parts of each title of the Code of Federal Regulations affected by documents published in today's issue. A cumulative list of parts affected, covering the current month to date, appears following the Notices section of each issue beginning with the second issue of the month. In the last issue of the month the cumulative list will appear at the end of the issue.

A cumulative guide is published separately at the end of each month. The guide lists the parts and sections affected by documents published since January 1, 1972, and specifies how they are affected.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS (INCLUDING POULTRY) AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

[Docket No. 72-573]

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

Areas Quarantined and Released

Pursuant to provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, the Act of September 6, 1961, and the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f), Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of swine and certain products because of hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases, is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. In § 76.2, in paragraph (e)(1) relating to the State of Georgia, subdivision (i) relating to Dade County is deleted.

2. In § 76.2, in paragraph (e)(8) relating to the State of Tennessee, subdivision (i) relating to Bedford County is deleted.

3. In § 76.2, a new subparagraph (3) relating to the State of Texas is added to read:

(e) * * *

(3) Texas. That portion of Dallas County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the Dallas-Tarrant County line and Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike; thence, following Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike in an easterly direction to Interstate Highway 20; thence, following Interstate Highway 20 in a generally easterly direction to the Dallas-Kaufman County line; thence, following the Dallas-Kaufman County line in a southerly, then westerly direction to the junction of the Dallas-Kaufman-Ellis County lines; thence, following the Dallas-Ellis County line in a westerly direction to the junction of the Dallas-Ellis-Tarrant County lines; thence, following the DallasTarrant County line in a northerly direction to its junction with Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended; secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481; secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132, 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505)

Effective date. The foregoing amendments shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendments quarantine a portion of Dallas County in Texas because of the existence of hog cholera. This action is deemed necessary to prevent further spread of the disease. The restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas as contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, will apply to the quarantined area.

The amendments exclude all of Dade County in Georgia and a portion of Bedford County in Tennessee from the areas quarantined because of hog cholera. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, do not apply to the excluded areas, but will continue to apply to the quarantined areas described in § 76.2(e). Further, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from nonquarantined areas contained in said Part 76 apply to the excluded areas.

Insofar as the amendments impose certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the interstate spread of hog cholera, they must be made effective immediately to accomplish their purpose in the public interest. Insofar as the amendments relieve restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of hog cholera, they should be made effective promptly in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rule making proceeding would make additional relevant information available to the Department.

Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendments are impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making them effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

(ii) The adjacent portions of Cumberland and Fentress Counties bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the Fentress-Overton County line and State Highway 85 in Fentress County; thence, following the Fentress-Overton County line in a southeasterly, then southwesterly direction to the junction of the Fentress-Overton-Putnam County lines; thence, following the Fentress-Putnam County line in a southeasterly direction to the junction of the Fentress-Putnam-Cumberland County lines; thence, following the Cumberland-Putnam County line in a southwesterly, then westerly direction to U.S. Highway 70N, State Highway 24 in Cumberland County; thence, following U.S. Highway 70N, State Highway 24 in a generally southeasterly direction to U.S. Highway 127, State Highway 28; thence, following U.S. Highway 127, State Highway 28 in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 4252; thence, following Secondary Road 4252 in a northeasterly direction to the southern boundary of the Catoosa Wildlife Management Area; thence, following the southern boundary of the Catoosa Wildlife Management Area in a generally northeasterly direction to the Cumberland-Morgan County line; thence, following the Cumberland-Morgan County line in a generally northwesterly direction to the junction of the Cumberland-Morgan-Fentress County lines; thence, following the Fentress-Morgan County line in a generally northerly direction to Secondary Road 4242 in Fentress County; thence, following Secondary Road 4242 in a generally northwesterly direction to U.S. Highway 127, State Highway 28; thence, following U.S. Highway 127, State Highway 28 in a southwesterly direction to State Highway 85; thence, following State Highway 85 in a generally northwesterly direction to its junction with the Fentress-Overton County line.

(iii) That portion of Knox County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the Knox-Anderson County line and U.S. Highway 25W, State Highway 9; thence, following U.S. Highway 25W, State Highway 9 in a generally southeasterly direction to State Highway 33; thence, following State Highway 33 in a southerly, then southeasterly direction to the north bank of the Tennessee River; thence, following the north bank of the Tennessee River in a generally southwesterly direction to the north bank of the Fort Loudoun Lake; thence, following the north bank of the Fort Loudoun Lake in a generally northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 2405; thence, following Secondary Road 2405 in a northeasterly, then northwesterly direction to Lovell Road; thence, following Lovell Road in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 2519; thence, following Secondary Road 2519 in a northwesterly direction to the Knox-Anderson County line; thence, following the Knox-Anderson County line in a southeasterly, then northeasterly direction to its junction with U.S. Highway 25W, State Highway 9.

(iv) That portion of Roane County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of Interstate Highway 40 and the south bank of the Clinch River; thence, following the south bank of the Clinch River in a generally northeasterly direction to the western boundary of the Oak Ridge area; thence, following the western boundary of the Oak Ridge area in a southeasterly, then northeasterly, then southeasterly direction to State Highway 58; thence, following State Highway 58 in a southwesterly direction to Interstate Highway 40; thence, following Interstate Highway 40 in a generally northwesterly direction to its junction with the south bank of the Clinch River.

(9) Puerto Rico. The entire Commonwealth.

(f) Notice is hereby given that systematic procedures have been in effect for at least 3 months in the States listed below to detect and eradicate the disease of hog cholera; that a period of more than 3 months has passed since there has been clinical evidence that the contagion of the disease exists within such States; and that such States are hereby designated as hog cholera eradication States. Once designated as a hog cholera eradication State, the State will retain such status so long as there is no clinical evidence that the contagion of hog cholera exists within such State, other than in primary unrelated instances where the infected herd is promptly depopulated, or until such State is listed in paragraph (g) of this section. Any State which is removed from listing in paragraph (f) because of this secondary spread of the contagion of hog cholera within such State may requalify for such listing when systematic procedures to detect and eradicate the disease have been in effect for 3 consecutive months following herd depopulation of the last positive case, and no clinical evidence of the contagion of the disease has been detected within such State. The following States are classified as eradication States:

New Jersey	Commonwealth of
South Carolina	Puerto Rico

(g) Notice is hereby given that systematic procedures have been in effect for at least 1 year in the States listed below to detect and eradicate the disease of hog cholera; that a period of more than 1 year has passed since there has been clinical evidence that the contagion of the disease exists within such States; and that such States are hereby designated as hog cholera Free States. Once designated as a hog cholera Free State, the State will retain such status so long as there is no clinical evidence that the contagion of hog cholera exists with such State, other than in primary unrelated instances where the infected herd is promptly depopulated. A State removed from listing in this paragraph because of secondary spread of the contagion of hog cholera within such State may requalify for listing when systematic procedures to detect and eradicate the disease have been in effect for 6 consecutive months following herd depopulation of the last positive case, and no clinical evidence of the contagion of the disease has been detected. The following States are hereby classified as hog cholera Free States:

Alabama.	Missouri

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended; secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481; secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended; 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505.)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment quarantines a portion of Halifax County in North Carolina because of the existence of hog cholera. This action is deemed necessary to prevent further spread of the disease. The restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas as contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, will apply to the quarantined area.

No other changes are made in §§ 76.2 (e), (f), and (g), but all presently effective provisions of §§ 76.2 (e), (f), and (g) are set forth above for convenient reference.

The amendment imposes certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the interstate spread of hog cholera, and must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. It does not appear that public participation in this rulemaking proceeding would make additional relevant information available to the Department.

Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making it effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

Title 10—ATOMIC ENERGY

Chapter I—Atomic Energy Commission

PART 20—STANDARDS FOR PROTECTION AGAINST RADIATION

Miscellaneous Amendments

Notice is hereby given of the amendment of the Atomic Energy Commission's "Standards for Protection Against Radiation," 10 CFR Part 20.

The amendments of Appendix B correct a number of the "Concentrations in Air and Water Above Natural Background" to conform with recommendations of the National Council on Radiation Protection and Measurements (NCRP). The corrections of Appendix B change the following listings: soluble manganese-54 in Table II, Column 1, from 1×10^{-9} to 1×10^{-8}; insoluble americium-241 in Table II, Column 2, from 2×10^{-5} to 3×10^{-5}; insoluble curium-242 in Table II, Column 2 from 3×10^{-5} to 2×10^{-5}; and all of the listings for californium-252.

The amendments of Appendix B also add listings for platinum-193, thorium-227, and thorium-231. Permissible concentration values for these radionuclides are set forth in both NBS Handbook 69 (NCRP) and the "Report of International Commission on Radiological Protection Committee II (1959)" and were derived in the same manner as the other listings set forth in those documents and implemented in Appendix B.

Section 20.5(c) also is amended to change the number of disintegrations per second from the uranium-235 associated with one curie of natural uranium from 9×10^{8} to 1.7×10^{9}. This change is made to conform with the value listed in Addendum I to NBS Handbook 69 (NCRP).

Because these amendments relate solely to corrections and minor matters, the Commission has found that good cause exists for omitting notice of proposed rule making, and public procedure thereon, as unnecessary, and for making the amendments effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11–2–72).

The Commission has determined, pursuant to section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality, that these amendments do not require the preparation of an environmental statement pursuant to that statute.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and sections 552 and 553 of title 5 of the United States Code, the following amendments to Title 10, Chapter I, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 20, are published as a document subject to codification, to be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Title 25—INDIANS

Chapter I—Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior

PART 221—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE

Tribal and Trust Patent Indian Lands of the San Carlos Indian Irrigation Project, Ariz.

On page 19379 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 20, 1972, there was published a notice of proposal to revise § 221.110 of Title 25, Code of Federal Regulations. Interested persons were given 30 days within which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment. No comments, suggestions, nor objections have been received, and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change as set forth below.

§ 221.110 Basic charge.

Pursuant to the provisions of section 10 of the Act of March 3, 1905 (33 Stat. 1081), as amended and supplemented by the Acts of August 24, 1912 (37 Stat. 522), August 1, 1914 (38 Stat. 583, 25 U.S.C. 385), section 5 of the Act of June 7, 1924 (43 Stat. 476) March 7, 1928 (45 Stat. 210, title 25 U.S.C. 387), and the Act of August 9, 1937 (50 Stat. 577), as amended by the Act of May 9, 1938 (52 Stat. 291–305), and in accordance with the public notice issued on December 1, 1932, operation and maintenance charges are assessable against the 50,000 acres of tribal lands and trust patent Indian lands of the San Carlos Indian Irrigation Project within the boundaries of the Gila River Indian Reservation, Ariz., and the basic rate assessed for the calendar year 1973 and the subsequent years unless changed by further order, is hereby fixed at $11. Such rate shall entitle each acre of land to have delivered for use thereon two (2) acre-feet of water per acre or its proportionate share of the available water supply. The assessment for the 50,000 acres of Indian land will be payable as provided in §§ 221.111–221.116, inclusive.

DALE M. BELCHER,
Acting Assistant Area Director.

Chapter XVI—Selective Service System

PART 1622—CLASSIFICATION RULES AND PRINCIPLES

PART 1632—DELIVERY AND INDUCTION

Miscellaneous Amendments

Whereas, on September 29, 1972, the Director of Selective Service published a notice of proposed amendments to Selective Service regulations (37 F.R. 20335) of September 29, 1972; and

Whereas such publication complied with the publication requirement of section 13(b) of the Military Selective Service Act (50 App. U.S.C. sections 451 et seq.) in that more than 30 days have elapsed subsequent to such publication during which period comments from the public have been received and considered; and I certify that I have requested the views of officials named in section 2(a) of Executive Order 11623 and none of them has timely requested that the matter be referred to the President for decision.

Now therefore by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Military Selective Service Act, as amended (50 App. U.S.C. sections 451 et seq.) and Executive Order 11623 of October 12, 1971, the Selective Service regulations, constituting a portion of Chapter XVI of Title 32 of the Code of Federal Regulations, are hereby amended, effective 11:59 p.m. e.s.t. on November 4, 1972, as follows:

Section 1622.22(a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1622.22 Class 2–A-Registrant deferred because of civilian occupation (except agriculture) or nondegree study.

(a) In Class 2–A shall be placed any registrant whose continued service is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest in an activity identified as essential by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Security Council: Provided, That any request for classification in Class 2–A submitted to a local board prior to April 23, 1970, shall be considered on the basis of the provisions of this paragraph in effect prior to such date: Provided further, That any registrant classified in Class 2–A under the provisions of this paragraph in effect prior to April 23, 1970, may be retained in such class so long as he occupies the same position and qualifies under those provisions.

* * * * * * *

Section 1632.2(e) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1632.2 Postponement of induction; general.

* * * * *

(e) A postponement authorized in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section in excess of 60 days or without limit may be terminated when the issuing authority so directs and upon not less than 30 days nor more than 60 days notice to the registrant. The registrant shall then report for induction at such time and place as may be fixed by the local board.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-269]

RENT-ALLOWABLE COSTS-NEW RENTAL UNITS

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. In 1968 L purchased 30 acres of real estate and constructed a complex of garden apartments X, on part of the land. During 1971, the real estate taxes were assessed on the apartments and entire tract of land. During 1971, additional garden apartments Y were constructed on the remaining part of the land. Construction was completed and the Y apartments were first offered for rent after August 15, 1971. The real estate taxes for 1972 were assessed on all of the apartments (i.e. X+Y) and the land.

Issue. To what extent may L increase the rent for the X apartments due to the increase in real estate taxes?

Ruling. Section 301.101(a)(2) provides that a lessor may add a properly allocated increase in allowable cost to the base rent of a residence. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.101(a)(2), 37 F.R. 13226 (1972). Section 301.2 defines allowable costs to include real estate taxes. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.2, 37 F.R. 13226 (1972). Section 301.101(b) which provides a method for determining the amount of rent adjustments allowable to a particular residence indicates that the allowable costs which relate to a particular residence may be used only to justify rent increases for that residence. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.101(b), 37 F.R. 13226 (1972). This provision incorporates in the regulations the principles set forth in Price Commission Ruling 1972-159, 37 F.R. 9352 (1972). Thus, an increase in the real estate taxes on an apartment development due to the construction of a new apartment building represents an increase in taxes upon unrelated residences.

In the present case, to the extent that the increase in taxes are attributable to X and its portion of the land, the increased taxes qualify as allowable cost and after proper allocation, may be passed through to the tenants in X. On the other hand, to the extent that the increase in taxes are attributable to Y and its portion of the land, the increased taxes do not qualify as allowable costs. Thus, they may not be passed through under § 301.101 to the tenants in apartment X. However, since the Y apartments are exempt as rental units on which construction was completed, and which were first offered for rent after August 15, 1971, under 6 CFR 301.33(a)(2)(ii) (1972) of the Economic Stabilization Regulations, L may charge the tenants in Y a rent which covers the increase in taxes attributable to Y.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-268]

VOLATILE PRICING RULE

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. Firm A purchases cocoa beans and uses them in the manufacture of chocolate. A typically carries a 2-month inventory of beans. The price of cocoa beans has recently increased and A wishes to increase the price of its chocolate under the volatile pricing rule in Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.51(f) (1972). A has been granted such authority by the Price Commission. A has customarily used a LIFO system of inventory accounting. A is a prenotification firm.

Issue. May A increase the price of its chocolate to reflect an increase in the market price of cocoa beans prior to the purchase of beans at the higher price?

Ruling. No. A may increase the price of chocolate only to reflect a dollar-for-dollar passthrough of increased costs of cocoa beans which have actually been incurred.

The volatile pricing rule under § 300.51(f) of the regulations is an exception to the general requirement that prenotification firms must receive Price Commission approval before effecting price increases. A manufacturing firm with volatile pricing authority may increase prices without prenotifying. But that firm is still subject to the general rule in Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.12 (1972) that it "may charge a price in excess of the base price only to reflect increases in allowable costs that it incurred since the last price increase in the item concerned or that it incurred after January 1, 1971, whichever was later * * *." An allowable cost is not "incurred" until a person becomes subject to or liable for that increased cost. No price increase can thus be made until the seller is subject to or liable for an increased cost. See Price Commission Ruling 1972-108, 37 F.R. 5648 (1972).

In this case, A may increase the price of its chocolate without prenotification only to recover the dollar increase in the price of cocoa which is purchased and used in the production of that chocolate. Price Commission Ruling 1972-15, 37 F.R. 765 (1972). To the extent that inventory levels are held constant, the LIFO inventory accounting system may permit the allowable increases to closely approximate changes in the current market price level. However, this results from the sale of chocolate manufactured after higher priced beans were purchased and not merely the adjustment in the price of chocolate based on the market or replacement cost of the raw material used.

This ruling has been approved by the General Counsel of the Price Commission.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-270]

NEW HOSPITAL

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. Hospital A has recently opened a new facility and has abandoned its former location. The new hospital has a greater capacity and offers intensive care services and rehabilitation services in addition to the services provided in the old hospital. While most of the equipment is new, it merely replaces and is not an improvement over the equipment used in the former facility.

In order to qualify as new property or service under Economic Stabilization Regulation, 6 CFR 300.409 (1972) the property or service must be either: (1) Substantially different from other property or service in purpose, function, quality, or technology, or the use of the property or service must effect a substantially different result; or (2) not previously offered for sale or lease by the person during the 1-year period immediately preceding the date on which he is offering the property or service.

Issue. Is Hospital A providing new services under § 300.409?

Ruling. Hospital A must consider each service that it offers separately to determine whether the particular service qualifies as new under § 300.409. To be considered as new, the service itself must be substantially different. That the building is new is not sufficient to deem the services new. Similarly, new equipment is not sufficient to deem the services new unless that equipment is substantially different in purpose, function, quality, or technology than the old equipment. However, if the new equipment or facilities enable the hospital to offer services not previously provided by the old equipment, those additional services qualify as new. The intensive care and rehabilitation units qualify as new services under this section, but the remainder of the hospital's services are the same as those previously offered in the old facility. Hospital A must therefore use its former base prices for the services it previously provided. Any price increase must be made in accordance with Economic Stabilization Regulation, 6 CFR 300.18 (1972).

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-271]

AGGREGATE ANNUAL REVENUES OF INSTITUTIONAL PROVIDERS OF HEALTH SERVICES

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. Hospital A, an institutional provider of health services, has always customarily charged different prices to different classes of patients (such as private pay patients, Medicare patients, and patients covered by Blue Cross) for the same services. Each of these classes of patients constitutes a specific class of purchasers as defined in Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.5 (1972). Hospital A has increased no prices since June 30, 1971, but it has incurred allowable cost increases since that date, and wishes to increase its prices to reflect these cost increases. In its fiscal year ending on June 30, 1972, hospital A had aggregate annual revenues (as defined in Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 300.18(a), 37 F.R. 14312 (1972)) of $10 million. During its fiscal year just ended, hospital A's revenues from its private pay patients were $1 million. Hospital A intends to increase the private pay patient prices more than it increases those charged to other classes of purchasers. This increase will reflect allowable cost increases allocable to the services provided to private pay patients. When annualized and adjusted for volume differences, hospital A's price increases will increase its revenues flowing from private pay patients by $70,000 (or 7 percent more than in its June 30, 1972, fiscal year). However, the effect of all its price increases to all classes of purchasers, when annualized and adjusted for volume differences, will increase its fiscal 1972 revenues $580,000, or 5.8 percent more than its fiscal 1972 revenues.

No institutional provider of health services may charge a price in excess of the base price, if the effect of the increase, together with any other price changes made by it under the authority of the Economic Stabilization Regulations, is to increase its aggregate annual revenues adjusted for volume differences at an annualized rate of more than 6 percent over the amount of its aggregate annual revenues for its most recently completed fiscal year unless the provider has received an exception from the Price Commission, after filing a request therefore with the District Director of Internal Revenue for the district in which the provider is located. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 300.18(c), 37 F.R. 14312 (1972).

Issue. Must hospital A request an exception before it puts its proposed price increases into effect?

Ruling. No. Aggregate annual revenues include the sum of all patient service revenues and all other operating revenues from services, sales, and activities, minus deductions for charity, courtesy, and contractual discounts and allowances for bad debts. Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.18(a), 37 F.R. 14312 (1972). "Aggregate annual revenues" are not computed separately for each class of purchaser. The 6 percent limitation in § 300.18(c) is not applied separately to the revenues flowing from a price increase to one of several specific classes of purchasers of the institution's services. Therefore, a price increase that, when annualized, will increase the revenues flowing from one class of purchaser by more than 6 percent does not require an exception from the Price Commission if the effect of the increase, together with other annualized price changes, will not increase the provider's aggregate annual revenues adjusted for volume differences more than 6 percent over the aggregate annual revenues of the most recently completed fiscal year. Therefore, hospital A's 7 percent increase to private pay patients will not require an exception.

This ruling has been approved by the General Counsel of the Price Commission.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter II—Food and Nutrition Service, Department of Agriculture

[Amdts. 8, 11, 3]

NATIONAL SCHOOL BREAKFAST AND LUNCH PROGRAMS

Pursuant to Public Law 92-433, approved September 26, 1972, the regulations governing the National School Lunch Program, the School Breakfast and Nonfood Assistance Programs and State Administrative Expenses, and the regulations for Determining Eligibility for Free and Reduced Price Lunches are hereby amended to provide that: (1) The statewide average reimbursement rate for general cash-for-food assistance for all eligible lunches served shall be not less than 8 cents; (2) the section 4, general cash-for-food, State revenues matching requirements shall be based on the preceding fiscal year; (3) participation in the School Breakfast Program shall be available to all schools; (4) a new formula shall be used for apportioning 50 percent of the appropriated Nonfood Assistance funds for needy schools and a new formula shall be used for apportioning 50 percent of such funds for needy schools without a food service; (5) the 25 percent matching requirement for Nonfood Assistance funds paid to nonprofit private schools may be based on an average of such funds received by all such schools within a State; (6) a State agency or Regional Office may waive the 25 percent matching requirement in the case of any especially needy school without a food service program; (7) all children from families whose income is at or below the family income guidelines prescribed by the State agencies or Food and Nutritton Service Regional Offices shall be served free meals; (8) the standards for determining eligibility for free or reduced price meals shall be based on family size and income only; (9) State agencies or Food and Nutrition Service Regional Offices shall establish family-size income standards for schools under their jurisdictions at levels which are not less than those prescribed by the Secretary and, in the case of free meals, are not more than 25 percent above the Secretary's poverty scale and, in the case of reduced price meals, are not more than 50 percent above such poverty scale.

Since these changes in the regulations are largely nondiscretionary being principally required by Public Law 92-433, the Department does not believe that the proposed rule making and public participation procedure are necessary. Furthermore, since these changes are effective for the entire fiscal year 1973, State agencies and schools must know of the changes as soon as possible so as to give them adequate time to come into conformance with the new rules. It is expected that a notice of proposed rule making will be issued in the near future with respect to other amendments to the regulations required as a result of Public Law 92-433, or otherwise determined to be appropriate.

The amendments are as follows:

PART 210—NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

1. In § 210.4, paragraph (f) is revised to read:

§ 210.4 Apportionment of funds to States.

* * * * *

(f) Any section 32 funds made available for general cash-for-food assistance during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1973, shall be distributed to State agencies, and to FNSRO's where applicable, in the amount of 8 cents for each Type A lunch served during such fiscal year in participating schools within the State which is in excess of the number of Type A lunches which can be financed at an average rate of 8 cents for such fiscal year from the general cash-for-food assistance funds made available to the State agencies, or FNSRO's where applicable, under the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (c) of this section.

* * * * *

§ 210.6 [Amended]

In § 210.6, paragraph (b) is amended by inserting the words "for the preceding year" after the words "matching requirement" wherever they occur.

PART 220—SCHOOL BREAKFAST AND NONFOOD ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS STATE ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

3. In § 220.7, paragraphs (b) and (c) are revised to read as follows:

§ 220.7 Requirements for participation.

* * * * *

(b) Applications shall include the name and address of the school food authority and of each school in which the school breakfast program will be operated, and the following information with respect to each such school: (1) The planned beginning date of breakfast service under the program; (2) the estimated average daily enrollment; (3) the full breakfast price to be charged and the reduced price to be charged children eligible for reduced price breakfasts; and (4) if the school is not participating in the National School Lunch Program, the estimated number of children in such school who will be eligible for free and reduced price breakfasts under the eligibility standards proposed in the free and reduced price policy statement submitted in accordance with Part 245 of this chapter.

(c) Within the funds available to them, State agencies, or FNSRO's where applicable, shall approve for participation in the School Breakfast Program any school making application and agreeing to carry out the program in accordance with this part. State agencies, or FNSRO's where applicable, have a positive obligation, however, to extend the benefits of the School Breakfast Program to children attending schools in areas where poor economic conditions exist.

* * * * *

4. In § 220.12, paragraph (a) is revised, paragraph (a–1) is added, and paragraphs (b) and (c) are revised as follows:

§ 220.12 Apportionment of funds to States.

(a) Fifty per centum of any Federal funds appropriated for nonfood assistance under section 5 of the Act shall be apportioned among the States during each fiscal year on the basis of the ratio that the number of lunches, meeting the meal requirements set forth in § 210.10 of this part, served in each State in the preceding fiscal year for which the Secretary determines data are available at the time such funds are apportioned bears to the total number of such lunches served in all States in such preceding fiscal year. The remaining 50 per centum of Federal funds appropriated for nonfood assistance shall be apportioned to schools without a food service in accordance with paragraph (a–1) of this section.

(a–1) Fifty per centum of the funds appropriated for nonfood assistance under section 5 of the Act shall be apportioned to each State on the basis of the ratio of the number of children enrolled in schools without a food service in such State for the latest fiscal year for which the Secretary determines data are available at the time such funds are apportioned to the number of children enrolled in schools without a food service in all States in such fiscal year. All funds apportioned under this paragraph shall be used exclusively for schools without a food service.

(b) If any State agency cannot use all the funds apportioned to it under paragraph (a) or (a–1) of this section, it shall release such funds to the Department for reapportionment among the remaining States, in the manner and for the purposes of the respective initial apportionments: Provided, however, That no further apportionment shall be made if the Department determines that the amount of such funds is too small to make a further apportionment.

(c) A share of the Nonfood Assistance Program funds apportioned to any State in accordance with paragraphs (a) and (a–1) of this section shall be withheld by FNS for the nonprofit private schools of that State if the State agency is prohibited by law from administering the Nonfood Assistance Program with respect to such schools. The amount withheld from the funds apportioned under paragraph (a) shall bear the same ratio to such apportioned funds as the number of lunches meeting the requirements of § 210.10 served in nonprofit private schools in such State in the latest preceding year for which the Secretary determines data are available at the time such funds are withheld bears to the total number of such lunches served in all schools within such State in such preceding fiscal year. The amount withheld under paragraph (a–1) of this section shall bear the same ratio to such funds as the number of children enrolled in nonprofit private schools without a food service in such State for the latest fiscal year for which the Secretary determines data are available at the time such funds are withheld bears to the total number of children enrolled in all schools without a food service in such State in such fiscal year.

5. In § 220.14, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 220.14 Matching of funds.

(a) During any fiscal year, payments made by FNS to each State agency and payments made by FNSRO to the school food authorities of any nonprofit private school shall be upon the condition that at least one-fourth of the costs of the equipment furnished shall be borne from sources within the State: Provided, however, That funds used to assist schools without a food service which are determined by the State agency or FNSRO to be especially needy need not be so matched. Payments made by FNS to State agencies may be matched either by the recipient school food authority or from other State or local sources and payments by FNSRO to nonprofit private school food authorities may be matched either by the recipient school food authorities or from other funds available to nonprofit private schools within the State.

* * * * *

§ 220.16 [Amended]

6. In § 220.16 paragraph (b) is amended to delete the proviso at the end thereof and subparagraph (4) of paragraph (c) is revoked.

7. Section 220.17 is revised to read as follows:

§ 220.17 Reimbursement payments.

The amount of reimbursement payment made to any school food authority shall not exceed the total cost of the equipment acquired, including transportation and installation charges. The total amount of the reimbursement payments made to all school food authorities in each State, except school food authorities of schools without a food service which are determined to be especially needy, shall not exceed three-fourths of the total cost of the equipment acquired, including transportation and installation charges.

PART 245—DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY FOR FREE OR REDUCED PRICE MEALS

8. The heading of Part 245 is revised to read as set forth above.

9. In § 245.3, paragraphs (a) and (b) are revised and a new paragraph (c) is added as follows:

§ 245.3 Eligibility standards for free and reduced price meals.

(a) Each State agency, or FNSRO where applicable, shall at the beginning of each fiscal year announce family-size income standards to be used by school food authorities of schools under the jurisdiction of such State agency, or FNSRO where applicable, in making eligibility determinations for free or reduced price meals. Such family-size income standards for free meals shall in no event be set at less than the income poverty guidelines prescribed by the Secretary for such fiscal year, and shall not be more than 25 per centum above such income poverty guidelines. Such family-size income standards for reduced price meals shall not be set at more than 50 per centum above such income poverty guidelines. Within these limits, the State agency, or FNSRO where applicable, may prescribe a single set of family-size income standards or it may prescribe a range of income standards.

(b) Each school food authority shall establish standards of eligibility for free meals, and, if the school food authority elects to serve reduced-price meals, it shall establish standards of eligibility for reduced price meals. The school food authority's standards of eligibility shall be in conformity with the family-size income standards prescribed by the State agency, or FNSRO where applicable, under paragraph (a) of this section: Provided, however, That any school food authority which had in effect standards of eligibility for free or reduced price meals prior to July 1, 1972, which are more liberal than the standards of eligibility so determined, may use such more liberal standards for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1973. Each school food authority shall serve free meals to all children eligible therefor under its standards of eligibility.

(c) The school food authority's standards of eligibility shall be a part of the policy statement required under § 245.10, and shall be publicly announced in accordance with the provisions of § 245.5. Such standards shall: (1) Specify the family-size income criteria to be used for free meals, and for reduced price meals if appropriate; (2) be applicable to all schools participating in the National School Lunch Program or the School Breakfast Program and to commodity only schools under the jurisdiction of the school food authority; and (3) provide that all children from a family meeting the eligibility standards and attending any schools under the jurisdiction of the school food authority shall be provided the same benefits. For schools which participate in both the National School Lunch Program under Part 210 of this chapter and the School Breakfast Program under Part 220 of this chapter, the same set of criteria shall be applied so that the children who are eligible for a free lunch shall be eligible for a free breakfast and children who are eligible for a reduced price lunch shall be eligible for a reduced price breakfast.

Effective date. These amendments shall be effective upon publication (11–2–72), except that State educational agencies, or FNSROs where applicable, and school food authorities under their jurisdiction shall, to the maximum extent practicable, conform to the provisions of § 245.3 at the earliest possible date, but in no event later than January 1, 1973.

Dated: October 30, 1972.

RICHARD E. LYNG,
Assistant Secretary.

PART 987—DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN RIVERSIDE COUNTY, CALIF.

Administrative Rules; Grade and Size Regulations

Notice was published in the September 27, 1972, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 20178) regarding a proposal to revise Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations (7 CFR 987.100–987.174; 37 F.R. 1159, 5282, 6566, 6729, 7873, and 10067), Subpart—Grade and Size Regulations (7 CFR 987.202–987.219; 36 F.R. 23894; 37 F.R. 4900, 5282, 6729, 7874, and 10067), and Subpart—Market Development (7 CFR 987.401). The subparts are operative pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 987, as amended (7 CFR Part 987), regulating the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Riverside County, Calif. The amended marketing agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The proposal was based on a unanimous recommendation of the California Date Administrative Committee.

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments with respect to the proposal. One such submission was received from the California Date Administrative Committee in which it suggested minor changes to correct editorial references and for clarification purposes.

Section 987.145(d) would prescribe a procedure for transferring the quantity of marketable dates disposed of by a handler in excess of his withholding obligation of a crop year to another handler for credit against that handler's withholding obligation for that crop year. Such transfers were authorized by the August 12, 1971, amendment of the marketing agreement and order. In addition, it would increase the quantity of such excess disposition which a handler may carry over into the succeeding crop year for credit against his withholding obligation in that crop year.

Date movement in the United States and to Canada during the months preceding Christmas (i.e., October–December) is mostly of packaged whole or pitted dates. When volume regulations are in effect during a crop year, handlers incur withholding obligations based on the quantities of dates they have inspected and certified for such movement. Under the order, disposition of dates in export and product outlets are credited against handlers' withholding obligations. However, most exports occur in August and September, and the bulk of product quality date sales occur after Christmas. Hence, early season withholding obligations could prevent handlers from taking full advantage of holiday packaged demand. Increasing the quantity of excess disposition which handlers may carry over into the succeeding crop year for credit against their withholding obligations in that crop year would allow them to ship dates freely during the months preceding Christmas and to take full advantage of the active holiday market.

Procedures on the use of field-run and graded dates in deferring handlers' withholding obligations would be prescribed in § 987.145 (a)(5) and (e). Section 987.45(e) of the order authorizes deferment of the withholding obligation by setting aside graded dates. Section 987.45 (f) authorizes handlers to meet any part or all of their withholding obligations by setting aside field-run dates or by disposing of field-run dates in outlets for utility and cull dates. The prescribed procedures would provide for deferral of handlers' withholding obligations by setting aside field-run dates until: (1) Handlers have the set-aside field-run dates inspected and certified as marketable dates for withholding or disposition; or (2) handlers can purchase credits for excess disposition from other handlers.

Section 987.152(b)(2) would authorize donations of restricted and other marketable dates by handlers to needy persons, prisoners, or Indians on reservations, and such dispositions would be used in meeting handlers' withholding obligations. Such donations would be under safeguards required by the committee to assure consumption in such outlets.

Section 987.402 would authorize utility dates to be exported to Mexico and to be disposed of by handlers for use, or used by them, in the production of products for human consumption in the form of rings, chunks, pieces, butter, paste, macerated dates, and table syrup. This authorization replaces a similar authorization which, except for the use of utility dates in the production of table syrup, terminated September 30, 1972. Current date supply estimates indicate that the marketable supply of dates for products for human consumption and for export to Mexico will not be adequate for sales needs during the 1972–73 crop year, especially in view of very favorable demand in domestic and export outlets. Hence, the use of utility dates in products for human consumption in addition to table syrup and for export to Mexico should be continued.

Other provision changes involve simplification of identification and marking requirements for containers; clarifying the reporting requirements on sales of products dates between handlers; increasing the outlets for dates for further processing; updating surplus pool provisions; and removal of the requirement that exports must move directly from the handler to the country of destination.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including that in the notice, the recommendation of the committee and the written comment received from it pursuant to this notice, and other available information, it is hereby found that the revision of Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations (7 CFR 987.100–987.174; 37 F.R. 1159, 5282, 6566, 6729, 7873, and 10067), Subpart—Grade and Size Regulations (7 CFR 987.202–987.219; 36 F.R. 23894; 37 F.R. 4900, 5282, 6729, 7874, and 10067), and Subpart—Market Development (7 CFR 987.401) as proposed in the September 27, 1972, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 20178) will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Therefore, the revision of said subparts as proposed in said notice is hereby adopted, subject to the following changes:

1. In § 987.141, paragraph "§ 987.202 (c)" is changed to "§ 987.202(d)".

2. In the last sentence of subparagraph (1) of § 987.145(a), the word "its" is changed to "their".

3. The third and fourth sentences of § 987.145(a)(4) are deleted and the following sentence is substituted in lieu thereof: "Utility dates permitted to be used in products shall be similarly stored and marked, and the word 'Utility' in lieu of 'Products' shall be marked on containers of utility dates shipped outside the area of production."

4. In the first sentence of § 987.145(c), the words "upon demand" are deleted, and insert "Such" at the beginning of the third sentence thereof.

5. In § 987.145(d), the proviso is revised to read as follows: "Provided, That the excess disposition exceeds 199 pounds, but in no event shall the quantity credited exceed 40 percent of the handler's withholding obligation of the crop year in which the excess disposition occurred and 100 percent of the withholding obligation incurred by him during October through December of the crop year following the crop year in which such excess disposition occurred."

6. In the last sentence of § 987.145(d), the words "such crediting or" are added immediately after the word "All".

7. In the last sentence of § 987.145(e), paragraph "§ 987.202(c)" is changed to "§ 987.202(d)".

8. In § 987.147(a), the word "differ" is changed to "differs".

9. In § 987.147(b), item No. (6) is changed to read as follows: "if the delivery is directly to a buyer's truck, the driver, truck, and buyer."

10. In §987.402(a), a comma is inserted between the words "butter" and "paste".

It is further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) and for making this action effective at the time hereinafter provided in that: (1) This action revises various subparts operative pursuant to the marketing agreement and order for California dates, and such revision are more reflective of current industry practices; (2) the revision of such subparts is to facilitate operations under, administration of, and compliance with, said marketing agreement and order program; (3) the 1972–73 crop year began October 1, 1972; (4) the revised subparts should be applicable to as much of the 1972–73 operations as possible, and therefore should become effective promptly; (5) this action provides for use of utility dates for products and export requirements, and handlers have indicated the need to use utility dates in such outlets during the 1972–73 crop year; and (6) this action should become effective promptly in order to enable handlers to use utility dates in such outlets as soon as possible.

Dated October 27, 1972, to become effective November 3, 1972.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,
Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

Subpart—Administrative Rules

DEFINITIONS

§ 987.101 Lot.

"Lot" means the aggregate quantity of dates of the same variety, style, type and grade in like containers with like identification either (a) packed as a continuous production segment, or (b) offered for inspection as a shipping, storage, or other unit.

§ 987.102 Lot number.

"Lot number" is synonymous with code and means a combination of letters or numbers, or both, acceptable to the Committee, showing at least the date of packing, the variety, and the outlet category of the dates. The combination of letters or numbers, or both, imprinted on the containers shall differ from those of any other lot coded within a 3-year period.

§ 987.103 Utility dates.

The term "utility dates" is synonymous with the term "substandard dates" and means dates of a grade lower than any category of restricted dates but higher than cull dates.

INSPECTION

§ 987.141 Inspection and certification.

(a) Each handler shall furnish, or cause the inspection service to furnish, to the committee a copy of the inspection certificate issued to him on each lot of dates handled, exported, or used in products, and such certificate shall contain at least the following information: (1) The date of inspection; (2) the name of the handler; (3) a lot number and the applicable outlet category set forth in § 987.145; (4) the variety and weight of the dates in the lot; (5) the number and type of containers in the lot; and (6) if the dates (i) are other than field-run dates, a certification as to the grade of the dates and whether they meet the grade and size regulations prescribed for the outlet, or (ii) are field-run dates, a certification showing the percentage, by weight, of sound dates in the lot, as prescribed in § 987.202(d).

VOLUME REGULATION

(a) Identification of dates. (1) General. Prior to applying the markings required by this paragraph, each handler shall remove or delete from each container all former identifying marks which conflict with those applicable to the dates currently in the container. Dates of each outlet category shall be held, stored, or shipped in a manner to preserve their identity.

(2) Free dates. Prior to or at the time of inspecting free dates (i.e., dates packed for handling or dates for further processing) each handler shall mark all shipping and storage containers (not including subcontainers) with his name or that of the distributor for whom the handler is packing, and the lot number. These markings shall be legible and not less than five-sixteenths (5/16) inch in height on containers exceeding 5 pounds net weight and not less than one-eighth (1/8) inch in height on smaller containers. If the dates are certified as dates packed for handling, the handler shall mark, under the supervision of the inspection service, each container with the date of inspection, the name or insignia of the inspection service, and the letters "DAC." If the dates are certified as dates for further processing and are to be removed from the place of inspection, each container shall be marked with the letters "FP." If the dates certified for further processing are to be stored at the place where inspected, they shall be stored separate from all other outlet categories of dates.

(3) Restricted and other marketable dates for export. Prior to or at the time of inspecting restricted and other marketable dates for export, each handler shall mark all shipping and storage containers (not including subcontainers) with his name or that of the exporting firm, and the lot number. Such markings shall be legible and not less than five-sixteenths (5/16) inch in height on containers exceeding 5 pounds net weight and not less than one-eighth (1/8) inch in height on smaller containers. If the dates are certified as meeting the grade and size requirements for export to approved countries other than Mexico (including field-run dates with cull dates removed and dates for further processing), the dates shall be marked "EXPORT." If the dates have been packed for export to Mexico, inspected and certified as meeting the grade and size requirements for export to Mexico, the dates shall be marked "Export MEXICO." However, the words "EXPORT MEXICO" shall be in letters not less than three-fourths (3/4) inch in height on containers exceeding 5 pounds net weight and not less than one-eighth (1/8) inch in height on smaller containers. Dates certified as dates packed for handling and marked "DAC," and dates certified for further processing and marked "FP," may be exported without change of marking.

(4) Products. Dates inspected and certified as meeting the grade and size requirements for products shall be stored as a unit marked "RESTRICTED." In addition, each container in such unit shall be marked with the lot number, and if for shipment outside the area of production with the word "PRODUCTS," in letter size not less than five-sixteenths (5/16) inch in height on containers exceeding 5 pounds net weight and not less than one-eighth (1/8) inch in height on smaller containers. Utility dates permitted to be used in products shall be similarly stored and marked, and the word "Utility" in lieu of "Products" shall be marked on containers of utility dates shipped outside the area of production. The Committee may waive the marking of individual containers whenever a handler, or an approved date product manufacturer, establishes and utilizes a procedure that maintains the identity of the lot and assures that the dates certified for products are used in products.

(5) Dates for deferment of withholding. A handler may defer his certification and disposition of restricted dates and pledge graded or field-run dates against a future satisfaction of withholding in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section: Provided, That he stores the pledged dates as a unit in a specific location and identifies the unit as "RESTRICTED" and as "GRADED" or "FIELD-RUN" and as to the number of containers, the date of setaside, and whether the dates have been inspected.

(b) Change of outlet. A handler may change the outlet category for any lot of certified dates: Provided, That prior to such change, the handler files a completed CDAC Form No. 1(a) and a new inspection certificate with the Committee. If the grade and size requirements of the new outlet category are the same as or below the requirements of the outlet category previously intended, only a condition inspection is required. If the grade and size requirements of the new outlet category are greater, a complete inspection is required and the handler shall change the marking on the containers to conform with the identification requirements prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for the new outlet.

(c) Free dates for further processing. In accordance with § 987.45(c), withholding and assessment obligations on free dates certified for further processing shall be met on the basis of the quantity of such dates inspected and certified as meeting the applicable grade and size requirements. However, if such dates are subsequently processed and packed within the area of production, the withholding and assessment obligations shall be adjusted to reflect any increase in weight. Such free dates certified for further processing shall not be shipped out of the area of production except to persons in the United States capable of processing and packing the dates and having them certified as dates packed for handling, or to such specialty outlets as the Committee may exempt from any further required processing pursuant to § 987.52.

(d) Satisfying the withholding obligation. For any variety of dates for which free and restricted percentages have been established, the Committee shall credit the quantity of that variety a handler has certified as EXPORT, EXPORT MEXICO, or PRODUCTS, including DAC or FP dates recertified for disposition in such outlet categories, against his withholding obligation for such variety, but not in excess of such obligation. Disposition of marketable dates in restricted outlets in excess of a handler's withholding obligation may be: (1) Transferred pursuant to § 987.45 upon such handler filing a completed CDAC Form No. 14 with the Committee, or (2) credited to the handler's withholding obligation of the following crop year: Provided, That the excess disposition exceeds 199 pounds, but in no event shall the quantity credited exceed 40 percent of the handler's withholding obligation of the crop year in which the excess disposition occurred and 100 percent of the withholding obligation incurred by him during October through December of the crop year following the crop year in which such excess disposition occurred. All such crediting or accumulation shall be contingent upon the Committee receiving, in due course, confirmation that the dates were disposed of in eligible restricted outlets.

(e) Deferring the withholding obligation. Any handler may defer any amount of his certification and withholding or disposition of restricted dates by setting aside and pledging a comparable volume of graded or field-run dates as a surety that he will meet this withholding obligation. Such deferment shall not be effective until the handler files with the Committee its CDAC Form No. 12 to set aside graded dates or CDAC Form No. 13 to set aside field-run dates (whereby he agrees to the conditions set forth in § 987.45) and until he has set aside and identified the dates as required by subparagraph (5) of paragraph (a) of this section. In the event a handler sets aside field-run dates or disposes of them in outlets prescribed in or pursuant to § 987.56 to obtain withholding credit for the sound date portion, the field-run dates shall meet the requirements prescribed in § 987.202(d) for eligible field-run dates, as determined by the inspection service.

(f) Whole equivalent of pitted dates. When pitted dates are certified or appear in sales reports or inventories, their whole date equivalent weight shall be determined by dividing the weight of the pitted dates by 0.875.

SURPLUS

(a) General. Surplus dates delivered to the Committee pursuant to § 987.47 shall be pooled for sale to livestock feeders, distillers, or manufacturers of inedible products: Provided, That if any portion of the deliveries differs sufficiently to require separate handling, and earn a different average return, such portion shall be handled as a separate pool. The income from sale of surplus, after deduction of committee expenses, shall be paid to the respective equity holders in the pool or pools, or to their assignees, on the basis of the weight of dates each delivered.

(b) Delivery. The Committee may refuse delivery of any surplus dates which it determines are excessively sour, fermented, or adulterated by palm debris, rocks, paper, wood, plastic liners, or other foreign material. If the Committee refuses delivery, the deliverer shall be permitted to clean such dates sufficiently to make them acceptable to the Committee. The weight of each accepted delivery shall be that determined by a public weightmaster or, in the absence of such weight, that determined by the Committee on the basis of the number and size of the containers used in the delivery. Upon delivery of surplus dates to the Committee, the deliverer, or a designee of the Committee shall execute CDAC Form SP-1, Delivery Manifest, showing: (1) The person to receive payment of the net proceeds for the surplus, (2) the date and place of loading, (3) if field surplus, the location and owner of the garden, (4) the type and number of containers loaded or dumped, (5) the net weight of the load, and (6) if the delivery is directly to a buyer's truck, the driver, truck and buyer.

QUALIFICATION TO REGULATION

§ 987.151 Interhandler transfers.

When any handler transfers dates, other than dates certified for products, to another handler, the selling handler shall promptly notify the Committee by filing with it a completed CDAC Form No. 1 and shall show the name and address of the transferring or selling handler and of the receiving or buying handler, the variety and processed category or classification of the dates, the lot number and inspection certificate number on any lot of packed and certified dates, the number and type of containers, the net weight of the transferred dates, and if applicable, the transferring handler's statement on assuming the withholding and assessment obligation. A transfer of products dates between handlers shall be reported as a disposition by the selling handler filing with the Committee a completed CDAC Form No. 8.

§ 987.152 Exemption from regulations.

(a) Producer exemption. The Committee may permit any producer to sell dates of his own production free of the requirements of §§ 987.41, 987.45, 987.48, and 987.72 when sold directly to consumers through a roadside stand or date shop owned or operated by him within 25 miles of the city limits of Indio, Calif., or through shipments by parcel post or express. Permission to so sell dates shall be granted only upon the producer filing with the Committee a completed CDAC Form No. 9 wherein the producer describes how he plans to sell and agrees to sell only dates of free date quality of his own production in his direct sales and to report his sales. If the producer fails to comply with his agreement the Committee may revoke any or all exemptions granted the producer.

(b) Handler exemptions. (1) Specialty sales. The Committee may permit any handler to sell to health food stores or health food outlets, dates which meet the minimum grade requirements for free dates except for moisture. It may permit any handler to sell to a candy manufacturer hand-pitted dates which meet the minimum grade requirements for free dates except for size or damage due to cutting and pitting. Also, it may permit any handler to sell hand-layered dates in tin, wood, plastic, or other type of container exempt from §§ 987.41(a) and 987.48, or to make shipments by common carrier of up to 150 pounds to any one purchaser in any one day exempt from the provisions of § 987.41 (a): Provided, That the hand-layered dates or the shipment to a single purchaser in any one day have been packed from dates certified as meeting the minimum grade requirements for free dates and have not been commingled with other dates. Permission to use these exemptions shall be granted only upon the handler filing with the Committee its CDAC Form No. 10 wherein he describes how he plans to sell, and agrees to sell only specific dates and to report such sales.

(2) Donations. Except as provided in §§ 987.54 and 987.55, the Committee may permit any handler to dispose of restricted or other marketable dates by donation to needy persons, prisoners, or Indians on reservations, but such donations shall be under such safeguards as the Committee may require to assure consumption in these outlets.

(3) Sales not exempt. Except as provided in this section, no exemption shall be granted on sales by producers or handlers to truckers, dealers, retail stores, or other persons or firms engaged in buying dates for resale.

DISPOSITION OF OTHER THAN FREE DATES

§ 987.155 Outlets for restricted and other marketable dates.

(a) General. Except as provided in § 987.156, no person shall ship out of the area of production any dates which are not free dates except that restricted and other marketable dates meeting the grade and size requirements for their outlet may be shipped into export, or to an exporting firm committed to export the dates, or to a person on the Committee's list of approved date product manufacturers who is acquiring such dates solely for use in an eligible product(s).

(b) Export. All countries other than Canada are approved as countries to which restricted and other marketable dates may be exported. However, no such dates shall be exported until they have been inspected and certified as meeting either the effective grade and size requirements for dates packed for handling (DAC's), or the applicable grade, size, or container requirements prescribed for export of specific categories of dates to specified countries, and until the shipping containers in each lot have been identified as prescribed in § 987.145 (a) and (b). Withholding credit for such exports shall be granted upon the Committee receiving notification thereof from the inspection service. Such credit shall be contingent upon the committee receiving in due course a copy of the on-board bill of lading or other documentary evidence satisfactory to the Committee. Furthermore, no dates shall be exported to Mexico until the handler obtains from the importer or trucker of each lot a certification to the Committee and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, on CDAC Form No. 11(a) which shall be submitted to the Committee, that such dates will not reenter the United States or be shipped to Canada. The form shall show the identity of the handler, the trucker, the importer, the destination of the dates, and the location of the border crossing station. One copy of the form shall be surrendered to the U.S. Customs Service at the border crossing station.

(c) Products. Restricted and other marketable dates which have been inspected and certified as meeting not less than the minimum requirements for restricted dates for products, may be used by a handler in such products as rings, chunks, pieces, butter, paste, camerated dates, table syrup, or other products which the Committee finds will be appropriate and permit the consumption of dates in other than their whole or pitted form. In lieu of the handler using such dates in products, he may sell them for use by any person or firm on the Committee's list of approved date product manufacturers.

§ 987.156 Utility and cull dates.

(a) Utility dates. Utility dates may be disposed of without inspection in any crop year in which they are surplus pursuant to § 987.47. However, if use of such dates is authorized in products for human consumption or export, they shall be inspected and certified in accordance with § 987.56 prior to such usage as being of utility grade.

(b) Cull dates. All cull dates are surplus and shall be disposed of pursuant to § 987.47.

V 37 - 212 2 NOV 72 XUM

(c) Deteriorated dates. Any marketable dates which have deteriorated in quality so that they are either utility dates or cull dates may be disposed of only in the applicable outlets for such dates unless they are reconditioned to marketable quality and the lot, or a portion thereof, is recertified as marketable dates.

(d) Unidentified dates. If a handler loses the identity of any lot of dates previously inspected and certified as marketable dates, the certification as to such quality is void.

§ 987.157 Approved Date Product Manufacturers.

Any date handler or other person with facilities for converting dates into products may apply to the Committee, by filing CDAC Form No. 3, for listing as an approved date product manufacturer. The applicant shall indicate on such form the products he intends to make, the quantity of dates he may use, and the location of his facilities. In addition, as a condition of approval, the applicant shall agree on such form not to use any of the products dates for sale as whole or pitted dates, to file a report of the disposition of each lot on the Committee's Form No. 8, and to file an annual usage and inventory report on CDAC Form No. 4. The Committee shall approve or disapprove each such application on the basis of the information furnished or its own investigation, and may revoke any approval for cause. The name and address of all approved manufacturers shall be placed on a list and made available to interested persons.

§ 987.159 Substitution.

Any handler may, under the direction and supervision of the Committee or the inspection service, substitute for any quantity of restricted dates held by him a like quantity of dates of the same or more recent year's production which have been certified and identified as being of the same restricted outlet category.

REPORTS AND RECORDS

§ 987.161 Handler carryover.

Each handler shall file with the Committee, as required in § 987.61, a report of his carryover on CDAC Form No. 5. This report shall show, by variety, (a) the quantity of dates certified DAC and held within and outside the area, and (b) the quantity of dates held within the area certified for further processing, withheld to satisfy or defer a withholding obligation, graded but not certified, and as field-run dates, segregated as to outlet category.

§ 987.162 Handler acquisition and disposition.

Each handler shall file with the Committee by the 10th of each month, on CDAC Form No. 6, a report for the preceding month of his field-run acquisitions, his free date shipments, his purchases from other handlers of free, graded and field-run dates, and his dispositions in each outlet category.

§ 987.164 Disposition of products dates or utility dates.

Each handler shall file with the Committee a completed CDAC Form No. 8 showing the disposition of each lot of dates certified as products dates or utility dates. The report shall identify the lot, show the outlet, the number of containers, and the net weight of the dates. If such dates are sold to an approved date product manufacturer, a copy of the completed form shall be signed and dated by the manufacturer and returned to the Committee. If the lot was certified as products dates and exported to Mexico, the handler shall obtain a completed CDAC Form No. 11(a) from the buyer and submit this form, together with the completed CDAC Form No. 8, to the Committee.

§ 987.165 Other reports.

(a) Exempt sales. Each handler shall file with the Committee, a completed CDAC Form No. 2 showing the quantity and variety of dates sold under exemption during the crop year. The report shall be filed upon the completion of such sales or promptly after the end of the crop year.

(b) Products. Each approved date product manufacturer shall file with the Committee a completed CBAC Form No. 4 showing his beginning and ending inventories of dates for products, the quantity received during the crop year, the quantity used, the type and quantity of products manufactured, and his year-end inventory of products. This report shall be filed promptly after the end of each crop year.

§ 987.168 Handler records.

Each handler shall establish and maintain for not less than 2 years after the end of the crop year of record, the following records:

(a) For grower deliveries of dates, the name of each grower, the varieties delivered and the net weight of each variety;

(b) For shipments of dates, the variety, type of pack, net weight and destination or name and address of the person to whom each shipment was sent;

(c) If different from shipments, the variety, type of pack, net weight and purchaser of each quantity of dates sold; and

(d) Manifests, invoices, weight certificates, inventory tabulations, or any other documents necessary to prepare, file, or substantiate the reports required to be filed with the Committee.

Subpart—Grade and Size Regulations

§ 987.202 Other minimum standards.

(a) General. In lieu of the minimum standards of quality prescribed in § 987.39, the minimum standards for all whole or pitted dates handled shall be the requirements of U.S. Grade C or, if for further processing, U.S. Grade C (dry) of the effective U.S. Standards for Grades of Dates (§§ 52.1001–52.1011 of this title), except that mashing and mechanical injury not affecting eating quality shall not be considered in determining the defect factor.

(b) Free dates. The minimum standards prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section shall be applicable to all varieties of whole or pitted dates handled to meet the trade demand of the United States and Canada unless and until superseded by any additional grade regulations prescribed in § 987.203(a).

(c) Other marketable dates. The minimum standards prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section shall be applicable to all dates withheld to meet a withholding obligation or for disposition as restricted or other marketable dates pursuant to § 987.55 as either EXPORT, EXPORT MEXICO, or PRODUCTS unless and until superseded by any additional grade regulations prescribed in § 987.203(b).

(d) Field-run dates. For the purpose of deferring or meeting any part or all of a withholding obligation pursuant to § 987.45(f), the field-run dates set aside shall consist of at least 70 percent, by weight, of sound dates but may contain 10 percent, by weight of cull dates of which not more than 5 percent may be hidden culls—i.e., dates with internal defects including souring, mold, fermentation, insect infestation, or foreign material. Whenever field-run dates of any variety are authorized for export to any country, each lot shall consist of at least 85 percent, by weight, of sound dates. "Sound dates" means individual dates which are at least U.S. Grade C in character and are free of the defects—other than those removable by washing—scored to determine the point requirement applicable to their intended destination.

§ 987.203 Additional grade regulations.

(a) Free dates. All varieties of whole and pitted dates, other than dates for further processing, handled to meet the trade demand of the United States and Canada shall meet the requirements of U.S. Grade B, except that up to 25 percent, by weight, of the dates may possess semidry or dry calyx ends but not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the dates may possess dry calyx ends. If the dates are for further processing, the requirements of U.S. Grade B (dry) shall apply.

(b) Export dates. Restricted and other marketable dates of all varieties for export pursuant to §§ 987.55 and 987.155 to countries other than Mexico and identified as EXPORT, shall meet the requirements of U.S. Grade C, and dates for further processing for export pursuant to § 987.403, shall except for defects removable by washing, meet the requirements of U.S. Grade C (dry): Provided, That Deglet Noor dates shall score not less than 31 points for character and 24 points for absence of defects but up to 40 percent, by weight, of the dates may be damaged by broken skin.

§ 987.204 Size regulations.

(a) Free dates. Whole dates of the Deglet Noor variety shall not be handled to meet the trade demand of the United States and Canada unless the individual dates in the samples from the lot weigh at least 6.5 grams but up to 10 percent, by weight, may weigh less than 6.5 grams. Pitted Deglet Noor dates shall not be handled to meet such trade demand unless the individual dates weigh at least 5.6 grams but up to 10 percent, by weight, may weigh less.

(b) Uniformity of size. The requirements of this section are in addition to, and do not supersede, the requirements as to uniformity of size of the grade standards prescribed by this part.

SUBPART—MARKET DETERMINATIONS

§ 987.401 Major marketing promotion.

A major marketing promotion program is one requiring the expenditure of more than $500 of Committee funds.

§ 987.402 Utility date outlets.

(a) Specified product outlets. Utility dates of any variety inspected and certified in accordance with § 987.56 may be disposed of by handlers for use, or used by them, in the production of table syrup, rings, chunks, pieces, butter, paste, or macerated dates.

(b) Specified export outlets. Utility dates of any variety inspected and certified in accordance with § 987.56 may be exported to Mexico.

§ 987.403 Further processing exports.

Restricted and other marketable dates certified as meeting the then current grade requirements in § 987.203(b) for dates for further processing, may be exported (a) to the following designated date producing and processing countries of North Africa: Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Egypt, and Sudan, and (b) to the following designated date processing and consuming countries north of the Mediterranean Sea: Spain, France, Belgium, West Germany, Italy, and Greece. Such additional date producing and processing and date processing and consuming countries may from time to time be similarly designated, after which such certified dates may be exported to such countries.

Title 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Chapter II—Federal Reserve System

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

PART 265—RULES REGARDING DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

Salaries of Federal Reserve Bank Officers

In order to delegate to the Federal Reserve Banks authority to set salaries of certain Federal Reserve Bank officers, within certain ranges and guidelines, the Board of Governors amends § 265.2(f) of its Rules Regarding Delegation of Authority as follows: The introductory text of paragraph (f) is revised and a new subparagraph (25) is added to paragraph (f):

§ 265.2 Specific functions delegated to Board employees and Federal Reserve Banks.

* * * * *

(f) Each Federal Reserve Bank is authorized, as to member banks or other indicated organizations headquartered in its district, or under subparagraph (25) of this paragraph, as to its officers:

* * * * *

(25) To set the salaries of its officers below the level of Senior Vice Presidents (Salary Group A), excluding the General Auditor, within officer salary ranges approved and guidelines subsequently issued by the Board of Governors.

* * * * *

The provisions of section 553 of title 5, United States Code, relating to notice and public participation, were not followed in connection with the adoption of this amendment because the rules contained therein are procedural in nature and accordingly do not constitute substantive rules subject to the requirements of such section.

Effective date. This amendment is effective January 1, 1973.

By order of the Board of Governors, October 18, 1972.

[SEAL] MICHAEL A. GREENSPAN,
Assistant Secretary of the Board.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

Correction

In F.R. Doc. 72-18034 appearing on page 22729 of the issue for Saturday, October 21, 1972, the latitude designation in the seventh line from the end of the description of the transition area, now reading "29°21'31'", should read "29°21'35'".

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airway Segments

On August 29, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making (NPRM) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 17493) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter V-100 between Rockford, Ill., and Northbrook, Ill., to overlie Woodstock Intersection and V-9 southwest of Milwaukee, Wis., to realine this airway approximately 4 miles to the west of its present location.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., January 4, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

Section 71.123 (37 F.R. 2009) is amended as follows:

a. In V-9 "Naperville, Ill.; INT Naperville 317° and Milwaukee, Wis., 198° radials;" is deleted and "Naperville, Ill.; INT Naperville 317° and Milwaukee, Wis., 205° radials;" is substitued therefor.

b. In V-100 "Rockford, Ill.; INT Rockford 093° and Northbrook, Ill., 270° radials;" is deleted and "Rockford, Ill.; INT Rockford 079° and Northbrook, Ill., 292° radials;" is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on October 26, 1972.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration to "Federal Register" Document

On September 15, 1972, "Federal Register" Document No. 72-15722 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 18715) which amends parts 71 and 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, effective 0901 G.m.t., November 9, 1972, by redesignating VOR Federal airways and Jet Route segments effected by the relocation of the Austin, Tex., VORTAC. An additional 1-degree alinement change in both V-17W and V-76S segments, however, would permit air traffic controllers to apply a nonradar separation procedure between IFR flights operating on V–17 and V–17W, or between flights on V–76 and V–76S.

The purpose of this amendment is to make these 1-degree realinement changes. Since this amendment is minor in nature, no substantive change in the regulations is involved, and the effect on the operation of aircraft will be beneficial, notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, this amendment will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, "Federal Register" Document No. 72–15722 (37 F.R. 18715) is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., December 7, 1972, as hereinafter set forth.

In VOR Federal airway No. 17, "Austin 243°" is deleted and "Austin 244°" is substituted therefor.

In VOR Federal airway No. 76, "Austin 280°" is deleted and "Austin 279°" is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on October 26, 1972.

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to change the Controlling Agency for Restricted Area R–3003 from the Jacksonville ARTC Center to the Augusta, Ga., ATC Tower.

Redesignation of the Controlling Agency will identify the facility that actually controls traffic in R–3003 when the area is released by the Using Agency. The redesignation is minor in nature and effects no substantive change in the regulation; therefore, notice and public procedure thereon are deemed unnecessary and good cause exists to make this amendment effective without regard to the 30-day period preceding effectiveness.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11–2–72), as hereinafter set forth.

Section 73.30 (37 F.R. 2348 and 7311) is amended as follows:

In R–3003 Fort Gordon, Ga., after Controlling Agency, "Federal Aviation Administration, Jacksonville ARTC Center." is deleted and "Federal Aviation Administration, Augusta, Ga., ATC Tower." is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on October 26, 1972.

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Designation of Restricted Area

On July 27, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making (NPRM) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 15003) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering an amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a restricted area on the Strait of Juan de Fuca along the United States and Canadian boundary.

Subsequent to publication of the notice, it was noted that elements of the description were omitted. Accordingly, on August 30, 1972, a supplemental notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 17564) deleting the description contained in the original notice and providing a substitute therefor.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments, but no comments were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., January 4, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 73.67 (37 F.R. 2377), the following restricted area is added:

R–6705 STRAIT OF JUAN DE FUCA, WASH.

Boundaries: beginning at latitude 48°14'30" N., longitude 123°42'00" W.; to latitude 48°10'30" N., longitude 123°42'00" W.; thence one-half mile north of and parallel to the north coast of Washington to latitude 48°18'35" N., longitude 124°25'00" W.; to latitude 48°24'30" N., longitude 124°25'00" W.; thence along the United States-Canadian border to the point of beginning.

Designated altitudes: Surface to 2,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation: Continuous.

Controlling agency: FAA, Seattle Flight Service Station.

Using agency: Commander, Fleet Air Whidbey, NAS Whidbey Island, Wash.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on October 26, 1972.

[Airspace Docket No. 71-WA-3B]

PART 75—ESTABLISHMENT OF JET ROUTES AND AREA HIGH ROUTES

Designation of Area High Routes

On March 4, 1971, a notice of proposed rule making (NPRM) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 4299) which proposed an amendment to Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate 20 area high routes in the western and southwestern United States.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. No adverse comments were received on the routes designated herein.

Ten of the proposed routes have previously been designated. Eight additional routes (J900R, J905R, J906R, J908R, J913R, J916R, J919R, and J920R) have been successfully flight inspected and are being designated in this rule. Two of the routes (J910R and J915R) described in the NPRM are hereby withdrawn to permit further evaluation. These routes may be modified and proposed in subsequent airspace dockets. Thus, deletion of these two routes, previous designation of 10 other routes, and designation of the eight remaining routes as accomplished herein, completes action on Airspace Docket No. 71–WA–3.

Some route alinements and waypoint descriptions designated herein may differ slightly from those proposed in the NPRM. Waypoints have been added to the description of J900R, J905R, J908R, J919R, and J920R to improve navigational guidance without affecting the route alinement. In J900R, J905R, and J908R, three waypoints (one in each route) have been moved to coincide with waypoints previously established. The description of three waypoints in J913R have been refined to more accurately describe their locations. Subsequent to the publication of the NPRM, it was found that one of the proposed waypoints supporting J906R was not required and is eliminated from the description of the route herein to reduce chart clutter.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., January 4, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 75.400 (37 F.R. 2400) the following area high routes are added:

Waypoint name	N. latitude/W. longitude (In degrees, minutes, and seconds)	Reference facility
J900R San Francisco, Calif., to Seattle, Wash.:

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

This amendment to Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations incorporates by reference therein changes and additions to the Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAP's) that were recently adopted by the Administrator to promote safety at the airports concerned.

The complete SIAP's for the changes and additions covered by this amendment are described in FAA Forms 3139, 8260–3, 8260–4, or 8260–5, and made a part of the public rule making dockets of the FAA in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amendment No. 97–696 (35 F.R. 5609).

SIAP's are available for examination at the Rules Docket and at the National Flight Data Center, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591. Copies of SIAP's adopted in a particular region are also available for examination at the headquarters of that region. Individual copies of SIAP's may be purchased from the FAA Public Document Inspection Facility, HQ–405, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591, or from the applicable FAA regional office in accordance with the fee schedule prescribed in 49 CFR 7.85. This fee is payable in advance and may be paid by check, draft, or postal money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States. A weekly transmittal of all SIAP changes and additions may be obtained by subscription at an annual rate of $150 per annum from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Additional copies mailed to the same address may be ordered for $30 each.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this amendment, I find that further notice and public procedure hereon is impracticable and good cause exists for making it effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended as follows, effective on the dates specified:

1. Section 97.23 is amended by establishing, revising, or canceling the following VOR–VOR/DME SIAP's, effective December 14, 1972:

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Board

SUBCHAPTER B—PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

[Reg. PR-131, Amdt. 15]

PART 302—RULES OF PRACTICE IN ECONOMIC PROCEEDING

Rates, Fares, and Charges

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 27th day of October 1972.

By Public Law 92-259, March 22, 1972 (86 Stat. 95), the Federal Aviation Act was amended by adding, inter alia, a new section 1002(j), which expands the power of the Board to regulate rates and practices in foreign air transportation and confers a new power to suspend such rates. Accordingly, we are amending Subpart E of our procedural regulations to provide for the filing of complaints requesting tariff suspensions pursuant to section 1002(j) and so as to make the regulations otherwise consistent with the new legislation.

First, § 302.505(a), which requires that certain information be included in complaints seeking suspension of tariffs, is being amended to apply to rates for foreign air transportation as well as to rates for interstate or overseas air transportation.

Second, § 302.505(b), which requires that complaints seeking suspension be filed at least 18 days prior to the effective date of the tariff (or, if the tariff has a posting date, within 12 days after such date), is being limited to complaints against tariffs containing rates for interstate or overseas transportation only, since other tariffs involve special considerations which require another rule, as discussed below.

Third, a new § 302.505(c)[1] will require that complaints requesting suspension of tariffs containing new rates, fares, or charges for foreign air transportation be filed no later than 25 days before the effective date of the tariff.[2] The rule will also provide that such complaints seeking suspension of a tariff bearing a posting date must be filed within 12 days after the posting date, but in no event later than 25 days prior to the effective date of the tariff.[3] There are two reasons for the relatively short period for requesting suspension. Under the new section 801(b) of the Act the Board must submit its suspension orders pursuant to section 1002(j) to the President, who may disapprove any such order within 10 days following its submission. Further, the United States and many foreign governments are parties to bilateral air transport agreements which provide that if one of the contracting parties is dissatisfied with any rate proposed by an airline of either party for services between their territories, it may notify the other more than 15 days before the effective date of the tariff. Since, the tariffs need be filed only 30 days prior to their effective date the necessity of the Board's reaching a tentative determination within these time-frames requires that we establish the rather limited period (generally 5 calendar days) for the filing of these complaints.

Next, a new § 302.505(d) will permit complaints seeking suspension of tariffs containing existing rates, fares, or charges in foreign air transportation to be filed at any time. However, the rule will require that a complaint requesting suspension of such tariffs filed after the effective date of this regulation must make a convincing showing of the reasons for not filing the complaint in timely fashion pursuant to the provisions of new § 302.505(c), governing complaints requesting suspension of newly filed tariffs.

In addition, current § 302.505(d), which requires that answers to complaints be filed within 6 days of the filing of the complaint, is being renumbered as § 302.505(f) and amended by adding the requirement that answers to complaints seeking suspension of tariffs in foreign air transportation must be filed within 5 calendar days of the filing of the complaint. This will provide the same amount of time for filing answers as for filing complaints in cases where the time for Board action is narrowly circumscribed.

Finally, we are deleting Rule 507, which provides for informal requests to the Board to prevent tariffs of foreign air carriers from taking effect. These provisions are now superfluous in view of the Board's new authority to suspend tariffs in foreign air transportation.

Since this rule is wholly procedural in nature, the Board finds that notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendments may be made effective immediately.

Accordingly, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 302 of its procedural regulations (14 CFR Part 302), effective October 27, 1972, as follows:

1. Amend the table of contents by deleting and reserving § 302.507, the table as amended to read in pertinent part as follows:

Sec.
302.507 [Reserved]

2. Amend § 302.505 to read as follows:

§ 302.505 Complaints requesting suspension of tariffs—answers to such complaints.

(a) Formal complaints seeking suspension of tariffs pursuant to section 1002(g) or 1002(j) of the Act shall fully identify the tariff and include reference to the name of the publishing carrier or agent, to the CAB number, and to specific items or particular provisions protested or complained against. The complaint should indicate in what respect the tariff is considered to be unlawful, and state what complainant suggests by way of substitution.

(b) A complaint requesting suspension, pursuant to section 1002(g) of the Act, of a tariff for interstate or overseas air transportation ordinarily will not be considered unless made in conformity with this section and filed at least eighteen (18) days before the effective date of the tariff, or, in the event a posting date is printed on the tariff, unless the complaint is filed within twelve (12) days after said posting date.

(c) A complaint requesting suspension, pursuant to section 1002(j) of the Act, of a new tariff in foreign air transportation ordinarily will not be considered unless made in conformity with this section and filed at least twenty-five (25) days before the effective date of the tariff, or, in the event a posting date is printed on the tariff, unless the complaint is filed within twelve (12) days after said posting date but in no event later than twenty-five (25) days before the effective date.

(d) A complaint requesting suspension, pursuant to section 1002(j) of the Act, of an existing tariff for foreign air transportation may be filed at any time. However, a complaint requesting suspension, under this subsection of the regulations, of an existing tariff filed on or after October 27, 1972, must be accompanied by a statement setting forth compelling reasons for not having requested suspension within the time limitations provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) In an emergency satisfactorily shown by complainant, and within the time limits herein provided, a telegraphic complaint may be sent to the Board and to the publishing carrier or agent stating the grounds relied upon, but such a telegraphic complaint must immediately be confirmed by complaint filed and served in accordance with this section.

(f) Answers to complaints shall be filed within six (6) days after the complaint is filed: Provided, however, That answers to complaints seeking suspension of a tariff pursuant to section 1002(j) of the Act shall be filed within five (5) calendar days after the complaint is filed.[1]

§ 302.507 [Reserved]

3. Delete and reserve § 302.507.

(Secs. 204(a), 1002, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 72 Stat. 743, 788, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1482)

SUBCHAPTER F—POLICY STATEMENTS

[Reg. PS-49, Amdt. 28]

PART 399—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY

Processing of Tariff Publications for Foreign Air Transportation

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 27th day of October 1972.

By this amendment the Board is revising § 399.36 of its Policy Statements to establish a policy of the Board with respect to the advance issuance of orders suspending tariffs for foreign air transportation which are filed with us 45 days or more prior to their effective date and bear a posting date as provided for in Part 221 of our Economic Regulations. This revision is being made in light of our new power to suspend rates in foreign air transportation (Public Law 92-259, March 22, 1972; 86 Stat. 95).

Under § 399.36, it has been the Board's policy to issue orders suspending tariffs at least 15 days in advance of the effective date of the tariffs, if the tariff posting date is at least 45 days prior to the effective date, and to notify the filing carrier or its agent 15 days before the effective date if Board action on the tariff cannot be taken within the specified time. Prior to the enactment of the new legislation expanding our authority to regulate rates and practices in foreign air transportation, this policy had practical application only in the case of tariffs for interstate or overseas air transportation. However, the new suspension power involves problems which require somewhat different policies and procedures.

Thus, contemporaneously with this amendment of our Policy Statements, the Board is amending Subpart E of our Procedural Regulations by prescribing time limitations for the filing of complaints and answers to complaints seeking suspension of tariffs for foreign air transportation.[1] As set forth in those regulations, these time constraints are necessarily shorter than their counterparts where interstate or overseas transportation is involved, since in the case of foreign air transportation (1) Board suspension orders must be submitted to the President and are subject to his disapproval and (2) the United States and many foreign governments are parties to bilateral agreements which provide for advance notice of dissatisfaction by a contracting party with any rate proposed by an airline of either party for services between their territories.

The considerations which moved us to establish rather narrow time periods for the filing of complaints and answers involving suspension of tariffs for foreign air transportation also lead us to adopt a policy providing for a shorter lead time between the issuance of orders and the effective date of such posted tariffs than we have provided where interstate or overseas tariffs are involved. Under the amendment, it will be the Board's general policy to issue suspension orders governing tariffs in foreign air transportation at least 7 days before such tariffs are to become effective if the tariffs are filed with a posting date 45 days or more in advance of their effective date. This will give the filing carrier adequate advance notice of the suspension in the light of the special constraints upon the Board in these cases, while complainants and the Board will have more opportunity to analyze and consider the broader and far-reaching problems frequently encountered in those cases where the posting rules are used.

Since this rule is a statement of policy, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective immediately.

Accordingly, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 399 of its Policy Statements (14 CFR Part 399), effective October 27, 1972, to read as follows:

§ 399.36 Processing of tariff publications filed on notice of 45 days or longer.

When a tariff is filed with the Board 45 days or more in advance of its effective date and bears a posting date as provided in § 221.31(a)(10) of this chapter, it is the policy of the Board to issue an order, if any, suspending the tariff and ordering an investigation at least fifteen (15) days before such tariff is to become effective in the case of tariffs containing rates, fares or charges solely for interstate or overseas air transportation, or at least seven (7) days before such tariff is to become effective in the case of tariffs containing rates, fares or charges for foreign air transportation. In the event the Board, for any reason, cannot take action on a tariff within the time specified herein, the Board will notify the filing carrier or its agent of this fact at least fifteen (15)

[1] If the date for filing such complaints falls on a weekend or legal holiday for the Board, the complaint may be filed on the next succeeding business day.

[2] Contemporaneously with this amendment of Part 302, and for similar reasons, the Board is amending Part 399, its policy statements, by revising § 399.36 to set forth the policy that where tariffs for foreign air transportation are filed with a posting date 45 or more days in advance of their effective date any suspension order will be issued at least 7 days prior to such effective date.

[1] Former § 302.505(c), providing for emergency telegraphic complaints, is being retained and renumbered as § 302.505(e).

[1] Note that § 302.16 should be used in computing the time for filing answers to complaints seeking suspension of tariffs containing rates for interstate or overseas transportation only.

days before the effective date of the tariff in the case of tariffs containing rates, fares, or charges solely for interstate or overseas air transportation, or at least seven (7) days before the effective date of the tariff in the case of tariffs containing rates, fares, or charges for foreign air transportation. However, this policy statement should not be interpreted as limiting the Board's power under section 1002 of the Act to suspend a tariff for interstate or overseas air transportation at any time prior to its effective date and to suspend a tariff for foreign air transportation at any time.

(Secs. 204(a), 1002, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 72 Stat. 743, 788, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1482).

Title 36—PARKS, FORESTS, AND MEMORIALS

Chapter I—National Park Service, Department of the Interior

PART 7—SPECIAL REGULATIONS, AREAS OF THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

Mesa Verde National Park, Colo.; Operation of Commercial Passenger-Carrying Motor Vehicles

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 3 of the Act of August 25, 1916 (39 Stat. 535, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 3) section 4 of the Act of April 25, 1928 (45 Stat. 459, 16 U.S.C. 117c), 245 DM1 (27 F.R. 6395), as amended, National Park Service Order No. 66 (36 F.R. 21218), as amended, and Midwest Region (Order No. 5 (37 F.R. 6324)), § 7.39 of Title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended as set forth below.

The purpose of the amendment is to eliminate a phrase from paragraph (c) of § 7.39 pertaining to operation of commercial passenger-carrying vehicles in Mesa Verde National Park. The phrase "at or outside the park" has been deleted from the last sentence of paragraph (c) as misleading and unnecessary, since no such services outside the park are provided pursuant to a contract with the Secretary of the Interior.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. However, since this amendment is technical in nature and does not serve to further restrict the public, comment thereon is deemed unnecessary and not in the public interest. The amendment will take effect immediately on publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-2-72).

(5 U.S.C. 553, 39 Stat. 535 as amended; 16 U.S.C. 3)

Section 7.39(c) of Title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended to read as follows.

* * * * * * *

(c) Commercial automobiles and buses. The prohibition against the admission of commercial automobiles and buses to Mesa Verde National Park, contained in § 5.4 of this chapter shall be subject to the following exceptions: Motor vehicles operated on an infrequent and nonscheduled tour on which the visit to the park is an incident to such tour, carrying only round trip passengers traveling from the point of origin of the tour, will be accorded admission to the park upon establishing to the satisfaction of the Superintendent that the tour originated from such place and in such manner as not to provide, in effect, a regular and duplicating service conflicting with, or in competition with, the services provided for the public pursuant to contract authorization with the Secretary.

MEREDITH M. GUILLET, Superintendent,
Mesa Verde National Park.

Title 40—PROTECTION OF ENVIRONMENT

Chapter I—Environmental Protection Agency

SUBCHAPTER E—PESTICIDES PROGRAMS

PART 180—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Diuron

A notice (PP 1E1164) was published by the Environmental Protection Agency in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 7, 1972 (37 F.R. 18084), proposing establishment of a tolerance for residues of the herbicide diuron (3-(3,4-dichlorophenyl)-1,1-dimethylurea) in or on papayas at 0.5 parts per million. No comments or requests for referral to an advisory committee were received.

It is concluded that the proposal should be adopted.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), § 180.106 is amended by inserting a new paragraph after the paragraph "1 part per million * * *," as follows:

§ 180.106 Diuron; tolerances for residues.

* * * * * * *

0.5 part per million in or on papayas.

* * * * * * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days after its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3125, South Agriculture Building, 12th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, written objections thereto in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-2-72).

(Sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e))

O,O-Diethyl O-[p-(Methylsulfinyl) Phenyl] Phosphorothioate

A petition (PP 2F1260) was filed by Chemagro Corp., Post Office Box 4913, Kansas City, MO 64120, in accordance with provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a), proposing establishment of a tolerance for residues of the insecticide and nematocide O,O-diethyl O-[p-(methylsulfinyl) phenyl]phosphorothioate in or on the raw agricultural commodity sweetpotatoes at 0.05 part per million.

Based on consideration given data submitted in the petition and other relevant material, it is concluded that:

1. The pesticide is useful for the purpose for which the tolerance is being established.

2. There is no reasonable expectation of residues in milk, and § 180.6(a)(3) applies. Residues (if any) in meat will not exceed the established tolerance of 0.02 part per million on meat, fat, and meat byproducts of cattle, goats, and sheep. There is no reasonable expectation of residues in poultry and eggs.

3. The tolerance established by this order will protect the public health.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (36 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), § 180.234 is amended by revising the paragraph "0.05 parts per million * * *," as follows:

* * * * * * *

0.05 parts per million in or on peanuts, pineapple forage, pineapples, sugar beets, sugar beet tops, and sweet potatoes.

* * * * * * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days after its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3125, South Agriculture Building, 12th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, written objections thereto in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-2-72).

PART 180—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

3-(4-Bromo-3-Chlorophenyl)-1-Methoxy-1-Methylurea

A petition (PP 2F1196) was filed by Ciba Agrochemical Co. (now CIBA-GEIGY Corp.), Ardsley, N.Y. 10502, in accordance with provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 346a), proposing establishment of tolerances for negligible residues of the herbicide 3-(4-bromo-3-chlorophenyl)-1-methoxy-1-methylurea and its metabolites containing the 4-bromo-3-chloroaniline moiety in or on the raw agricultural commodities carrots and wheat grain and straw at 0.2 part per million.

Subsequently, the petitioner amended the petition by withdrawing the requested tolerance on carrots.

Based on consideration given data submitted in the petition and other relevant material, it is concluded that:

1. The herbicide is useful for the purpose for which the tolerances are being established.

2. The proposed use is not reasonably expected to result in the combined residues of the herbicide and its metabolites in eggs and milk and § 180.6(a)(3) applies.

3. The proposed use is not expected to result in the combined residues of the herbicide and its metabolites exceeding the established tolerances on meat and poultry.

4. The tolerances established by this order will protect the public health.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(d)(2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d)(2)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), § 180.279 is amended by revising the paragraph "0.2 part per million * * *," to read as follows:

§ 180.279 3-(4-Bromo-3-chlorophenyl)-1-methoxy-1-methylurea; tolerances for residues.

* * * * * * *

0.2 part per million (negligible residue) in or on corn fodder and forage, corn grain, fresh corn including sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husk removed), potatoes, soybean forage, soybeans, wheat grain, and wheat straw.

* * * * * * *

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days after its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3125, South Agriculture Building, 12th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20460, written objections thereto in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-2-72).

Benomyl

A notice (PP 2E1239) was published by the Environmental Protection Agency in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 9, 1972 (37 F.R. 18401), proposing establishment of a tolerance for residues of the fungicide benomyl (methyl 1-(butylcarbamoyl)-2-benzimidazolecarbamate) in or on mushrooms at 10 parts per million. No comments or requests for referral to an advisory committee were received.

It is concluded that the proposal should be adopted.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), § 180.294 is amended by inserting a new paragraph after the paragraph "15 parts per million * * *," as follows:

Title 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[FCC 72-946]

PART 0—COMMISSION ORGANIZATION

Memorandum Opinion and Order

1. Requests for the extension of time in which to file briefs, comments, pleadings, and all other papers relating to broadcast matters which have not been designated for hearing are ordinarily noncontroversial and require prompt action, which can most appropriately and efficiently be taken by the Bureau Chief rather than the Commission. This is true with regard to matters such as rule making, forfeitures, or applications for review, which will be acted upon by the Commission, as well as with regard to matters which will be acted upon by the Bureau Chief. Accordingly, we are amending § 0.281 to make it clear that Chief, Broadcast Bureau, has full authority to act on all such requests.

2. In proceedings which are before the Chief, Common Carrier Bureau, for preparation of a recommended decision, it is appropriate for the Bureau Chief to act on requests for the extension of time to file pleadings. Accordingly, we are amending § 0.303 to reflect such authority.

3. The amendments to the rules are set out below. Authority for these amendments is contained in sections 4(i), 5(d), and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. 154(i), 155(d), and 303(r). Because the amendments are procedural in nature and relate to matters of internal organization, the prior notice and effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 are inapplicable.

4. In view of the foregoing, it is ordered, Effective November 7, 1972, that §§ 0.281 and 0.303 of the rules and regulations are amended as set out below.

(Secs. 4, 5, 303, 43 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1068, 1082, 47 U.S.C. 154, 155, 303)

Adopted: October 26, 1972.

Released: October 31, 1972.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,[1]
[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Secretary.

[1] Commissioner Johnson dissenting.

[S.O. 1089, Amdt. 3]

PART 1033—CAR SERVICE

New York Dock Railway Authorized To Operate Over Trackage Abandoned by Bush Terminal Railroad Co.

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Railroad Service Board, held in Washington, D.C., on the 24th day of October 1972.

Upon further consideration of Service Order No. 1089 (37 F.R. 2677, 9118, and 15930), and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That: § 1033.1089 Service Order No. 1089 (New York Dock Railway authorized to operate over trackage abandoned by Bush Terminal Railroad Company) Service Order No. 1089 be, and it is hereby, amended by substituting the following paragraph (e) for paragraph (e) thereof:

(e) Expiration date. This order shall expire at 11:59 p.m., December 31, 1972, unless otherwise modified, changed, or suspended by order of this Commission.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective at 11:59 p.m., October 31, 1972.

(Secs. 1, 12, 15, and 17(2), 24 Stat. 379, 383, 384, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 1, 12, 15, and 17(2). Interprets or applies secs. 1(10-17), 15(4), and 17(2), 40 Stat. 101, as amended, 54 Stat. 911; 49 U.S.C. 1(10-17), 15(4), and 17(2).)

It is further ordered, That copies of this amendment shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of all railroads subscribing to the car service and car hire agreement under the terms of that agreement, and upon the American Short Line Railroad Association; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., and by filing it with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

By the Commission, Railroad Service Board.

Title 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS AND PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Chapter 1—Federal Procurement Regulations

PART 1–1—GENERAL

Subpart 1–1.6—Debarred, Suspended, and Ineligible Bidders

CHANGED BASES FOR DEBARMENT

This amendment of the Federal Procurement Regulations prescribes revised policies and procedures pertaining to matters involving debarred and suspended bidders. Prior material precluding award to bidders on the Department of Labor "List of Persons and Firms Ineligible to Receive Award of Contracts Under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act" is omitted because the list has been eliminated by the Department of Labor. All references to ineligibility on such grounds are deleted. Another change arises out of the passage of the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970. Concerns which have been infiltrated by organized crime are of doubtful responsibility, and, accordingly, an additional basis for debarment or suspension due to violation of the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970 or conviction of certain other offenses is added. In addition, the sections dealing with ineligibility because of violations of the Equal Opportunity clause are updated and revised. Specific reference is made to the Office of Federal Contract Compliance Contract Ineligibility List.

The table of contents for Part 1–1 is amended to include a revised entry, as follows:

Sec.
1–1.602–1 Bases for entry on the debarred, suspended, and ineligible bidders list.

1. Section 1–1.600 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1–1.600 Scope of subpart.

This subpart prescribes policies and procedures relating to: (a) The debarment of bidders for cause, (b) the suspension of bidders for cause under prescribed conditions, and (c) the placement of bidders in ineligibility status for violations of the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause. It is directly applicable to the advertised and negotiated purchases and contracts of executive agencies, including contracts for construction, repair, alteration, destruction, or dismantlement of public works or buildings. Other Federal agencies are requested to comply therewith in conducting their purchasing and contracting operations.

2. Section 1–1.601–1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1–1.601–1 Definitions.

(a) "Debarment" means, in general, an exclusion from Government contracting and subcontracting for a reasonable, specified period of time commensurate with the seriousness of the offense or failure or the inadequacy of performance. However, in connection with Executive Order 11246 of September 24, 1965, as implemented by the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor in 41 CFR Part 60, the term "debarment" also means an exclusion by reason of ineligibility under the Secretary's rules from Government contracting or subcontracting for an indefinite period of time pending the elimination of the circumstances for which the exclusion was imposed.

(b) "Suspension" means a disqualification from Government contracting and subcontracting for a temporary period of time because a concern or individual is suspected upon adequate evidence (see § 1–1.605) of engaging in criminal, fraudulent, or seriously improper conduct.

(c) A "debarment list" or "debarred bidders list" means a list of names of concerns or individuals against whom any or all of the measures referred to in this section have been invoked.

(d) "Bidders" means, wherever the term is used in this subpart, any offerors bidding pursuant to an invitation for bids or a request for proposals.

(e) "Affiliates" means business concerns which are affiliates of each other when either directly or indirectly one concern or individual controls or has the power to control another, or when a third party controls or has the power to control both.

3. Section 1–1.602–1 is amended to revise the caption, to revise paragraph (e), and to delete paragraph (h). As amended, the section reads as follows:

§ 1–1.602–1 Bases for entry on the debarred, suspended, and ineligible bidders list.

• • • • • •

(e) Those listed by the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance of the Department of Labor on the Contract Ineligibility List, which gives the names of prime contractors and subcontractors that have been declared ineligible to participate in Government contracting or subcontracting by reason of noncompliance with the Equal Opportunity clause.

(h) [Deleted]

• • • • • •

4. Section 1–1.603 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1–1.603 Treatment to be accorded firms or individuals in debarred, suspended, or ineligible status.

Firms or individuals listed by the agency as debarred, suspended, or ineligible shall be treated as follows:

(a) Total restrictions. A contract shall not be awarded to a concern or individual that is listed on the basis of §1–1.602–1 (a), (b), (d), or (e), or to any concern, corporation, partnership, or association in which the listed concern or individual has actual control or a controlling interest; nor shall bids or proposals be solicited therefrom. However, when it is determined essential in the public interest by the head of an agency or his designee, an exception may be made with respect to a particular procurement action when a concern or individual is listed as debarred on the basis of § 1–1.602–1(d).

(b) Restrictions under statutes designated in the regulations of the Secretary of Labor. A contractor listed on the basis of § 1–1.602–1(c), or any concern, corporation, partnership, or association in which that contractor has actual control or a controlling interest, shall be ineligible for a period of 3 years (from the date of publication by the Comptroller General) to receive any contracts subject to any of the statutes listed in § 1–1.602–1(c).

(c) Buy American Act restrictions. As specified in the Buy American Act (41 U.S.C. 10b(b)), contracts shall not be awarded for construction, alteration, or repair of public buildings or public works in the continental United States or elsewhere to concerns or their affiliates or individuals listed on the basis of § 1–1.602–1(g); nor shall bids or proposals therefor be solicited therefrom. However, firms or individuals listed on this basis may be awarded contracts and may be solicited for bids or proposals for other than construction, alteration, or repair of public buildings or public works in the continental United States or elsewhere.

(d) Restrictions for noncompliance with the Equal Opportunity clause. A concern or individual debarred for noncompliance with the Equal Opportunity clause shall not be awarded a Government contract.

(e) Restrictions on subcontracting. If a concern or individual listed on the debarred bidders list is proposed as a subcontractor, the contracting officer shall decline to approve subcontracting with that firm or individual in any instance in which consent is required of the Government before the subcontract is made, unless it is determined by the agency to be in the best interest of the Government to grant approval.

5. Section 1–1.604 is amended to add a new paragraph (a)(2), and to renumber the present paragraph (a)(2), (3), (4), and (5) as paragraph (a)(3), (4), (5), and (6), respectively, and to correct references in paragraph (b), and paragraph (c) is revised; as amended, § 1–1.604 reads as follows:

§ 1–1.604 Causes and conditions applicable to determination of debarment by an executive agency.

• • • • • •

(2) Conviction under the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970, or conviction of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bribery, falsification or destruction of records, receiving stolen property, or any other offense indicating a lack of business integrity or business honesty which seriously and directly affects the question of present responsibility as a Government contractor.

V 37 - 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

(3) Conviction under the Federal Antitrust Statutes arising out of the submission of bids or proposals.

(4) Violation of contract provisions, as set forth below, of a character which is regarded by the agency involved to be so serious as to justify debarment action:

(i) Willful failure to perform in accordance with the specifications or within the time limit provided in the contract.

(ii) A record of failure to perform or of unsatisfactory performance in accordance with the terms of one or more contracts: Provided, That such failure or unsatisfactory performance has occurred within a reasonable period of time preceding the determination to debar. Failure to perform or unsatisfactory performance caused by acts beyond the control of the firm or individual as a contractor shall not be considered to be a basis for debarment.

(iii) Violation of the contractural provision against contingent fees.

(iv) Acceptance of a contingent fee, which is paid in violation of contractual provisions against contingent fees.

(5) Any other cause affecting responsibility as a Government contractor of such serious and compelling nature as may be determined by the head of the agency to warrant debarment.

(6) Debarment by some other executive agency.

(b) Conditions. • • •

• • • • •

(3) The existence of a cause set forth in (a) (1), (2) and (3) of this § 1–1.604 shall be established by criminal conviction by a court of competent jurisdiction. In the event that an appeal taken from such conviction results in a reversal of the conviction, the debarment shall be removed upon the request of the bidder (unless other cause for debarment exists).

(4) The existence of a cause set forth in (a) (4) and (5) of this § 1–1.604 shall be established by evidence which the executive agency determines to be clear and convincing in nature.

(5) Debarment for the cause set forth in (a)(6) of this § 1–1.604 (debarment by another agency) shall be proper provided that one of the causes for debarment set forth in (a) (1) through (5) of this § 1–1.604 was the basis for debarment by the original debarring agency. Such debarment may be based entirely on the record of facts obtained by the original debarring agency, or upon a combination of such facts and additional facts.

(c) Period of debarment. (1) Debarment of a firm or individual for causes other than failure to comply with the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause (see § 1–1.602–1(e)) shall be for a reasonable, definitely stated period of time commensurate with the seriousness of the offense or the failure or inadequacy of performance. As a general rule, a period of debarment shall not exceed 3 years. However, when debarment for an additional period is deemed necessary, notice of the proposed additional debarment shall be furnished to that concern or individual in accordance with § 1–1.604–1. Except as precluded by statute, a debarment may be removed or the period thereof may be reduced by the head of the agency or by his authorized representative, upon the submission of an application, supported by documentary evidence, setting forth appropriate grounds for the granting of relief; such as newly discovered material evidence, reversal of a conviction, bona fide change of ownership or management, or the elimination of the causes for which the debarment was imposed.

(2) Debarment of a firm or individual for failure to comply with the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause generally shall continue until removed by the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, Department of Labor, or by the agency itself with the concurrence of the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance.

6. Section 1–1.605–1 is amended to revise paragraph (a)(1)(iii) to read as follows:

§ 1–1.605–1 Causes and conditions under which executive agencies may suspend contractors.

(1) • • •

(iii) An act in violation of the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970, or commission of embezzlement, theft, forgery, bribery, falsification, or destruction of records, receiving stolen property, or any other offense indicating a lack of business integrity or business honesty which seriously and directly affects the question of present responsibility as a Government contractor; or

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms

[26 CFR Part 240]

WINE

Materials Authorized for Treatment of Wine

Notice is hereby given that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Director, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, in duplicate, to the Director, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Washington, D.C. 20224, within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any written comments or suggestions not specifically designated as confidential in accordance with 26 CFR 601.601(b) may be inspected by any person upon written request. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Director within the 30-day period. In such a case, a public hearing will be held and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, unless the person or persons who have requested a hearing withdraw their requests for a hearing before notice of the hearing has been filed with the Office of the Federal Register. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] REX D. DAVIS,
Director, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Approved: October 26, 1972.

EUGENE T. ROSSIDES,
Assistant Secretary for Enforcement, Tariff and Trade Affairs, and Operations.

In order to make 26 CFR Part 240, Wine, consistent with 21 CFR Part 121, GRAS and Food Additive Status, with respect to materials authorized for treatment of wine, and to provide for continuing consistency between these parts, the regulations in 26 CFR Part 240 are amended as follows:

Section 240.1051 is amended by: (a) Adding a sentence to the introductory paragraph to provide for removal from the list of materials authorized for treatment of wine, those materials which are removed by the Commissioner of Food and Drugs from the GRAS listing; (b) adding ammonium phosphate (monobasic and dibasic) to the list of approved materials; (c) deleting diammonium phosphate; (d) deleting glycine (amino acetic acid); (e) deleting diethyl pyrocarbonate; and (f) deleting the parenthetical statement under "Reference or limitation" for the material "Phosphates". As amended § 240.1051 reads as follows:

§ 240.1051 Materials authorized for treatment of wine.

The materials listed below are approved, as being consistent with good commercial practice, for use by proprietors of bonded wine cellars in the production, cellar treatment, or finishing of wine (including distilling material), within the general limitations of § 240.524, or the specific limitations shown in the table, or given in the sections referred to: Provided, That when any approved material on this list is removed from the Food and Drug Administration list of products generally recognized as safe, the Director may cancel its approval for use in the production, cellar treatment, or finishing of wine (including distilling material).

[Docket No. 24871; EDR–235]

CLASSIFICATION AND EXEMPTION OF AIR TAXI OPERATORS

Proposed Modification of Registration Requirement

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration modification of the registration requirement for air taxi operators in Part

V 37 - 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

298 of the economic regulations (14 CFR Part 298). The principal features of the proposed amendment are described in the attached explanatory statement and the proposed amendment is set forth in the attached proposed rule. The amendment is proposed under the authority of sections 204(a), 407, and 416 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (72 Stat. 743, 766, and 771; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1377, and 1386).

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making through submission of twelve (12) copies of written data, views or arguments pertaining thereto, addressed to the Docket Section, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C. 20428. All relevant matter received on, or before December 18, 1972, will be considered by the Board before taking final action on the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 712, Universal Building, 1825 Connecticut Avenue NW., Washington, DC, upon receipt thereof.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] PHYLLIS T. KAYLOR,
Acting Secretary.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Part 298 of the Board's economic regulations (14 CFR Part 298) provides for the classification and exemption of air taxi operators, i.e., persons engaged in air transportation by operating small aircraft. As a condition to their exemption authority, air taxi operators are required by the Board's regulations to establish and maintain liability insurance coverage in accordance with the provisions of Subpart D of said part. The regulations also require each air taxi operator to register with the Board within 30 days after commencement of air taxi operations, and to reregister annually thereafter, by filing a registration statement in the form specified therein (CAB Form 298–A),[1] along with a currently valid certificate of insurance.[2] A stamped copy of the filed registration form is returned to the carrier, acknowledging compliance with said registration requirement. This registration procedure is designed to facilitate enforcement of the liability insurance requirement and to provide a vehicle for the gathering of basic information as to the number of air taxi operators and their locations.[3]

Over the past several years the staff has experienced considerable difficulty in assuring compliance with the registration and liability insurance requirements. For example, there are presently about 3,200 holders of an air taxi/commercial operator's certificate (ATCO) issued by the Federal Aviation Administration under its safety regulations,[4] but only about 2,600 air taxis (including commuter air carrier) are currently registered with the Board. While it may well be that some of the 600 ATCO holders who have not registered with the Board are, in fact, outside the Board's jurisdiction (e.g., because they are not operating as common carriers or their operations are wholly intrastate) there are grounds to suspect that a sizable number of these unregistered ATCO holders are engaged in "air transportation" and, as such, are subject to the Board's regulatory scheme for air taxi operators.

We are inclined to believe that the failure of air taxi operators to register with the Board is attributable, at least in part, to the fact that under our existing regulations, compliance with the aforementioned registration procedure is not a condition precedent to the air taxi operator's exemption to operate under Part 298. Thus, although failure to register, as prescribed in Part 298, presently constitutes a violation of a Board regulation, an air taxi operator may feel less deterred from operating in violation of a regulation requiring him to register (and reregister) with the Board than if his very authority to operate were expressly conditioned upon adherence to such requirement. Moreover, since our regulations now permit a carrier to register 30 days after he has begun to operate, it has not been practicable for the Board to determine whether the registrant is in compliance with the liability insurance requirements on the date he commences operations.

In light of the foregoing, we are of the tentative view that compliance with the Part 298 registration requirement should be established as a condition precedent to an air taxi operator's exemption to engage in air transportation, and the amendments hereinbelow discussed are intended to accomplish this purpose. Under the proposed rule, an air taxi operator would be required to register and reregister with the Board in order to qualify for and retain his exemption to operate under Part 298. We also propose to eliminate the provision allowing a carrier to register with the Board within 30 days after commencement of air taxi operations, and to require instead that a person who contemplates engaging in operations subject to Part 298 shall register with the Board, not less than 30 days prior to the commencement of such operations.[5]

As indicated, present regulations require an air taxi operator to submit, with his registration form, a currently effective certificate of liability insurance. As provided in subpart D of Part 298,[6] such certificate must evidence issuance, by one or more insurers, of one or more currently effective policies of aircraft liability insurance in compliance with the requirements prescribed therein. It is unlikely that a person who files for initial registration as an air taxi operator, in accordance with the proposed rule, will have a policy of aircraft liability insurance in effect on the date of such filing. Nor do we wish to impose, on prospective air taxi operators, a requirement to purchase insurance coverage which they do not need. Accordingly, we propose to modify § 298.41(b) to provide that where the certificate of insurance accompanies a filing for initial registration as an air taxi operator, the insurance policy or policies named in the certificate shall become effective no later than the date when the applicant proposes to commence operations (which date shall not be earlier than 30 days after the date on which the application is filed) as shown in the carrier's registration form.

Moreover, in order to insure that the applicant's registration does not become effective before the effective date of his aircraft liability insurance, we propose to add a provision to the rule stating that the initial registration required by § 298.50 will not become effective before the effective date of the insurance policy or policies named in the certificate of insurance which accompanies the carrier's filed registration statement.[7]

We have also taken this occasion to propose several changes to the standard registration statement (CAB Form 298–A)[8] so as to require more detailed information from carriers filing for registration and reregistration under Part 298. As hereinbelow described, these modifications are designed to facilitate staff processing of air taxi registrations and to implement the recent changes to Part 298 made by the Board in the Part 298 Weight Limitation Investigation, Docket 21761:[9]

1. The registrant will be required to list his telephone number and area code.

2. As presently cast, Form 298–A[8] requires disclosure of the serial and model numbers of each aircraft operated by an air taxi which has a maximum passenger capacity of more than 20 seats or a maximum payload capacity of more than 5,000 pounds. We propose to delete this requirement and instead require the disclosure of all aircraft types which the registrant operates (or, if the carrier is filing for initial registration, which he proposes to operate), and the FAA registration number and passenger capacity of each such aircraft type.

3. A Part 298 registrant will also be required to disclose the "maximum payload capacity," as defined in § 298.2, of each reported aircraft type which has a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds; and also to furnish, with the registration form, a statement which sets forth the calculations which the registrant used to compute the maximum payload capacity of each such aircraft.

This latter requirement is designed to implement the Board's action on reconsideration[10] of the Weight Limitation case wherein the Board determined to clarify the general definition of "maximum payload capacity" adopted in ER–748,[10] by providing a more detailed formula for computing an aircraft's payload capacity for the purposes of Part 298. The statement of calculations will enable the Board to determine whether that formula is being properly applied by carriers who operate or who propose to operate aircraft within the abovementioned limitations.

It is proposed to amend Part 298 of the economic regulations (14 CFR Part 298) as follows:

1. Amend § 298.3(a) by adding a new subparagraph (5), to read as follows:

§ 298.3 Classification.

(a) There is hereby established a classification of air carriers, designated "air taxi operators" which engage in the direct air transportation of passengers and/or property, and/or in the transportation within the 48 contiguous States, Alaska or Hawaii of mail by aircraft and which:

. . . . . .

(5) Have registered initially, and reregistered annually thereafter, with the Board in accordance with Subpart E of this part.

. . . . . .

2. Amend paragraph (b) of § 298.41, the paragraph as amended to read as follows:

§ 298.41 Basic requirements.

(b) "Certificate of insurance," as used herein, means one or more certificates, evidencing the following: Issuance by one or more insurers of one or more currently effective policies of aircraft liability insurance in compliance with this subpart and properly endorsed, which alone or in combination provide the minimum coverage prescribed in § 298.42: Provided, That, where the certificate of insurance accompanies a filing for initial registration as an air taxi operator in accordance with § 298.50 of this part, the insurance policy or policies named in such certificate shall become effective no later than the proposed date of commencement of air taxi operations as shown in the carrier's registration form. When more than one insurer is involved in providing the minimum coverage prescribed herein, the limits and types of liability assumed by each insurer shall be clearly stated in the certificate of insurance. The certificate of insurance shall also state whether the policy of insurance provides coverage for liability for bodily injury to, or death of, aircraft passengers. In addition, the certificate of insurance shall list the types or classes of aircraft, or the specific aircraft by Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) registration number, with respect to which the policy of insurance applies and shall set forth the area or areas of operation as found in the operations specifications issued by the FAA in conjunction with the applicable ATCO certificate: Provided, however, That if one or more of the 48 contiguous States or the District of Columbia is listed in such operations specifications, then all 48 contiguous States and the District of Columbia must be included in the coverage of insurance. Each certificate of insurance, and each endorsement limiting the permitted exclusions, shall be signed in ink by an authorized officer or agent of the insurer and shall be on forms prescribed and furnished by the Board.

3. Amend § 298.50 by revising paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), and adding a new paragraph (d), the section as amended to read as follows:

§ 298.50 Filing for registration by air taxi operators.

(a) Every air taxi operator (whether or not he is also a commuter air carrier as defined in this part) who plans to commence operations under this part shall, not later than 30 days prior to the commencement of such operations, register with the Board.

(b) Every air taxi operator (whether or not he is also a computer air carrier as defined in this part) shall reregister with the Board annually on or before July 1 of each year.

(c) Registration and reregistration shall be accomplished by filing, with the Board's Bureau of Operating Rights a "Registration and Reregistration for Exemption as an Air Taxi Operator" (CAB Form 298–A, revised ------) executed in duplicate. This form shall be certified by a responsible official of such carrier and shall include the following information:

(1) Where the carrier is filing for initial registration as an air taxi operator: (i) Name of the carrier (name must be the same as that in which the FAA certificate, if any, is issued); (ii) the carrier's FAA certificate number, if any; (iii) the name in which the insurance policy is issued; (iv) address of its principal place of business and its mailing address; (v) the proposed date of commencement of air taxi operations; (vi) whether the carrier intends to perform at least 5 round trips per week pursuant to published schedules; (vii) a list of the aircraft types which the carrier intends to employ in air taxi operations, and the FAA registration number and passenger capacity of each such aircraft type; (viii) the "maximum payload capacity," as defined in § 298.2, of each aircraft reported pursuant to clause (vii) above, which has a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds, and a statement showing the calculations used by the carrier to compute the maximum payload capacity of each such aircraft; (ix) whether the carrier has insurance effective on the date of commencement or air taxi operations which complies with Subpart D of this part; and (x) whether the carrier intends to perform passenger, cargo and/or mail service; or

(1a) Where the carrier is filing for reregistration as an air taxi operator: (i) Name in which the FAA certificate is issued; (ii) the carrier's FAA certificate number; (iii) the name in which the insurance policy is issued; (iv) address of its principal place of business and its mailing address; (v) whether the carrier is currently performing at least 5 round trips per week pursuant to published schedules; (vi) a list of the aircraft types operated by the carrier, and the FAA registration number and passenger capacity of each such aircraft type; (vii) the "maximum payload capacity," as defined in § 298.2, of each aircraft reported pursuant to clause (vi) above, which has a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds, and a statement showing the calculations used by the carrier to compute the maximum payload capacity of each such aircraft; (viii) whether the carrier has currently effective insurance which complies with Subpart D of this part; (ix) whether the carrier is performing passenger, cargo and/or mail service; and (x) whether the carrier has performed passenger service between a point in the United States and a point outside thereof during the past 12 months.

(1–1) Every registered air taxi operator who acquires for use in his air taxi operations an aircraft whose maximum payload capacity is within the limitations enumerated in clause (viii) of subparagraph (1) hereinabove shall file with the Board, within 30 days of such aircraft acquisition an amended Form 298–A, reflecting the fact of such acquisition.

(2) A certificate of insurance which is currently effective (or, in case of initial registration, is to become effective), as defined in § 298.41(b),

(3) A ten-dollar ($10) registration or reregistration fee, as the case may be. This shall be in the form of a check, draft, or postal money order, payable to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

(d) The effective date of the registration required by paragraph (a) of this

[4] The scope of the FAA's regulatory authority over the operators of aircraft is broader than the Board's authority, since the FAA's jurisdiction to prescribe safety regulations extends to all operations which come within the definition of "air commerce" in section 101(4) of the Act, whereas the Board's jurisdiction is limited to those operations which involve "air transportation" as defined in section 101(10) of the Act.

[5] As shown in Exhibit A, filed as part of the original document, CAB Form 298–A has been retitled "Registration and Reregistration under Part 298 of the Economic Regulations," and includes the format for both initial registration and reregistration.

[Docket No. AO179-A37]

MILK IN THE EASTERN OHIO-WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA MARKETING AREA

Notice of Hearing on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and Order

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held December 6 at Holiday Inn-Airport-West, 16501 Brookpark Road, Cleveland, OH, beginning at 10 a.m. with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Eastern Ohio-Western Pennsylvania marketing area.

The hearing is called pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900).

The purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence with respect to the economic and marketing conditions which relate to the proposed amendments, hereinafter set forth, and any appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order.

The proposed amendments, set forth below, have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by Associated Milk Producers, Inc.; Central Ohio Co-op Milk Prod., Inc.; Milk, Inc.; and Tri-County Producers' Cooperative:

A. Proposal No. 1. Immediately following § 1036.78, add a new centerhead and new §§ 1036.110 through 1036.122 as follows:

ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION PROGRAM

§ 1036.110 Agency.

"Agency" means an agency organized by producers and producers' cooperative associations, in such form and with methods of operation specified in this part, which is authorized to expend funds, made available pursuant to § 1036.121(b)(1), on approval by the Secretary, for the purposes of establishing or providing for establishment of research and development projects, advertising (excluding brand advertising), sales promotion, educational, and other programs, designed to improve or promote the domestic marketing and consumption of milk and its products. Members of the Agency shall serve without compensation but shall be reimbursed for reasonable expenses incurred in the performance of duties as members of the Agency.

§ 1036.111 Composition of the Agency.

Each cooperative association or combination of cooperative associations as provided for under § 1036.113(b) with 1½ percent or more of the total participating producers (producers who have not requested refunds for the most recent quarter) is authorized one Agency representative plus one additional Agency representative for each additional full 5 percent of the participating member producers it represents. Cooperative associations with less than 1½ percent of the total participating producers that have elected not to combine pursuant to §1036.113(b), and participating producers who are not members of cooperatives are authorized to select from such group, in total, one Agency representative for each additional full 5 percent that such producers constitute of the total participating producers. For the purpose of the Agency's initial organization, all persons defined as producers shall be considered as participating producers.

§ 1036.112 Term of office.

The term of office of each member of the Agency shall be 1 year or until a replacement is designated by the cooperative association or is otherwise appropriately elected.

§ 1036.113 Selection of Agency members.

The selection of Agency members shall be made pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section. Each person selected shall qualify by filing with the market administrator a written acceptance promptly after being notified of such selection.

(a) Each cooperative association authorized one or more representatives to the Agency shall notify the market adminstrator of the name and address of each representative who shall serve at the pleasure of the cooperative.

(b) For purposes of this program, cooperative associations may elect to combine their participating membership and, if the combined total of participating producers of such cooperatives is 1½ percent or more of the total participating producers, such cooperatives shall be eligible to select a representative(s) to the Agency under the rules of §.1036.111 and paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Selection of Agency members to represent participating nonmember producers and participating producer members of a cooperative association(s) having less than the required 1½ percent of the producers participating in the advertising and promotion program and who have not elected to combine memberships as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, shall be supervised by the market administrator in the following manner:

(1) Promptly after the effective date of this amending order, and annually thereafter, the market administrator shall give notice to participating producer members of such cooperatives and participating nonmember producers of their opportunity to nominate one or more Agency representatives, as the case may be, and also shall specify the number of representatives to be selected.

(2) Following the closing date for nominations, the market administrator shall announce the nominees who are eligible for Agency membership and shall conduct a referendum among the individual producers eligible to vote. Election to membership shall be determined on the basis of the nominee (or nominees) receiving the largest number of eligible votes. If an elected representative subsequently discontinues producer status or is otherwise unable to complete his term of office, the market administrator shall appoint as his replacement the participating producer who received the next highest number of eligible votes.

§ 1036.114 Agency operating procedure.

A majority of the Agency members shall constitute a quorum and any action of the Agency shall require a majority of concurring votes of those present and voting.

§ 1036.115 Powers of the Agency.

The Agency is empowered to:

(a) Administer the terms and provisions within the scope of Agency authority pursuant to § 1036.110;

(b) Make rules and regulations to effectuate the purposes of Public Law 91-670;

(c) Recommend amendments to the Secretary; and

(d) With the approval of the Secretary, enter into contracts and agreements with persons or organizations as deemed necessary to carry out advertising and promotion programs and projects specified in §§ 1036.110 and 1036.117.

§ 1036.116 Duties of the Agency.

The Agency shall perform all duties necessary to carry out the terms and provisions of this program including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) Meet, organize, and select from among its members a chairman and such other officers and committees as may be necessary and adopt and make public such rules as may be necessary for the conduct of its business;

(b) Develop programs and projects pursuant to §§ 1036.110 and 1036.117;

(c) Keep minutes, books, and records and submit books and records for examination by the Secretary and furnish any information and reports requested by the Secretary;

(d) Prepare and submit to the Secretary for approval prior to each quarterly period a budget showing the projected amounts to be collected during the quarter and how such funds are to be disbursed by the Agency;

(e) When desirable, establish an advisory committee(s) of persons other than Agency members;

(f) Employ and fix the compensation of any person deemed to be necessary to its exercise of powers and performance of duties;

(g) Establish the rate of reimbursement to the members of the Agency for expenses in attending meetings, and pay the expenses of administering the Agency; and

(h) Provide for the bonding of all persons handling Agency funds in an amount and with surety thereon satisfactory to the Secretary.

§ 1036.117 Advertising, research, education, and promotion program.

The Agency shall develop and submit to the Secretary for approval all programs or projects undertaken under the authority of this part. Such programs or projects may provide for:

(a) The establishment, issuance, effectuation, and administration of appropriate programs or projects for the advertising and promotion of milk and milk products on a nonbrand basis;

(b) The utilization of the services of other organizations to carry out Agency programs and projects if the Agency finds that such activities will benefit producers under this part; and

(c) The establishment, support, and conduct of research and development projects and studies that the Agency finds will benefit all producers under this part.

§ 1036.118 Limitation of expenditures by the Agency.

(a) Not more than 5 percent of the funds received by the Agency pursuant to § 1036.121(b)(1) shall be utilized for administrative expense of the Agency.

(b) Agency funds shall not, in any manner, be used for political activity or for the purpose of influencing governmental policy or action, except in recommending to the Secretary amendments to the advertising and promotion program provisions of this part.

(c) Agency funds may not be expended to solicit producer participation.

(d) Agency funds may be used only for programs and projects promoting the domestic marketing and consumption of milk and its products.

§ 1036.119 Personal liability.

No member of the Agency shall be held personally responsible, either individually or jointly with others, in any way whatsoever to any person for errors in judgment, mistakes, or other acts, either of commission or omission, of such member in performance of his duties, except for acts of willful misconduct, gross negligence, or those which are criminal in nature.

§ 1036.120 Procedure for requesting refunds.

Any producer may apply for refund under the procedure set forth under paragraphs (a) through (c) of this section.

(a) Refund shall be accomplished only through application filed with the market administrator in the form prescribed by the market administrator and signed by the producer. Only that information necessary to identify the producer and the records relevant to the refund may be required of such producer.

(b) Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, the request shall be submitted within the first 15 days of December, March, June, or September for milk to be marketed during the ensuing calendar quarter beginning on the first day of January, April, July, and October, respectively.

(c) A dairy farmer who first acquires producer status under this part after the 15th day of December, March, June, or September, as the case may be, and prior to the start of the next refund notification period as specified in paragraph (b) of this section may, upon application filed with the market administrator pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, be eligible for refund on all marketings against which an assessment is withheld during such period and including the remainder of the calendar quarter involved. This paragraph also shall be applicable to all producers during the period following the effective date of this amending order to the beginning of the first full calendar quarter for which the opportunity exists for such producers to request refunds pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) A producer, located in a State which has a State advertising and promotion program in which producers are required to participate unless they are participating in an advertising and promotion program under a Federal order, may (in lieu of a refund request) authorize the market administrator to pay to the State the amount of his required participation not in excess of 5 cents per hundredweight.

§ 1036.121 Duties of the market administrator.

Except as specified in § 1036.116, the market administrator, in addition to other duties specified by this part, shall perform all the duties necessary to administer the terms and provisions of the advertising and promotion program including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) Within 30 days after the effective date of this amending order, and annually thereafter, conduct a referendum to determine representation on the Agency pursuant to § 1036.113(c);

(b) Set aside the amount subtracted under § 1036.61(b)(1) into an advertising and promotion fund, separately accounted for, from which shall be disbursed:

(1) To the Agency each month, all such funds less any necessary amount held in reserve to cover refunds pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph; payments, if any, to producers pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and payments to cover expenses of the market administrator incurred in the administration of the advertising and promotion program (including audit).

(2) Refund to producers the amount of mandatory checkoff for advertising and promotion programs required under authority of state law applicable to such producers, but not in amounts that exceed a rate of 5 cents per hundredweight on the volume of milk pooled by any such producer for which deductions were made pursuant to § 1036.61(b)(1).

(3) After the end of each calendar quarter, make a refund to each producer who has made application for such refund pursuant to § 1036.120 or make payment to any State on behalf of any producer for which specific authorization has been received pursuant to § 1036.120(d). Such refund or payment, as the case may be, shall be computed at the rate of 5 cents per hundredweight of such producer's milk pooled for which deductions were made pursuant to § 1036.61(b)(1) for such calendar quarter, less the amount of any refund otherwise made to the producer pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(c) Promptly after the effective date of this amending order, and thereafter with respect to a new producer, forward to each producer a copy of the provisions of the advertising and promotion program (§§ 1036.110 through 1036.122).

(d) Audit the Agency's records of receipts and disbursements.

§ 1036.122 Liquidation.

In the event that the provisions of this advertising and promotion program are terminated, any remaining uncommitted funds applicable thereto shall revert to the producer-settlement fund of § 1036.73.

§ 1036.62 [Amended]

(B) Proposal No. 2. Revise § 1036.62(b)(5) as follows: Add the phrase "plus 5 cents" after the words "subtract its value at the weighted average price applicable at such location."

§ 1036.61 [Amended]

(C) Proposal No. 3. In § 1036.61 add a new paragraph (b)(1) as follows:

(1) Subtract an amount computed by multiplying the total hundredweight of producer milk included pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section by 5 cents;

§ 1036.74 [Amended]

(D) Proposal No. 4. Revise § 1036.74(b)(2) as follows:

Add the phrase "plus 5 cents" after the words "at the location of the plants from which received."

Proposed by the Dairy Division, Agricultural Marketing Service:

(E) Proposal No. 5. Make such changes as may be necessary to make the entire marketing agreement and the order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and the order may be procured from the Market Administrator, Cleo C. Taylor, Post Office Box 29066, Cleveland, OH 44129, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250 or may be there inspected.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 30, 1972.

FROZEN PEAS

Request for Comments on a Recommended International Standard and a Petition

Correction

In F.R. Doc. 72-16645, appearing at page 21106, in the issue of Thursday, October 5, 1972, the following changes should be made:

1. On page 21106, in the seventh line of the second paragraph, the word "Commission" should read "Commissioner".

2. In the second column on page 21107, directly above the heading "Recommended International Standard for Quick Frozen Peas", insert:

[CAC/RS 41-1970]

3. On page 21108, in the second line of 6.1 The name of the food., delete the leaders.

4. On page 21108, in the second column, the first word of footnote 2 reading "ef", should read "Ref.".

5. Directly above paragraph (a), in the first column on page 21109, insert:

§ 50.1 Frozen peas; identity; label statement of optional ingredients.

6. The tables on pages 21110 and 21111 should read as follows:

Items of comparison	Proposal	Codex standard
1. Certain optional ingredients	MSG and glutamic acid salts. Organic acids, antioxidants, stabilizers. Sauces, including concentrated sauces. Sufficient vitamins to restore vitamin content to the level of raw peas.	Not provided for.
2. Name of the food:	Garnishes
(a) Sweet-pea varieties	"Green peas," "sweet green peas," "wrinkled peas," "garden peas," or "sweet peas."	"Garden peas" or an equivalent designation used in the country in which the product is intended to be sold.
(b) Smooth-skin pea varieties	"Early peas," "June peas," or "early June peas."	"Peas."
3. Label statement of ingredients	In boldface type of minimum size specified in Part 1 of Title 21 CFR, but not less than 1/16 inch in height; entire statement on one panel of the label and in lines parallel to the base of the container.	Clear, prominent, readily legible by the consumer under normal conditions of purchase and use.

COSMETIC PRODUCT EXPERIENCE

Proposed Voluntary Filing

Notice is given that a petition has been filed by the Cosmetic, Toiletry, and Fragrance Association, Inc., 1625 Eye Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20006, proposing the issuance of regulations to establish a procedure for the voluntary filing of cosmetic product experience to the extent that such experience involves any allergic reaction or other bodily injury caused by exposure to a cosmetic product.

The Association states that it is a nonprofit membership corporation, incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia, and that its membership includes approximately 200 companies who produce more than 85 percent of the Nation's total production of cosmetic products. The grounds given in support of the proposed regulations include the following:

The Association is submitting this petition to request the Food and Drug Administration to promulgate, by regulation, a procedure for the voluntary filing of cosmetic product experience. Under section 601(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FD&C Act), a cosmetic is deemed to be adulterated if it bears or contains any poisonous or deleterious substance which may render it injurious to users under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling or under customary or usual conditions of use. The Association believes that it is reasonable for the Food and Drug Administration to have available to it information on the experience resulting from use of cosmetic products.

Such information should include (1) reliable baseline information against which to assess or evaluate products or their ingredients, and (b) prompt information where specific public health questions may be presented. The petition proposes the voluntary submission of both kinds of information.

Baseline information must be both reliable and cover a sufficient time period so as to provide a perspective. As is reflected in other reporting programs, yearly reports provide perspective that is not biased by special promotions, introductions or other marketing factors.

Even more important than perspective is the need for reliability of information. The reports to be submitted would be those for which there is a reasonable factual basis for concluding that the alleged reaction or injury actually occurred (putting wholly to one side the issue of causality). Despite the best efforts of manufacturers and distributors, prompted often by product liability concerns, many assertions of adverse experience remain unconfirmed, at best speculative, and at worst spurious. Without more to go on than an obscure complaint, the "experience" hardly provides any baseline for evaluating product performance.

For this reason, and to avoid the resulting biased view of "complaints," the petition limits reports to those allegations of injury whose factual basis has been investigated by the reporter or is found in a physician's report. Even so, the reporting may contain biases against products where reactions or other experience are reported despite the absence, or inability to obtain, causality information.

The reporting of unexpected experience within 15 working days of receipt of such information will provide FDA with data that can assist it and the industry in evaluating the potential for specific public health problems. Such reports can be compared within FDA with baseline data for the product category or related products, so that a scientific judgment can be reached on the significance of the unexpected information.

The information included in Cosmetic Product Experience Reports will in many instances include trade secrets and other confidential and privileged proprietary information that would not be released by a company to competitors or the public and that could not be publicly divulged without substantial harm to the company. The regulation proposed therefore protects the confidentiality of this information by obligating the Food and Drug Administration not to disclose it. This proposal conforms to that of FDA of May 5, 1972, dealing with voluntarily submitted information.

Section 701(a) of the FD&C Act authorizes the Food and Drug Administration to promulgate regulations for the efficient enforcement of the Act. Under this provision, many statements of general policy or interpretation and other general regulations have been promulgated by the Food and Drug Administration. The Association believes that the general regulation-making authority in section 701(a) is sufficient to promulgate the proposed regulations set out below, providing for the voluntary filing of cosmetic product experience. "The Association believes that voluntary filing of cosmetic product experience, as set out below, would lead to more efficient enforcement of the FD&C Act and would be in the public interest.

The proposed Part 174 prepared by the Cosmetic, Toiletry, and Fragrance Association, Inc., reads as follows:

§ 174.1 Definitions.

(a) "Commercial distribution" of a cosmetic product means annual gross sales in excess of $1,000 for that product.

(b) "Cosmetic product" means a finished cosmetic the manufacture of which has been completed.

(c) "Reportable experience" means any allergic reaction or bodily injury, verified by the manufacturer or distributor or reflected in a physician's report, alleged to be the result of an ingredient or ingredients in a cosmetic product as a result of any human use under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling of the product or under such conditions of use as are customary or usual for the product.

(d) The definitions and interpretations contained in sections 201 and 601 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act shall be applicable to such terms when used in the regulations in this part.

§ 174.2 Who should file.

Either the manufacturer or distributor of a cosmetic product is requested to file a Cosmetic Product Experience Report or a Cosmetic Product Unexpected Experience Report with respect to each cosmetic product in commercial distribution, whether or not the cosmetic product enters interstate commerce. No filing fee is required.

§ 174.3 Time for filing.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, reportable experience should be submitted yearly, by filing a Cosmetic Product Experience Report for each calendar year, prior to March 31 of the following year.

(b) Unexpected reportable experience should be submitted as soon as possible, and in any event within 15 working days of its receipt by the manufacturer or distributor, by filing a Cosmetic Product Unexpected Experience Report. As used in this part, "unexpected" means reportable experience which by kind, severity or incidence differs significantly from that reported by the manufacturer or distributor for like cosmetics of that manufacturer or distributor in the same product category as defined in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

§ 174.4 How and where to file.

Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report) and Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unexpected Experience Report) are obtainable on request from the Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C. 20204, or at any Food and Drug Administration district office. The completed form should be mailed or delivered to: Cosmetic Product Experience Report, Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C. 20204.

§ 174.5 Information requested.

(a) Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report) requests information on:

(1) The name, street address, and city (also country, if other than U.S.A.) including post office ZIP code of the person (manufacturer or distributor) designated on the label of the product.

(2) The cosmetic product establishment registration number or numbers assigned under § 170.7 of this chapter to the establishment or establishments where the product is manufactured and packaged.

(3) The brand name or names of the cosmetic product.

(4) The cosmetic product ingredient statement number assigned to the product under § 172.8 of this chapter.

(5) The cosmetic product category or categories, as set out in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(6) The time period covered by the report.

(7) The reportable experience alleged to be the result of the product broken down into the types of experience alleged in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____.

(8) The reportable experience rate (e.g., number of reportable incidents per million product units estimated to be distributed to consumers) during this time period, and cumulatively during this and prior time periods, overall and broken down into the type of experience alleged in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____.

(9) Such evaluation of the experience or other pertinent data or information as the person filing may wish to provide.

(b) Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unexpected Experience Report) requests information on:

(1) The name, street address, and city (also country, if other than U.S.A.) including post office ZIP code of the person (manufacturer or distributor) designated on the label of the product.

(2) The cosmetic product establishment registration number or numbers assigned under § 170.7 of this chapter to the establishment or establishments where the product is manufactured and packaged.

(3) The brand name or names of the cosmetic product.

(4) The cosmetic product ingredient statement number assigned to the product under § 172.8 of this chapter.

(5) The cosmetic product category or categories, as set out in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(6) The unexpected experience alleged to be the result of the product, together with any evaluation thereof, and any other pertinent data or information as the person filing may wish to provide.

(c) The person filing a Form FD-_____ or FD-_____ should:

(1) Provide the information requested in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

(2) Have it signed by an authorized individual.

(d) The information requested should be given separately for each cosmetic product, except that a single Cosmetic

V 37 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

Product Experience Report may be filed for two or more shades, flavors, or fragrances of a cosmetic product where only the proportions of the ingredients are varied, and such product is covered by a single cosmetic product ingredient statement under § 172.5(e) of this chapter.

§ 174.6 Additions or amendments to reports.

Additions or amendments to any Cosmetic Product Experience Report should be submitted by filing an amended Form FD-_____ or Form FD-_____.

§ 174.7 Notification to person submitting experience reports.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs will acknowledge receipt of product experience reports (Form FD-_____ and FD-_____) to the person submitting the report by return of a receipted copy bearing an FDA reference number. This receipted copy will be sent only to the individual signing the form, at the location shown. On the basis of a review of individual reports or patterns of reportable experience disclosed in a number of reports, the Commissioner may request additional information from persons submitting reports with respect to particular kinds or incidence of alleged injury.

§ 174.8 Confidentiality of reports.

The information contained in, attached to, or included with any Cosmetic Product Experience Report, additions, and amendments, and any compilation thereof, constitutes trade secrets and other privileged and confidential commercial information that will be held as confidential under the provisions of section 301(j) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended (21 U.S.C. 331(j)), and section 3(c)(4) of the Administrative Procedure Act, as amended (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(4)); except that information contained in, attached to, or included with any such report may be disclosed in the course of testimony by a Food and Drug Administration employee in a court action brought by the Food and Drug Administration to enforce the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act with respect to that product where the information is relevant to the violation charged, only as such information is disclosed as is necessary under the circumstances, and the Food and Drug Administration offers to disclose the information in camera. Information voluntarily filed pursuant to this part under the foregoing obligation of confidentiality shall be destroyed or returned to the individual signing the form at the location shown if it is subsequently determined that this obligation cannot or should not be honored, unless that person or another authorized individual waives such return or destruction.

§ 174.9 Misbranding by reference to filing; filing does not constitute an admission.

(a) The filing of a Cosmetic Product Experience Report does not in any way denote approval of the firm or product. Any representation or labeling or advertising that creates an impression of official approval because of such filing will be considered misleading.

(b) The filing of a Cosmetic Product Experience Report does not in any way constitute an admission by the person filing that the alleged experience was the result of an ingredient or ingredients in the cosmetic product, or of any other fact.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has considered the petition and other relevant information, and has concluded that reasonable grounds have been furnished to warrant publishing the proposed new Part 174. However, in order to make this proposed voluntary procedure more immediately responsive to the actual needs of the Food and Drug Administration in protecting the public health and safety, the Commissioner, on his own initiative, proposes that in addition an alternative to the Cosmetic, Toiletry, and Fragrance Association, Inc.'s proposed regulation be considered for comment by all interested persons.

The Commissioner proposes the following changes in the Association's proposal:

1. In § 174.1:

a. Paragraph (a) is amended to expand the coverage of the cosmetic products that should be included in the program.

b. In paragraph (c) the definition of "reportable experience" is expanded to include all reports received by manufacturers, distributors, or dealers.

c. Paragraph (d) is redesignated as paragraph (f), a new paragraph (d) is added to define "unusual reportable experience," and a new paragraph (e) is added to define "verified."

2. Section 174.2 is redrafted to expand the participants in the program and to emphasize that participation under the voluntary regulatiqns of Parts 170 and 172 is not a prerequisite to participation in this program.

3. In § 174.3:

a. In paragraph (a) the time period is shortened to 90 days instead of the annual basis proposed by the Association.

b. In paragraph (b) the term "unexpected reportable experience" is changed to "unusual reportable experience" as defined in § 174.1(d) of the Commissioner's proposal.

c. A new paragraph (c) is added to provide for negative reports to be submitted annually.

4. Section 174.4 is edited for consistency, with the addition of two new sentences regarding the filing of reports.

5. In § 174.5:

a. In paragraph (a) subparagraphs (2) through (9) are redesignated as subparagraphs (3) through (10) and a new subparagraph (2) is added to request the listing of the names and addresses of the persons who suffered the adverse experience. This is to alleviate the multiple recording of product experience reports of the same incident that are submitted to the Food and Drug Administration from several different sources. The names and addresses of these persons will not be subject to public disclosure.

b. In paragraph (a) under redesignated subparagraphs (3) and (5), sentences are added to cover "pending" registration and ingredient statement numbers and the case of a person who has not participated in the other voluntary cosmetic programs.

c. In paragraph (a) a sentence is added in redesignated subparagraph (8) to provide for correlating each reportable experience with the individual who suffered the adverse experience.

d. In paragraph (a) a sentence is changed in redesignated subparagraph (10) to request all information the person is "able to provide" rather than "may wish to provide."

e. Paragraph (b) is redrafted to be consistent with paragraph (a).

f. Paragraphs (c) and (d) are redesignated as paragraphs (d) and (e), redesignated paragraph (d) has been edited for consistency and a sentence has been added requesting the name and address of the firm submitting the report, and a new paragraph (c) is added to provide for negative reports.

g. A new paragraph (f) is added to relocate the last sentence of the Association's § 174.7 and clarify how much additional information the Commissioner may request.

6. In § 174.6 wording has been added to specify when additions or amendments should be submitted.

7. In § 174.8 regarding the confidentiality of reports, the final wording for this section will be consistent with, or make reference to, the final order ruling on the public information notice of proposed rule making, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 5, 1972 (37 F.R. 9128).

The regulations proposed by the Commissioner of Food and Drugs are as follows:

§ 174.1 Definitions.

(a) "Commercial distribution" of a cosmetic product means any distribution outside the establishment manufacturing the product whether for sale, to promote future sales (including free samples of the product), or to gage consumer acceptance through market testing.

(b) "Cosmetic product" means a finished cosmetic, the manufacture of which has been completed.

(c) "Reportable experience" means any allergic reaction, or other bodily injury, alleged to be the result of an ingredient or ingredients in a cosmetic product as a result of any human use under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling of the product, or under such conditions of use or handling as are customary or reasonably foreseeable for the product (including accidental misuse by children), that has been reported to the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer of the product by the affected person or any other person having factual knowledge of the incident.

(d) "Unusual reportable experience" means any injury, toxicity, or sensitivity reaction, or other unexpected adverse reaction resulting from the use or handling (whether or not accidental) of a cosmetic product that has been reported to the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer of the product, by the affected person, or any other person having factual knowledge of the incident, and which by kind, severity, incidence, or frequency of incidence, differs significantly from previous experience, or from the norm reported by the cosmetic industry for like cosmetics in the same product category, as defined in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(e) "Verified" means that the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer has determined by investigation, or as reflected in a physician's report, that there is a reasonable factual basis for concluding that the alleged reaction or injury occurred, without regard to the issue of causality.

(f) The definitions and interpretations contained in sections 201 and 601 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act shall be applicable to such terms when used in the regulations in this part.

§ 174.2 Who should file.

Every person who is a manufacturer, distributor, or dealer of a cosmetic product is requested to file a "Cosmetic Product Experience Report" or a "Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report" with respect to each "reportable experience" or "unusual reportable experience" which has been reported to him concerning any of his cosmetic products in commercial distribution, regardless of whether he is a participant in the voluntary program to register cosmetic product establishments pursuant to Part 170 of this chapter, or to file cosmetic ingredient and raw material composition statements pursuant to Part 172 of this chapter. Every person who is a manufacturer or distributor of a cosmetic product, and who has not received any information concerning a reportable experience or unusual reportable experience in regard to any of the cosmetic products he has manufactured or distributed, is requested to file a "Cosmetic Product Negative Experience Report." No filing fee is required.

§ 174.3 Time for filing.

(a) A "reportable experience" should be reported to the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as soon as possible after receipt of the information, but in any event within 90 days of its receipt, by filing a "Cosmetic Product Experience Report."

(b) An "unusual reportable experience" should be reported to the FDA immediately upon receipt of the information, and in any event within 15 working days of its receipt by the manufacturer, distributor, or dealer, by filing a "Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report."

(c) A negative report should be submitted annually.

§ 174.4 How and where to file.

Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report), Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Exerience Report), and Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Negative Experience Report) are obtainable on request from the Bureau of Foods, Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 200 C Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20204, or from any Food and Drug Administration district office. The completed form should be mailed or delivered to: Cosmetic Product Experience Report, Bureau of Foods, Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 200 C Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20204. In the case of an unusual experience report, the envelope should be conspicuously flagged "Unusual Experience Report." In the case of a negative experience report, the envelope should be conspicuously flagged "Negative Report."

§ 174.5 Information requested.

(a) Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report) requests information on:

(1) The name and address (include country, if other than the United States), including post office ZIP code of the person (manufacturer or distributor) designated on the label of the product.

(2) The names and addresses of the individuals who suffered the adverse experience(s).

(3) The cosmetic product establishment registration number or numbers assigned, under § 170.7 of this chapter, to the establishment or establishments where the product is manufactured and packaged. In the case where a number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily registered the establishment pursuant to Part 170 of this chapter should so indicate.

(4) The brand name or names of the cosmetic product.

(5) The cosmetic product ingredient statement number or reference number assigned to the product under § 172.8 of this chapter. In the case where a number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily filed a cosmetic product ingredient statement pursuant to Part 172 of this chapter should so indicate.

(6) The cosmetic product category or categories, as set out in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(7) The time period covered by the report.

(8) The reportable experiences alleged to be the result of exposure to the product, broken down into the types of alleged experience, in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report). Each experience should be identified with the name and address of the individual(s) who suffered the adverse experience, and the experience should be classed as verified or not verified as appropriate.

(9) The reportable experience rate, e.g., number of reportable incidents per million product units estimated to be distributed to consumers, during this time period, and cumulatively during this and prior time periods, overall and broken down into the types of alleged experience, in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report).

(10) Such evaluation of each experience, including in the case of an unverified reportable experience, a report of the investigation made to verify the experience and all other pertinent data or information as the person filing is able to provide.

(b) Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report) requests information on:

(1) The name and address (include country, if other than the United States), including post office ZIP code of the person (manufacturer or distributor) designated on the label of the product.

(2) The names and addresses of the individuals who suffered the adverse experiences.

(3) The cosmetic product establishment registration number or numbers assigned, under § 170.7 of this chapter, to the establishment or establishments where the product is manufactured and packaged. In the case where the registration number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily registered its establishment pursuant to Part 170 of this chapter, should so indicate.

(4) The brand name or names of the cosmetic product.

(5) The cosmetic product ingredient statement number or reference number assigned to the product under § 172.8 of this chapter. In the case where the number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily filed a cosmetic product ingredient statement pursuant to Part 172 of this chapter should so indicate.

(6) The cosmetic product category or categories, as set out in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(7) The unusual reportable experiences alleged to be the result of exposure to the product, broken down into the types of alleged experience, in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report). Each experience should be identified with the name and address of the individuals who suffered the adverse experience, and the experience should be classed as verified or not verified as appropriate.

(8) The unusual reportable experience rate, e.g., number of similar incidents per million product units estimated to have been distributed to consumers during prior 3-month period, prior year, and cumulatively during marketing history of product, overall and broken down into the types of alleged experience, in accordance with the categories specified in Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report).

V 37 - 212 - NOV 2 72 XUM

(9) Such evaluation of each experience including, in the case of an unverified unusual reportable experience, a report of the investigation made to verify the experience, and all other pertinent data or information as the person filing is able to provide.

(c) Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Negative Experience Report) requests information on:

(1) The name and address (include country, if other than the United States), including post office ZIP code of the person (manufacturer or distributor) designated on the label of the product.

(2) The cosmetic product establishment registration number or numbers assigned, under § 170.7 of this chapter, to the establishment or establishments where the product is manufactured and packaged. In the case where a number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily registered the establishment pursuant to Part 170 of this chapter should so indicate.

(3) The brand name or names of the cosmetic product.

(4) The cosmetic product ingredient statement number or reference number assigned to the product under § 172.8 of this chapter. In the case where a number is pending, but has not been assigned, the firm should so indicate. A firm that has not voluntarily filed a cosmetic product ingredient statement pursuant to Part 172 of this chapter should so indicate.

(5) The cosmetic product category or categories, as set out in § 172.5(c) of this chapter.

(6) The time period covered by the report.

(d) The person filing a Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report), FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report), or Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Negative Experience Report) should:

(1) Provide the information requested in paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this section as appropriate.

(2) Have it signed by an authorized individual. Include the name and address of firm submitting the report.

(e) The information requested should be filed separately for each cosmetic product, except that a single report may be filed for two or more shades, flavors, or fragrances of a cosmetic product where only the proportions of the ingredients are varied, and such product is covered by a single cosmetic product ingredient statement under § 172.5(e) of this chapter.

(f) On the basis of a review of individual reports or patterns of experience disclosed in a number of reports, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs may request as much additional information from persons submitting reports as the Commissioner deems appropriate.

§ 174.6 Additions or amendments to reports.

Additions or amendments to any experience report should be submitted by filing an amended Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Experience Report), Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Unusual Experience Report) or Form FD-_____ (Cosmetic Product Negative Experience Report), as soon as the need for such additions or amendments becomes apparent to the person who submitted the original report.

§ 174.7 Notification to person submitting experience reports.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs will acknowledge receipt of each report by returning to the person submitting the report, a receipted copy bearing a Food and Drug Administration reference number. This receipted copy will be sent only to the individual signing the form, at the location indicated.

§ 174.8 Confidentiality of reports.

A notice of proposed rule making, public information, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 5, 1972 (37 F.R. 9128). This proposal sets out in detail the proposed rules applicable to public disclosure of information by the Food and Drug Administration. After the final order is published by the Commissioner of Food and Drugs under 21 CFR 4.26, all data and information, which are submitted voluntarily to the Food and Drug Administration will be handled in accordance with the final order.

§ 174.9 Misbranding by reference to filing; filing does not constitute an admission.

(a) The filing of an experience report does not in any way denote approval of the firm or product. Any representation in labeling or advertising that creates an impression of official approval because of such filing will be considered misleading.

(b) The filing of an experience report does not in any way constitute an admission by the person filing the report that the alleged experience was the result of an ingredient or ingredients in the cosmetic product.

Pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 601, 602, 701(a), 52 Stat. 1054–1055, as amended by 74 Stat. 398, 84 Stat. 1673; 21 U.S.C. 361, 362, 371(a)), and in accordance with authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), interested persons are invited to submit comments in writing (preferably in quintuplicate) regarding these two proposals within 60 days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such views and comments should be addressed to the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 6–88, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852, and may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. Received comments may be seen in the above office during working hours, Monday through Friday.

Dated: October 20, 1972.

CHARLES C. EDWARDS,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

[Airspace Docket No. 72-SO-106]

CONTROL ZONE

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate the Mobile, Ala. (Aerospace Airport), control zone.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Air Traffic Division, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, GA 30320. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Room 724, 3400 Whipple Street, East Point, GA.

The Mobile (Aerospace Airport) control zone would be designated as:

Within a 5-mile radius of Mobile Aerospace Airport (latitude 30°37'08.5" N., longitude 88°03'57.2" W.); within 3.5 miles each side of Brookley VORTAC 150° radial, extending from the 5-mile-radius zone to 10 miles southeast of the VORTAC. This control zone is effective from 0800 to 1900 hours, local time, daily.

The proposed designation is required to provide controlled airspace protection for IFR operations at Mobile Aerospace Airport in climb to 700 feet above the surface and in descent from 1,000 feet above the surface.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in East Point, Ga., on October 20, 1972.

MANEB AND ZINEB

Proposed Tolerances for Pesticide Chemicals in or on Raw Agricultural Commodities

In connection with Pesticide Petition 2E1266, which resulted in reduction of established tolerances (40 CFR Part 180) for residues of the fungicides maneb and zineb, Dr. C. C. Compton, Coordinator, Interregional Research Project No. 4, State Agricultural Experiment Station, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903, has further proposed that the established tolerance for residues of the fungicide maneb on sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husk removed) be reduced from 7 to 5 parts per million and that the tolerance of 5 parts per million for zineb on corn fodder and forage be changed to 5 parts per million on sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husk removed).

Also, in the order establishing reduced tolerances for residues of zineb on certain raw agricultural commodities (37 F.R. 19134; September 19, 1972) the parenthetic word "(escarole)" should have been deleted from the paragraph "25 parts per million • • •" and inserted in the paragraph "10 parts per million • • •".

Based on consideration given the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material, it is concluded that the proposed tolerances will better protect the public health than the tolerances they would replace.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), it is proposed that Part 180 be amended as follows:

1. In § 180.110, by deleting the words "sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husks removed)" from the paragraph "7 parts per million • • •" and by revising the paragraph "5 parts per million • • •" to read as follows:

§ 180.110 Maneb; tolerances for residues.

• • • • •

5 parts in or on celery and sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husk removed).

• • • • •

2. In § 180.115, by revising the paragraphs "25 parts per million • • •," "10 parts per million • • •," and "5 parts per million • • •," to read as follows:

§ 180.115 Zineb; tolerances for residues.

• • • • •

25 parts per million in or on beet tops, Chinese cabbage, collards, romaine, and Swiss chard.

• • • • •

10 parts per million in or on endive (escarole), kale, lettuce, mustard greens, and spinach.

• • • • •

5 parts per million in or on celery and sweet corn (kernels plus cob with husk removed).

• • • • •

Any person who has registered or submitted an application for the registration of an economic poison under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act containing any of the ingredients listed herein may request, within 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, that this proposal be referred to an advisory committee in accordance with section 408(e) of the act.

Interested persons may, within 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3125, South Agriculture Building, 12th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, written comments (preferably in quintuplicate) regarding this proposal. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All written submissions made pursuant to this proposal will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk.

Dated: OCTOBER 24, 1972.

Acting Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs.

α-NAPHTHALENEACETIC ACID

Proposed Tolerance for Pesticide Chemicals in or on Raw Agricultural Commodities

Dr. C. C. Compton, Coordinator, Interregional Research Project No. 4, State Agricultural Experiment Station, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903, on behalf of the State Agricultural Experiment Station of California, the California Olive Association, and the Olive Advisory Board submitted a petition (PP 1E1099), proposing establishment of a tolerance for negligible residues of the plant regulator α-naphthaleneacetic acid in or on the raw agricultural commodity olives at 0.1 part per million.

Based on consideration given data submitted in the petition and other relevant material, it is concluded that:

1. The plant regulator is useful for the purpose for which the tolerance is proposed.

2. There is no reasonable expectation of residues in eggs, meat, milk, or poultry, and § 180.6(a)(3) applies.

3. The proposed tolerance will protect the public health.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 F.R. 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs (36 F.R. 9038), it is proposed that § 180.155 be amended by inserting a new paragraph after the paragraph "1 part per million • • •," as follows:

• • • • •

0.1 part per million (negligible residue) in or on olives.

• • • • •

Any person who has registered or submitted an application for the registration of an economic poison under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act containing any of the ingredients listed herein may request, within 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, that this proposal be referred to an advisory committee in accordance with section 408(e) of the act.

Interested persons may, within 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3125, South Agriculture Building, 12th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, written comments (preferably in quintuplicate) regarding this proposal. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Dated: October 24, 1972.

LOWELL MILLER,
Acting Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticides Programs.

PRIME TIME ACCESS RULE

Notice of Inquiry and Notice of Proposed Rule Making

In the matter of consideration of the operation of, and possible changes in, the "prime time access rule," § 73.658(k) of the Commission's rules.

Petitions of: National Broadcasting Co., Inc. (NBC); Midland Television Corp. (KMTC, Springfield, Missouri);

V 37-212 NOV 2 72 XUM

Kingstip Communications, Inc. (KHFI–TV, Austin, Tex.), for deletion of the rule; MCA, Inc. (to permit use of "off-network" material plus 25 percent new material); RM–1967, RM–1935, RM–1940, and RM–1929.

I. INTRODUCTION AND DISCUSSION

A. Introduction. 1. In this proceeding, the Commission seeks information as to the effect and operation of § 73.658(k) of its rules—the "prime time access rule"—and invites comments on changes in that regulation which may be appropriate for the future. The categories of information sought, and possible changes, are discussed at some length below. One matter should be clarified at the outset: While "possible changes" include repeal of the rule, the institution of this proceeding does not represent a Commission view at this time that the rule should be repealed, now or later. See paragraph 15, below.

2. Section 73.658(k) was adopted in the report and order in Docket 12782, May 1970 (23 FCC 2d 382, 18 R.R. 2d 1825). It was affirmed generally on reconsideration in August 1970 (25 FCC 2d 318, 19 R.R. 2d 1869). In general, it provides that after October 1, 1971, network-affiliated stations in the "top 50 markets" may present, during the 4 hours of "prime time" each evening, no more than 3 hours of material from the three national networks, ABC, CBS, and NBC. Effective October 1, 1972, paragraph (k) (3) of the rule provides that the time thus cleared of network programs (i.e., 1 hour a night, generally the hour from 7 to 8 p.m., e.t. and P.t., 6 p.m., c.t. and m.t.) may not be filled with "off-network" material (program which have appeared on one of the three networks) or feature films which have been shown by a station in the market within the past 2 years. Thus, in effect, 1 hour of prime time each night must be devoted to material which is neither network programing nor in one of these other categories.[1] The basic purpose of the adoption of the rule was set forth as follows (23 FCC 2d 395–396, par. 23, 18 R.R. 2d 1844):

We believe this modest action will provide a healthy impetus to the development of independent program sources, with concomitant benefits in an increased supply of programs for independent (and, indeed affiliated) stations. The entire development of UHF should be benefitted * * * It may also be hoped that diversity of program ideas maybe encouraged by removing the three-network funnel for this half hour of programing. In light of the unequal competitive situation now obtaining, we do not believe this action can fairly be considered "anti-competitive" where the market is being opened through a limitation upon supply by three dominant companies * * *

3. Among the matters to be considered herein are the various petitions listed above.[2] We shall describe briefly the petitions and oppositions thereto, and then set forth the Commission's purposes in this proceeding, dealing with the prime time access rule and the "access peridd."[3]

4. Another pending petition to limit use of TV "re-runs" generally. This proceeding does not directly involve the subject-matter of another recently filed petition, that by Mr. Bernard Balmuth and a group called STOP (Save Television Original Programing), asking for a general rule limiting use of prime-time repeat material on network-owned or network-affiliated stations to 25 percent of the broadcast year (RM–1977). This petition, which has drawn substantial support and opposition, will be considered by the Commission in the near future. It is not to be considered in the present proceeding, as such, but the two are clearly related to a degree; for example, the feasibility of developing and producing a given nonnetwork series could vary depending on whether the supplier must furnish 39 individual programs (75 percent of 52 weeks) or may get by with as few as 26 (50 percent) or perhaps even less. We merely call attention here to the pendency of this petition, and to the fact that it may be appropriate to give this subject consideration in rule making. Parties may wish to prepare their comments herein with this in mind.

B. The petitions for rule making. 5. As mentioned, three of the above-captioned petitions for rule making—those of NBC and two UHF stations in comparatively small "intermixed" markets—seek repeal of the rule, the two individual petitions both apparently asking it for this coming year, 1972–73, and NBC envisioning it in time for the 1973–74 season. NBC asks the Commission to initiate forthwith a notice of proposed rule making broad enough to include rescission of the rule, to develop on an expedited basis the facts as to how the rule is operating, and to convene a conference among members of the staff and all interested parties, to devise methods to obtain this material promptly and completely. NBC's argument relates largely to the asserted decline in the television audience in the 7:30–8 p.m. (e.t.) period, compared to what it has been when network programs were presented then, assertedly 7 percent in the top 50 markets and 6 percent elsewhere, compared to no change or some increase for the remainder of prime time (and also an increase for Tuesdays, when the networks have begun their programing at 7:30 following the waiver to ABC).[4] While NBC recognizes that part of the audience change has been a shift to independent stations from network affiliates, it asserts that, as the above figures show:

> * * * the preference for network programing is so strong that millions of viewers would rather not watch television at all than watch nonnetwork programing.

Therefore, it is claimed, as shown by the other two petitions, stations are adversely affected, particularly those in small markets which always have had narrower margins. NBC also claims that the rule has not been and will not yield benefits in terms of an expanded production of quality first-run material, or of increased diversity of programing. It is claimed that there are very few new producers, and that many, and the most successful, "first-run" programs are those which are continuations or revivals of network prime-time or daytime material ("Hee Haw," "Lawrence Welk," "Wild Kingdom," "Let's Make a Deal," "To Tell the Truth," "Truth or Consequences," "What's My Line" and "Juvenile Jury" are cited as examples). A

[1] At the same time as the "prime time access rule", the Commission also adopted other restrictions on the three networks, contained in § 73.658(j) and sometimes called the "syndication" and "financial interest" rules. These sharply restrict the extent to which these organizations may engage in the nonnetwork distribution of TV programs, or "syndication", or acquire interests in TV programs other than the right to network exhibition. These rules are not directly involved in the present proceeding. The "prime time access rule" applies by its terms only to the top 50 markets. However, the networks decided that, as a matter of business judgment, they could not continue to present more than 3 hours of prime-time programs for the rest of the country if barred from access to their affiliated stations in the top 50 markets for more than that amount of prime time. Therefore, network prime-time schedules have been cut back to 3 hours a night across the board, generally a half-hour less than had previously been programed by them.

[2] Three of the petitions seek, in effect, repeal of the rule—those of NBC and the two individual stations listed, both UHF stations in comparatively small "intermixed" markets. These three petitions have been supported by some individual station licensees (not all of them identified); the NBC petition has been opposed by Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., Inc. (Westinghouse, a large station owner and supplier of nonnetwork-program material, and long one of the chief proponents of the rule) and by American Broadcasting Cos., Inc. (ABC) insofar as NBC seeks rule making looking toward early repeal of the rule. Hughes Sports Network also opposed the two UHF petitions.

[3] The term "access period" is used herein to refer to the portion of prime time which is generally cleared of network programs in the top 50 markets, as the rule operates. For the 1971–72 season, this has included all nights from 7 to 7:30 p.m., e.t. and P.t. (6–6:30 p.m., c.t.); 7:30–8 p.m., e.t (6:30–7 p.m., c.t.) except for all networks' affiliates on Tuesday nights and CBS and NBC affiliates on Sunday nights; and 10:30–11 p.m., e.t. (9:30–10 p.m., c.t.) for CBS and NBC affiliates on Tuesdays, ABC affiliates on Wednesdays, NBC stations on Fridays, and CBS affiliates on Sundays. There are a number of exceptions to this general pattern.

For 1972–73, the "access period" will be more uniform as far as nights of the week are concerned, being 7–8 p.m., e.t. and P.t. (6–7 p.m., c.t.) on all nights for ABC stations and all but Sundays on CBS and NBC; and, on Sundays, 7–7:30 p.m. and 10:30–11 p.m. for CBS and NBC affiliates.

[4] Other sources discussing this subject, including Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. in opposing the petition, claim lesser audience-loss figures, such as 4 percent or 2 percent overall for the 7:30–8 p.m. period. It appears unquestionable that, in markets where there are independent stations as well as network affiliates, there has been a shift in viewing during this period away from the affiliates to the independents.

study by an advertising agency of November 1971 nonnetwork programing (7:30–8 p.m. e.t.) is cited, giving for the top 10 programs in audience two off-network series, five continuations of network series, two revivals, and only one entirely new series (Primus), with only one of them reaching an audience as large as the 10th-rated 7:30–8 p.m. network program of the previous year, "High Chaparral."

6. Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., Inc. (Westinghouse), which is both a large multiple TV and radio owner and an extensive supplier of syndicated material, vigorously opposes the NBC petition, as premature and unsupported. It is urged that as far as gathering information is concerned, a new proceeding is unnecessary; Docket 12782, which was not closed out, can be reopened for this purpose; and that adoption of the proposal will have a most discouraging effect on the development of nonnetwork material, and in fact will "make a mockery" of the full and fair test which the rule is supposed to have this coming year, adding to the uncertainty which already unfortunately prevails and which has a depressing effect on the program-production activity. Westinghouse asserts that despite NBC's criticism of the course of nonnetwork program development, it lists 32 new first-run series, of which several are properly regarded as truly innovative (cited are Westinghouse's "Doctor in the House," "David Frost Revue," and "Norman Corwin Presents," "Primus" from Metromedia, and "Story Theatre" and "Rollin' on the River" from Winters-Rosen). Westinghouse claims that this is a good record particularly in view of the adverse circumstances which prevailed (the uncertainty as to the rule itself until it was affirmed on appeal in May 1971, which gave producers little time before the fall season, and the exemption to permit use of "off-network" material) and the industry's traditional preference for proven and successful program ideas. ABC's arguments in opposition to a rule making (though not to the gathering of information) are much the same as those of Westinghouse; it is said that development of a viable first-run syndicated programing market may well require innovation, and that "Innovation typically follows from experimentation; and experimentation requires time." In short, it will be several years before a really sound judgment can be reached as to the success of the rule, or lack of it; and that meanwhile the Commission can best maximize the chances for success by going on record to the effect that the rule will be given a reasonable opportunity—not "1 year of full effectiveness under the 'gun' of a repeal proceeding."[5]

7. In reply, NBC added somewhat to some of its earlier arguments. It stated that 1972–73 is as good a "test" year as any, and that the pendency of a rule making proceeding can have no adverse effect on the results of such a test, since the programing which is available will already have been planned and largely produced, before the fall season begins.

8. The petitions by the two UHF stations mentioned, essentially similar to each other, emphasize the "economic injury" argument urged by NBC, particularly with respect to their own situations as UHF stations in intermixed markets, at a competitive disadvantage vis-a-vis the VHF stations in the same markets (two in Springfield, Mo., one in Austin, Tex.). They claim that they are able to survive as long as they have the exclusive right to present a full line :p of one of the three networks in their areas; but with the "access rule" cutback, they are seriously injured, through loss of the network revenues which they formerly received for the time involved and through having to pay the costs of programing the time themselves. It is said that, with the lower audience which is obtainable for the nonnetwork material (particularly with the greater problems in tuning UHF to begin with), the small revenues they obtain from selling the time on a nonnetwork basis do not begin to compensate for these increased costs. The point is also made that, with nonnetwork material being extremely costly, they cannot compete for desirable "access time" programs with their VHF competitors. Hughes Sports Network opposed these filings.

9. The MCA, Inc. petition. The petition of MCA, Inc. (RM–1929) looked toward the adoption of rules (in time for the 1972–73 season) under which material would comply with the "off-network" restrictions of the rule if it consisted of "off-network" material plus about 25 percent new material (four programs out of 13, seven out of 26, etc.). MCA urged this as a measure to permit more production of new nonnetwork material of quality, by eliminating some of the tremendous costs and risks involved in an entire new series. It was claimed that this would mean more good-quality material, at lower cost and thus more easily available to stations, particularly those in small markets and UHF stations in intermixed markets, which often have limited resources. MCA has long been a vigorous opponent of the rule, and expressed here its doubts as to its merits; but it stated that this is one small step which the Commission can, and should take quickly to ease part of the problem. The Commission denied this petition in April 1972 (petition of MCA, Inc., 34 FCC 2d 825, 24 R.R. 2d 1771).[6] The chief basis of decision was that the petition—which sought a change in time for the 1972–73 year—was premature.

C. The reasons for this proceeding and the Commission's views on it. 10. There is clearly a need for a proceeding dealing with the prime time access rule. First, there is the need to gather information about how the rule is working, both as compared to no rule and as compared to how it would work with various changes discussed herein. As to the propriety of gathering such information at this time, there appears little room for argument, and, indeed, no party really contests this. This Commission has some degree of obligation to conduct a continuing examination into the effect of any of its rules; and this is particularly true where, as here, the rule represents a breakthrough into a new area of regulation, previously not subject to rules or restrictions. It is especially true here because of the degree of controversy which surrounded the rule both before and since its adoption. Also, we expressed in our decision in Docket 12782 the belief that the rule should and would be examined from time to time, to see what changes, if any, should be made in it. Therefore some gathering of information is clearly in order. This could be done in Docket 12782; but that proceeding is over 10 years old and a great volume of material has been accumulated in it. We believe it preferable, from the standpoint of reaching prompt decisions herein, to call for the submission of the new, current material in a new proceeding. However, Docket 12782 has not been closed out, and the material therein is rather readily available; we will accept comments referring to it just as if the material were resubmitted herein.

[5] ABC asserts that the lower audience mentioned by NBC may reflect largely the presentation of "off-network" material during the access period—naturally, people prefer present network programing to former network programing.

Hughes Sports Network, opposing the two UHF petitions although not that of NBC, briefly urged some of the same arguments as Westinghouse and ABC, including the assertedly "premature" nature of any proceeding at this time.

[6] In its present rule-making petition, NBC mentions the MCA petition and asserts that, if the Commission is going to give consideration to this type of change in the rule, it might well give consideration also to letting new network material back into the cleared time, rather than older "off-network" programing.

V 37 - 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

11. Also, as far as the information-gathering may be "premature," we recognize that information for the 1972–73 year, which is what basically will be involved here, may not be as favorable to the rule as that for some later period, when more of the necessary adjustments and developments involved have occurred. However, we believe that, if allowance is made for further developments, as commenting parties are urged to outline in as much detail as is now possible, a fairly accurate idea of the rule's prospects can be obtained at this point. We will make such allowances in reaching any decision herein.

12. There is a second clear basis for this proceeding: The apparent need for certain changes in the rule if it is to operate in the public interest to the maximum extent. These include some of a more or less mechanical nature, to ease the burden on affected parties and the Commission, and others of a more substantial nature. The need for changes, as outlined herein, does not need much elaboration. The rule in its application and administration has given rise to a very large number of waiver requests, which have been a burden to the parties involved and to us. It is, obviously, highly desirable to eliminate the need for many of these, by adopting general rules which more nearly fit the range of situations which are involved. The sports area is one example of situations where a general rule would appear feasible and much preferable to present practice. Probably of more basic significance are areas such as the "off-network" situations, where it is questionable whether the rule if literally applied would serve the public interest, and where, at the same time, any deviation from it on an ad hoc basis appears to give problems. Moreover, apart from the specific problems in various areas which have arisen, there is a more general consideration. No "new rule," such as this one, can be expected to be 100 percent sound and correct when it is first adopted. After a year's experience under it, it is appropriate to see how it is working and make those changes which appear appropriate.

13. Thus, in view of the above considerations, an overall proceeding is warranted at this time. We have decided to include in that proceeding the question of whether the rule should be retained or rescinded. Three of the petitions before us, listed above, have raised this question, and in our view these can best be disposed of in the context of this proceeding, and particularly in light of the information gleaned through it. In any overview such as this, we should have flexibility to take any and all actions which the record may show to be in the public interest. Moreover, we see no adverse consequence from proceeding in this fashion. The programing for the 1972–73 season will not be affected because, as NBC points out, it is already "set," or virtually so. As to the effect on the future, particularly the 1973–74 season, the short answer is that we plan to gather the data and dispose of the basic issues raised by the petitions on a prompt basis—in early 1973, and before there can be too much of an untoward effect on the 1973–74 season.

14. Indeed, from the point of view of the proponents of the rule, this approach should be advantageous, because—if the review is favorable to the rule—it will remove any cloud over it, not only for the next year but quite likely for several years to come. To put it otherwise, there must be an overview, in light of the nature of the rule and need for at least some changes in it, and, that being so, it is better to effect the overview at this point and "get this matter behind us." As to the timing of this examination, the "off-network" and "feature film" provisions of § 73.658(k)(3) will now be in effect, and we should be able to get a good indication of the rule's prospects. As stated, we will make due allowance for the fact that the rule is still fairly new, so that perhaps it has not yet reached its full potential. Parties are urged to comment, in as much specific detail as possible, on what significance should be attached to the fact that the rule is still rather new, and any related uncertainties.

15. We make one final point—although it should be unnecessary. The Commission has not adopted any decision or view, even of a tentative nature, as to the desirability of rescinding the rule. It would be wholly wrong for us to do so, when the 1972–73 year is just getting under way and there is no data before us as to the efficacy of the rule under full conditions, i.e., with § 73.658(k)(3) in effect. Indeed, we stress that the presumption is the other way: The Commission has a rule which is now going into full effect, and there is thus a clear and considerable burden upon the opponents to demonstrate that, in actual operation, the rule will not serve the public interest, particularly in light of the purposes set forth in paragraph 2, above. This proceeding gives interested parties an opportunity to make showings on this critical issue, and thus facilitate an informed Commission decision. In light of the petitions and other circumstances, nothing less would be appropriate, but nothing more is to be inferred from what is simply a sound and fair way to proceed to the disposition of significant pending petitions.

II. Specific Information Requested and Subjects Involved

A. Information sought. 16. As mentioned, one of the most important purposes of this proceeding is to gather information about the operation of the prime time access rule, both in relation to the changes proposed herein (including rescission of the rule), and generally for the Commission's guidance as to the future. What is sought is information as to effect and impact—from the operation of the rule as compared to operation without it, and from the various modifications considered herein (and past waiver actions) as compared to operation under the rule as now in effect. The effect on future development is also highly important. The specific points covered below are all subsidiary to that general objective. The information sought falls into two general areas: Programing information and economic information, the latter involving three aspects—the impact on stations, the economics of program production and distribution, and the effect on the program production business. In both areas, the Commission expects to rely partly on data other than that submitted in comments, as discussed below; but unquestionably commenting parties can be of considerable assistance if their information is specific and complete.

17. Programing data. With respect to programing, the Commission intends to rely partly on data contained in TV Guide for the various parts of the country, and also American Research Bureau (ARB) audience survey material, which lists the programs presented by stations covered (e.g., May 1972). However, this data is not always completely informative as to the nature of the program; we hope that as many TV station licensees as possible will present information in this area (including the networks, both as networks and as station licensees). As mentioned, the primary objective is to obtain information as to the effect and impact of the rule or possible changes in it (or waivers of it).[7] The specific information sought is as follows:

(a) The programs that the station has been presenting in the "access periods" during 1971–72, will present in 1972–73, and will present further in the future as far as it can be projected: (1) Under the rule basically as it now stands; (2) if there were no "prime time access rule";[8] (3) with various changes in the rule, including adoption of a "21 hours a week" standard, possible relaxation to permit some use of "off-network" material as part of regular program series or for individual programs or short series, and others mentioned herein. We hope licensees will submit enough information to give an idea of the nature of the program as well as its title, in particular (except for network programs and the better-known syndicated programs) whether it is locally originated or syndicated, and the program type. The three networks are expected to indicate, as best they can at this point, what programs they would be presenting as network material in 1972–73 and later years, during the "access periods", if this time were available to them.

(b) What has been and would be the effect, in terms of the presentation of and demand for new syndicated or local

[7] While this investigation relates largely to "top 50 markets" network-affiliated stations, other stations are invited to comment, since the rule in practice has had an effect "across the board."

[8] If there is no other information indicating what would be the station's practice in the absence of the rule, it may show its programing for the 1970–71 season, the last before the rule became effective.

programing (and on the incentive to produce such material) of one or more of the following:

(1) Grant of waiver to stations in the top 50 markets to carry network news at the beginning of prime time without having it count toward the permissible 3 hours, if preceded by a full hour of local news.

(2) Grant of waiver to the networks to present one-time news and public affairs programs without counting in the permissible 3 hours; on a more general exemption for programing of these types.[9]

(3) Change to a "21 hours a week" standard instead of 3 hours a night, either completely or partly, such as allowing a small amount of occasional deviation to "make up" network programs lost through preemption, or to clear a 1-hour segment between news and network programs, or permitting flexibility within the 21-hour framework provided at least a half-hour of nonnetwork material is presented each night.

(4) Permitting generally (or refusing to permit) sports "runover" waivers, for example games in the late afternoon running somewhat past 7 p.m. e.t.; or permitting presentation without limit of a small number of important events such as the Olympic games.[10]

(5) Changes in § 73.658(k)(3), including: (1) Relaxing the "off-network" restrictions with respect to individual "special" programs or short series, or generally permitting as much as 25 percent of a series to be old material, or a considerably higher percentage such as urged by MCA, Inc. in RM–1929; and changes in the "feature film" provisions as mentioned in paragraph 41, below.[11]

(6) Providing that, as far as the mountain and Pacific time zones are concerned, a program schedule will meet the rule if it complies with the 3-hour restriction in the eastern and central time zones.

(c) What nonnetwork programing (syndicated or local), intended for carriage during the "access periods," will be available to stations during the 1972–73 season? We hope that program producers and syndicators, and station licensees as as to local material, will give full and reasonably specific information in this respect.

(d) To the extent the basic concept of the rule—limitation to 3 hours of prime-time network programing, and thus promotion of independent program sources—is not working in optimum fashion to further the public interest, how would the situation be either improved or worsened by substantial liberalization of the "off-network" restrictions, for example as urged by MCA, Inc., in RM–1929?

18. Possible criteria for evaluating program "diversity" and similar matters. One of the primary purposes of the rule was to promote diversity of program sources and ideas (see paragraph 2, above). We therefore seek information on this subject, particularly how the rule works in practice in this respect. In addition to its general meaning—the extent to which material is different from other material presented in the market currently or in the recent past—this concept could have a number of different particular aspects:

(a) Programing which is of a different type from most other programing fare, for example, the factual-fictional distinction made in the "Wild Kingdom" and "Lassie" decisions;

(b) The number of times, if any, that the exact same program has been presented in the market, at least in recent years, for example only once earlier on the network as opposed to two or more times;

(c) The length of time since its last presentation, for example, the "two years" test for feature films; and

(d) the extent to which the material, while never itself shown before, is simply a continuation of a series which has already run in the market (on a network or nonnetwork basis) to the extent of hundreds of generally similar episodes. There are doubtless other specific aspects.

19. Another related but much more difficult matter is being advanced—that of "program quality". For instance, MCA Inc. in its petition asserts that the nonnetwork material being presented in the access period is "of shoddy and inferior quality."[12] The Commission has traditionally, and wisely, eschewed the role of being a judge of the "quality" of programing. We therefore have great difficulty in evaluating this aspect of the present matter. Interested parties are of course free to submit—and if they treat this subject at all, we hope that they will submit—showings making objective points in this regard. We ourselves have not formulated any objective standards for making "quality" judgments, and do not now perceive the basis for doing so. Thus, factors such as ratings, comparative production costs, and critical favor (or lack of it), while obviously relevant to the issue, have never been regarded as reliably and objectively determinative of the issue of "quality" or what is "superior" or "inferior" program material. As indicated, parties advancing arguments along these lines are urged to do so on some kind of objective basis.

20. Economic data: effect on stations.[13] As indicated above, one of the chief lines of argument against the rule is the asserted adverse economic effects on stations, perhaps particularly small-market stations and UHF stations (e.g., the two petitioners mentioned here. In intermixed markets). Initially, we stress that "economic injury" considerations are pertinent only where they have consequences significantly impairing licensees' ability to operate in the public interest. The Act does not guarantee any level of profitability.

21. There are certain problems inherent in attempting to get this type of information in public comments. First, to be of probative value, either economic data concerning impact on stations must include data for all stations—the "universe"—or it must include data from a representative and scientifically valid sample of that universe. There is no assurance that comments in themselves will provide either of these. Second, there is sometimes, and might be here, an understandable reluctance on the part of the licensees to "bleed in public," even if substantially impacted economically. Therefore, it is necessary to take steps to assure that the material in this area on which decision is reached is complete and valid, even if it means going beyond what is publicly filed. Also, of course, it is desirable to set forth certain guidelines with respect to material which is filed publicly, to make sure that it is complete and probative.[14]

[9] This question is regarded as particularly important because the availability of such material is an essential ingredient of broadcasting in the public interest, and at the same time diversity of viewpoints is also highly significant. Commenting parties are asked to indicate how much such material is available from nonnetwork sources, or is likely to be in the future, and how this would be affected by our action here.

[10] We are particularly interested in what effect an occasional "runover," to the extent of 10 minutes or so, actually has on what the station presents in the following hour—whether it presents the same nonnetwork programs it would have otherwise but simply "clips" them, or whether it substitutes other material, and if so what.

[11] See paragraph 48 below, concerning four recent decisions in the "off-network" area as to which parties may wish to comment.

[12] Obviously, what is generally involved here is comparative quality, nonnetwork "access period" material vis-a-vis the same nonnetwork material which would be shown then in the absence of the rule. This raises the question of what network programing should be used as a basis of comparison (for example, a good deal of it does not last as long as one season).

[13] The stations referred to here are not only, or even primarily, the stations in the top 50 markets which are literally covered by the rule. With the cutback in network schedules across the board, stations in other markets are affected also.

[14] An example of the type of problem which may arise in this connection is the petition by the Springfield, Mo., UHF licensee (RM–1935). This party set forth figures as to what it has lost in network compensation through the cutback ($112.50 weekly); and the costs for the nonnetwork programing it has to buy instead ($172.50 in expenditures, plus $55 freight charge, plus $300 in commercial positions given for "barter" programs). On this basis, it estimated that the rule was costing it $640 a week, or over $33,000 a year. However, it did not state what revenue it receives from the sale of its nonnetwork time during the access period, simply asserting that it has had a 26 percent audience loss for the 6:30–7 p.m. (c.t.) period, and that its revenues from the sale of this time on a nonnetwork basis did not amount to recovery of the increased costs. Obviously, the material in the petition does not give a complete picture. This material was supplemented by petitioner and counsel after a Commission staff inquiry.

In general, commercial time given in "barter" programs is not properly includable as a cost item in this analysis, since it is reflected in the reduced revenue received for a nonnetwork program when only part of the commercial time in it is available to the station to sell. However, stations may make a showing in this respect if they wish, since, if a substantial amount of the commercial time in a program must often be given to the program supplier, it represents an inherent limitation on the return which the station can expect from the program.

22. The following provisions indicate what is expected of parties filing herein concerning the economic impact of the rule on their stations, and what may be required in addition to the comment material:

(a) Comments by licensees claiming adverse economic impact on their stations, if they wish to have their claims given serious consideration, must make a complete showing therein as to the "access periods," i.e., those periods when they presented nonnetwork programs but would have presented network material if the networks had continued their 1970–71 prime time pattern: This shall include exact data as to revenues from network programing and nonnetwork programs, and the costs of the latter (including outright costs, and transportation or other charges, if any), for the 9-month period from October 1, 1971, through June 30, 1972. If effect on the value of "adjacencies" is claimed, this must be accompanied by data as to how much was so received in 1970–71, and how much was in fact received, for the same 9-month period.

(b) Parties filing comments raising "economic injury" arguments need not necessarily show in their comments the complete picture as to the station's revenues, expenses, and profit or loss; but they must be prepared to file immediately after their comments, if it is requested, an FCC Form 324 giving this data for the 9-month period mentioned above. This will be handled subject to the usual provisions as to confidentiality governing Forms 324.

(c) At some point, it may be necessary to inquire of all commercial television licensees, or at least all of those which are network affiliates in markets having at least three stations, as to data concerning the financial effect of the rule on them. This inquiry, which would require clearance by the Office of Management and Budget, is not being instituted at this time, but may later be instituted this year if it appears necessary on the basis of the comments filed.

23. Economic data: the economics of program production and distribution. One of the most common lines of argument against the rule is that, with networking being a very efficient mechanism and much the cheapest way of distributing programing and supplying advertising support for it, any alternative method of program supply entails more money for distribution and less for production, and, therefore, lower quality, particularly because of the very high and increasing costs of such production. Related is the argument that, with these high costs and with the risks involved in the nonacceptance of programs by the public and station customers, the networks are among the very few parties who can afford the risks involved in production of good-quality material. These arguments were, of course, considered at length in the Docket 12782 proceeding which led to adoption and affirmance of the rule. We have no intention of instituting a new or long and exhaustive re-exploration of the subject. On the other hand, we would certainly welcome and take into account new data in this area, if offered within the time frame of this proceeding as indicated below.

24. We seek data on subjects like the following: (a) What actually is the cost of producing "good-quality" programing, both network and nonnetwork (syndicated or local) either per episode or total? (Figures in the previous record in Docket 12782 have contained a rather wide variety of figures.)

(b) To what extent is program quality related to production cost, and, specifically, how (higher salaries for better people, more processing and therefore more technicians, etc.)?

(c) What are the comparative costs of distribution of network programing and nonnetwork syndicated material, and, with the latter, of securing advertising support for it?

(d) To what extent is it realistic to assume that there is a fixed sum of money available for the whole program-supply process, so that if more goes into distribution, less is available for production?

(e) To what extent do the higher costs and risks involved in nonnetwork production and distribution (if they are higher) mean that prime time programing is going to be of a type cheaper to produce, such as so-called "game shows," rather than the material which has previously characterized prime time?

25. Economic data: effect on the program production industry and employment therein. As indicated in paragraph 2, above, a main purpose of the rule was to provide a healthy production industry, able to supply independent programing. One of the arguments against the rule is the assertedly depressing effect on the U.S. program-production industry. While the factual basis of such arguments is not always completely clear, it appears to consist chiefly of two actual or potential lines of development: (1) The substantial extent to which, to keep costs down, "access period" nonnetwork material consists of material originating, or at least produced, outside the U.S.; and (2) the extent to which access-period nonnetwork material is of a sort sometimes called "game shows"—relatively inexpensive material similar to (often a continuation of) programs which have appeared on daytime television—rather than the sort of material which is characteristic of network prime time television. Comments on this subject are invited.

B. Specific proposals on which comments are invited. 26. In the following paragraphs, comments are invited on specific proposals; under each topic, the proposals are set forth first, followed by a brief discussion of the pertinent considerations. Usually, they are on a "one or more" basis, i.e., one, or more than one, of the suggestions might be adopted if it appears in the public interest.

27. Initially, one point should be stressed. Putting forth a proposal for comment herein does not mean that the Commission necessarily has a view, even tentatively, that it should be adopted. It simply indicates our view that the proposal should be considered in light of the comments and data received in the proceeding. Further, on some of the matters, study may indicate the need for further, perhaps more specific, proposals; this is one reason why this is a "Notice of Inquiry." However, we have given notice herein of the "subjects and matters at issue," and therefore all interested parties are specifically advised that the Commission has the flexibility and discretion to adopt rule changes in the following areas if it finds that the public interest would be served thereby (with the exceptions footnoted below).[15]

28. Effective dates of changes. If rule changes are adopted, there is then the question of when they should be made effective, for example: (1) The usual 30 days or so after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or (2) for the next season, starting October 1, 1973, or perhaps even thereafter. As to some minor changes, the first approach might well be appropriate; it appears obvious that major changes, or rescission, could not well be adopted before the next season (these would probably include matters such as a flat "21 hours a week" standard and modification of the "off-network" restrictions to or approaching the extent urged by MCA, Inc.). Comments on the appropriate dates of changes are invited.

29. Changes in the direction of a total or partial "21 hours a week" standard. Comments are invited on the question of adopting one or more of the first three following proposals, or, in the alternative, adopting the fourth proposal listed, going to a flat "21 hours a week" standard.

(a) Leaving the basic 3-hours-per-night formulation, but providing that stations may exceed that amount on one or two nights a month to the extent of a half-hour or an hour, provided they reduce network prime-time material a corresponding amount within the next 14 days.

(b) Leaving the basic 3-hour restriction, but providing that stations may deviate from it (following notification to the Commission) where they regularly present some news at the beginning of prime time and desire to clear a following 1-hour segment regularly for an hour-long local or syndicated program, and the only way they can do this and continue to carry desired network material is to exceed the 3-hour limit on another night.[16] (See Hubbard Broadcasting, Inc. (KSTP–TV), 32 FCC 2d 594 (October 1971).) The "21 hours a week" standard would apply in these cases.

(c) Providing that stations may adhere to a "21 hours a week" standard, but must continue to present at least a half-hour during prime time each night of material which is not network, off-network, nor recently shown feature film.

(d) A flat "21 hours a week" standard. If this is to be adopted at all, it will not be before October 1, 1973.

30. The "21 hours a week" argument was one raised by several stations in waiver requests in 1971, in support of requests for waiver to exceed the permissible 3 hours on one night a week, accompanied by a reduction on another night. In general, this was rejected, although it was one of the considerations in grant of waiver in the Hubbard Broadcasting case cited. We similarly rejected the concept, for the future, in denying ABC's request for continuation of its waiver for Tuesday nights (American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., 33 FCC 2d 1038, March 1972). The reasons have been a belief that time should be available to nonnetwork program sources on a regular basis, the same period each night or at least not varying from week to week, in order to encourage the development of such material, for example programing suitable for "stripping" in early prime time. Also, there was some thought that stations might simply fulfill their obligations under such a relaxed restriction on one "junk night," presenting all of their nonnetwork material then and programing the remaining evenings with 3½ hours or more of network material.

31. Nevertheless, there appear to be some considerations supporting this type of relaxation. First, it would increase licensee flexibility; as noted in the Hubbard decision, this appears to be the only way stations can clear time for a 1-hour nonnetwork program if they carry news after the beginning of prime time, and continue to carry desired network material. Also, it could be that adherence to a strict 3-hour standard tends to discourage occasional preemptions of network programs for desirable local material, if the station is faced with the complete loss of the network program and perhaps even carriage of it by a competing station in the market (whereas, under a "21 hours a week" standard, the station could "make up" the program preempted on another evening).[17] These are the thoughts behind the first two proposals above. Another consideration is that it might not be a bad thing for some of the cleared "access periods" to be later in the evening, since somewhat different types of programing might thus be presented and encouraged (see paragraph 57, below). Parties supporting relaxation along one or more of the lines indicated should give specific examples of situations where the present restriction is undesirable, if there are any; parties opposing such relaxation should indicate specifically why it is important to have time available on a regular basis.[18] Another pertinent question in this connection is whether, whatever may be decided as to individual stations, the networks themselves should be permitted any deviation from a 3-hour standard.

32. Other changes in computation of prime time network programing. Comments are invited on the adoption of one or both of two other changes in the method of determining the amount of permissible prime-time programing. The first change set forth below is designed to resolve automatically the situation prevailing in a few markets not observing daylight-saving time (presently Detroit, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis, and Phoenix) during the portion of the year (late April to late October) when it is observed in the United States generally. This change is believed self-explanatory. The two changes are as follows:

(a) Providing that, automatically as a matter of rule, in the case of "top 50" markets which do not observe daylight-saving time, during the "daylight-saving time" part of the year (late April to late October) prime time will be moved back 1 hour, e.g., to 6–10 p.m. e.t. instead of 7–11 e.t., for these stations, corresponding to the local time at which network material is actually received in these places.

(b) Providing that, with respect to prime time network programing (or possibly other evening material also) any arrangement which complies with the rule in the eastern and central time zones will also be acceptable for stations in the mountain time zone, and possibly also the Pacific time zone.

33. The second change above is based on a suggestion by NBC in the recent proceeding (Docket 19475) in which we changed the "prime time" programing for the mountain time zone to 6–10 p.m., m.t. NBC's suggestion was that stations in the top 50 markets in the mountain zone be permitted to carry more than 3 hours of prime-time network material if the schedule of such programs in the eastern, central, and Pacific zones meet the standards of the rule, so that the excess occurs only in the mountain zone. This was adopted only in part in the report and order in Docket 19475 (24 R.R. 2d 1972, FCC 72–578, 37 F.R. 13622), with respect to situations where the network material that evening is live and simultaneous, such as a sports event, and where the station in the mountain zone broadcasts no other network material during prime time (including "pre-game shows") the same evening. The Phoenix NBC affiliate, supported by NBC, has recently sought reconsideration of our refusal to adopt the entire NBC proposal.

34. While the change in "prime hours" to 6–10 p.m. m.t. will eliminate many of the problems which have arisen this past year (such as sports or movie "runovers" which occur after 11 p.m. e.t.), and others will be taken care of by the NBC proposal as adopted, it may be that further extension along these lines will be appropriate. Comments are invited on whether the note to § 73.658(k) adopted recently should be extended to include complete sports events where there has been a "pre-game show", or "runovers" of events which are not live, simultaneous material, such as movies. Comments are also invited on whether this principle should also extend to additional programing presented by networks on the same evening in the east before the particular event but which mountain zone stations wish to present after the event.[19] Comments are also invited on whether the same principle should be extended to the top 50 markets in the Pacific zone, not so much in connection with "runovers" (which are not a problem since the sports event occurs quite early) but for network programing presented before the game in the east but which these stations may wish to present after the game in the West (or material programed especially for the West).[20] The Commission does not have any views at this time as to whether changes along these lines should be adopted: we have recognized before the problems which stations in these time zones face in integrating "simultaneous" material into the usual pattern of delayed broadcasting which prevails there. One important consideration, here

[15] The foregoing discussion applies to the proposals set forth in this subsection B, which are, for the most part, in the direction of relaxations of the rule. As to other matters set forth below in subsection C, extensions of the rule in various respects or "exemptions" for certain types of programs other than news and public affairs, this is an inquiry proceeding only. See also paragraph 49 in this subsection B.

[16] This is probably more of a problem in the central and mountain zones, where prime time begins at 6 p.m. rather than 7, than elsewhere. According to ARB February–March 1972 audience survey data, about two-thirds of the "top 50 market" stations in those zones carry news in the early part of prime time, compared to only about one-third of the rest of the United States.

[17] This has come up largely in connection with local sports events, such as basketball, in which cases the station is probably going to go for the preemption, whether it can "make up" the network program later or must forego it entirely. However, there could be desirable local material for which the choice would not be so clear.

[18] One problem with adopting a flat "21 hours a week" standard is that there are a number of stations which regularly present less network prime-time material than that, most often where they preempt a network movie, or other network material on one evening, to present their own local movie. If these stations were permitted to apply this noncarriage to the whole week, it could result in their keeping very little time open for new nonnetwork material. Comments on this type of situation are invited.

[19] See KOOL–TV (Phoenix, Ariz.), FCC 72–735 (Aug. 16, 1972).

[20] See Academy Award and Miss America programs, 33 FCC 2d 743, 23 R.R. 2d 987 (Feb. 1972); and the waiver granted NBC affiliates on Aug. 29, 1972 (FCC 72–782).

V 37-212 NOV 2 72 XUM

and elsewhere, is to what extent relaxation along these lines actually will impinge on the availability of prime time on these stations to non-network sources. Comments on this point are solicited. These are examples of changes that will be made at an early date if it appears that the public interest will be served thereby.

35. Rules designed to deal with sports event situations. One of the most common subject of waiver requests, and Commission consideration of them, has been in connection with sports events. The following rules are proposed to deal with these situations for the future; the first three below are alternatives, and the fourth, involving a somewhat different concept, is a separate matter which may be adopted with or without one of the others.

(a) With respect to "runovers" into prime time of late-afternoon events (and possibly also some events scheduled for prime time) putting the burden of accommodating the "runover" on the networks and stations in the carriage of network programing, by providing that if a late-afternoon event runs over into prime time (i.e., after 7 p.m. e.t., or 6 p.m. c.t.), network evening programs must simply start that much later, so as to leave a full hour for nonnetwork material at the beginning of prime time (e.g., if the event runs until 7:10, the network's evening material could not start until 8:10).[23]

(b) Providing by rule that it is assumed that sports events will last no more than a certain time, and ignoring runovers beyond that time. (Comments are invited on what are appropriate time allotments for various types of events; it presently appears that 3 hours for baseball and football, and $2\frac{1}{4}$ hours for basketball, should be sufficient, at least in the absence of a "pre-game show" or post-game material.) Comments are also invited on the matter of pre-game shows and post-game shows generally; to what should any assumed fixed period for sports telecasts permit these? We are presently of the view that it should be only in connection with games of unusual importance—playoffs or championship games—and not regular season contests, and not for more than 15 minutes (see our action of August 29, 1972, FCC 72-782, 25 R.R. 2d 228, granting waiver to NBC affiliates).

(c) Providing that if an event runs more than a few minutes over the allotted period—say more than 5 minutes, or more than 10 minutes—the network or its affiliate will have to "give back" a half-hour of time on some evening during the following few days.

(d) Designating by rule a certain number of unusually important sports events, which, along with related material, may be presented without observing the § 73.658(k) limitations. These might include the summer and winter Olympics, the World Series, New Year's Day and other year-end bowl games, the Super Bowl, and possibly a few others; but we are certainly of the view that it should not extend beyond a small number of events.

36. Considering that sports events involving possible prime-time problems occur on only a limited number of days of the year—probably no more than 50 for each network—it appears that this subject may have aroused more concern, and required more action, than it is worth. It appears eminently desirable to adopt a definite rule, or at least an overall policy, in this area. Comments are particularly desired on what actually is the impact from a relatively small and occasional "runover" on the availability of prime time to nonnetwork sources. In other words, what do stations do if the event runs until 7:10 p.m. e.t.? Do they simply carry the same material they would have carried if the event had ended at 7, "clipping" it slightly, or do they substitute other, shorter material, and, if so, what? One thing which should be borne in mind, also, is that while the networks often put their requests in terms of being able to carry the event to completion, this is not usually true. Rather, it is a question of whether, if they do, they may still carry their full complement of evening material.[24]

37. Relaxation of the "off-network" restrictions of the rule. Comment is invited on the following changes in the "off-network" restrictions of the rule, contained in § 73.658(k)(3). One or more of the first four changes in the "off-network" restrictions set forth below may be adopted, with or without the fifth, which is really a somewhat different concept. The possible changes are as follows:

(a) Providing that the "off-network" restrictions do not apply to material which was not part of a regular network program series, i.e., an individual "special" program or a small series of material, say no more than six programs; [25] or providing that while the rule imposes a general restriction on all material, stations in the top 50 markets may present up to ------ hours per year of off-network material coming in the above categories (comments are invited on what this figure should be).

(b) Providing that a "package" of material may be presented including some, but no more than 25 percent, or some smaller percentage, of off-network material (e.g., special Christmas programs in the "Lassie" or other series).

(c) Providing that stations may present without restriction (or up to ------ hours a year) of "off-network" material, provided the material itself was not shown on a network within a certain number of years (e.g., 5) and the series of which the particular material is a part has not been on the network for a less number of years (e.g., 2).

(d) Continuing the 1972 arrangement of considering waivers of this restriction, on an ad hoc basis, but providing for more orderly treatment, including public notice of such waiver requests, and more or less simultaneous consideration of all such requests well in advance of the year for which waiver is sought (e.g., requests would have to be in by March 1, 1973 for the 1973-74 season, and decision would be reached by May 1). Comments are invited on whether, if such an approach is to be adopted, a certain total number of hours of off-network material should be permitted, and if so, what that figure should be.[26]

(e) Adoption of a rule looking toward the type of relaxation urged by MCA, Inc. in RM-1929, permitting any off-network material to be presented as part of a package of which at least 25 percent is new material. We also raise the question of whether, assuming such a relaxation is to be made, a higher percentage of new material, e.g. 50 percent, should be required.

38. The "off-network" restriction is potentially one of the most troublesome areas of the rule. It represents, not the objective of the rule to lessen network control of television programing (which is taken care of by the basic "three-hour" limitation plus the "syndication" and "financial interest" rules) but, rather, that of protecting the newly "cleared" portion of prime time for access by nonnetwork sources of program material. As such, it obviously serves a needed purpose; but, at the same time, it is also a significant restriction, including in its present form a bar on the presentation of some highly worthwhile material, sometimes—as with "one-time" material, and probably short program series—material which if presented during prime time would not have a very substantial impact on the availability of time to nonnetwork sources. The latter was one of our chief reasons for the grant of waiver to the six-program "Six Wives of Henry VIII" series (Time-Life Films, 35 FCC 2d 773). For this reason, we raise the issue of whether relaxation should be considered along the lines of the first two approaches set forth above, or, alternatively, approaches (c) or (d), which

[23] This type of scheduling, while unusual, is certainly not unknown, for example following Presidential messages early in prime time. It may be that this is the simplest way of dealing with the matter, particularly if the incidence of sports event "overruns" is as small as the networks say it is.

[24] The discussion here, except for the fourth proposal mentioned above, relates largely to the late-afternoon situations. Sports events actually scheduled for prime time do not raise any great number of problems, and it appears that these may be handled by adjustments in time-computation along the lines mentioned in pars. 32-34, above.

[25] The rule as adopted in May 1970 actually read in terms of excluding only material which was "off-network syndicated series programs." The change to restrict off-network material generally was made in the August 1970 decision on reconsideration.

[26] Parties may wish to comment on this subject in light of the four decisions referred to in paragraph 48 below, concerning "off-network" material, and on the matter of objective standards which might be appropriate in this connection (see paragraph 40).

would probably mean more relaxation. As elsewhere herein, parties opposing relaxation are urged to discuss the impact and effect of any such relaxation, by rule or waiver, on the availability of prime time to non-network sources of new material, with specific examples of actual or potential preclusion.

39. Item (e), above, inviting comments essentially on the MCA request or a modification of it, represents a somewhat different concept: whether, in view of the very high cost of and asserted risk involved in producing new material, it might not be desirable to permit a "mix" of new and off-network programs in a package, and, if so, what percentage of new material should be required. Parties supporting such a change should discuss in detail the impact it would have on station purchase and presentation of truly new material.

40. In connection with this subject generally, and particularly the approach set forth as item (d), above, comments should discuss to what extent the judgments involved here can appropriately reflect program quality determinations, and, if they can or must, what objective standards can be formulated in this connection so as to avoid subjective judgments. With respect to items (a) and (b), above, comments are invited on whether this type of exemption should be granted only in the news and public affairs area, and what is the availability of this highly important type of material from nonnetwork sources.

41. Feature film. Section 73.658(k)(3) also contains restrictions on the use of movies during the cleared portion of prime time; as the rule reads, there is an ambiguity as to whether a film previously shown as a network program is thereafter "an off-network" program, permanently barred from these hours, or is a "feature film" which can be used in them after 2 years from its previous showing. It appears that other changes may also be appropriate. Comments are invited on one or more of the following changes:

(a) Clarification of whether a movie previously shown on a network is an "off-network program" or a "feature film" for purposes of § 73.658(k)(3), and which of these two alternative constructions would most serve the public interest.[27]

(b) Whether, in this respect, there should be any difference between movies originally made primarily for theatre exhibition, and those primarily made for television (e.g., treating the former as "feature films" but the latter as "off-network" programs); and if there is to be a difference, what test should be applied if there is any question (e.g., where the film first appeared).

[27] If network-shown movies are to be treated liberally, comments are invited on a matter which has been raised: how can "feature film" be defined so as to prevent a high percentage of network entertainment programs being classified as "feature film" so as to get this more liberal treatment?

(c) Whether it is really in the public interest and consistent with the basic objectives of the rule to permit during "cleared" time the use of feature films shown in the market as recently as 2 years ago, or whether instead this period of prohibition should be longer, such as 5 years, or perhaps permanently with respect to a previous showing on the station itself.

(d) Whether, on the other hand, in view of the economic structure of the film-buying business, the "two year" period should be shortened, say to 1 year, at least as to feature films bought by the station up to mid-October 1972 (this is essentially what is urged in a pending request by a Salt Lake City station).

42. Aside from the obvious desirability of removing the ambiguity mentioned, this subject presents some more basic considerations. As far as the presentation of an individual film is concerned, it probably makes little difference to the viewer if it appeared previously in the market as a network program or a locally shown film, or whether it was created for theater showing or especially for television. From this standpoint a fairly liberal approach might not be inappropriate.

43. But there is also another consideration. The use of "feature films" during early evening hours by network stations in the top 50 markets has not up to now been great, averaging only about 1 hour per week per market of prime time according to ARB audience survey data for February-March 1972. However, there are some indications that this may increase, particularly if the Commission adopts a rather liberal view, so that stations in these markets will devote a considerably larger amount of time to such material. This would, of course, have an impact on the availability of prime time to other kinds of nonnetwork material (local or syndicated). While the rule was not designed to promote any particular type or form of programing, it was certainly intended to promote new nonnetwork material; and presentation of movies already shown looks in the other direction. Comments on this point are invited.

44. The same general considerations might also indicate a lengthening of the "2-year" period for any film, and particularly where the previous showing was on the station itself—a situation in which, normally, there should be no problem in determining whether or not a given movie was or was not run in the past, even years ago. This was the reason for limiting the period to 2 years on reconsideration in August 1970. Comments are invited on whether it would be appropriate to bar permanently from the cleared hours feature films previously run on the same station, as well as on the desirability of lengthening the period generally. On the other hand, the point has been urged recently that the usual basis on which films are bought—such as "5 years and five runs" at a very high price—almost automatically requires that more than one of the runs be in prime time, if the station is to be able to recover its investment. It is urged that therefore a lesser restriction should be adopted, as to the station's reuse of its own material. Comments are invited.

45. Exemption for regular network news following an hour of local news, and for one-time (or other) network news and public affairs programs. Comments are invited on adoption of one or more of the following, as a matter of rule or at least of fixed policy:

(a) Continuing for the future (and putting into the rule) the policy adopted for 1971-72, and recently for 1972-73, concerning a waiver for network news at the beginning of prime time where it follows a full hour of local news (e.g., from 6-7 e.t.). Under this policy, such network news does not count against the permissible 3 hours.

(b) Continuing, for 1973-74 and later years, the waiver or exemption granted for one-time network news and public affairs programs (documentaries).

(c) Affording an exemption, for 1973-74 and later, for network news and public affairs programs generally.

46. As to the first matter mentioned, we have favored this policy. As we have noted, the broadcast of in-depth coverage of local news and problems, in major cities, is to be encouraged as definitely in the public interest; and, as a practical matter, stations can avoid the impact of the rule anyhow by splitting their news, so as to present a half-hour of local first, then network (e.g., at 6:30 p.m. e.t.), and then local again at the beginning of prime time. There appears no reason to require this "bracketing" form of scheduling as a matter of rule, although 19 stations in the top 50 markets do it (25 operate under the waiver). On the other hand, this does represent a substantial impingement into the availability of prime time to nonnetwork sources; and comments should be invited at this time on whether this policy should be made permanent.

47. The second matter is perhaps more difficult. The rule contains an exemption for "special news programs dealing with fast-breaking news events, on-the-spot coverage of news events," etc., but not for news or public affairs "documentaries," although when the rule was adopted there was some thought that the exemption should be broader to include them. (See concurring statement of Commissioner H. Rex Lee in FCC 70-466, 23 FCC 2d 428.) There is, obviously, a high degree of importance to the presentation of such material in quantity, for the better information of the audience, and, at the same time, diversity of viewpoints and sources is probably more important here than it is with entertainment programing which is the main thrust of the rule. There is also a practical consideration: A number of programs presented by the networks during 1971-72 year have involved partly "on-the-spot coverage of fast-breaking events," etc., but partly background material of a documentary nature; and without the waiver, network staffs, and the Commission, might be faced with a fairly knotty problem of what is "on-the-spot coverage," what are "fast-breaking events," etc.[36] Existence of the waiver does serve in this respect to make life simpler. Comments on whether this exemption should be made permanent are invited, including, particularly, the matter of to what extent such material is available from nonnetwork sources. Item (c) above requires little elaboration. As noted, the matter of a general exemption for this type of network material was considered at the time the rule was adopted, and has been raised again; in this general overview parties are free to comment on it.

48. Comment on waiver actions. Parties are invited to discuss certain waiver actions of the past year, including, particularly, the four involving "off-network" material (Wild Kingdom, Lassie, National Geographic, and Six Wives of Henry VIII[1], the ABC Summer Olympics decision, and the decision granting CBS waiver for one-time network news and public affairs material, or documentaries. We do not expect, nor require, that comment will be made separately on these matters; but rather that parties will discuss them in connection with specific changes in the rule, set forth above. They are set forth separately simply to call attention to them as problems which have arisen with the rule in its present form. Inviting comment on them does not represent a Commission view that they were wrong, but, rather, that to some extent they were reached on the basis of rather limited information, early or at least fairly early in the administration and application of the rule; and comment should be entertained before we decide whether the policies involved in these decisions (or the reverse of these policies, as some may argue) should be adopted as a permanent matter.[37]

49. Repeal of the rule. Repeal or rescission of the rule will be considered herein, for the reasons and subject to the limitations set forth in paragraphs 13–15, above. Parties may also wish to discuss—if they urge such rescission—alternative approaches to the problem of network control over television programing. As to the latter, obviously this is an inquiry proceeding only.

50. The cumulative impact of the relaxations mentioned above. We have set forth above possible relaxations of the rule in a number of different areas. It is realized that the various changes, if made in the different areas, might have a cumulative impact on the availability of prime time to nonnetwork sources, even though the impact from some of them individually might not be significant. Comments on this aspect of the matter are invited, along with views as to which are the particular "problem" areas from this standpoint.

C. Inquiry into other possible changes in the rule (extensions of its scope, etc.).

51. This portion of the notice—an inquiry only, with changes along these lines to be adopted, if at all, only after further rulemaking proceedings—is designed to invite comments on some changes in the rule of a more fundamental nature than those mentioned in subsection B, above. As discussed in the following paragraphs, these include: (1) Extensions of the scope of the rule, either as to time or as to markets covered; and possibly extending the "off-network" and "feature film" provisions of the rule to independent stations at least in some circumstances; (2) imposing certain requirements on stations as to use of the "access period," e.g., for local programing, children's or "minority group" programs, etc.; (3) exemptions from the rule to encourage the presentation of certain types of material on either a network or "off-network" basis (children's programs, etc.)[38] and (4) changing the form of the rule so as to specify a definite hour as the "access period," which might be a later hour than the first hour of prime time which is now generally "cleared" under the rule as it operates in practice. Setting these concepts forth, and inviting comments on them, does not by any means represent a Commission view that they should be adopted, now or ultimately, and in fact some Commissioners have doubts as to whether some of them are either realistically feasible or otherwise desirable; but they have been suggested and appear to have enough relationship to public-interest objectives to warrant opportunity for exploration in this overall proceeding. One other matter should be pointed out: As indicated elsewhere, we regard expeditious resolution of the present proceeding as highly important; and if the time frame established does not permit thorough exploration of the various concepts set forth in this subsection, that will have to wait until later, to the extent it is appropriate.

52. The following are the concepts on which comment is invited:

(a) Possible extensions of the scope of the rule. (1) Limiting network prime-time programing to 2½ rather than 3 hours per night, so as to clear 1½ hours for nonnetwork use (or at least providing for this in the case of stations presenting local or network news at the beginning of prime time, so that they would have a full hour cleared for other nonnetwork material).

(2) Extending the coverage of the rule to markets beyond the top 50, possibly to all markets having three or more network affiliated stations.

(3) Having the "off-network" and "feature film" restrictions apply to independent stations (or at least independent VHF stations), to the extent of 1 hour at least per night.

(b) Required local uses of the access period. A requirement that some (or conceivably all) of the cleared "access period" time be devoted by affiliated stations covered by the rule to certain types of nonnetwork material; including:

(i) Local "live" programing (comments are invited on whether this should be required to be actually "live" or could include filmed material treated as live under the Commission's rules).

(ii) Programing designed for particular groups, such as minority groups (for example, the four specified in § 73.680 of the rules, and other "ethnic" groups), or children.

(iii) Programing specifically designed to deal with the important problems in the station's community and coverage area as indicated by the licensee's survey to ascertain the needs, interest, and problems of its community and area (generally this would be local material, but conceivably it could include syndicated programing of certain types).

(c) Encouraging, by way of exemption from the rule's restrictions on network and "off-network" material, the presentation of the same general types of material mentioned in (b), above (similar to the general exemption for network news and public affairs material covered under subsection B, above). Under such an approach, network or "off-network" material falling into these categories would not be counted for the purpose of computing the permissible amount of such material.

(d) Specifying a particular hour as the "access period," for example the third hour of prime time (9–10 p.m., e.t. and P.t., 8–9 p.m., c.t. and m.t.).

53. The first two matters mentioned above—extensions of the rule either as to time or as to markets covered—has been suggested by various persons largely on the basis that if "cleared time" in major markets is a good thing, why is not more such time in more markets even better? As to the matter of time, this of course would mean more prime-time availability to alternative program sources; in particular, for the stations which present news at the beginning of prime time—about half of those in the top 50 markets—it would mean a full hour of nonnetwork programs. As to the matter of geographic extension, one specific suggestion has been made as follows: While access to major markets is almost indispensable to the success of syndicated material; general access is also significant. One index of the success of a syndicated program is a percentage figure, shown in ARB and Nielsen reports: The percentage of the Nation's TV homes which are in the "areas of dominant influence" (ADI's) of stations carrying the program. It is said that, as a very rough rule of thumb, a program producer is justified in spending $1,000 per episode on the production of a program, for every percentage point the program has, or is expected to have. It is asserted that extending the "prime time access rule" would tend to increase this percentage figure somewhat, with respect to clearance in the smaller markets, and therefore would mean more production expenditure and—perhaps, to some extent—better programs.

54. As to independent stations, it is sometimes claimed that it is unfair for independent stations in the top 50 markets to be free of all restrictions under the rule, for example being able to present "off-network" material during prime time in unlimited quantity. This argument is particularly made as to VHF independents, most of which in the top 50 markets are profitable, and sometimes highly so. Comments are invited on whether the "off-network" restrictions should be extended to such stations, for example so as to require an hour of prime time each night to be devoted to material which is neither network, off-network, nor feature film recently shown in the market. Comments are also invited on whether such an extension, if adopted, should be only to VHF stations, recognizing the particular problems which UHF stations still have.[39]

55. The second general area of inquiry is whether the public interest would be better served by requiring certain uses to be made by stations of the nonnetwork portion of prime time, for example local programing, children's programing, or programing of particular significance to minority groups or meeting important local problems. To a degree, perhaps, this represents a shift in emphasis away from the matters stressed in the report and order adopting the rule, particularly insofar as this would encourage local rather than nonnetwork syndicated material. A number of parties have expressed the view that this would be a good idea, more in accord with long-standing Commission objectives. It warrants exploration here, for one reason because of assertions (by the rule's critics such as NBC in its petition) that the rule in its present form produces mostly continuations and revivals of network series, often daytime material such as "game shows", whose proliferation does not necessarily warrant encouragement. Comments on these concepts are invited.

56. The same general type of consideration is the basis for the third general area—whether the presentation of certain types of programs should be encouraged, from network or "off-network sources," by granting them exemption from the 3-hour limitation.

57. The last matter mentioned above—changing the rule so as to provide a definite, and probably later, cleared portion of prime time—is one which has been suggested by certain syndicator parties. The argument is that, as the rule now works, the "cleared" portion of prime time is generally the first hour, 7–8 p.m. e.t., a time when the audience is somewhat smaller than it is later, and also when many children are watching. It is said that if the time were made later, such as 9–10 p.m., the audience would be larger, and, also, it would be more entirely an adult audience. The latter, it is said, would permit more "innovative" programing than that appropriate earlier, when a substantial part of the audience is young people. Comments are invited on whether such a change would be appropriate, and, if so, what form of rule could be devised to reach this result.

III. SUMMARY

58. In view of the considerations set forth above, comments are solicited on the various matters mentioned, which in summary are the following:

(a) Gathering information as to the effect and impact of the rule and possible changes in it, particularly on the programing being and to be presented, and the economic consequences on stations (particularly in small markets) and the TV production industry, and the economics of program production and distribution. See paragraphs 16–25 above.

(b) To what extent—in practice as well as in theory—the rule promotes real diversity in program sources, program ideas, and programing itself. See paragraph 18 above.

(c) Possible adoption of a "21 hours a week" standard, or some partial move in that direction. See paragraphs 29–31 above.

(d) Other possible changes in computation of permissible programing during prime time—a change to take care of the few "nondaylight saving time" markets, and a possible change to increase the extent to which programing arrangements acceptable for eastern and central time zone stations will be acceptable for mountain and possibly Pacific, zone stations. See paragraphs 32–34 above.

(e) Rules to deal with sports events, in particular late-afternoon "runover" situations and "pregame" shows; and also a possible rule listing a few important events (the Olympics, the World Series, etc.) which might be suitable for presentation without regard to the basic limitation of the rule. See paragraphs 35–36, above.

(f) Relaxation of the "off-network" restrictions; and modification of the "feature film" restrictions, in § 73.658(k) (3), in the former respect to permit a limited amount of off-network material and, possibly, a rule to permit generally the use of off-network and new material in a "package," along the lines urged by MCA, Inc. Clarification of the "feature film" provision, as to feature films shown as network material and feature films produced primarily for TV rather than theatre exhibition, is also proposed. See paragraphs 37–44 above.

(g) Continuation of waiver or exemption with respect to news and public affairs programs, after October 1, 1973: The waiver for network news following a full hour of local news, and for "one-time" network news or public affairs programs, or documentaries, or a more general exemption for this type of network material. See paragraphs 45–47 above.

(h) Repeal of the rule.

(i) The possible cumulative effect of relaxation in various areas mentioned (paragraph 50, above).

(j) Possible extensions of the rule or further exemptions, as to which this is an inquiry proceeding only. See paragraphs 51–57 above.

59. This inquiry and rule making proceeding is instituted pursuant to authority contained in section 403 and sections 4(i) and 303 (b), (g), (f), (l), and (r); 307(d); 308(b); 309(a); 313, 314, and 315 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

60. Pursuant to applicable procedures set forth in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules, interested persons may file comments on or before December 22, 1972, and reply comments on or before January 29, 1973. All relevant and timely comments and reply comments will be considered by the Commission before final action is taken herewith. In reaching its decision in this proceeding, the Commission may also take into account other relevant information before it, in addition to the specific comments invited by this notice. For reasons stated in paragraphs 13–15, above, parties are herewith notified that the above timetable, which appears adequate, will be adhered to.

61. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all comments, replies, pleadings, briefs, and other documents shall be furnished the Commission. Material filed will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Commission's Broadcast and Docket

[36] If an exemption or waiver policy for "one-time" network programs of these types (or more generally for such network material) is not adopted, it may well be desirable to adopt more definite standards as to what are programs falling within the exemptions now specified, for "on-the-spot coverage" and "fast-breaking news events." Comments on possible standards are invited, for example a requirement that the program must contain a high percentage (e.g., 75 percent) of "live" coverage, or film shot within the last 24 hours, rather than being substantially background material.

[37] The citations to these six decisions are, respectively: Mutual Insurance Co., of Omaha, 33 FCC 2d 583 "Wild Kingdom"; Campbell Soup Co., 35 FCC 2d 758, 24 R.R. 2d 856 "Lassie"; Storer Broadcasting Co., 35 FCC 2d 889, 24 R.R. 2d 868 "National Geographic"; Time Life Films, 35 FCC 2d 773, 24 R.R. 2d 849 "Six Wives of Henry VIII"; American Broadcasting Co., Inc. 35 FCC 2d 940 and 765, 24 R.R. 2d 628 and 862 "Olympics"; and Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., 32 FCC 2d 55 and (for 1972) FCC 72-906 (October 11, 1972).

[38] This is the same type of concept involved in the general exemption for network news and public affairs programs set forth in subsection B, above.

[39] It appears likely that such a change, if adopted, would not have any marked consequences. Probably few independent stations present off-network syndicated material for more than 3 hours of prime time, since usually a movie is inserted into the schedule somewhere during the evening. However, the movie would be subject to the "two-year" restrictions of § 73.658(k)(3), if such a change were made.

Comments are invited on whether another change mentioned in above, specifying a particular hour as the access period, should be applied to independent stations.

ELECTRIC ENERGY CONVERSION AND CONSUMPTION PROCESSES IN THE CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

Proposed Policy Statement; Extension of Time for Comments

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

On October 24, 1972, the Edison Electric Institute and the Montana Power Co. filed requests for a 30-day extension of time within which to file comments concerning the "Notice of Proposed Policy Statement and Request for Comments" issued on September 14, 1972.[1]

Upon consideration, notice is hereby given that the time is extended to and including November 29, 1972, within which any interested person may submit data, views, comments, or suggestions, in writing, concerning all or part of the amendment proposed in the above-designated notice.

[Docket No. R-398]

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENTS

Procedures for Preparation and Submission

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

On December 4, 1970, the Commission issued Order No. 415 (35 F.R. 18958, December 15, 1970) which prescribed §§ 2.80–2.82 of its general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.80–2.82) and various related amendments to the Commission's regulations under the Federal Power and Natural Gas Acts. Experience in applying these regulations, as amended, and the guidelines for preparation of statements on proposed Federal actions affecting the environment (guidelines) of the Council on Environmental Quality (36 F.R. 7724) demonstrated the desirability of revising the Commission's regulations for implementation of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 852) (NEPA).

Accordingly, on November 19, 1971, the Commission issued Order No. 415–B, amending §§ 2.80, 2.81, 2.82 of the general rules and § 4.41 of the regulations under the Federal Power Act. (36 F.R. 22738, November 30, 1971). Because of petitions filed in this docket, Order No. 415–B was amended for clarification, and rehearing was granted for the purpose of further consideration, by order issued January 19, 1972 (37 F.R. 1162).

In Order No. 415–B, the Commission required, among other things, that certain specified applications be accompanied by an environmental impact statement prepared by applicant. Staff independently analyzed the statement, and required applicant to make any corrections necessary to meet staff's criteria. The amended statement—deemed information comparable to an agency draft statement pursuant to the guidelines of CEQ—was circulated to interested governmental bodies and to the public to solicit the comments required by NEPA.

The application, the applicant's statement, as amended, and the comments, served to delineate the environmental issues which were to be thoroughly aired at hearing.

All parties to the proceeding analyzed environmental evidence in their briefs. The Presiding Administrative Law Judge was required to do the same in his initial decision. If the Commission issued a certificate or license, its final order would contain a final detailed environmental impact statement.

On January 17, 1972, the Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit ruled directly on the validity of these procedures.[1] Having been unsuccessful in seeking a Petition for Rehearing En Banc from the Second Circuit, on June 8, 1972, the Commission filed a Petition for Writ of Certiorari with the Supreme Court. On October 10, 1972, the Supreme Court denied certiorari.[2]

The Second Circuit found, among other things, that section 102(2) of NEPA mandates a consideration of "environmental values at every stage of the (agency's) process."[3] and, even though specifically permitted to do so by the guidelines, that the Commission abdicated a significant part of its responsibility "by substituting the statement of (the applicant) for its own."[4]

The Court then said:

> • • • we deem it essential that the Commission's staff should prepare a detailed statement before the Presiding Examiner issues his initial decision. Moreover, the intervenors must have a reasonable opportunity to comment on the statement. But since the statement may well go to waste unless it is subject to the full scrutiny of the hearing process, we also believe that the intervenors must be given the opportunity to cross-examine • • • Commission witnesses in light of the statement.[5]

The practical effect of this mandate is to require circulation of a staff statement in advance of hearing, thereby establishing an affirmative duty on the part of Commission staff to collect, analyze, and prepare comprehensive environmental data in advance of the evidentiary hearing.

The Commission therefore gives notice, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, that it proposes to amend §§ 2.80–2.82 of "Statement of General Policy to Implement Procedures for Compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969," and § 4.41 of the Commission's regulations under the Federal Power Act.

The revisions which are proposed result primarily from the mandate in Greene County. However, the Commission has taken this opportunity to propose several additional amendments to its regulations for the implementation of NEPA. These amendments are proposed both as the result of certain judicial interpretations of NEPA and from experience gained by staff in its work with Order Nos. 415 and 415–B. A discussion of each of the proposed changes, with its text, appears below.

Because of the vital importance of the Commission's regulatory responsibilities and the great importance and urgency of environmental problems, it is essential that the Commission finalize its amended procedures respecting compliance with NEPA as soon as possible. Therefore, the Commission has determined that the time for public comment on these proposals will be 15 days from the date this notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Any interested person may submit to the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, not later than November 17, 1972, views and comments in writing concerning all or part of the amendments proposed herein. Written submittals will be placed in the Commission's public files and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Office of Public Information, Washington, D.C. 20426, during regular business hours. An original and 14 conformed copies should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission. Submittals to the Commission should indicate the name, title, mailing address, and telephone number of the person to whom communications concerning the proposal should be addressed, and whether the person filing them requests a conference with the staff of the Federal Power Commission to discuss the proposed amendments. The staff, in its discretion, may grant or deny requests for conference. The Commission will consider all written submittals and responses before issuing an order in this proceeding.

The Commission proposed to establish procedures by which each applicant, in certain specified instances, must submit a detailed environmental report with its application. Commission staff will conduct an independent analysis of the filings and require applicant to make any corrections necessary to meet the applicable criteria. After corrections have been made, it will be determined whether the proposed action is a "major Federal action" within the meaning of NEPA.

Staff will then prepare and circulate for comment a draft environmental impact statement. Comments will be made within 45 days of the date the notice of availability appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER. After expiration of the time for comment, and after consideration of the comments received, staff will revise as necessary and finalize its environmental impact statement which, together with the comments received, will accompany the application through the agency review and decisionmaking process. If hearings are held on the application, the staff's environmental impact statement will be offered in evidence at that hearing.

In each contested application briefs by all parties to the proceeding taking a position on environmental matters must specifically analyze and evaluate the evidence in light of certain criteria specified in the proposed regulations. The Initial Decision of the Presiding Administrative Law Judge must include an evaluation of specified environmental factors. In all cases, contested and uncontested, the final order of the Commission, if it approves the application, shall also contain an evaluation of the environmental factors enumerated in § 2.80 and the views and comments expressed in conjunction therewith by the applicant and all those making formal comment pursuant to the provisions of these proposals.

Each proposed change is discussed below.

(1) Section 2.80(b). Several minor wording changes are proposed to provide clarification and more definite guidance in the preparation of statements.

An amendment is also proposed to conform to the decision in the Morton case,[6] which stated, inter alia, that not only must all reasonable alternatives to an action be considered, but also the environmental consequences of such alternative courses of action.

It is further noted that the Second Circuit, commenting on the Commission's planning function under section 10(a) of the Federal Power Act,[7] feels that the Commission cannot "disregard impending plans for future development" of a project when considering an application.[8] Therefore, it is proposed to amend § 2.80 (b) to read as set forth below.

(2) Section 2.80(c)(i). The Guidelines of CEQ stated, among other things, that no agency administrative action was to be taken sooner than 90 days after circulation of a draft statement or 30 days after availability of a final statement. As the Commission, under 415–B, did not issue a final statement until it issued its final order, to adopt the strict language of the Guidelines would have interfered with the integrity of the Commission's procedures. Because of this, the Commission adopted language which placed the same delay on construction of a facility after a certificate or license was granted. However, under the revised procedures herein proposed, staff's environmental impact statement will be issued prior to hearing or final Commission action. Therefore, it is proposed to amend § 2.80 (c)(i) to read as set forth below.

(3) Sections 2.81(a) and 2.82(a). The Commission provided, in both Orders Nos. 415 and 415–B, that notice of specified applications be sent to certain Federal, State, and local governmental entities for comment. Experience has shown that at the time this notice is sent, substantive information on the application is lacking, and consequently, there is not enough information transmitted by the notice to allow the receiving entity to offer meaningful comments. Therefore, it is proposed to amend both §§ 2.81(a) and 2.82 (a) to remove the requirement that notice of the application be circulated for comment as a part of our NEPA procedures. Notice of application pursuant to other statutory requirements will continue, however.

It is proposed to further amend § 2.81(a). Experience has shown there is no need to have applications for certain license amendments accompanied by a formal exhibit. Those applications need only be accompanied by the applicant's detailed environmental report.

It has also become apparent that certain applications for surrender of a license should be accompanied by the applicant's detailed environmental report and an amendment reflecting this fact is proposed.

Finally, Order No. 415–B specified that applications for amendment of a license which proposed construction or change in operation of the project works was to be accompanied by the applicant's detailed statement. Experience has shown the restriction imposed by the term "project works" is too narrow, therefore, we also propose to broaden this section to require any application for a change in project operation, as opposed to project works, be accompanied by the applicant's detailed environmental report.

It is proposed to amend §§ 2.81(a) and 2.82(a) to read as set forth below.

(4) Sections 2.81(b) and 2.82(b). It is proposed to substantially amend these sections. Briefly, staff would be required to utilize applicant's filings and its own environmental expertise to prepare and circulate for comment a staff draft environmental impact statement. Upon expiration of the time for comment, staff then would consider all comments and revise as necessary and finalize its environmental impact statement which, together with the comments, shall accompany the proposal through the agency review and decision-making process. If hearings are held, staff's environmental impact statement will be offered in evidence at that hearing.

It is proposed to amend §§ 2.81(b) and 2.82(b) to read as set forth below.

(5) Sections 2.81(e) and 2.82(e). It is proposed to amend these sections to require that parties taking a position on environmental matters in all contested cases analyze and evaluate the evidence in their briefs in light of the factors expressed in § 2.80. The initial decision of the Presiding Administrative Law Judge shall also include an evaluation of the same environmental factors and the views on those factors expressed by all those making formal comment. In all cases, contested and uncontested, the final order of the Commission, if it approves the application, shall contain an environmental evaluation of the action to be taken.

It is proposed to amend §§ 2.81(e) and 2.82(e) to read as set forth below.

(6) In light of the amendments proposed, §§ 2.81(f) and 2.82(f) would become superfluous. It is proposed that each of the sections be deleted.

(7) It is proposed to amend § 4.41 of the regulations under the Federal Power Act to reflect certain changes in terminology in § 2.81, to read as set forth below.

The proposed amendments to §§ 2.80, 2.81, and 2.82 of the general rules and § 4.41 of the regulations under the Federal Power Act would be issued under the authority granted the Federal Power Commission by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 4, 10, 15, 307, 309, 311 and 312 (41 Stat. 1065, 1066, 1068, 1069, 1070; 46 Stat. 798, 49 Stat. 839, 840, 841, 842, 843, 844, 856, 857, 858, 859, 860, 61 Stat. 501, 82 Stat. 617; 16 U.S.C. 797, 803, 808, 825f, 825h, 825j, 825k), and the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 7 and 16 (52 Stat. 824, 825, 830; 56 Stat. 83, 84; 61 Stat. 459; 15 U.S.C. 717f, 717o), and the Environmental Policy Act of 1969, Public Law 91–190, approved January 1, 1970, particularly sections 102 and 103 (83 Stat. 853, 854).

(1) The Commission proposes to amend Part 2 of Chapter 1, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations by revising §§ 2.80–2.82 to read as follows:

§ 2.80 Detailed environmental statement.

(a) It shall be the general policy of the Federal Power Commission to adopt and to adhere to the objectives and aims of the National Environmental Policy

V 37 - 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

Act of 1969 (NEPA) in its regulations under the Federal Power Act and the Natural Gas Act. The National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 requires, among other things, a detailed environmental statement in all major Federal actions and in all reports and recommendations on environmental legislative proposals which will significantly affect the quality of the human environment.

(b) Therefore, in compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the Commission staff shall make a detailed environmental statement when the regulatory action taken by us under the Federal Power Act and Natural Gas Act will have a significant environmental impact. A "detailed statement" prepared in compliance with the requriements of §§ 2.81 through 2.82 shall fully develop the five factors listed hereinafter in the context of such considerations as the proposed activity's direct and indirect effect on the air and water environment of the project or natural gas pipeline facility; on the land, air, and water biota; on established park and recreational areas; and on sites of natural, historic, and scenic values and resources of the area. The statement shall discuss the extent of the conformity of the proposed activity with all applicable environmental standards. The statement shall also fully deal with alternative courses of action to the proposal and, to the maximum extent practicable, the environmental effects of each alternative. Further, it shall specifically discuss plans for future development related to the application under consideration. The above factors are listed to merely illustrate the kinds of values that must be considered in that statement. In no respect is this listing to be construed as covering all relevant factors. The five factors which must be specifically discussed in the detailed statement are:

(1) The environmental impact of the proposed action,

(2) Any adverse environmental effects which cannot be avoided should the proposal be implemented,

(3) Alternatives to the proposed action,

(4) The relationship between local short-term uses of man's environment and the maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity, and

(5) Any irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources which would be involved in the proposed action should it be implemented.

(c) (1) To the maximum extent practicable no final administrative action is to be taken sooner than 90 days after a draft environmental statement has been circulated for comment or 30 days after the final text of an environmental statement has been made available to the Council on Environmental Quality and the public.

(2) Upon a finding that it is necessary and appropriate in the public interest the Commission may dispense with any time period specified in §§ 2.80–2.82.

§ 2.81 Compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 under Part I of the Federal Power Act.

(a) All applications for major projects (those in excess of 2,000 horsepower) or for reservoirs only providing regulatory flows to downstream (major) hydroelectric projects under Part I of the Federal Power Act for license or relicense, shall be accompanied by Exhibit W, the applicant's detailed report of the environmental factors specified in § 2.80 and § 4.41 of this chapter. All applications for surrender or amendment of a license proposing construction, or operating change of a project shall be accompanied by the applicant's detailed report of the environmental factors specified in § 2.80. Notice of all such applications shall continue to be made as prescribed by law.

(b) The staff shall make an initial review of the applicant's report and, if necessary, require applicant to correct deficiencies in the report. If the proposed action is determined to be a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment, the staff shall conduct a detailed independent analysis of the action and prepare a draft environmental impact statement which shall be made available to the Council on Environmental Quality, the Environmental Protection Agency, other appropriate governmental bodies, and to the public, for comment. The Secretary of the Federal Power Commission shall cause prompt publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of notice of the availability of the staff's draft environmental statement. All comments shall be made within 45 days of the date the notice of availability appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All entities filing comments with the Commission shall submit ten copies of such comments to the Council on Environmental Quality. If any governmental entity, Federal, State, or local, fails to comment within the time provided, it shall be assumed, absent a request for a specific extension of time, that such entity has no comment to make. Upon expiration of the time for comment the staff shall consider all comments received and revise as necessary and finalize its environmental impact statement which, together with the comments received, shall accompany the proposal through the agency review and decisionmaking process and shall be made available to the Council on Environmental Quality and to the public. In the event the proposal is the subject of a hearing the staff's environmental statement will be offered in evidence at that hearing.

(c) All interveners taking a position on environmental matters shall file comments on the environmental impact statement with the Commission including an analysis of their environmental position, specifying any difference with the statement upon which intervener wishes to be heard and including therein a discussion of that position in the context of the factors enumerated in § 2.80, at a time specified by the Commission or the Presiding Administrative Law Judge. All interveners shall be responsible for filing ten copies of their filing with the Council on Environmental Quality, and at least one copy with the Commission and shall also supply a copy of such filing to all participants to the proceeding. Nothing hercin shall preclude an intervener from filing a detailed environmental statement. The comments of the Council on Environmental Quality, and the Environmental Protection Agency, if any, should be made in a written statement served upon the Commission Secretary and all parties of record.

(d) The applicant, staff, and all interveners taking a position on environmental matters should offer evidence for the record in support of their environmental position, filed in compliance with the provisions of this section.

(e) In the case of each contested application, the initial and reply briefs filed by the applicant, the staff and all interveners taking a position on environmental matters must specifically analyze and evaluate the evidence in the light of the environmental criteria enumerated in § 2.80. Furthermore, the Initial Decision of the Presiding Administrative Law Judge in such cases and the final order of the Commission, if it approves the application, in all cases shall include an evaluation of the environmental factors enumerated in § 2.80 and the views and comments expressed in conjunction therewith by the applicant and all those making formal comment pursuant to the provisions of this section.

§ 2.82 Compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 under the Natural Gas Act.

(a) All certificate applications filed under section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act (15 U.S.C. 717(c)) for the construction of pipeline facilities, except abbreviated application filed pursuant to §§ 157.7(b), (c), (d), and (e) of Commission regulations in Subchapter E of this chapter and producer applications for the sale of gas filed pursuant to §§ 157.23–29 of Commission regulations in Subchapter E of this chapter, shall be accompanied by the applicant's detailed report of the environmental factors specified in § 2.80. Notice of all such applications shall continue to be made as prescribed by law.

(b) The staff shall make an initial review of the applicant's report and, if necessary, require applicant to correct deficiencies in the report. If the proposed action is determined to be a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment, the staff shall conduct a detailed independent analysis of the action and prepare a draft environmental impact statement which shall be made available to the Council on Environmental Quality, the Environmental Protection Agency, other appropriate governmental bodies, and to the public, for comment. The Secretary of the Federal Power Commission shall cause prompt publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of notice of the availability of the staff's draft environmental statement. All comments shall be made within 45 days of the date the notice of availability appears in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All entities filing comments with the Commission shall submit 10 copies of such comments to the Council on Environmental Quality. If any governmental entity, Federal, State, or local, fails to comment within the time provided, it shall be assumed, absent a request for a specific extension of time, that such entity has no comment to make. Upon expiration of the time for comment the staff shall consider all comments received and revise as necessary and finalize its environmental impact statement which, together with the comments received, shall accompany the proposal through the agency review and decisionmaking process and shall be made available to the Council on Environmental Quality and to the public. In the event the proposal is the subject of a hearing the staff's environmental statement will be offered in evidence at that hearing.

(c) All interveners taking a position on environmental matters shall file comments on the environmental impact statement with the Commission including an analysis of their environmental position, specifying any difference with the statement upon which intervenor wishes to be heard and including therein a discussion of that position in the context of the factors enumerated in § 2.80, at a time specified by the Commission or the Presiding Administrative Law Judge. All interveners shall be responsible for filing 10 copies of their filing with the Council on Environmental Quality, and at least one copy with the Environmental Protection Agency at the time they file with the Commission and shall also supply a copy of such filing to all participants to the proceeding. Nothing herein shall preclude an intervener from filing a detailed environmental statement. The comments of the Council on Environmental Quality, and the Environmental Protection Agency, if any, should be made in a written statement served upon the Commission Secretary and all parties of record.

(d) The applicant, staff, and all interveners taking a position on environmental matters should offer evidence for the record in support of their environmental position, filed in compliance with the provisions of this section.

(e) In the case of each contested application, the initial and reply briefs filed by the applicant, the staff, and all interveners taking a position on environmental matters must specifically analyze and evaluate the evidence in the light of the environmental criteria enumerated in § 2.80. Furthermore, the Initial Decision of the Presiding Administrative Law Judge in such cases and the final order of the Commission, if it approves the application, in all cases shall include an evaluation of the environmental factors enumerated in § 2.80 and the views and comments expressed in conjunction therewith by the applicant and all those making formal comment pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(2) The Commission further proposes to amend § 4.41, Required Exhibits in Part 4, Subchapter B, Regulations under the Federal Power Act, Chapter 1, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

§ 4.41 Required exhibits.

Exhibit W. Applications covered by § 2.81 (a) of this chapter shall be accompanied by an applicant's environmental report. Such report shall comply with the detailed requirements set down in §§ 2.80–2.81 of this chapter, and shall include a one-page summary of the report. Furthermore, such report with its supporting papers shall be self-contained.

The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this notice to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

ACCOUNTING AND RATE TREATMENT OF ADVANCE PAYMENTS FOR GAS DEVELOPMENT AND PRODUCTION

Notice of Comment Period on Summary of Responses To Renotice

OCTOBER 24, 1972.

On July 3, 1972, the Commission issued a renotice of its proposed rule making and request for comments in Docket No. R-411 (37 F.R. 13559, July 11, 1972) proposing to amend its regulations under the Natural Gas Act so as to change its provisions for accounting and rate treatment of advance payments made to producers by pipelines for gas to be delivered at a future date. Pursuant to the renotice, the Commission staff sent out questionnaires to all pipeline companies that had filed advance payment agreements with the Commission with responses due by September 15, 1972.

All of the responses to the questionnaires have been summarized and the summary is now in a public file and available for inspection in the Commission's Office of Public Information. Comments on or suggested modifications of the Commission's proposed rule making based on review of the summary of responses should be filed on or before November 3, 1972.

CARD CLOTHING FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM

Notice of Tentative Negative Determination

Information was received on January 24, 1972, that card clothing from the United Kingdom was being sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.) (referred to in the notice as "the Act"). This information was the subject of an "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 15, 1972, on page 5397.

I hereby make a tentative determination that card clothing from the United Kingdom is not being, nor is likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

Statement of reasons on which this tentative determination is based. The investigation revealed that the proper basis of comparison for fair value purposes is between exporter's sales price and the adjusted home market price of such or similar merchandise.

Exporter's sales price was calculated by deducting from the resale price to unrelated purchasers in the United States, ocean freight and insurance, U.S. duty, U.S. inland freight and delivery charges, cash discount, selling commission, and foreign inland freight, and f.o.b. charges, as appropriate.

Adjusted home market price was calculated by deducting from the ex-factory price, applicable cash and quantity discounts. Where applicable, adjustments were made for differences in the merchandise and packing.

Comparison of exporter's sales price with the adjusted home market price indicated that adjusted home market price was not higher than exporter's sales price.

In accordance with § 153.33(b), Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.33(b)), interested parties may present written views or arguments, or request in writing that the Secretary of the Treasury afford an opportunity to present oral views.

Any requests that the Secretary of the Treasury afford an opportunity to present oral views should be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs, 2100 K Street NW., Washington, DC 20226, in time to be received by his office not later than 10 calendar days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Any written views or arguments should likewise be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs in time to be received by his office not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

This tentative determination and the statement of reasons therefor are published pursuant to § 153.33 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.33).

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

RECORD CHANGERS FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM

Notice of Tentative Negative Determination

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Information was received on March 17, 1972, that record changers from the United Kingdom were being sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.) (referred to in this notice as "the Act"). This information was the subject of an "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 15, 1972, on page 7534.

I hereby make a tentative determination that record changers from the United Kingdom are not being, nor likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

Statement of reasons on which this tentative determination is based. The information currently before the Bureau indicates that the basis of comparison is between exporter's sales price and the adjusted home market price of such or similar merchandise.

Exporter's sales price was calculated by deducting from the landed duty paid price, the included duty, brokerage charges, ocean freight, insurance, United Kingdom inland freight, and selling and advertising expenses, as appropriate.

Adjusted home market price was based on the price delivered to customer's premises. Deductions were made from this price for cash discount, transportation, and insurance.

Comparisons between exporter's sales price and adjusted home market price revealed that exporter's sales price was not lower than adjusted home market price.

In accordance with § 153.33(b), Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.33(b)), interested parties may present written views or arguments, or request in writing that the Secretary of the Treasury afford an opportunity to present oral views.

Any request that the Secretary of the Treasury afford an opportunity to present oral views should be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs, 2100 K Street NW., Washington, DC 20226, in time to be received by his office not later than 10 calendar days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Any written views or arguments should likewise be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs in time to be received by his office not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

This tentative determination and the statement of reasons therefor are published pursuant to § 153.33 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.33).

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

The Bureau of Land Management of the Department of the Interior has filed an application for withdrawal of the lands described below from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws, including the general mining laws but not the mineral leasing laws, subject to valid existing rights.

The applicant desires the lands for protection of the archaeological and scientific values and the natural beauty of the area.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, 700 Colorado State Bank Building, 1600 Broadway, Denver, CO 80202.

The Department's regulations (43 CFR 2351.4(c)) provide that the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing or potential demand for the lands and their resources.

The authorized officer will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the applicant agency.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

If circumstances warrant, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place, which will be announced.

The lands involved are:

POINT REYES NATIONAL SEASHORE, CALIF.

Establishment

Notice is given pursuant to section 5 of the Act of September 13, 1962 (76 Stat. 538, 540; 16 U.S.C. 459c), of the acquisition of an acreage within the area described in section 2 of such Act that is deemed efficiently administrable to carry out the purposes of the Point Reyes National Seashore, and, therefore, such national seashore is hereby established.

The Point Reyes National Seashore, Marin County, Calif., as established, encompasses an area that, as nearly as practicable conforms to the area described in section 2 of the aforesaid Act, as amended by the Act of October 15, 1966 (16 U.S.C. 459c–11). A detailed description of the boundaries of the seashore follows:

Beginning at a point, not monumented, where the boundary line common to Rancho Punta de los Reyes (Sobrante) and Rancho Las Baulines (as said boundary line was surveyed by Oglesby, Jacobs, and Wickham, civil engineers, during the months of June through November, 1963), meets the line of average high tide of the Pacific Ocean; thence southwesterly from said point 1,320 feet offshore on a prolongation of said boundary line; thence in a northerly and westerly direction paralleling the average high tide line of the Pacific Ocean; along Drakes Bay, and around Point Reyes; thence in a northerly direction around Tomales Point, offshore a distance of 1,320 feet from the average high tide line; thence southeasterly along a line 1,320 feet offshore and parallel to the line of average high tide along the west shore of Bodega Bay and Tomales Bay to the intersection of this line with a prolongation of the most northerly tangent of the boundary of Tomales Bay State Park, as said boundary was surveyed by Timothy S. Train, licensed land surveyor in the State of California, during the months of November 1952 through April 1953 (a record of said survey being on file with the State of California, Division of Beaches and Parks); thence S. 56°41'35" W. 1,320 feet, along the prolongation of said tangent to the line of average high tide of Tomales Bay; Thence along said boundary of Tomales Bay State Park as surveyed by Train, by bearings and distances based on the California State Plane Coordinate System, Zone Three, S. 56°41'35" W. 400 feet, more or less to a found 2-inch-diameter iron pipe monument bearing a copper tag stamped "L. Thence S. 47°55'34" W. 140 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning. Also those portions of Rancho Punto de Los Reyes (Sobrante) that include the right-of-way for an access road as authorized in paragraph (a) of the Act of October 15, 1966 (Public Law 89-666), being described as follows:

PARCEL I

Beginning at a point on the boundary line of Point Reyes National Seashore (as said boundary is shown on "Record of Survey, Point Reyes National Seashore" recorded December 20, 1963, in Book 3 of Surveys at page 56, Marin County Records, California,) said point being located N. 29°41' W., 200 feet from a 2 inch by 2 inch redwood hub tagged RCE 13639, said redwood hub being known as monument N.P.S. 5-H-34 of the aforesaid boundary survey; thence in a southwesterly direction on a curve to the left having a radius of 600 feet, the initial tangent of which bears S. 88°19' W., an arc distance of 377 feet; thence S. 37°41' E., 100 feet; thence S. 52°19' W., 232 feet; thence in a westerly direction on a curve to the right having a radius of 450 feet, an arc distance of 317 feet; thence N. 87°10' W., 184.20 feet; thence in a southwesterly direction on a curve to the left having a radius of 650 feet, an arc distance of 169 feet; thence S. 77°45' W., 205 feet; thence N. 12°15' W., 65 feet; thence in a westerly and northerly direction on a curve to the right having a radius of 150 feet, the initial tangent of which bears S. 77°45' W., an arc distance of 333 feet;

Thence N. 24°41' E., 190.03 feet; thence in a northwesterly and southwesterly direction on a curve to the left having a radius of 500 feet, an arc distance of 1,404.25 feet; thence S. 43°44' W., 448.45 feet; thence in a westerly direction on a curve to the right having a radius of 150 feet, an arc distance of 126.77 feet; thence N. 87°50' W., 193.00 feet; thence in a southwesterly direction on a curve to the left having a radius of 450 feet, an arc distance of 173.16 feet; thence S. 70°08' W., 155 feet; thence along the line of lands formerly of Stockstill the following six courses, the following bearings being referred to the conveyance from the said Stockstill; N. 1°14' E., 185.99 feet; N. 3°45' W., 35 feet; N. 88°30' W., 200 feet; S. 1°34' W., 250 feet; N. 88°30' W., 495 feet; and S. 10°40' W., 52.99 feet; thence along the line of lands formerly of Stewart the following seven courses, the following bearings being referred to the conveyance from the said Stewart; N. 88°28' W., 191.87 feet; thence in a southwesterly direction on a curve to the left having a radius of 550 feet, an arc distance of 373.89 feet; thence S. 52°35' W., 100 feet; thence N. 37° 25' W., 25 feet; thence S. 52°35' W., 315 feet, more or less, to a point which bears S. 32° 30' E. from the point of intersection of the two courses "S. 29°33' W., 255.43 feet and N. 32°30' W., 1,551.70 feet" as contained in that certain deed from the Sherwood Building Co. to Frederick L. Miehle et ux recorded in Book 352, page 469, Marin County Records;

Thence N. 32°30' W., 100 feet, more or less, to the point above described; thence N. 32°30' W., 1,551.70 feet to the center of the creek in Haggerty's Gulch; thence along said creek, S. 64°15' W., 380 feet to the boundary line of the Point Reyes National Seashore as surveyed and monumented; thence in a generally southeasterly, easterly, and northeasterly direction along said boundary to the point of beginning.

PARCEL II

Beginning at the left-hand gate post as described in Book 202 of Deeds, page 8 (6- by 6-inch center post) being a point common to lands formerly of Gilchrist, the Laguna Ranch, and the Bear Valley Ranch, being also a point on the boundary of the Point Reyes National Seashore (as said boundary is shown on "Record of Survey, Point Reyes National Seashore" recorded December 20, 1963, in Book 3 of Surveys at page 56, Marin County Records, California) said point being therein referred to as N.P.S. 4-F-40; thence in a northeasterly direction along said boundary, 100.0 feet; thence in a southeasterly direction to a point on said boundary, said point being 50.0 feet southeasterly of the point of beginning; thence in a northwesterly direction along said boundary, 50.0 feet to the point of beginning.

The Point Reyes National Seashore, as described, contains a total of 64,546 acres, more or less.

The boundary herein described is depicted on a boundary map of Point Reyes National Seashore, dated June 1, 1960, and designated NS-PR-7001 and on map No. 612-30,008, dated May, 1972 (entrance road section). The boundary is also shown in greater detail on the Survey plats recorded December 20, 1963, in the Marin County Recorder's Office, in book 3 of Surveys at page 56. All such maps are available for public inspection in the Office of the Superintendent, Point Reyes National Seashore, the Western Regional Office of the National Park Service in San Francisco, Calif., and the Offices of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C.

The Seashore boundary is subject to revision if minor adjustments are necessary to cause it to follow, as nearly as practicable, the boundary described in section 2 of the said Act of September 13, 1962, as amended.

Copies of this notice and of the maps depicting the boundaries of the Point Reyes National Seashore, described herein, will be distributed, published and recorded as required under section 5(b) of the above Act of September 13, 1962.

Dated: October 20, 1972.

RICHARD S. BODMAN,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

Delegation of Authority With Respect to Specific Legislation

Section 30 of Order 2508, as amended, is further amended by the addition under paragraph (a) of a new subparagraph to read as follows:

SEC. 30. Authority under specific acts. (a) In addition to any authority delegated elsewhere in this order, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, is authorized to perform the functions and exercise the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the following acts or portions of acts or any acts amendatory thereof:

. . . . . .

(55) The Act of December 17, 1970 (84 Stat. 1465), which authorizes the Secretary to approve an agreement entered into by the Soboba Band of Mission Indians releasing a claim against the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, and Eastern Municipal Water District, Calif., and to provide for construction of a water distribution system and a water supply for the Soboba Indian Reservation and which authorizes long-term leases of land on the reservation except that the Secretary must approve the release agreement and the annexation and water service agreement as to form prior to signature of the agreements by the Commissioner or his designee.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM, SCHOOL BREAKFAST PROGRAM, AND COMMODITY ONLY SCHOOLS

Income Poverty Guidelines for Determining Eligibility for Free and Reduced Price Meals

On May 18, 1972, there were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 10013) income poverty guidelines setting forth the minimum family size annual income levels to be used in determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1972. The guidelines were published pursuant to section 9 of the National School Lunch Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1758), and section 4(e) of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1773(e)). Subsequent to the publication of the guidelines, Public Law 92-433 (86 Stat. 724) was enacted. That Act requires schools to serve free lunches to all children from families whose income is at or below the applicable family-size income level in the income poverty guidelines prescribed by the Secretary. Public Law 92-433 also requires each State educational agency to prescribe income guidelines, for both free and reduced price meals by family size, for use by schools in the State. The State guidelines may not be less than the applicable family size income level prescribed by the Secretary, and may not exceed the Secretary's guidelines by more than 25 percent, in the case of free meals, or 50 percent, in the case of reduced price meals.

For the convenience of the State educational agencies, the Secretary's guidelines are hereby republished with the addition of tables showing the levels when increased by 25 percent and when increased by 50 percent. The increased figures represent the maximum levels to be used by State educational agencies in determining eligibility for free and reduced price meals, respectively. The Secretary's guidelines remain the minimum level; all children from families at or below such levels shall be served a free meal.

The Secretary's income poverty guidelines are based on the previous year's poverty level adjusted for the year-to-year change in the Consumer Price Index. This procedure is consistent with the basic procedure used by the Bureau of the Census in updating its latest statistics on poverty levels. The Secretary's guidelines for Hawaii and Alaska are consistent with variations established by the Office of Economic Opportunity in its Income Poverty Guidelines (37 F.R. 444, January 12, 1972), with appropriate adjustments.

"Income," as the term is used in this notice, is similar to that defined in the Bureau of Census report, "Characteristics of the Low-Income Population: 1970", Consumer Income, Current Population Reports, Series P-60, No. 81, November 1971. "Income" means income before deductions for income taxes, employees' social security taxes, insurance premiums, bonds, etc. It includes the following: (1) Monetary compensation for services, including wages, salary, commission, or fees; (2) net income from nonfarm self-employment; (3) net income from farm self-employment; (4) social security; (5) dividends or interest on savings or bonds, income from estates or trusts or net rental income; (6) public assistance or welfare payments; (7) unemployment compensations; (8) Government civilian employee or military retirement, or pensions, or veterans' payments; (9) private pensions or annuities; (10) alimony or child support payments; (11) regular contributions from persons not living in the household; (12) net royalties; and (13) other cash income. Other cash income would include cash amounts received or withdrawn from any source, including savings, investments, trust accounts, and other resources, which would be available to pay the price of a child's meal.

In applying guidelines, school food authorities may consider both the income of the family during the past 12 months and the family's current rate of income to determine which is the better indicator of the need for free and reduced price meals. Any school food authority having income guidelines for free or reduced price meals which exceed those specified in this notice may continue to use such guidelines for determining eligibility until July 1, 1973, if such guidelines were established prior to July 1, 1972.

Effective date. This notice shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-2-72).

Dated: October 30, 1972.

RICHARD E. LYNG,
Assistant Secretary.

EMERGENCY AND RURAL HOUSING DISASTER LOANS

Designation of Areas

It has been determined that property loss or damage or injury in certain counties in Ohio has resulted from natural disasters caused by heavy rainfall and flash flooding from July through September 1972. The following counties of Ohio are affected by such natural disasters:

Defiance. Paulding.
Henry.

It has further been determined that in the above counties of Ohio a general need for credit exists. Therefore, these counties are declared eligible for low-interest rate disaster loans, pursuant to the provisions of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, the Disaster Relief Act of 1970, title V of the Housing Act of 1949, and Public Law 92-385. Applications for such loans must be received by this Department prior to July 1, 1973, except that qualified borrowers who receive initial loans pursuant to this designation may be eligible for subsequent loans.

The urgency of the need for loans in the designated areas makes it impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give advance notice of proposed rule making and invite public participation.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

EARL L. BUTZ,
Secretary.

VENEZUELAN EQUINE ENCEPHALOMYELITIS

Termination of Emergency

On July 21, 1971, a notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 13410) declaring that an emergency arising out of the existence and spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis existed in the United States. Extensive measures were instituted to control and eradicate the disease wherever found, including immunization of susceptible animals, and extensive vector control measures. The last known case of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis occurred in the United States, November 7, 1971. During 1972 an extensive surveillance program involving horses, other animals, and mosquitoes has revealed no evidence of the disease in the United States. Therefore, I hereby declare that the emergency due to Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis is terminated effective October 31, 1972.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COUNCIL ON ADULT EDUCATION

Notice of Public Meeting

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Executive Order 11671, that the next meeting of the National Advisory Council on Adult Education will be held on November 9, 10, 11, 1972. On November 9, 1972, the Council meeting will be held at the Friendship International Hotel, Friendship Airport, Baltimore, Md., commencing at 11:30 a.m., and terminating at 4 p.m. On November 10–11, 1972, the Council meeting will be held in the Council offices located in Room 1144, Pennsylvania Building, 425 13th Street NW., Washington, DC 20004. On November 10, 1972, the meeting will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. On November 11, 1972, the meeting will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The National Advisory Council on Adult Education is established under section 310 of the Adult Education Act (80 Stat. 1216.20 U.S.C. 1201). The Council is directed to:

Advise the Commissioner in the preparation of general regulations and with respect to policy matters arising in the administration of this title, including policies and procedures governing the approval of State plans under section 306 and policies to eliminate duplication, and to effectuate the coordination of programs under this title and other programs offering adult education activities and services.

The Council shall review the administration and effectiveness of programs under this title, make recommendations with respect thereto, and make annual reports to the President of its findings and recommendations (including recommendations for changes in this title and other Federal laws relating to adult education activities and services). The President shall transmit each such report to the Congress together with his comments and recommendations.

The meeting of the Council shall be open to the public.

The proposed agenda includes:

Maryland adult/continuing education.
Legislative priorities for fiscal year 1973 bill.
Annual report format.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Dockets Nos. 50-315, 50-316]

INDIANA & MICHIGAN POWER CO. AND INDIANA & MICHIGAN ELECTRIC CO.

Order Extending Completion Dates

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., and Indiana & Michigan Power Co., are the holders of Provisional Construction Permits issued by the Commission on March 25, 1969, for the construction of the Donald C. Cook Nuclear Plant, Units 1 and 2, two 3250 megawatt (thermal) pressurized water nuclear reactors, presently under construction at the companies' site in Lake Township, Berrien County, Mich.

On October 10, 1972, the companies requested an extension of completion dates because of construction delays due to bad weather, redesign of reactor components, labor difficulties, and the renegotiation of certain construction contracts. Good cause having been shown as required by section 185 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and § 50.55 of 10 CFR Part 50 of the Commission's regulations:

It is hereby ordered, That the latest completion date for CPPR–60 (as amended) is extended from November 1, 1972, to November 1, 1974, and CPPR–61 (as amended) from January 1, 1974, to December 1, 1975.

Date of issuance: October 26, 1972.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 24869; Order 72-10-91]

BAGGAGE ALLOWANCE TARIFF RULES IN OVERSEAS AND FOREIGN AIR TRANSPORTATION

Order of Investigation

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 27th day of October 1972.

By a petition filed on August 14, 1972, Donald L. Pevsner, Esq., requests the Board to order an investigation of the lawfulness of various existing tariffs which set forth the free baggage allowances and charges for excess baggage in foreign air transportation. Mr. Pevsner alleges that the existing tariff rules, which establish a free baggage allowance for first-class passengers of 30 kilograms and for economy passengers of 20 kilograms with excess weight charged at the rate of 1 percent of the first-class fare per kilogram, effectively deter passengers from exceeding the established weight limitations by virtue of the high costs of excess baggage. Further, he asserts that these charges provide a handsome source of additional revenue to the carriers resulting in excess profits from those passengers having excess baggage. The relief sought by Mr. Pevsner is the institution of an investigation of these allegedly unjust and unreasonable charges and practices consistent with the Board's statutory authority under Public Law 92–259 and a finding emanating from such an investigation that the charges at issue are unjust or unreasonable with the subsequent cancellation of the offending tariffs.

Responses to the Pevsner petition have been received from Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American) and Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA). Pan American states that the petition amounts to no more than an unsupported assertion that the tariff rules are unlawful and as such the petition should be dismissed; that the existing rules can be justified on economic grounds; that in view of the large losses experienced by Pan American it can hardly be said that its revenues received for carrying passengers and baggage are unreasonable; that a Board investigation at the present time would be inappropriate and duplicative since the entire matter of baggage allowances is to be considered at the IATA conference presently being held at Torremolinos, Spain, and that the Board has evidenced a desire to have the matter dealt with, at least initially, within IATA.

The thrust of TWA's arguments for dismissal of the petition and denial of the relief requested goes to the alleged liability of the Board to either suspend or investigate the tariff provisions at issue because, it asserts, the authority of the Board under section 1002(j) was adopted as a special measure to enable the Board to deal with the chaotic type of fare situation which existed last summer. As the existing tariffs do not constitute a similar condition in that there is no immediate threat to the well-being of the public or any carrier, the Board's power under section 1002(j) cannot be invoked and a grant of the petitioner's request would be a misuse of the Board's authority.

TWA further alleges that the petition has not made a sufficient showing that the present baggage allowance rules may be unreasonable; that a liberalization of the rules would increase problems associated with aircraft capability limitations, and increase handling costs in addition to costs for extra fuel consumed associated with increased weight; and that an investigation at this time would be an inappropriate and undue burden on both the Board and the carriers in light of the consideration of this matter at the IATA conferences.

Upon consideration of the baggage charges and provisions complained against and in light of the complaint and the answers thereto and all relevant matters, the Board finds that such tariff charges and provisions applicable in foreign air transportation on behalf of the various air carriers and foreign air carriers participating therein[1] may be unjust or unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful and should be investigated.

In concluding to initiate this investigation, we have considered that the present rules date back to the time when operations of aircraft were severely weight limited, that the yield from excess baggage charges is significantly greater than the yield for practically all other categories of traffic and may not be reasonably related to the costs properly associated with such transportation and, accordingly, we believe that such rules, if they are maintained, must bear the scrutiny of an investigation.

While we are aware that the issue of baggage provisions is currently being considered at the Torremolinos Traffic Conference of IATA carriers, there are no assurances that any satisfactory solution will be reached by the carriers at that conference. We are further not swayed by the carriers' attempts to justify the existing-baggage rules on the grounds that they are not making excessive profits from the carriage of passengers and their baggage. The carriers' overall profit position is the result of many factors and cannot justify an otherwise unreasonable charge for excess baggage.

We reject out of hand TWA's contention that the institution of an investigation based on the reasonableness standards under section 1002(j) is a misuse of the Board's authority. A similar argument by TWA in a different proceeding has properly been disposed of by Order 72–9–2, which states that there is nothing in the legislative history of section 1002(j) that would indicate a congressional intention to limit the section as TWA suggests. The authority Congress has granted the Board is clearly appropriate to this case, and while the Board has the authority under section 1002(j)(2) of the Federal Aviation Act to suspend the tariffs at issue, such an action is not warranted at the present time because of the possibility of resolving this issue through the IATA machinery.

The free-baggage allowance and the charges for excess baggage complained against are currently contained in IATA Resolutions 310 and 311 (Free Baggage Allowance and Baggage Excess Weight Charges) which were revalidated by a standard revalidation resolution (002) approved by the Board in Orders 72–3–104, 72–3–105, and 72–3–106 for effectiveness through March 31, 1973, Agreement CAB 22663 (R–62). The issues will therefore include the further question of whether these IATA resolutions are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act and, if so, what order or condition should the Board enter with respect to such resolutions pursuant to section 412 of the Act.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 as amended and particularly sections 204(a), 404(b), 412, 414, and 1002 thereof, It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the baggage charges and provisions which establish a free baggage allowance of 30 kilograms for first-class passengers and 20 kilograms for economy-class passengers (or the equivalent of 66 and 44 pounds, respectively) with excess weight charged at the rate of 1 percent of the first-class fare per kilogram applicable to those carriers listed in Appendix B hereto,[2] and set forth in tariffs listed in Appendix A hereto,[3] including subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, and classifications, rules, regulations, and practices affecting such charges and provisions are or will be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and if found to be unlawful, to take such action to prescribe the lawful charges and provisions, or remove unjust discrimination, undue preference, or prejudice, or to cancel such tariffs, and prevent the use of such charges, classifications, regulations, or practices, as may be appropriate;

2. The investigation herein will include the issue as to whether resolutions of the International Air Transport Association which establish or provide for the establishment of the free-baggage allowance and excess-baggage charges described above, are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act and,

3. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaint in Docket 24667 is dismissed;

4. The proceeding ordered herein be assigned for hearing before an administrative law judge of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated; and

5. Copies of this order shall be served upon the carriers named in Appendix B hereto[2] and upon Donald L. Pevsner, which are hereby made parties to this proceeding.

[1] The tariffs setting forth the free-baggage allowance for fist-class passengers of 30 kilograms per passenger, and 20 kilograms per passenger for economy passengers, with excess weight charged at the rate of 1 percent of the first-class fare per kilogram are listed in Appendix A hereto, which is filed as part of the original document. The respondent carrier parties to this investigation are set forth in Appendix B, also filed as part of the original document, and will include those carriers which participate in such rules and provisions with respect to either local or joint tariffs in foreign air transportation.

There are limited situations where the baggage tariff rules in question are applicable in overseas air transportation, and the investigation initiated herein will also encompass such tariff rules.

[2] Appendices A and B filed as part of the original document.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Acting Secretary.

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

CERTAIN COTTON TEXTILE PRODUCTS PRODUCED OR MANUFACTURED IN THE SOCIALIST FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF YUGOSLAVIA

Entry or Withdrawal From Warehouse for Consumption

NOVEMBER 1, 1972.

On December 18, 1971, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 24098), a letter dated December 13, 1971, from the Chairman, President's Cabinet Textile Advisory Committee, to the Commissioner of Customs, establishing levels of restraint applicable to certain specified categories of cotton textiles and cotton textile products produced or manufactured in the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and exported to the United States during the 12-month period beginning January 1, 1972. As set forth in that letter the levels of restraint are subject to adjustment pursuant to paragraphs 5 and 15 of the bilateral cotton textile agreement of December 31, 1970, between the Governments of the United States and the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia which provide respectively (1) that within the aggregate and applicable group limits, limits on certain categories may be exceeded by not more than five (5) percent; and (2) for the limited carryover of shortfalls in certain categories to the following agreement year.

Accordingly, at the request of the Government of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and pursuant to the provisions of the bilateral agreement referred to above, there is published below a letter of November 1, 1972, from the Chairman of the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to the Commissioner of Customs amending the level of restraint applicable to cotton textile products in Category 49 for the 12-month period which began on January 1, 1972.

STANLEY NEHMER,
Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, and Deputy Assistant Secretary and Director, Bureau of Resources and Trade Assistance.

COMMITTEE FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF TEXTILE AGREEMENTS

COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS,
Department of the Treasury,
Washington, D.C. 20226.

NOVEMBER 1, 1972.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER: On December 13, 1971, the Chairman, President's Cabinet Textile Advisory Committee, directed you to prohibit entry during the 12-month period beginning January 1, 1972, of cotton textiles and cotton textile products in certain specified categories, produced or manufactured in the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, in excess of designated levels of restraint. The Chairman further advised you that the levels of restraint are subject to adjustment.[1]

Under the terms of the Long-Term Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Cotton Textiles done at Geneva on February 9, 1962, pursuant to paragraphs 5 and 15 of the bilateral cotton textile agreement of December 31, 1970, between the Governments of the United States and the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, and in accordance with the procedures of Executive Order 11651 of March 3, 1972, you are directed to amend, effective as soon as possible, the level of restraint established in the aforesaid directive of December 13, 1971, for cotton textile products in Category 49 to 31,924 dozen for the 12-month period beginning January 1, 1972.

The actions taken with respect to the Government of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and with respect to imports of cotton textiles and cotton textile products from the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia have been determined by the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to involve foreign affairs functions of the United States. Therefore, the directions to the Commissioner of Customs, being necessary to the implementation of such actions fall within the foreign affairs exception to the rule making provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553. This letter will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sincerely yours,

STANLEY NEHMER,
Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements, and Deputy Assistant Secretary and Director, Bureau of Resources and Trade Assistance.

[FR Doc.72–18907 Filed 11–1–72;10:50 am]

[1] The term "adjustment" refers to those provisions of the bilateral cotton textile agreement of Dec. 31, 1970, between the Governments of the United States and the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia which provide in part that within the aggregate and applicable group limits, limits on certain categories may be exceeded by not more than five (5) percent; for limited carryover of shortfalls in certain categories to the next agreement year; and for administrative arrangements.

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

Take notice that on October 17, 1972, Boston Edison Co. (Boston Edison) and Boston Gas Co. (Boston Gas) filed a joint application pursuant to section 203 of the Federal Power Act for approval of an authority for the purchase by Boston Edison and the sale by Boston Gas of the latter's electric distribution facilities in the Charlestown District of the city of Boston, County of Suffolk, Mass.

The applicants are incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Boston Edison being engaged in the electric utility business and Boston Gas being engaged in the gas utility business except that it also distributes electricity in the Charlestown district of the city of Boston.

Virtually all of the electricity so distributed by Boston Gas has for many years been purchased from Boston Edison. Boston Edison serves 40 cities and towns including the remainder of the city of Boston. The said Charlestown section of Boston is approximately 1 square mile in area and approximately 4,500 electric customers within such area are now serviced by Boston Gas.

Boston Gas and Boston Edison have entered into an agreement for purchase and sale of assets, approved by their respective stockholders and directors, under which Boston Gas will sell and Boston Edison will purchase substantially all of the assets owned by Boston Gas that are used by it solely in the distribution and sale of electricity in said Charlestown section of Boston. The purchase price will be approximately the net asset value of the assets to be sold, less $400,000. At December 31, 1971, the assets proposed to be sold had a net asset value of approximately $3,625,000. Following the purchase of such assets Boston Edison will operate said assets and continue the distribution of electricity at retail.

Applicants have filed a joint petition with the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities for approval of such transaction in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 13, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

Secretary.

[Dockets Nos. RP66-4, RP68-1]

FLORIDA GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

Proposed Changes in Tariff

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Florida Gas Transmission Co. (Florida Gas), on October 16, 1972, submitted proposed changes in its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1. The changes are contained in two separate submittals which are both made pursuant to the Commission's Opinion No. 611 and accompanying order, issued in the above-captioned proceedings on February 16, 1972.

The first submittal is a filing consisting of revisions in Florida Gas' Rate Schedule I, tendered to comply with ordering paragraph (F) of Opinion No. 611 in which Florida Gas was ordered to file a revised Rate Schedule I deleting the restrictive provisions therein discussed in the opinion, with a volume limitation on sales, and containing a revised definition of "commercial service" in accordance with the opinion. Florida Gas says that these proposed tariff revisions constitute an overall plan for operating Florida Gas' pipeline at least for the next 3 years and that they take into consideration the directives which the Commission prescribed for service limitations in Opinion No. 611 plus changes in conditions which have occurred since the record in Docket No. RP66-4, et al., was closed. Florida Gas proposes an effective date of November 15, 1972, for these revised tariff provisions.

The second submittal is a proposal consisting of pro forma tariff sheets containing two alternative zoning plans and a two-part rate proposal, including a small volume optional rate, made to comply with ordering paragraph (E) of Opinion No. 611 which required Florida Gas to file a proposal for two-part demand-commodity rates under its Rate Schedule G and a small general service rate (SGS), applicable to such zones as Florida Gas considers appropriate in accordance with the discussion in the opinion. The opinion provides that such rates shall not be effective until a rate filing is made upon further order of the Commission after completion of any necessary proceedings.

Copies of each of the two filings were served upon Florida Gas' customers receiving service under Original Volume 1 of its FPC Gas Tariff, all intervenors in Dockets Nos. RP66–4 and RP68–1 and the Florida Public Service Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filings should file a protest or, if not previously granted intervention in Dockets Nos. RP66–4 and/or RP68–1, file a petition to intervene with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before November 6, 1972. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of the filings are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CI73–291]

GETTY OIL CO.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

Take notice that on October 24, 1972, Getty Oil Co. (applicant), Post Office Box 1404, Houston, TX 77001, filed in Docket No. CI73–291 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America (Natural) from the tailgate of the Old Ocean Field Plant, Brazoria County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to sell up to 15,000 Mcf of gas per day at 40 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a. for a period commencing as of the date of authorization and acceptance, however, not prior to January 1, 1973, and ending 12 months later, all within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70).

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 10, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

NATURAL GAS PIPELINE COMPANY OF AMERICA

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Take notice that on October 18, 1972, Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America (applicant), 122 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60603, filed in Docket No. CP73–106 an application pursuant to section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon a 3,000 horsepower compressor engine in New Mexico, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to abandon a 3,000 horsepower compressor unit located in Lea County, N. Mex., so that it can relocate it.[1] Applicant states that this 3,000 horsepower compressor engine and a 4,000 horsepower compressor engine are used to purchase quantities of residue gas from Warren Petroleum Co. at the outlet of Warren's Bough processing plant in Lea County. Applicant further states that due to the decrease of estimated reserves, it no longer needs the 3,000 horsepower engine at this location.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 21, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that permission and approval for the proposed abandonment are required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Project 199]

SOUTH CAROLINA PUBLIC SERVICE AUTHORITY

Non-Project Use of Project Lands and Waters

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

Public notice is hereby given that application for approval of non-project use of project lands and waters has been filed under the Federal Power Act (16 USC 791a–825r) by South Carolina Public Service Authority (Correspondence to: Mr. J. B. Thomason, General Manager, South Carolina Public Service Authority, Santee-Cooper, Moncks Corner, S.C. 29461) in Project No. 199 located on the Santee River and the Cooper River.

Applicant has requested Commission approval of a raw water intake structure in Lake Moultrie of Project No. 199 by the South Carolina Wildlife Resources Department. The intake would furnish water for operation of the Bonneau Fish Hatchery. It is estimated that 0.61 acre-feet per day or about 200,000 gallons per day would be withdrawn from and not returned to the reservoir.

Applicant states that the hatchery would have rearing ponds to raise striped bass to fingerling size.

A permit to construct the subject intake was issued by the Corps of Engineers, Charleston, S.C. on April 21, 1972. The facility has also been approved by the U.S. Forest Service, the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior and appropriate State and local agencies.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make protest with reference to said application should on or before December 18, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to a proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CS72–1053]

TRAVIS H. DAVIS GAS ACCOUNT

Petition of Waiver of Regulations

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Take notice that by letter filed October 10, 1972, Travis H. Davis Gas Account (Petitioner), Post Office Box 1709, Borger, TX 79007, % Roy Gurley, Esq., certificate holder in Docket No. CS72–1053, requests that the Commission waive in part paragraph (c) of § 157.40 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.40(c)) so as to permit the sale of natural gas under its small producer certificate from reserves acquired in place from Sun Oil Co., a large producer.

Section 157.40(c) provides in part that sales of natural gas may not be made pursuant to a small producer certificate from reserves acquired by a small producer by purchase of developed reserves in place from a large producer. Petitioner states that the lease which it has acquired from Sun, produces approximately 2,200 Mcf of natural gas per month and would like it to be covered under its small producer certificate. Petitioner further states that it will not accept a gas purchase rate in excess of the area ceiling rate. The subject lease, the Mitchell Gas Unit, Morton County, Kans., is presently covered under Sun Oil Co., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 236.

This letter by Petitioner is being construed as a petition for waiver of Commission regulations under paragraph (b) of § 1.7 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.7(b)). Any interested person may submit to the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, not later than November 27, 1972, views and comments in writing concerning the petition for waiver. An original and 14 conformed copies should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission. The Commission will consider all such written submittals before acting on the petition.

Secretary.

[Docket No. RP72–103]

UNION TEXAS PETROLEUM ET AL.

Order Modifying Order on Rehearing

OCTOBER 24, 1972.

On September 28, 1972, Stephens & Cass (Respondent) filed a motion for rehearing of our order issued September 25, 1972, granting relief to Union Texas Petroleum, a Division of Allied Chemical Corp. (Complainant) and terminating this proceeding. Complainant had alleged that Respondent has violated the provisions of a gas purchase contract with Complainant by failing to deliver gas as required by the contract. The purchaser, El Paso Natural Gas Co., states that upon review of the facts, it appears that the properties remain subject to a prior dedication under Complainants' contract.

In support of its motion, Respondent correctly asserts that the Commission inadvertently failed to recognize its answer filed herein on February 22, 1972. Respondent's answer alleges that its contract with Complainant was never valid or in force, that the Complainant abandoned the leases in 1961, and urges certain contractual provisions and Complainant's alleged noncompliance with other terms of the contract in support of its position. Respondent's answer thus places in issue the validity of the contract under the laws applicable thereto.

The pleadings reflect divergent views on that issue. Complainant and El Paso Natural Gas Co. assert the validity of the contract, while Respondent urges its invalidity. It was our view, as expressed in the order of September 25, that, while the Commission has jurisdiction to ascertain the validity of the contract, it would not exercise that jurisdiction, but would defer such determination to the local courts. In taking that position, we recognized that the issue involved was not one where Federal law conflicts with or supersedes State law. Thus, the issue is one of local law and, as such, must be decided under State law. When so determined, we are then obligated to follow that State ruling. See, "Pan American Petroleum Corp., et al.", 32 FPC 966, rehearing denied, 32 FPC 1394. Respondent's answer has not altered our view on that action, and, consequently, we affirm the September 25 order in this respect.

Upon further consideration, however, we conclude that we were in error in granting relief to Complainant pending action by the local courts on these contractual issues. We shall therefore modify the September 25 order so as to allow Stephens & Cass to continue deliveries to El Paso pending determination of these questions. Such action will assure adequate protection for the position of Stephens & Cass. Complainant is adequately protected by its right to seek damages in court in the event its position is upheld by the local courts. There is thus no need to require Stephens & Cass to deliver the gas in question to Complainant.

The Commission orders:

(A) Ordering paragraphs (A) and (B) of the September 25, 1972, order in the above-entitled proceedings are rescinded.

(B) Further action in this proceeding is deferred, pending resolution of the contractual issues involved in this proceeding.

(C) Except to the extent provided in ordering paragraphs (A) and (B) above, the application for rehearing filed by Stephens & Cass is denied.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

W. F. COOKE, JR., ET AL.[1]

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

Take notice that on October 24, 1972, W. F. Cooke, Jr., et al. (Applicants), 1 Briar Dale Court, Houston, TX 77027, filed in Docket No. CI73-290 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Trunkline Gas Co. (Trunkline) from the Goff Field Area, Wharton County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicants state that they commenced the sale of gas within the contemplation of § 157.29 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.29) and that they proposed to continue said sale for 1 year from December 9, 1972, the end of the 60-day emergency period, within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70). Applicant's propose to sell approximately 30,000 Mcf of gas per month at 35.0 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 10, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. COLUMBIA GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

Take notice that on October 16, 1972, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp. (applicant), 20 Montchanin Road, Wilmington, DE 19807, filed in Docket No. CP73-105 a budget-type application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act as implemented by § 157.7(b) of the Commission's regulations thereunder, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction during the 12-month period following issuance of the Commission's order and the operation of certain natural gas purchase facilities, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that the purpose of this application is to augment its ability to act with reasonable dispatch in contracting for and connecting to its pipeline system supplies of natural gas in various producing areas generally coextensive with said system.

The cost of the proposed facilities is not to exceed $2 million with no single project to exceed $500,000. Applicant plans to finance such costs from cash on hand or through open account advances from the issuance of promissory notes and/or common stock to its parent company, the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 20, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make that protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP73-102]

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

Take notice that on October 13, 1972, Northern Natural Gas Co. (applicant), 2223 Dodge Street, Omaha, NE 68102, filed in Docket No. CP73-102 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain minor side valve facilities and the transportation of vaporized liquefied natural gas (LNG) for Northern States Power Co. (Northern States), all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant seeks authorization under the terms of a vaporized LNG transportation contract dated August 28, 1972, to accept and transport on a best efforts basis volumes of vaporized LNG not to exceed 1,000 Mcf per hour and 24,000 Mcf per day for Northern States during the period commencing November 27, 1972, and continuing through March 26, 1972, and thereafter for nine succeeding periods beginning November 27 and ending March 26. Pursuant to said contract, applicant will receive such vaporized LNG at a proposed point of interconnection on applicant's existing 12-inch line "A" line in Dakota County, Minn., approximately 2,600 feet north of its Rosemount TBS No. 1-A, and redeliver such gas to Northern States at applicant's St. Paul TBS No. 1-C. Applicant also seeks authorization to install minor side valve facilities on its 12-inch "A" line to effectuate such transportation.

Applicant proposes to charge Northern States a rate of 0.5 cent per Mcf for the transportation service.

Applicant states that Northern States intends to utilize the vaporized LNG as peaking service volumes during the 1972-73 heating season and desires that such service be available to its firm and small volume consumers located in and around St. Paul, Minn.

Applicant estimates the cost of the proposed side valve facilities at $15,800.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 20, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Project No. 2101]

SACRAMENTO MUNICIPAL UTILITY DISTRICT

Notice of Application for Approval of Exhibit R for Constructed Project

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

Public notice is hereby given that application for approval of exhibit R has been filed under the regulations under the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 791a-825r) by Sacramento Municipal Utility District (correspondence to: William J. Nolan, Acting General Manager, Sacramento Municipal Utility District, 6201 South Street, Box 2391, Sacramento, CA 95811), for constructed Project 2101 located on Rubicon River and tributaries, Silver Creek, and South Fork American River and tributaries, in the region of Camino and Placerville, Calif., affecting lands of the United States in the Eldorado National Forest.

According to the proposed exhibit R facilities at Loon Lake Reservoir would include a 15-acre, 40-unit campground (eight tenting, 32 trailer sites), and a 19-car trailhead parking area. At Union Valley Reservoir proposed facilities would include: (1) Four campsites containing 260 units (58 tenting, 202 trailer sites) occupying a total of 73 acres; (2) a 25-car parking area; and (3) a boat launching ramp. At Ice House Reservoir proposed facilities would include an 11-acre, 40-unit campground (eight tenting, 32 trailer sites).

Proposed facilities would utilize both project lands and National Forest lands. All construction is to be accomplished by the Forest Service and is due for completion by the summer of 1976.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make protest with reference to said application should on or before December 18, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to a proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

AFFILIATED BANK CORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

Affiliated Bank Corp., Madison, Wis., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 80 percent or more of the voting shares of Bank of Cambridge, Cambridge, Wis. (Bank).

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant controls three banks with aggregate deposits of approximately $103 million,[1] Bank ($5.3 million in deposits) is the 24th largest of 30 banking organizations operating in the Madison banking market, approximated by the Madison Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (Dane County), and holds 0.8 percent of total deposits held by commercial banks operating in that market. Applicant's three subsidiary banks also operate in the Madison banking market, and Applicant thereby controls 15.6 percent of total deposits held by banks operating in that market, thereby ranking as the second largest banking organization in that market.

Since the closest banking subsidiary of Applicant to Bank is located approximately 25 miles west of Bank and several banks intervene, it appears that there is no significant existing competition between Applicant, its subsidiary banks, and Bank. There is little probability that Applicant would enter Bank's service area de novo because of the small population growth and the low per capita income of the area, and consummation of the proposal would foreclose no substantial potential competition. The Board concludes that competitive considerations are consistent with approval of the application.

Considerations related to the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of Applicant and its subsidiary banks are regarded as generally satisfactory and consistent with approval. Although Bank's financial resources and future prospects are satisfactory, it appears that adequate provision has not been made for succession to Bank's currently satisfactory management. Applicant would serve as a source of successor management as well as of additional capital funds should Bank's continued deposit growth require the infusion of further capital. The banking considerations therefore lend weight toward approval of the application. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the community lend some weight for approval, since Applicant proposes to provide, through Bank, trust services not now readily available in the area, and to enable Bank to offer leasing, credit card, computer, and other services. Although these services are presently available in the community, consummation of the proposed transaction would create another alternative source of such services.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated: (a) Before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[2] effective October 26, 1972.

[SEAL] TYNAN SMITH,
Secretary of the Board.

CBT CORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Lazere Financial Corp.

CBT Corp., Hartford, Conn., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval, under section 4(c)(8) of the Act and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y, to acquire not less than 80 percent of the voting shares of Lazere Financial Corp. (Lazere), New York, N.Y.

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views on the public interest factors, has been duly published (37 F.R. 17088). The time for filing comments and views has expired, and none has been timely received.

Applicant's banking subsidiary, The Connecticut Bank & Trust Co. (Bank), is the second largest bank in the State of Connecticut, and holds deposits of $1.1 billion representing approximately 18 percent of the total commercial bank deposits in the State.[1] Applicant also has nonbanking subsidiaries engaged principally in data processing, real estate financing, equipment leasing, and acting as a stock transfer agent.

Lazere is a commercial finance company with total assets of $9.2 million, total credits outstanding of $7.3 million, and total capital accounts of $2.1 million.[2] It operates its sole office in New York City and primarily serves the New York metropolitan area. It specializes in secured financing of accounts receivable, which in recent years has accounted for approximately 90 percent of its total credits outstanding.[3] It also finances inventory and the importation of goods, either by direct loans or confirmation of letters of credit issued by other financial institutions. Such activities are consistent with the the kinds of activities determined by the Board to be closely related to banking (12 CFR 225.4(a)(1)).

Although Bank and Lazere compete for commercial loan business in Fairfield County, Conn., consummation of the proposed acquisition would not have any significant adverse effect on existing competition. Bank's branches in Fairfield County have not engaged to any significant extent in financing accounts receivable. Only 2.3 percent of Lazere's total credits outstanding were derived from that county as of June 30, 1972. An insignificant amount of competition is therefore affected. Nor does it appear that consummation of the proposed acquisition would have any adverse effect on potential competition or on credit availability to independent finance companies in any relevant area.

There is no evidence in the record indicating that consummation of the proposed transaction would result in any undue concentration of resources, unfair competition, unsound banking practices, or other adverse effects on the public interest. It is anticipated that Lazere's affiliation with applicant will give Lazere access to the greater capital resources of applicant, will enhance its ability to provide larger loans, and will thereby enable it to compete more effectively in the highly competitive markets which it serves.

Based upon the foregoing and other considerations reflected in the record, the Board has determined that the balance of the public interest factors the Board is required to consider under section 4(c)(8) is favorable. Accordingly, the application is hereby approved. This determination is subject to the conditions set forth in § 225.4(c) of Regulation Y and to the Board's authority to require such modification or termination of the activities of a holding company or any of its subsidiaries as the Board finds necessary to assure compliance with the provisions and purposes of the Act and the Board's regulations and orders issued thereunder, or to prevent evasion thereof.

By order of the Board of Governors,[4] effective October 26, 1972.

[SEAL] TYNAN SMITH,
Secretary of the Board.

[1] Data regarding Bank are as of Dec. 31, 1971.

[2] Data regarding Lazere are as of May 31, 1972, except as otherwise noted.

[3] The latest figures as of May 31, 1972, reflect that accounts receivable financing represents approximately 80 percent of total credits outstanding.

EXCHANGE BANCORPORATION, INC.

Acquisition of Bank

Exchange Bancorporation, Inc., Tampa, Fla., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 49,400 of the voting shares of Exchange Bank of Dunedin, Dunedin, Fla., a proposed new bank. The factors that are considered in acting on the application are set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

The application may be inspected at the office of the Board of Governors or at the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. Any person wishing to comment on the application should submit his views in writing to the Reserve Bank to be received not later than November 22, 1972.

FARMERS ENTERPRISES, INC.

Order Denying Formation of Bank Holding Company and Retention of Insurance Agency

Farmers Enterprises, Inc., La Crosse, Kans., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)) of formation of a bank holding company through the acquisition of 81 percent or more of the voting shares of The Farmers State Bank, Albert, Kans. (Bank).

At the same time applicant has applied for the Board's approval under section 4(c)(8) of the Act and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y to engage in insurance agency activities through the retention of the insurance agency activities formerly conducted by the Albert Insurance Agency, Albert, Kans. (Agency). Agency would engage in the activities of a general insurance agency in a community of less than 300 people. The Board has previously determined such activity to be permissible for bank holding companies (12 CFR 225.4(a)(9)).

Notice of receipt of the applications has been given in accordance with sections 3 and 4 of the Act (37 F.R. 12751), and the time for filing comments and views has expired. The Board has considered the applications and all comments received in the light of the facts set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)), and the considerations specified in section 4(c)(8) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and finds that:

Applicant was formed for the purpose of acquiring Bank and Agency, and has operated Agency since October 1971. Bank, with deposits of approximately $4.5 million, controls 4.5 percent of deposits in commercial banks in the Barton County area, and is the eighth largest of nine banks in that area.[1] The proposed president and a proposed director of Bank are executive officers of Home State Bank, La Crosse, Kans.; Bank and Home State Bank, however, are separated by more than 20 miles and neither bank appears to derive significant business from the other's banking area. Accordingly, the Board concludes that no significant existing or potential competition would be eliminated upon consummation of this proposal.

During July and August 1971, applicant's organizer and sole shareholder acquired 2,430 of 3,000 shares of Bank with the intention of transferring such shares to applicant. A majority interest in Bank was acquired from officers and directors of Bank for $250 per share. A second group of shareholders received $200 per share and a third group $135 per share. In its consideration of the public interest aspects of this application the Board finds, as it previously has in similar cases, that the failure to make an equivalent offer to all shareholders of Bank is an adverse circumstance weighing against approval of the application (e.g., 1971 Federal Reserve Bulletins 415 and 688).

The Board is also concerned with another aspect of applicant's proposal. In applications to form one-bank holding companies the Board has considered significant debt in acquiring a bank as an adverse circumstance (e.g., 1971 Federal Reserve Bulletin 1003). Significant acquisition debt may adversely affect the prospects of an applicant's ability to meet any emergency capital needs of its subsidiary bank. The amount and maturity of the debt, therefore, must be considered in relation to the ability of the holding company to service the debt, and the likelihood that Bank will need capital. The debt factor is then balanced with other considerations in determining whether the acquisition would be in the public interest.

Applicant proposes to assume debt of $325,250 which would result in a debt-to-equity ratio of 2,288 percent. Taking into account the actual growth of assets and deposits of Bank since 1967, and the range of percentage of net income to total assets for all Kansas member banks in a comparable deposit size group, it appears that, even under a reasonable projection of Bank's earnings, amortization of the debt will require applicant's total projected income from Bank and Agency for a period of approximately 18 years. During this period the projected growth of Bank could require additional capital that applicant would not likely be able to provide. Considerations relating to the financial and managerial resources of applicant therefore weigh against approval. These considerations, it should be clear, in no way reflect adversely on the financial soundness of Bank at the present time. On the contrary, the financial and managerial resources of Bank are sound and its prospects for the future favorable.

Under all of the circumstances in this case, the Board concludes that the unequal treatment of shareholders of Bank and the acquisition debt involved in this proposal present adverse circumstances bearing on the financial condition and prospects of applicant and Bank which weigh against approval of the application. Such circumstances are not outweighed by any procompetitive factors or by the convenience and needs of the communities to be served. On the basis of the record, the Board finds that approval of the section 3 application would not be in the public interest and it is accordingly denied.[2]

By order of the Board of Governors,[3] effective October 26, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

MERCANTILE BANKSHARES CORP.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

Mercantile Bankshares Corp., Baltimore, Md., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire not less than 80 percent of the voting shares of Bank of Somerset, Princess Anne, Md. (Bank).

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and the Board has considered the application and all comments received in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

V 37 - 212 NOV 2 72 XUM

Applicant controls five banks with aggregate deposits of approximately $304 million, and is the sixth largest banking organization in Maryland, with 5.1 percent of commercial bank deposits in the State. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971, unless otherwise indicated, and reflect bank holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through September 30, 1972.) Acquisition of Bank ($18.9 million in deposits) would increase Applicant's share of statewide deposits by only 0.3 percent and its ranking in the State would remain unchanged.

Bank is the fourth largest of 11 banking organizations competing in the Somerset-Wicomico banking market, holding about 12.1 percent of market deposits (as of June 30, 1970). Applicant's office located closest to Bank is about 90 miles northwest of Bank, in Church Hill. It appears that there is no significant existing competition between Bank and Applicant's Church Hill office or any of Applicant's subsidiary banks. Moreover, it appears unlikely that such competition would develop in the future in the light of the facts of record, notably, the distances separating Bank from Applicant's present subsidiary banks, the number of banks located in intervening areas, and the declining population of Somerset County between 1960 and 1970. Affiliation with Applicant should enable Bank to compete more aggressively within its relevant market; thus, approval of this application should have a procompetitive effect on competition in the area. On the basis of the record before it, the Board concludes that consummation of the proposed acquisition would not have an adverse effect on competition in any relevant area.

The financial and managerial resources and prospects of Applicant and its subsidiary banks are regarded as satisfactory and consistent with approval of the application. Bank has experienced some management difficulties and affiliation with Applicant should enable Bank to draw upon Applicant's managerial resources to aid Bank in strengthening management and the condition of Bank. Additionally, Applicant has committed itself to increase Bank's capital by $500,000 upon acquisition of Bank. The banking factors lend weight for approval. It appears that the banking needs of the residents of Somerset and Wicomico Counties are being met; however, customers of Bank should benefit from the higher lending limits and additional services that Applicant will be able to provide. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the community to be served weigh in favor of approval of the application. It is the Board's judgment that the proposed transaction is in the public interest and should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated: (a) Before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 26, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

UNITED JERSEY BANKS

Order Approving Acquisition of Gibraltar Corporation of America

United Jersey Banks, Hackensack, N.J., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, as amended, has applied for the Board's approval under section 4(c)(8) of the Act and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y to acquire 100 percent of the voting and nonvoting shares of Gibraltar Corporation of America, New York, N.Y. (Gibraltar). Notice of the application affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views was duly published (37 F.R. 15534). The time for filing comments and views has expired and none have been received.

Making secured loans to businesses for various business purposes, such as accounts receivable financing, equipment financing, and dealer sales and lease financing, is an activity that the Board has previously determined to be closely related to banking or managing or controlling banks (12 CFR 225.4(a)(1)). A bank holding company may acquire a company engaged in this activity so long as the proposed acquisition is consistent with the factors specified in section 4(c)(8) of the Act. Gibraltar with total assets of approximately $22 million is a commercial finance company whose major activity is nonnotification accounts receivable financing. Gibraltar also engages to a lesser extent in the other types of commercial financing described above as being "closely related to banking." These types of commercial financing are specialized, serving high risk customers who generally cannot obtain adequate bank financing to meet their credit needs. In fact, it is understood that generally initial customer contacts of a commercial finance company derive from referrals by commercial banks, the particular customer either having exhausted, or been unable to qualify for, a line of credit from the referring bank.

Applicant is the second largest banking organization in New Jersey, controlling 15 banks with aggregate deposits of approximately $1.2 billion. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1971, and reflecting holding company formation and acquistions as of August 31, 1972.) Gibraltar, through its sole office, operates in the New York area market, and competes with over 50 suppliers of accounts receivable financing, including commercial banks located in the New York metropolitan area, certain factoring firms, and commercial finance companies. Of all of Applicant's subsidiary banks, only its lead bank, Peoples Trust of New Jersey, Hackensack, N.J. (Bank), holds a significant amount of loans outstanding secured by accounts receivable (12 loans valued at $1.7 million). Although Bank is located in the New York area market, none of its loans secured by accounts receivable are to borrowers located in Gibraltar's service area (New York City, Nassau County, and part of Suffolk County). Conversely, only five of Gibraltar's accounts receivable loans derive from Applicant's service area. The Board concludes that consummation of the proposed transaction would not have a significant adverse effect on existing competition.

Nor does it apear that consummation would have any significant adverse effect on the development of competition. The proposal in effect represents a foothold entry by applicant into the New York area accounts receivable market. Although data on that market is not available in complete form, the Board understands that the Nation's largest companies engaged in business receivables financing have offices in New York City and that the total net business receivables outstanding (all types) of the two largest such companies amounted to $780.9 million and $608 million, respectively, as of December 31, 1971. As of the same date, the third and fourth largest reported what appear to be net outstanding amounts of factored and nonnotification receivables of $479.6 million and $372.2 million, respectively. These figures compare to Gibraltar's net business receivables outstanding (all types) of $16.5 million as of December 31, 1971. The Board concludes that applicant would not acquire a substantial competitive position upon consummation of the proposal, nor would consummation result in an undue concentration of economic resources. Furthermore, although Applicant possesses the resources to enter the New York area market de novo, the market is characterized by a considerable number of competitors and by relatively low entry barriers.

Although Bank extends credit to competitors of Gibraltar, in view of the availability of credit from other sources, it is unlikely that Bank would have an incentive to terminate its lending relationship with those of its borrowers who compete with Gibraltar.

Applicant predicts that consummation of the proposed transaction will have the ultimate effect of strengthening the capital resources of Gibraltar, thereby strengthening Gibraltar's ability to compete in the New York area market and enabling Gibraltar to extend its operations into new geographic markets, particularly those presently served by applicant's subsidiary banks. Presently New Jersey firms generally are forced to fragment their demands for financial services, turning to New York or Philadelphia for the kinds of financial services that Gibraltar would provide. To the extent that such services can be conveniently provided in New Jersey (and elsewhere), the public benefits of the proposed affiliation outweigh possible adverse effects. As the Board has indicated in its order of August 22, 1972, approving applicant's application to acquire all of the voting shares of the Dover Trust Co., Dover, N.J., the Board understands that applicant will increase the equity capital of the Dover Trust Co. by $1 million and the equity capital of bank by $15 million. It appears that applicant will be able to generate sufficient income to service debt it may incur to so augment the capital accounts of its subsidiary banks and that its future ability to furnish the increased capital to Gibraltar, necessary to enable Gibraltar to geographically expand its activities, will not be significantly lessened thereby.

Based upon the foregoing and other considerations reflected in the record, the Board has determined that the balance of the public interest factors the Board is required to consider under section 4(c)(8) favors approval of the application. Accordingly, the application is hereby approved and applicant is hereby permitted to engage in the activities now conducted by Gibraltar that are authorized by 12 CFR 225.4(a)(1). This determination is subject to the conditions set forth in § 225.4(c) of Regulation Y and to the Board's authority to require such modification or termination of the activities of a holding company or any of its subsidiaries as the Board finds necessary to assure compliance with the provisions and purposes of the Act and the Board's regulations and orders issued thereunder or to prevent evasion thereof.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] effective October 26, 1972.

Secretary of the Board.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE ADMINISTRATION

[Notice 72-22]

NASA APPLICATIONS COMMITTEE

Notice of Public Meeting

The NASA Applications Committee will meet on November 16, 1972, at the headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The meeting will be held in room 226 of Federal Office Building 10B, 600 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20546. Members of the public will be admitted to the meeting beginning at 9 a.m., the agenda for which is noted below, on a first come first served basis up to the seating capacity of the room which can accommodate about 35 persons.

The NASA Applications Committee serves in an advisory capacity only. It is concerned with the total range of applications of space-derived, space-related technology including communications, meteorology, earth resources survey (includes agriculture/forestry, cartography, geography, geology/hydrology, oceanography), earth and ocean physics, solar energy conversion, space processing, and other technology applications. The Committee is chaired by Dr. Brockway McMillan. Currently, there are 11 members, plus a recording secretary, Louis B. C. Fong, who can be contacted for further information at 202—755—8606.

The following is the approved agenda and schedule for the November 16 meeting of the Applications Committee:

Time	Topic
9:00 a.m.	ERTS-1. (Purpose: To brief the Committee on significant preliminary findings and analyses of data from the first Earth Resources Technology Satellite, ERTS-1, launched on July 23, 1972.)
10:00 a.m.	Follow-on Nimbus Program. (Purpose: To get the Committee's advice on the following): a. What direction should the Applications Program take in environmental quality related to the potential capability of space systems? b. To what degree should the current Meteorological Program be involved? c. What emphasis should NASA place on the Global Environmental Monitoring System? d. With what aspects of environmental quality in local and regional activities should NASA be concerned? e. Based upon the current state of the art, what new areas of remote sensing should be concentrated on by NASA?)
10:45 a.m.	ATS C-2 (Purpose: To seek the Committee's advice on the utilization of an experimental L-band satellite for experiments in communications and position location with mobile users of the maritime and aeronautical agencies.)
11:15 a.m.	Future Applications Technology Satellite (ATS) Missions (Purpose: To provide the Committee with an updated report on users' requirements and experiments on the ATS family of satellites and to get the Committee's recommendations on new user experiments in the educational, industrial, and public sectors which NASA has not yet covered. This information is required to assist NASA in its planning for future ATS missions.)
1:30 p.m.	Earth and Ocean Physics Applications Program (Purpose: To review the proposed new Earth and Ocean Physics Applications Program Plan and to obtain the Committee's views on its content, balance, quality, and relevance.)
4:30 p.m.	Adjourn.

OFFICE OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

PUBLICATION OF ISSUANCES

Responsibilities and Procedures

In implementing the recently enacted section 623 of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended (section 22 of Public Law 92-424) which requires that certain OEO directives be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at least 30 days prior to their effective date, the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) has prepared, and is in the process of distributing the issuance set forth below.

While this issuance itself is not the type which would be required by section 623 to be printed in the FEDERAL REGISTER, it is nevertheless being published here on OEO's own initiative because it is considered to be of public interest.

OEO STAFF INSTRUCTION

PUBLICATION OF OEO ISSUANCES IN THE FEDERAL REGISTER

1. Purpose. This staff instruction advises of the requirements of section 623 of the Economic Opportunity Act which was added to the Act by section 22 of the Economic Opportunity Amendments of 1972 (Public Law 92-424). It also outlines the responsibilities and procedures for implementing the provisions of section 623 which are as follows:

All rules, regulations, guidelines, instructions, and application forms published or promulgated pursuant to this Act shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at least 30 days prior to their effective date.

It is not the intent of this staff instruction to prevent or inhibit the circulation of draft issuances among grantees and others for comments prior to their formal promulgation.

2. Applicability. This staff instruction applies to all headquarters and regional offices.

3. Effective date. This directive is effective immediately.

4. Background and effect. Prior to the enactment of the above provisions on September 19, 1972, OEO published certain documents in the FEDERAL REGISTER as a way of giving formal public notice and in keeping with the spirit of the Federal Register Act (44 U.S.C. 305; 1 CFR 11.2) and the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 522(a)(1)). The new section 623 imposes the additional requirement that the documents to which it pertains must be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER "at least 30 days prior to their effective date." The report of the House Committee on Education and Labor on the 1972 EOA Amendments (report No. 92-815) states with respect to section 623:

It is not intended to use this as a veto process but rather the committee seeks a systematic method to keep abreast of the programs and to keep informed of the kinds of "red tape" that the local grantees and communities are being asked to live with.

While the prepublication requirements of section 623 are broad, it is apparent, in the light of the above expression of congressional intent, that OEO staff instructions and OEO staff notices which pertain to the agency's internal administration generally would not be subject to section 623's requirements. Accordingly, such issuances will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER only if General Counsel determines that they contain subject matter of such a nature as to necessitate FEDERAL REGISTER publication.

5. Procedures and responsibilities for implementing section 623. (a) Except as noted below, in each instance in which a project officer executes an OEO Form 85 requesting the issuance of a new or revised directive or publication (other than an OEO staff instruction or staff notice) he shall check the "Yes" column in item B of paragraph 5 (Relevant Data) thereby indicating that the document contains information to be inserted in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The only instances in which a notation may be inserted in the OEO Form 85 indicating that the document does not contain information to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER shall be those in which a written opinion has been obtained from General Counsel advising that FEDERAL REGISTER publication is not required, and such opinion shall be attached to the OEO Form 85. (The legislative history of section 623 indicates that in some instances FEDERAL REGISTER prepublication will not be required because the issuance is of limited applicability or is designed to deal with an emergency situation. However, the question of whether exceptions to the requirements of section 623 may be made in specific instances is a matter which General Counsel must determine.)

(b) Each issuance which is to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER shall specify its effective date by day, month, and year. This date will be inserted in the document by the Director (or other OEO official acting pursuant to a delegation of authority by the Director). The effective date specified in the issuance shall be at least 35 days after the document's approval by the Director (or his delegate). In any case in which other provision is not made, the Federal Register Certifying Officer is authorized to fill in the effective date as here prescribed. The document, following its certification by the Federal Register Certifying Officer, shall be promptly transmitted by him to the Office of the Federal Register, so that it may be received in sufficient time for it to be published at least 30 days before it becomes effective.

(c) Following publication of the issuance in the FEDERAL REGISTER, General Counsel shall advise the Office of Primary Responsibility of the date on which it was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and the place of publication (i.e. FEDERAL REGISTER volume and page number(s)). The Office of Primary Responsibility prior to transmitting the issuance to the Office of Administration for printing and distribution shall note this information on the issuance.

Additional copies of the issuance will be available from:

OEO Publications and Distribution Center, 5458 Third Street NE., Washington, DC 20011

WESLEY L. HJORNEVIK,
Deputy Director.

PRICE COMMISSION

[Order 11A]

RECLASSIFIED LUMBER FIRMS

Reports Requirements

On October 5, 1972 (37 F.R. 21019), the Price Commission published Order No. 11 relating to reclassified lumber firms. On October 13, 1972 (37 F.R. 21673), a minor correction to that order was made. Since that date, the Commission has found that certain confusion exists concerning the interpretation of the requirements of independent public accountants under the order. It was not the Commission's intent that those requirements be interpreted to be more comprehensive than those set forth in § 300.221 of the Commission's regulations, and they have therefore been revised to accord with that section. It is the purpose of this revised order to restate Order No. 11 entirely, incorporating the above changes and corrections and adding a new sentence to require the reporting of profit margin calculations for fiscal years subsequent to base period years on Form PC-51.

Pursuant to the amendments to §§ 101.13 and 101.15 of Part 101 of the regulations of the Cost of Living Council, effective October 3, 1972, each firm (other than a firm described in § 101.11) with $5 million or more in annual sales or revenues from or by the sale or brokerage of lumber, plywood, veneer, millwork, and structural wood members and associated wood products such as hardboard and particle board that is not currently classified as a Category II firm is reclassified from Category III to Category II, reporting firms. For the purposes of this order, each such firm shall be referred to as a "reclassified firm." The effect of that amendment is to place certain reporting requirements on those reclassified firms, as required in § 302.52 of the Price Commission regulations. This order establishes the time frames for these particular reporting requirements of § 300.52 and specifies certain additional reporting requirements on a one-time basis.

Section 300.52 requires that each reporting firm provide certain information to the Price Commission on prescribed forms on a quarterly basis. The base period profit margin calculation must be reported once on Form PC-50. Profit margin calculations for fiscal years subsequent to base period years must be reported on Form PC-51. Supporting documents must include audited financial statements for all years reported, if available. The current profit margin is reported quarterly on Form PC-51. Each such report must be supported by the firm's usual quarterly accounting statement. The midyear and yearend PC-51 reports must each contain a letter or report from an independent public accounting firm pursuant to § 300.221 of Price Commission regulations.

Category II manufacturers and service organizations must report quarterly, on Form PC-1, any price increases above base price. This form provides for cost justification for the price increases and must be supported by schedules, as necessary. Category II wholesalers, brokers, and retailers must initially declare their customary initial percentage markups on Form PC-10 and report compliance with those markup limitations on a quarterly basis, also on Form PC-10.

The Price Commission considers that the requirement of having audited financial statements submitted with Forms PC-50 and PC-51 may work an unnecessary hardship on newly reclassified lumber firms that do not customarily have audited statements available. The Commission has thus determined that, where audited statements are not customarily available, a certificate to that effect shall be an acceptable substitute.

Therefore, in consideration of the foregoing, and notwithstanding any provision of Part 300 of the price stabilization regulations of the Commission (6 CFR 300), it is hereby ordered as follows:

(1) Each reclassified firm shall file with the Price Commission all reports (Forms PC-1, PC-10, and PC-50 and PC-51 or both) required by or pursuant to § 300.52 of the regulations of the Commission (a) with respect to the initial reports due after October 2, 1972, within the time limits prescribed in this order, and (b) with respect to all subsequent reports, within the time limits prescribed by or pursuant to § 300.52 of the regulations of the Commission.

(2) Each reclassified firm that is a manufacturer shall, before November 6, 1972, file with the Commission a Form PC-1, together with supporting documentation, with respect to each product or service for which it charged, at any time after November 13, 1971, a price which exceeded the base price for that product or service.

(3) Each reclassified firm that is a wholesaler or a retailer shall, before November 6, 1972, file with the Commission a Form PC-10, together with supporting documentation, covering the markup base period and latest fiscal quarter ended before October 3, 1972, with respect to any product, products, service, or services for which it charged, at any time during that fiscal quarter, a price or prices which exceeded the base price for the product, products, service or services.

(4) Each reclassified firm that has, at any time after November 13, 1971, charged a price for any product or service which exceeded the base price therefore shall:

(a) Before November 20, 1972, file with the Commission Form PC-50, together with supporting documentation;

(b) Before November 20, 1972, file with the Commission Form PC-51, together with supporting documentation, with respect to the last fiscal quarter ended before October 3, 1972; and

(c) Before January 2, 1973, file with the Commission Form PC-51, together with supporting documentation, with respect to its last complete fiscal year, ended before October 3, 1972.

(5) Any firm filing a PC-50 or PC-51 with the Commission for the first time as a result of this order shall also file a letter or report in accordance with § 300.221 of the Commission's regulations.

(6) Any firm which has not customarily prepared audited financial statements may file in place thereof a certificate to the effect that no such statements are customarily prepared and that the firm has stated all financial data in a consistent manner in accordance with the regulations of the Commission.

(7) A reclassified firm that has not increased any selling price above base price may, in place of complying with this order, file a certificate of no price increase similar to that set forth in the instructions to Form PC-50.

(8) Each form, report, or other document required to be filed with the Price Commission pursuant to this order shall be addressed as follows:

Price Commission, 2000 M Street NW., Washington, DC 20508.
Lumber 72-11
Form No. PC-

(9) Each person who fails, within the time limits prescribed in this order, to file any form, report, or other document required by this order shall be subject to § 300.53 of the regulations of the Price Commission.

FAIRMONT GROWTH FUND, INC.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order Declaring That Company Has Ceased To Be an Investment Company

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that Fairmont Growth Fund, Inc. (Fairmont), 9777 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90212, registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (Act) as an open-end diversified management investment company, has filed an application pursuant to section 8(f) of the Act for an order of the Commission declaring that Fairmont has ceased to be an investment company as defined in the Act. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations set forth therein, which are summarized below.

Fairmont, which registered under the Act on March 25, 1970, represents that it has no assets or shareholders; that it has applied for the withdrawal of its registration statement filed under the Securities Act of 1933; and that it has no intention of making a public or private offering of its securities.

Section 3(c)(1) of the Act exempts from the definition of investment company any issuer whose outstanding securities are beneficially owned by not more than 100 persons and which is not making and does not presently propose to make a public offering of its securities.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that when the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order, and upon the taking effect of such order the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 24, 1972, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Fairmont at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Company Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

GENERAL PUBLIC UTILITIES CORP.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale by Holding Company of Common Stock at Competitive Bidding

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that General Public Utilities Corp. (GPU), 80 Pine Street, New York, NY 10005, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 6(a) and 7 of the Act and Rule 50 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

GPU proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under the Act, 1,500,000 shares of its authorized but unissued common stock, par value $2.50 per share. The declaration represents that the issue and sale of the additional shares of common stock are not subject to the preemptive rights of GPU's present common stock shareholders. GPU proposes to use the proceeds of the sale of the common stock to make investments in its subsidiaries for construction purposes and to pay a portion of its outstanding short-term promissory notes, the proceeds of which have been used for investment in its subsidiary companies. On January 1, 1972, GPU had 34,186,131 shares of common stock outstanding.

The declaration states that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction. It is stated that the fees and expenses to be incurred by GPU in connection with the proposed issue and sale of its common stock are estimated at an aggregate of $110,000, including $40,000 in printing and engraving fees, $30,000 in legal fees, and $21,000 in accountant's fees. The estimated fee of counsel for the prospective purchasers, which is to be paid by the successful bidders, will be supplied by amendment.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 20, 1972, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

LOEB, RHOADES & CO., AND MITCHUM, JONES & TEMPLETON INC.

Notice of Filing of Application for an Order of Exemption

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that Loeb, Rhodes & Co., 42 Wall Street, New York, NY 10005, and Mitchum, Jones & Templeton Inc. (Applicants), 510 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, CA 90013, prospective representatives of a group of underwriters of a proposed offering of shares of common stock of Transamerica Income Shares, Inc. (Company), a registered closed-end, diversified investment management company, have filed an application pursuant to section 6(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (Act) for an order exempting applicants and their counderwriters from section 30(f) of the Act to the extent that this section adopts section 16(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Exchange Act) in respect of their transactions incident to the distribution of the Company's shares. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

Shares of Company are to be purchased by underwriters pursuant to an underwriting agreement to be entered into between Company and the underwriters represented by Applicants. It is intended that the several underwriters will make a public offering of all the shares of Company which such underwriters are to purchase under the underwriting agreement, at the price therein specified, as soon on or after the effective date of Company's registration statement on Form S-4 (the "Form S-4") as the Applicants deem advisable, and such shares are initially to be offered to the public in accordance with the formulae for the determination of the per share public offering price, underwriting commission, and dealer concessions to be specified in the underwriting agreement, at the time the Form S-4 becomes effective under the Securities Act of 1933.

It is quite possible that Applicants and one or more other members of the underwriting group may each acquire, in accordance with the provisions of the underwriting agreement, more than 10 percent of the Company's common stock which will be outstanding at the time of the closing of the initial public offering of the shares.

Since section 30(f) of the Act subjects every person who is directly or indirectly the beneficial owner of more than 10 percent of any class of outstanding securities of the Company to the same duties and liabilities as those imposed by section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Exchange Act) such underwriter or underwriters would, upon resale of the shares purchased by them to their customers, become subject to the obligations imposed by section 16(b) of the Exchange Act.

Rule 16b-2 under the Exchange Act exempts certain transactions in connection with a distribution of securities from the operation of section 16(b) of the Exchange Act. Applicants state that the purpose of the purchase by Applicants and the other underwriters is for resale in connection with the initial distribution of shares of the Company. The purchases and sales will thus be transactions effected in connection with a distribution of a substantial block of securities within the purpose and spirit of Rule 16b-2.

It is possible, however, that Applicants and certain of the counderwriters will not be exempted from section 16(b) by the operation of Rule 16b-2, as they may fail to meet the requirement stated in paragraph (a)(3) of Rule 16b-2 that the aggregate participation of persons not within the purview of section 16(b) of the Exchange Act be at least equal to the participation of persons receiving the exemption under Rule 16b-2. It is possible that one or more of the underwriters who, pursuant to the underwriting agreement, will purchase more than 10 percent of the shares of the Company, may be obligated to purchase more than 50 percent of such shares being offered pursuant to the underwriting agreement.

In addition to purchases from the Company and sales to customers, there may be the usual transactions of purchases or sales incident to a distribution such as stabilizing purchases, purchases to cover overallotments or other short positions created in connection with such distribution, and sales of shares purchased in stabilization.

Applicants state that to the best of their knowledge no underwriter has any inside information, that there is no possibility of using inside information and, in fact, that there is no inside information in existence. No director, officer, or employee of any underwriter is a director, officer or employee of the Company or the Company's investment adviser, Transamerica Investment Management Co.

Applicants represent that the requested exemption from the provisions of section 30(f) of the Act is necessary and appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act. The Applicants state that the transactions sought to be exempted cannot lend themselves to the practices to which section 16(b) of the Exchange Act was enacted to apply.

Section 6(c) of the Act provides that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person, security or transaction from any provision of the Act or of any rule or regulation thereunder, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 17, 1972, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the addresses stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after such date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

NEW JERSEY POWER & LIGHT CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Short-Term Notes to Banks

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that New Jersey Power & Light Co. (NJP&L), Madison Avenue at Punch Bowl Road, Morristown, N.J. 07960, an electric utility subsidiary company of General Public Utilities Corp. (GPU), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration and an amendment thereto with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 6(a) and 7 of the Act as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

NJP&L proposes to issue and sell, from time to time not later than December 31, 1973, unsecured notes to banks, the aggregate principal amount of which outstanding at any one time will not exceed $13,700,000. All notes will mature not later than 9 months from the respective dates of issue and may be prepaid at any time without premium. The interest rate on the notes will be the prime commercial rate in effect at the lending bank on the date of issuance. NJP&L will be required to maintain compensating balances of 10 percent of the line of credit or 20 percent of the loans outstanding, whichever is higher. NJP&L computes its effective rate of interest at 7.19 percent per annum based on a prime rate of 5¾ percent and assuming the full amount of the line of credit is borrowed. There are no commitment fees or closing costs required.

Although no commitments or agreements for such borrowings have been made, NJP&L expects that, as and to the extent that its cash needs require, borrowings will be effected, in the specified maximum amount to be outstanding at any one time, from among the following banks:

The Chase Manhattan Bank NA, New York, N.Y.	$4,000,000
Fidelity Union Trust Co., Newark, N.J.	3,000,000
American National Bank & Trust, Montclair, N.J.	1,000,000
First Merchants National Bank, Asbury Park, N.J.	600,000
First Morris Bank, Morristown, N.J.	100,000
The First National Iron Bank of New Jersey, Morristown, N.J.	1,300,000
The Hunterdon County National Bank, Lambertville, N.J.	400,000
Monmouth County National Bank, Red Bank, N.J.	500,000
The National Union Bank of New Jersey, Dover, N.J.	900,000
New Jersey National Bank, Asbury Park, N.J.	1,300,000
Somerset Hills & County National Bank, Bernardsville, N.J.	300,000
First National Bank of Northwest Jersey, Washington, N.J.	300,000
	13,700,000

NJP&L proposes to utilize the proceeds of the proposed borrowings for financing its business as a public-utility company, including provisions for construction expenditures, the repayment of other short-term borrowings, and the temporary reimbursement of its treasury for construction expenditures provided therefrom. The estimated cost of NJP&L's 1972 construction program is approximately $15,400,000.

The declaration states that on July 1, 1972, pursuant to an order of this Commission issued June 30, 1972 (Holding Company Act Release No. 17634), an operating agreement between NJP&L and its affiliate Jersey Central Power & Light Co. (JCP&L), was placed into effect providing, in essence, that the combined revenues of the two companies shall first be applied to pay the combined operating expenses, income deductions, and preferred stock dividends of both companies and that any remaining amount shall be shared each month by each company in proportion to the respective common stock equity accounts existing on the last day of each month.

NJP&L estimates that its expenses incident to the proposed transactions will be approximately $3,000, including counsel fees of $2,500, and it states that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. However, it is also stated that approval by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the State of New Jersey will be required for the issue, renewal, extension, or replacement of any notes issued by NJP&L, if, as a result thereof, the loan evidenced thereby is not repaid within 12 months of the original date of the note or notes.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 21, 1972, request in writing that a hearing be held in respect of such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified should the Commission order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be permitted to become effective in the manner provided by Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

OLD LINE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF AMERICA ET AL.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order Exempting Transactions Between Affiliates Incident to Proposed Merger and for Order Permitting Transactions

OCTOBER 25, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that Life Insurance Investors, Inc. (Fund), c/o William Waller, Jr., Waller, Landsen, Dortch & Davis, 1200 American Trust Building, Nashville, Tenn. 37201, an open-end, diversified investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (Act) and Old Line Life Insurance Company of America (Old Line), c/o Richard K. Sell, 111 East Wisconsin Avenue, Suite 2100, Milwaukee, WI 53233, have filed an application pursuant to section 17(b) of the Act for an order exempting from the provisions of section 17(a) of the Act certain transactions incident to the proposed merger of Old Line and NOL Life Insurance Company of America (NOL), a wholly owned subsidiary of USLIFE Corp. (USLIFE), through the conversion of all of the outstanding capital stock of Old Line into common stock of USLIFE.

Notice is further given that Fund, J. C. Bradford & Co., Bradford Foundation, J. C. Bradford (Bradford, Sr.), James C. Bradford (Bradford, Jr.), Raymond T. Smith, George W. Wells, Einer Nielson, Melville M. Barnes, Clarence W. Haley, David Steine, Charles H. Robinson, Eleanor Bradford, Norris Nielson, Mary T. Smart, John Steele, Herman H. Perry, Allen T. Sullivan, Harold Robinson, James Kiger, Arthur Malone, W. M. Baird, James H. Patton, and Ralph Bornheim (sometimes hereinafter referred to as "Participants") have filed an application pursuant to section 17(d) and Rule 17d-1 thereunder for an order permitting the Participants to participate in the proposed merger. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein, which are summarized below.

THE PARTIES AND HOLDINGS OF OLD LINE STOCK

Old Line, a Wisconsin corporation and a life insurance company, has outstanding 1,296,000 shares of common stock with a par value of $1.33⅓ a share, of which Fund owns 104,510 shares or approximately 8.06 percent. By reason of such holdings, Old Line is an affiliated person of Fund as defined in section 2(a)(3) of the Act. The stock of Old Line is traded in the over-the-counter market.

USLIFE, a New York business corporation, engages through subsidiaries in a variety of financial activities involving the following businesses: Life, accident and health insurance, consumer finance, savings and loan, title insurance, mutual fund management and sales, and investment management. At December 31, 1971, USLIFE had outstanding 104,344 shares of $4.50 Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, 112,090 shares of $5 Series B Convertible Preferred Stock and 7,826,471 shares of common stock, which common stock is listed on the New York, Midwest, and Pacific Coast Stock Exchanges.

Four of the Participants, Bradford, Sr., Bradford, Jr., Smith, and Wells are members of Fund's board of directors which consists of five members; six of the other Participants, Einer Nielson, Eleanor Bradford, Barnes, Haley, Steine, and Charles H. Robinson, are partners of Bradford, Sr. and Bradford, Jr., in the investment banking firm of J. C. Bradford & Co. (Bradford & Co.); the remaining 11 individual Participants, Norris Nielson, Smart, Steele, Perry, Sullivan, Harold Robinson, Kiger, Malone, Baird, Patton, and Bornheim, are employees of Bardford & Co. As a result of their described relationships, Bradford, Sr., Bradford, Jr., Smith, and Wells are each an affiliated person of Fund as defined in section 2(a)(3), and each of the other individual Participants is an affiliated person of an affiliated person (Bradford, Sr. and Bradford, Jr.) of Fund.

Bradford Foundation owns 19 percent of the outstanding common stock of Life Stock Research Corp. (Adviser), the investment adviser to Fund. The remaining 81 percent of Adviser's outstanding common stock is owned by J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., all of whose outstanding common stock is owned, in turn, by Bradford & Co. Accordingly, Adviser is an affiliated person of Fund and Bradford Foundation and Bradford & Co. are each an affiliated person of an affiliated person (Adviser) of Fund.

The number of shares of Old Line stock which the applications shows is owned by Fund and its affiliated Participants mentioned hereinabove is set forth in the following table:

V37-212 NOV 2 72 XUM

On September 8, 1972, Bradford & Co., which makes a primary market in the stock of Old Line, did not hold any stock of Old Line in its investment account but held 5,538 shares of such stock in its trading account as well as 29,301 shares in its own name for the accounts of its customers, other than those mentioned in the preceding table.

THE PROPOSED MERGER

As a result of the proposed merger, Old Line will become a wholly owned subsidiary of USLIFE.

In general, the proposed merger involves the following steps:

1. USLIFE has caused NOL to be organized with an authorized capitalization of 1,296,000 shares of capital stock, par value $1.33⅓ a share, of which only 150,000 shares are outstanding and are held by USLIFE.

2. NOL will be merged into Old Line which shall be the surviving company bearing its present name. Upon the effectiveness of the merger each outstanding share of Old Line common stock will be converted into 0.808 share of USLIFE common stock; and the 150,000 shares of NOL common stock which are held by USLIFE will be converted into 1,296,000 shares of capital stock of Old Line.

3. When the merger becomes effective, each holder of a certificate representing shares of Old Line stock will be entitled to receive a certificate representing the number of whole shares of USLIFE common stock into which his Old Line stock has been converted upon surrender of his Old Line certificate to Chemical Bank, New York (Exchange Agent). Dividends payable to holders of record of USLIFE with respect to shares represented by Old Line certificates will not be paid to the holders of such certificates until they are surrendered. No fractional shares of USLIFE common stock will be issued. Instead, holders of Old Line stock entitled to a fractional interest in USLIFE common stock shall for a specified period following the merger have the right, through the Exchange Agent, to: (1) Sell such interest; or (2) purchase any additional fractional interest required to make up a full share. After the expiration of 3 years following the effective date of the merger, any shares of USLIFE stock which have not been distributed to a shareholder of Old Line and any cash representing dividends on such stock will be retransferred and paid to USLIFE, and, thereafter, the shareholder shall look only to USLIFE for delivery of such shares of USLIFE common stock and payment of such dividends.

The merger agreements, which have already been approved by the boards of directors of Old Line and NOL, and by the board of directors of USLIFE, the sole stockholder of NOL, are to be submitted for approval by the shareholders of Old Line at a special meeting of Old Line's shareholders. The favorable vote of two-thirds of the outstanding shares of Old Line is required to approve the agreement.

Shareholders of Old Line have certain appraisal rights with respect to the proposed merger pursuant to § 180.72 of the Wisconsin Business Corporation Law.

The merger agreements provide that Forrest D. Guynn, president of Old Line, will enter into a written agreement with USLIFE providing for his employment for 5 years, as a full-time executive until his retirement and thereafter as a consultant with compensation during the entire period at the rate of his present salary of about $50,000 a year. Such agreements also provide that Franklin P. Graff and Charles S. Lewis, vice president of Old Line, will each enter into an agreement with USLIFE for his employment for 5 years at not less than his present salary of about $29,500 and $28,500, a year respectively.

Section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d–1 thereunder, taken together, provide as here pertinent, that it shall be unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company or an affiliated person of such a person, acting as principal, to participate in or effect any transaction in connection with any joint enterprise or arrangement in which any such registered investment company is a participant unless an application regarding such enterprise or arrangement has been filed with the Commission and granted by an order of the Commission; and that in passing upon such application the Commission shall consider whether the participation of such registered investment company is consistent with the provisions, policies, and purposes of the Act and the extent to which such participation is on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of other participants.

Section 17(a) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that it is unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company or an affiliated person of such a person, acting as principal, from selling to or purchasing from such registered company any securities or other property. Section 17(b) provides that the Commission, upon application, may exempt a proposed transaction from the provisions of section 17(a) if the evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned and that the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of such investment company and the general purposes of the Act.

The application indicates that each participant intends to vote its shares of Old Line stock in favor of the merger and to receive USLIFE common stock in exchange for its shares of Old Line; and the participants request that the Commission grant the application pursuant to section 17(d) and Rule 17d–1 with respect to such proposed transaction.

The proposed merger involves the purchase and sale of securities as between Fund and its affiliate Old Line and, accordingly, must meet the requirements of section 17(b).

The application indicates that prior to the latter part of 1971 USLIFE had an interest in acquiring Old Line and states that in the latter part of 1971 it communicated with J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., through Bradford, Sr., who informed USLIFE that he would not recommend such an acquisition at that time. The application further states that in the spring of 1972 USLIFE again consulted with J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., with regard to a proposed acquisition of Old Line, as a result of which USLIFE submitted to Old Line on June 29, 1972, a written proposal of USLIFE to acquire Old Line on the basis of converting each share of Old Line stock into 0.8 share of USLIFE common stock. The application shows that on June 26, 1972, prior to the submission of USLIFE's proposal to Old Line, USLIFE entered into an agreement with J.C. Bradford & Co., Inc., providing that, if USLIFE acquired Old Line, the former would pay J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., for all of its services in connection with the acquisition an amount equal to 1 percent of the fair market value of the USLIFE stock or other compensation paid in connection with such acquisition. Thereafter, according to the application, on July 12, 1972, the board of directors of Old Line approved a proposed merger in principle on the basis of 0.8 share of USLIFE for each share of Old Line; and on August 15, 1972, the board of directors of USLIFE and Old Line approved the proposed forms of agreements for a merger on such basis. In September 1972, J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., waived the fee which USLIFE had agreed to pay to it, the exchange ratio was increased from 0.8 share of USLIFE common stock for each share of Old Line stock to 0.808 share of USLIFE common stock for each Old Line share, and the merger agreements were revised.

The application states that Bradford, Jr. was a director of Old Line on July 12, 1972, when the board of directors of Old Line agreed to a merger in principle, but that he took no part in these deliberations or the vote on the USLIFE proposal; and that he resigned as a director prior to August 15, 1972, when Old Line approved the original merger agreements.

The board of directors of Old Line did not retain any independent adviser to assist it in appraising the proposal of USLIFE or in developing an exchange ratio for a merger. The application states that the board of directors of Old Line determined not to retain an investment banker because of: "(a) The amount of information already in the board's possession, (b) the cost of an opinion from such a banker, and (c) the objection from USLIFE based on the delay attendant in obtaining such an opinion."

The application also states, that because of the detailed analysis of the proposed transaction made by it which was presented to the directors of Old Line with USLIFE's proposal, USLIFE did not deem it necessary to have a formal analysis and recommendation as to an exchange ratio by outside independent advisers.

It appears that Fund and certain of the other Participants originally acquired stock of Old Line in 1961 (Investment Company Act Release No. 4316, August 5, 1965); that subsequently some Participants, including Fund, also acquired shares of Old Line; and that some Participants have disposed of shares of Old Line. The application contains information which is represented to show purchases and sales of Old Line shares for a recent specified period by Participants and Adviser and the remaining officers, directors, and employees of Fund and Adviser; by J. C. Bradford & Co., Inc., and its remaining officers, directors, and employees; and by the remaining trustees and employees of Bradford Foundation. The application, as previously noted, requests the Commission to pass upon the proposed conversion of Old Line stock into USLIFE in connection with the proposed merger and the Participants' participation in such merger. The application does not request that the Commission pass upon any of the previous acquisitions or dispositions of Old Line stock by any of the Participants, or by Adviser or any other affiliate of Fund, and such acquisitions or dispositions are not before the Commission except insofar as they may affect the statutory determinations required to be made in connection with the application.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 13, 1972, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Old Line Life Insurance Co. of America, c/o Richard K. Sell, Whyte, Herschboeck, Minahan, Harding & Harland, 111 East Wisconsin Avenue, Suite 2100, Milwaukee, WI 53202, and upon the Participants, c/o William Waller, Jr., Waller, Lansden, Dortch & Davis, 1200 American Trust Building, Nashville, Tenn. 37201. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be field contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

SOUTHERN CO. AND SOUTHERN SERVICES, INC.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Notes to Bank by Subsidiary Service Company of Holding Company

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

Notice is hereby given that the Southern Co. (Southern), a registered holding company, and its wholly owned subsidiary service company, Southern Services, Inc. (Services), Perimeter Center East, Post Office Box 720071, Atlanta, GA 30346, have filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act) designating sections 6(a), 7, 12 (b), and 12(f) of the Act and Rules 45 and 50(a)(2) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

Services has under construction a new office building in Birmingham, Ala., which is expected to be substantially completed by June 30, 1973. To finance the construction costs of this new building, Services was authorized to issue its promissory notes (Construction Notes) maturing June 30, 1973, in an amount not exceeding $11,500,000 (File No. 70–5068; Holding Company Act Release No. 17440, January 31, 1972). In addition, the cost of equipment (including computers and related equipment) for installation in the new office building is being financed by Services through unsecured notes (Equipment Notes) issued and issuable to banks prior to July 1, 1973, in an amount up to $14 million, heretofore authorized by the Commission in File No. 70–5061 (Holding Company Act Release No. 17642, July 12, 1972).

Services now proposes to issue its unsecured promissory notes (New Notes) to Bankers Trust Co., New York, N.Y. (Bankers), from time to time prior to June 30, 1973, in an aggregate amount not exceeding $12 million. The proceeds from the New Notes will be applied to payment of outstanding Construction Notes at or prior to maturity and for payment of remaining construction costs of the new office building. The filing also states that of the $14 million Equipment Notes heretofore authorized in File No. 70–5061, it is now contemplated that no more than $9 million will be issued under that authorization and that issuance of the remaining $5 million will be the subject of an amendment to File No. 70–5061.

The New Notes will be issued pursuant to an agreement (Loan Agreement) between Services, Southern, and Bankers; will be dated as of the date of borrowing; and will mature on June 30, 1980, with acceleration upon the happening of certain specified acts of default. Each of the New Notes will bear interest, payable quarterly, at a rate per annum computed on the basis of the prime rate which Bankers charge from time to time on 90-day unsecured commercial loans (Current Lending Rate) as follows: On or before June 30, 1974, 114 percent of the Current Lending Rate; after June 30, 1974, and on or before June 30, 1976, one-fourth of 1 percent plus 114 percent of the Current Lending Rate; and after June 30, 1976, one-half of 1 percent plus 114 percent of the Current Lending Rate. The Loan Agreement will provide, however, that in the event the aggregate amount received by Bankers on account of interest on the New Notes to their stated maturity shall exceed the amount which would have been received had interest on the principal amount thereof outstanding from time to time been computed at the rate of 7¾ percent per annum, Bankers will pay to Services the amount of such excess, provided that Services shall not have prepaid during any prior 12-month ending on a June 30, more than $480,000 aggregate principal amount of New Notes. Services will pay a commitment fee on the unused portion of the $12 million aggregate available credit at the rate of one-half of 1 percent per annum. The New Notes will be prepayable without premium or penalty at any time, and are to be guaranteed by Southern as to principal and interest. There is no compensating balance requirement.

Services has heretofore represented it will at all times, unless the Commission shall otherwise expressly authorize, maintain the aggregate of the par value of its capital stock, surplus, and principal amount of its notes sold to Southern, at an amount equal to at least 35 percent of Services' total capitalization (Holding Company Act Release Nos. 17276 and 17642).

Fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $4,500, including counsel fees of $4,000. In addition, Services is to reimburse Bankers for its out-of-pocket expenses incurred, as to which the estimated maximum amount will be filed by amendment. It is stated that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than November 20, 1972, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarants at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

TRANS-EAST AIR, INC.

Order Suspending Trading

OCTOBER 26, 1972.

It appearing to the Securities and Exchange Commission that the summary suspension of trading in the common stock, $0.50 par value, and all other securities of Trans-East Air, Inc., being traded otherwise than on a national securities exchange is required in the public interest and for the protection of investors:

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 15 (c)(5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, that trading in such securities otherwise than on a national securities exchange be summarily suspended, this order to be effective for the period from October 27, 1972, through November 5, 1972.

By the Commission.

[Ex Parte 241; Rule 19, Rev. Exemption 22]

ATCHISON, TOPEKA & SANTA FE RAILWAY CO. ET AL.

Exemption From Mandatory Car Service Rules

It appearing, that there are substantial movements of grain and grain products moving in plain, 40-foot, narrow-door boxcars between points on the following railroads:

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co.
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co.
Missouri Pacific Railroad Co.
St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Co.
Union Pacific Railroad Co.

and that unlimited exchange of such cars among these railroads will increase car utilization by reductions in switching and other movements of empty cars.

It is ordered, That pursuant to the authority vested in me by Car Service Rule 19, plain boxcars described in the Official Railway Equipment Register, ICC R.E.R. No. 385, issued by W. J. Trezise, or successive issues thereof, as having mechanical designation XM, with inside length 44 feet 6 inches or less and equipped with doors less than 9 feet wide owned by any of the aforementioned railroads and located empty on such lines, may be loaded with grain or grain products, as defined herein, to stations located on any of the aforementioned railroads. When so loaded, such cars shall be exempt from the provisions of Car Service Rules 1 and 2.

The term grain and grain products shall comprise the commodities specifically named in lists 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, and 8 published in Western Trunk Lines Freight Tariff 330-U, ICC A-4797, issued by Fred Ofcky, supplements thereto, or consecutive issues thereof.

Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad Co. eliminated.

Effective October 31, 1972.

Expires November 30, 1972.

Issued at Washington, D.C., October 26, 1972.

[Ex Parte 241; Rule 19, Amdt. 1, Exemption 15]

EXEMPTION FROM MANDATORY CAR SERVICE RULES

Upon further consideration of Exemption No. 15 issued July 27, 1972, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, Tuesday, August 8, 1972, page 15962.

It is ordered, That, under authority vested in me by Car Service Rule 19, Exemption No. 15 to the Mandatory Car Service Rules ordered in Ex Parte No. 241, be, and it is hereby, amended to expire December 31, 1972.

This amendment shall become effective October 31, 1972.

Issued at Washington, D.C., October 26, 1972.

MOTOR CARRIER TEMPORARY AUTHORITY APPLICATIONS

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

Important Notice: The following are notices of filing of applications[1] for temporary authority under section 210a(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act provided for under the new rules of Ex Parte No. MC-67 (49 C.F.R. 1131), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of April 27, 1965, effective July 1, 1965. These rules provide that protests to the granting of an application must be filed with the field official named in the FEDERAL REGISTER publication, within 15 calendar days after the date of notice of the filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. One copy of such protests must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protests must certify that such service has been made. The protests must be specific as to the service which such protestant can and will offer, and must consist of a signed original and six copies.

[1] Except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in field office to which protests are to be transmitted.

MOTOR CARRIER BOARD TRANSFER PROCEEDINGS

Synopses of orders entered by the Motor Carrier Board of the Commission pursuant to sections 212(b), 206(a), 211, 312(b), and 410(g) of the Interstate Commerce Act, and rules and regulations prescribed thereunder (49 C.F.R. Part 1132), appear below:

Each application (except as otherwise specifically noted) filed after March 27, 1972, contains a statement by applicants that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of the application. As provided in the Commission's special rules of practice any interested person may file a petition seeking reconsideration of the following numbered proceedings within 20 days from the date of publication of this notice. Pursuant to section 17(8) of the Interstate Commerce Act, the filing of such a petition will postpone the effective date of the order in that proceeding pending its disposition. The matters relied upon by petitioners must be specified in their petitions with particularity.

No. MC–FC–73890. By order of October 27, 1972, the Motor Carrier Board approved the transfer to Riddle Truck Lines, Inc., Springfield, Mo., of the operating rights in Permit No. MC–112972 (Sub-No. 2) issued December 15, 1965, to Hershel A. Riddle, doing business as Riddle Truck Lines, Springfield, Mo., authorizing the transportation of lime, from Springfield, Mo., to points in Kansas located within the Kansas City, Mo.-Kansas City, Kans., commercial zone, as defined by the Commission. The operations authorized above are limited to a transportation service to be performed, under a continuing contract with Ash Grove Lime & Portland Cement Co., of Kansas City, Mo.; and from Springfield, Mo., to points within 300 miles of Springfield, Mo., in Missouri (except Kansas City, Mo.), Kansas (except Kansas City, Kans.), Arkansas, and Oklahoma. Tom B. Kretsinger, 450 Professional Building, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. Attorney for applicants.

MOTOR CARRIER, BROKER, WATER CARRIER, AND FREIGHT FORWARDER APPLICATIONS

OCTOBER 27, 1972.

The following applications (except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant (on applications filed after March 27, 1972) states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application), are governed by Special Rule 1100.247[1] of the Commission's general rules of practice (49 CFR, as amended), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966. These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with § 247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one (1) copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of § 247(d)(4) of the special rules, and shall include the certification required therein.

[1] Copies of Special Rule 247 (as amended) can be obtained by writing to the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

Section 247(f) of the Commission's rules of practice further provides that each applicant shall, if protests to its application have been filed, and within 60 days of the date of this publication, notify the Commission in writing: (1) That it is ready to proceed and prosecute the application, or (2) that it wishes to withdraw the application, failure in which the application will be dismissed by the Commission.

Further processing steps (whether modified procedure, oral hearing, or other procedures) will be determined generally in accordance with the Commission's general policy statement concerning motor carrier licensing procedures, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 3, 1966. This assignment will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record. Broadening amendments will not be accepted after the date of this publication except for good cause shown, and restrictive amendments will not be entertained following publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice that the proceeding has been assigned for oral hearing.

No. MC 263 (Sub-No. 202), filed September 15, 1972. Applicant: GARRETT FREIGHTLINES, INC., 2055 Garrett Way, Pocatello, ID 83201. Applicant's representative: Wayne S. Green (same address as applicant). Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over regular routes, transporting: General commodities (except those of unusual value, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment), serving the plantsite and storage facilities of Missouri Beef Packers, Inc., near Boise, Idaho, as an off-route point in connection with carriers authorized regular-route operations. NOTE: If a hearing is deemed necessary, applicant requests it be held at Boise, Idaho.

No. MC 730 (Sub-No. 341), filed October 4, 1972. Applicant: PACIFIC INTERMOUNTAIN EXPRESS CO., a corporation, 1417 Clay Street, Post Office Box 958, Oakland, CA 94604. Applicant's representative: Earl J. Brooks (same address as above). Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over regular routes, transporting: General commodities (except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment), serving the plantsite of Fabricon Products, division of Eagle-Picher Industries, at or near Grabill, Ind., as an off-route point in connection with carrier's otherwise authorized regular route operations. NOTE: Common control may be involved. Applicant states that duplicating authority may exist in certificate No. MC 730 (Sub-No. 203), authorizing the transportation of frozen foods and potato products, not frozen, from points in specified western States to points in several midwestern States, including Indiana. If a hearing is deemed necessary, applicant requests it be held at Indianapolis, Ind., or Detroit, Mich.

APPLICATION FOR WATER CARRIER

No. W-1265 (BIGGE DRAYAGE CO., Contract Carrier and Exemption Applications) (Clarification), filed September 11, 1972, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of September 28, 1972, and republished this issue. Applicant: BIGGE DRAYAGE CO., San Leandro, Calif. Applicant's representative: Edward J. Hegarty, 100 Bush Street, San Francisco, CA 04104. Applications of Bigge Drayage Co., filed September 11, 1972, for a permit under section 309 or exemption under section 303(e)(2), to engage in transportation in interstate or foreign commerce by water and by non-self-propelled vessels with the use of separate towing vessels, of: (1) Commodities which by reason of their inherent nature, or their requirement, for special equipment, are incapable of transportation between the points of origin and destination by either common carrier by rail or common carrier by motor vehicle; and (2) parts, materials, equipment and supplies incidental to their operation or installation when moving with the commodities described in (1) above, between points on the inland and coastal waters of the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii. NOTE: By the instant applications, applicant seeks to obtain either contract carrier permit or exemption so that it, under its own right, will be capable of providing shippers of over-dimensional items a complete service in the movement of their commodities between all points in the United States. The purpose of this republication is to clarify the scope of the authority sought.

APPLICATION FOR A POSTAL CERTIFICATE

Interstate Commerce Commission, No. MC-137020 (Notice of Filing an Application for a Postal Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity), filed September 25, 1972. Applicant: HARRY B. HAWKS, doing business as HAWKS EXPRESS, Route 4, Box 131, Montrose, CO 81401. By application filed September 25, 1972, applicant seeks a Postal Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity to transport Mail in the following territory:

(1) Between Salida and Colorado Springs, Colo., from Salida over U.S. Highway 50 to Canon City, thence over Colorado Highway 115 to Florence, thence over Colorado Highway 120 to Penrose, and thence over Colorado Highway 115 to Colorado Springs, and return over the same routes.

(2) Between Montrose and Paradox, Colo., from Montrose over U.S. Highway 550 to junction Colorado Highway 62, thence over Colorado Highway 62 to Placerville, thence over Colorado Highway 145 to junction Colorado Highway 97, thence over Colorado Highway 97 to junction Colorado Highway 141 to Uravan, thence over Colorado Highway 141 to Vancorum, and thence over Colorado Highway 90 to Paradox, and return over the same routes.

(3) Between Denver and Montrose, Colo., from Denver over U.S. Highway 285 to junction Colorado Highway 291, thence over Colorado Highway 291 to Salida, and thence over U.S. Highway 50 to Montrose, and return over the same routes.

Appended to the application are copies of three postal contracts held by applicant which were in effect on July 1, 1971, the critical "grandfather" date: Route No. 81212, relating to service between Salida and Colorado Springs, Colo.; Route No. 81430, relating to service between Montrose and Paradox, Colo.; and Route No. 80110, relating to service between Denver and Montrose, Colo.

Any interested person desiring to oppose the application may file with the Commission an original and one copy of his written representations, views, or arguments in opposition to the application within 30 days from the date of this publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A copy of each such pleading should be served upon applicant.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD, Secretary.

Guide to Record Retention Requirements

[Revised as of January 1, 1972]

This useful reference tool is designed to keep businessmen and the general public informed concerning the many published requirements in Federal laws and regulations relating to record retention.

The 92-page "Guide" contains over 1,000 digests which tell the user (1) what type records must be kept, (2) who must keep them, and (3) how long they must be kept. Each digest carries a reference to the full text of the basic law or regulation providing for such retention.

The booklet's index, numbering over 2,200 items, lists for ready reference the categories of persons, companies, and products affected by Federal record retention requirements.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VII—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (Agricultural Adjustment), Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

[Amdt. 1]

PART 729—PEANUTS

Subpart—Regulations for Determination of Acreage Allotments and Marketing Quotas for 1972 and Subsequent Crops of Peanuts

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

On pages 20333 and 20334 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 29, 1972, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to issue an amendment relating to miscellaneous changes for determination of acreage allotments and marketing quotas for 1972 and subsequent crops of peanuts.

Interested persons were given 15 days after publication of such notice in which to submit written data, views, and recommendations with respect to the proposed rule making. The data, views, and recommendations which were submitted pursuant to the notice were duly considered within the limits of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended. The proposed rule making was adopted with the following additions:

1. Section 729.43(b)(1) establishes the basic penalty rate for the 1972 crop of peanuts.

2. Section 729.47 provides that the date penalty becomes due is the date of marketing.

3. Authority provision has been added.

Since farmers are now marketing their 1972 crop of peanuts it is essential that the basic penalty rate for the 1972 crop be announced immediately. Accordingly, this document is being made effective upon the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 27, 1972.

GLENN A. WEIR,
Acting Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

1. Subparagraph (12) of paragraph (b) of § 729.6 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.6 Definitions.

• • • • •

(b) Peanut program terms. • • •

(12) Final acreage. The acreage, including volunteer acreage, on the farm from which peanuts are picked or threshed as determined and adjusted under Part 718 of this chapter.

• • • • •

2. Paragraph (c) of § 729.11 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.11 Determination of farm peanut history acreage.

• • • • •

(c) Computation of history acreage. If, for any year, the full allotment is not preserved as peanut history acreage under paragraph (b) of this section, the farm peanut history acreage for such year shall be the sum of the following but not in excess of the farm allotment for such year:

(1) The final peanut acreage (including failed acreage and acreage prevented from being planted because of a natural disaster) as determined under Part 718 of this chapter;

(2) The acreage regarded as planted under conservation programs and conservation practices, determined under Part 718 of this chapter;

(3) The acreage transferred from the farm by lease or temporary transfer by owner (except increase for type);

(4) The acreage temporarily released to the county committee under provisions of § 729.22; and,

(5) The amount of any reduction in the current year allotment made pursuant to the provisions of § 729.21.

• • • • • •

3. Section 729.19 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.19 Conditions of eligibility for new farm allotment.

A new farm peanut allotment may be established if each of the following conditions is met:

(a) Written application. The farm operator must file an application for a new farm allotment at the office of the county committee where the farm is administratively located on or before February 15 of the year for which the new farm allotment is requested.

(b) Eligibility requirements for operator. The eligibility requirements for the operator are as follows:

(1) Owner and operator of the farm. The operator shall be the sole owner of the farm. For the purpose of applying this subparagraph (1) a person who owns only part of a farm cannot be considered the owner of the farm except that both husband and wife shall be considered the owner of the farm if the farm is jointly owned by such husband and wife.

(2) Interest in another farm. The farm operator shall not own or operate any other farm in the United States for which a peanut allotment is established for the current year.

(3) Availability of equipment and facilities. The operator must own, or have readily available, adequate equipment and any other facilities of production (including irrigation water in irrigation areas) necessary to the production of peanuts on the farm.

(4) Income requirement. The operator must expect to obtain during the current year more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities or products.

(i) Computing operator's income. The following shall be considered in computing operator's income:

(a) Income from farming. Income from farming shall include the estimated return from home gardens, livestock, and livestock products, poultry, or other agricultural products produced for home consumption or other use on the farm(s). Do not include estimated return from the production of the requested new farm allotment.

(b) Income from nonfarming. Nonfarming income shall include but shall not be limited to salaries, commissions, pensions, social security payments, and unemployment compensations.

(c) Spouse's income. The spouse's farm and nonfarm income shall be used in the computation.

(ii) Operator a partnership. If the operator is a partnership, each partner must expect to obtain more than 50 percent of his current year income from farming.

(iii) Operator a corporation. If the operator is a corporation, it must have no other major corporate purpose other than ownership or operation of the farm(s). Farming must provide its officers and general manager with more than 50 percent of their expected income. Salaries and dividends from the corporation shall be considered as income from farming.

(iv) Special provision for low-income farmers. The county committee may waive the income provisions in this section provided the county committee determines that the farm operator's income, from both farm and nonfarm sources, will not provide a reasonable standard of living for the operator and his family, and a State committee representative approves such action. In waiving the income provisions the county committee must exercise good judgment to see that such determination is reasonable in the light of all pertinent factors, and that this special provision is made applicable only to those who qualify. In making such determination, the county committee shall consider such factors as size and type of farming operations, estimated net worth, estimated gross family farm income, estimated family off-farm income, number of dependents, and other factors affecting the individual's ability to provide a reasonable standard of living for himself and his family.

(5) Experience. Operator must have had experience in producing, harvesting, and marketing peanuts. Such experience must have been gained: (i) By being a sharecropper, tenant, or farm operator. (Bona fide peanut production experience gained by a person as a member of a partnership shall be accepted as experience gained in meeting this requirement.) (ii) During at least 2 of the 5 years immediately preceding the year for which the new farm allotment is requested. If the operator was in the armed services during the 5-year period, extend the period 1 year for each year of military service during such 5-year period. (iii) On a farm having a peanut allotment for such years. Experience in growing peanuts on a farm having a farm allotment by temporary transfer shall be given credit.

(c) Eligibility requirements for the farm. The eligibility requirements for the farm are as follows:

(1) Available land, type of soil, and topography. The available land, type of soil, and topography of the land on the farm must be suitable for peanut production. Also continuous production of peanuts must not result in an undue erosion hazard.

(2) Entire allotment permanently transferred by sale or owner. A farm which includes land from which the entire peanut allotment was permanently transferred by sale or owner shall not be eligible for a new farm allotment for a period of 5 years beginning with the year in which the transfer became effective.

(3) Entire allotment permanently released. A farm which includes land from which the entire peanut allotment was permanently released shall not be eligible for a new farm allotment for a period of (3) years beginning with the year the release was effective.

(4) Entire allotment designated by owner for a reconstitution. A farm which includes land which has no peanut allotment because the owner did not designate a peanut allotment for such land when the parent farm was reconstituted pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter shall not be eligible for a new farm peanut allotment for a period of (3) years beginning with the year in which the reconstitution became effective.

(5) Eminent domain. A farm which includes land acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain for which the entire peanut allotment was pooled pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter, which is subsequently returned to agricultural production, shall not be eligible for a new farm allotment for a period of (3) years from the date the former owner was displaced.

4. Section 729.20 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.20 Establishing new farm allotments for eligible applicants lacking experience.

If the total of the acreage required to establish allotments for all new farms in the State which are eligible under § 729.19, is less than the acreage available in the State reserve under § 729.16, for establishing such allotments, the balance, upon approval by the State committee, shall be available for establishing new farm allotments for farms for which a written application is filed by the farm operator at the office of the county committee on or before February 15 of the year for which the allotment is requested and the conditions of eligibility of § 729.19 are met. Such farm operators are not required to meet the peanut experience requirement of § 729.19(b)(5).

§ 729.22 [Amended]

5. The fourth sentence of paragraph (a) of § 729.22 is revoked.

6. Paragraph (a) of § 729.27 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.27 Erroneous notice of allotment.

(a) If the county committee determines with the approval of the State executive director that (1) the official written notice of the farm acreage allotment issued by the State or county office for any farm erroneously stated the acreage allotment to be larger than the final effective allotment for the farm, and (2) the error was not so gross that the operator, relying upon such notice and acting in good faith materially changes his position to enable him to produce the allotment crop (for example obligated expenditures of funds for land preparation, additional equipment and labor), the acreage allotment shown on the erroneous notice shall be considered the effective farm allotment.

. . . . . .

§ 729.29 [Revoked]

7. Section 729.29 is revoked.

8. A new subparagraph (1) is added to paragraph (b) of § 729.43 to read as follows:

§ 729.43 Penalty rate.

. . . . . .

(b) Future years. . . .

(1) 1972 crop. The basic support price for peanuts for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1972, and ending July 31, 1973, is $285 per ton or 14.25 cents per pound. Therefore, the basic penalty rate for the 1972 crop of peanuts is 10.7 cents per pound.

. . . . . .

9. Section 729.47 is revised to read as follows:

§ 729.47 Payment of penalty.

A draft, money order, or check drawn payable to the "Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA" may be used to pay any penalty, other indebtedness, or interest thereon, but any such draft or check shall be received subject to collection and payment at par. The person liable for payment or collection of the penalty shall be liable also for interest thereon at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date the penalty becomes due until the date of payment of penalty. For purposes of this section penalty becomes due on the date of marketing. Interest shall begin to accrue on Monday of the third calendar week following the week in which the peanuts were marketed.

10. Section 729.69 is amended by correcting subparagraph (2) of paragraph (e); by revising paragraph (f); by revoking paragraph (l); by revising paragraph (o); and by revising paragraph (s) to read as follows:

§ 729.69 Terms and conditions applicable to transfers under section 358a of the Act.

. . . . . .

(e) Productivity adjustments. . . .

(2) Downward allotment adjustment because of irrigation. If the county committee so determines, in the event an allotment is transferred to a farm which at the time of such transfer is not irrigated, but within 5 years subsequent to such transfer is placed under irrigation, it shall make an annual downward adjustment in the allotment so transferred by multiplying the normal yield established for the farm from which the allotment is transferred by the acreage being transferred and dividing the result by the actual yield per acre for the previous year, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions, on the farm to which the allotment is transferred.

. . . . . .

(f) Sale or lease transfers—limit on amount of acreage transferred. The total peanut allotment transferred by sale or lease, or both, to any farm shall not exceed the smaller of:

(1) The cropland on the farm minus the peanut allotment; or

(2) Fifty acres.

The cropland on the farm for the current year for purposes of such transfers shall be the total cropland as defined in Part 719 of this chapter.

(l) [Revoked]

(o) Limitation on transfers to and from a farm. No transfer of allotment for any year shall be made (1) from a farm receiving allotment by transfer for such year, or (2) to a farm which had allotment transferred from it for such year. Where an allotment is transferred temporarily from a farm for 1 or more years (and the transfer remains in effect) and the farm is subsequently combined with another farm that is otherwise eligible to receive allotment by transfer, such earlier temporary transfer from the parent farm shall be disregarded for the purpose of applying this provision.

. . . . . .

(s) Federally owned land. No transfer under section 358a of the Act shall be made from any land owned by the United States, or any agency or instrumentality wholly owned by the United States, except that the transfer may be approved in cases where the land is leased back with uninterrupted possession to the former owner after acquisition under right of eminent domain. For such transfers, the Government agency or instrumentality is not required to sign the record of transfer.

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

PART 984—WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON, AND WASHINGTON

Marketing Control Percentages for 1972–73 Marketing Year

Notice was published in the October 11, 1972, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 21443) regarding a proposal to establish marketable and surplus percentages for walnuts during the 1972–73 marketing year. The year began August 1, 1972. The proposal was recommended by the Walnut Control Board. The establishment of such percentages is in accordance with the relevant provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 984, as amended (7 CFR Part 984). The amended marketing agreement and order regulate the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington, and are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments on the proposal. None were received.

The marketable and surplus percentages are pursuant to § 984.49(b) of the walnut marketing agreement and order program. These percentages are based on Walnut Control Board estimates of supply, and inshell and shelled trade demands adjusted for handler carryover, for the 1972–73 marketing year. The total 1972–73 supply subject to regulation is estimated at 123.3 million kernelweight pounds. Inshell and shelled trade demands adjusted for handler carryover are estimated at 28.6 and 72.5 million kernelweight pounds, respectively. The estimated adjusted total demand (inshell and shelled demands) is 101.1 million kernelweight pounds. The trade demand area includes the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Canal Zone.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including that in the notice, the information and recommendations submitted by the Board, and other available information, it is found that establishment of marketable and surplus percentages as hereinafter set forth will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Therefore, the marketable and surplus percentages for walnuts during the 1972–73 marketing year are established as follows:

§ 984.219 Marketable and surplus percentages for walnuts during the 1972–73 marketing year.

The marketable and surplus percentages during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1972, shall be as follows:

	California (District 1)	Oregon and Washington (District 2)
Marketable percentage	82	91
Surplus percentage	18	9

It is further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) The relevant provisions of said amended marketing agreement and this part require that marketable and surplus percentages designated for a particular marketing year shall be applicable to all walnuts handled during such year; and (2) the current 1972–73 marketing year began August 1, 1972, and the percentages established herein will automatically apply to all such walnuts beginning with such date.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: October 30, 1972.

PAUL A. NICHOLSON,
Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

PART 984—WALNUTS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA, OREGON, AND WASHINGTON

Expenses and Rates of Assessment for 1972–73 Marketing Year

Notice was published in the October 18, 1972, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 22000) regarding proposed expenses of the Walnut Control Board for the 1972–73 marketing year and rates of assessment for that year. This action approves such expenses and assessment rates and is pursuant to §§ 984.68 and 984.69 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 984, as amended (7 CFR Part 984). The amended marketing agreement and order regulate the handling of walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington, and are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments on the proposal. None were received.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including that in the notice, the information and recommendations submitted by the Walnut Control Board, and other available information, it is found that the expenses of the Board and rates of assessment for the 1972–73 marketing year (which began August 1, 1972, and ends July 31, 1973), shall be as follows:

§ 984.324 Expenses of the Walnut Control Board and rates of assessment for the 1972–73 marketing year.

(a) Expenses. Expenses in the amount of $175,000 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Walnut Control Board during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1972, for its maintenance and functioning, and for such purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the provisions of this part, determine to be appropriate.

(b) Rates of assessment. The rates of assessment for said marketing year, payable by each handler in accordance with § 984.69, are fixed at 0.10 cent per pound for merchantable inshell walnuts and 0.25 cent per pound for merchantable shelled walnuts.

It is further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time of this action until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) The relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rates of assessment fixed for a particular marketing year shall be applicable to all assessable walnuts from the beginning of such year; and (2) the 1972–73 marketing year began August 1, 1972, and the rates of assessment herein fixed will automatically apply to all such assessable walnuts beginning with that date.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter I—Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, Department of Agriculture

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS (INCLUDING POULTRY) AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

[Docket No. 72-572]

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

Areas Quarantined

Pursuant to provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, the Act of September 6, 1961, and the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f), Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of swine and certain products because of hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases, is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. In § 76.2, paragraph (e)(2) relating to the State of Indiana is amended to read:

(e) • • •

(2) Indiana. (i) That portion of Carroll County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the Carroll-Tippecanoe County line and the east bank of the Wabash River; thence, following the east bank of the Wabash River in a generally northeasterly direction to the Carroll-Cass County line; thence, following the Carroll-Cass County line in a southerly, then easterly, then southerly direction to the junction of the Carroll-Cass-Howard County lines; thence, following the Carroll-Howard County line in a southerly direction to Division Road; thence, following Division Road in a westerly direction to State Highway 18; thence, following State Highway 18 in a westerly direction to the Monroe-Carrollton Township line; thence, following the Monroe-Carrollton Township line in a southerly direction to the junction of the Monroe-Carrollton-Burlington Township lines; thence, following the Monroe-Burlington Township line in a southerly direction to the junction of the Monroe-Burlington-Democrat Township lines; thence, following the Democrat-Burlington Township line in a southerly direction to State Highway 600 S; thence, following State Highway 600 S in a westerly direction to the Democrat-Clay Township line; thence, following the Democrat-Clay Township line in a northerly direction to the junction of the Democrat-Clay-Madison Township lines; thence, following the Clay-Madison Township line in a westerly direction to U.S. Highway 421; thence, following U.S. Highway 421 in a northerly, then northwesterly direction to Division Road; thence, following Division Road in a westerly direction to the Carroll-Tippecanoe County line; thence, following the Carroll-Tippecanoe County line in a northerly direction to its junction with the east bank of the Wabash River.

(ii) That portion of Randolph County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of State Highway 32 and Greenville Pike; thence, following Greenville Pike in a south easterly direction to the Indiana-Ohio State line; thence, following the Indiana Ohio State line in a southerly direction to the Randolph-Wayne County line (in Indiana); thence, following the Randolph-Wayne County line (in Indiana) in a westerly direction to the West River-Washington Township line; thence, following the West River-Washington Township line in a northerly direction to the junction of the West River-Washington-White River Township lines; thence, following the White River-Washington Township line in an easterly direction to Huntsville Pike; thence, following Huntsville Pike in a northeasterly direction to State Highway 32; thence, following State Highway 32 in an easterly direction to its junction with Greenville Pike.

2. In § 76.2, paragraph (e)(3) relating to the State of Kansas is deleted.

(Secs. 4-7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791-792, as amended; secs. 1-4, 33 Stat. 1264-1265, as amended; sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481; secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; 21 U.S.C. 111-113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123-126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended; 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505)

Effective date. The foregoing amendments shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendments quarantine a portion of Randolph County in Indiana because of the existence of hog cholera. This action is deemed necessary to prevent further spread of the disease. The restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas as contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, will apply to the quarantined area.

The amendments exclude a portion of Osborne County in Kansas from the areas quarantined because of hog cholera. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, do not apply to the excluded area, but will continue to apply to the quarantined areas described in § 76.2(e). Further, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from nonquarantined areas contained in said Part 76 apply to the excluded area. No areas in Kansas remain under quarantine.

Insofar as the amendments impose certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the interstate spread of hog cholera, they must be made effective immediately to accomplish their purpose in the public interest. Insofar as the amendments relieve restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of hog cholera, they should be made effective promptly in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rule making proceeding would make additional relevant information available to the Department.

Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendments are impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making them effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

Areas Quarantined and Released

Pursuant to provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, the Act of September 6, 1961, and the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f), Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of swine and certain products because of hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases, is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. In § 76.2, in paragraph (e)(2) relating to the State of Indiana, a new subdivision (iii) relating to Delaware and Randolph Counties is added to read:

(e) • • •

(2) Indiana. • • •

(iii) The adjacent portions of Delaware and Randolph Counties bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the Liberty-Center Township line and State Highway 32 in Delaware County; thence, following State Highway 32 in an easterly direction to State Highway 1 in Randolph County; thence, following State Highway 1 in a southerly direction to the junction of the Stony Creek-White River-West River Township lines; thence, following the Stony Creek-West River Township line in a southerly direction to the junction of the Stony Creek-Nettle Creek-West River Township lines; thence, following the Stony Creek-Nettle Creek Township line in a westerly direction to the Randolph-Delaware County line; thence, following the Randolph-Delaware County line in a southerly direction to the junction of the Randolph-Delaware-Henry County lines; thence, following the Delaware-Henry County line in a westerly direction to County Road 200 East in Delaware County; thence, following County Road 200 East in a northerly direction to County Road 450 South; thence, following County Road 450 South in a westerly direction to County Road 150 East; thence, following County Road 150 East in a northerly direction to the Center-Monroe Township line; thence, following the Center-Monroe Township line in an easterly direction to the junction of the Center-Monroe-Perry-Liberty Township lines; thence, following the Center-Liberty Township line in a northerly direction to its junction with State Highway 32 in Delaware County.

2. In § 76.2, in paragraph (e)(6) relating to the State of North Carolina, subdivision (ii) relating to Johnston, Harnett, Cumberland, and Sampson Counties is amended to read:

(e) • • •

(6) North Carolina. • • •

(ii) The adjacent portions of Johnston, Harnett, Cumberland and Sampson Counties bounded by a line beginning at the junction of State Highway 50 and Secondary Road 1122 in Johnston County; thence, following State Highway 50 in a southwesterly direction to State Highway 55 in Harnett County; thence, following State Highway 55 in a southeasterly direction to Secondary Road 2006; thence, following Secondary Road 2006 in a southeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1769; thence, following Secondary Road 1769 in a northwesterly direction to the east bank of Thorntons Creek; thence, following the east bank of Thorntons Creek in a generally southeasterly direction to the north bank of Cape Fear River; thence, following the north bank of Cape Fear River in a generally southeasterly direction to dirt road extension of Secondary Road 1709; thence, following dirt road extension of Secondary Road 1709 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1709; thence, following Secondary Road 1709 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1802; thence, following Secondary Road 1802 in a southeasterly direction to U.S. Highway 301; thence, following U.S. Highway 301 in a southeasterly direction to U.S. Highway 13; thence, following U.S. Highway 13 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1818; thence, following Secondary Road 1818 in a southeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1826; thence, following Secondary Road 1826 in a generally southeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1848; thence, following Secondary Road 1848 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1851; thence, following Secondary Road 1851 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1426 in Sampson County; thence, following Secondary Road 1426 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1424; thence, following Secondary Road 1424 in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1427; thence, following Secondary Road 1427 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1425; thence, following Secondary Road 1425 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1428; thence, following Secondary Road 1428 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1430; thence, following Secondary Road 1430 in a generally northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1414; thence, following Secondary Road 1414 in a generally northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1326; thence, following Secondary Road 1326 in a northeasterly direction to State Highway 242; thence, following State Highway 242 in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1006; thence, following Secondary Road 1006 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1332; thence, following Secondary Road 1332 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1325; thence, following Secondary Road 1325 in a generally northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1338; thence, following Secondary Road 1338 in a northeasterly direction to U.S. Highway 421; thence, following U.S. Highway 421 in a southwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1809; thence, following Secondary Road 1809 in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1636; thence, following Secondary Road 1636 in a northeasterly direction to Secondary Road 1703; thence, following Secondary Road 1703 in a northwesterly direction to Secondary Road 1647; thence, following Secondary Road 1647 in a northwesterly direction to State Highway 50; thence, following State Highway 50 in a northwesterly direction to its junction with Secondary Road 1122 in Johnston County.

3. In § 76.2, paragraph (e)(4) relating to the State of Kentucky is deleted.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended; secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481; secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132, 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505)

Effective date. The foregoing amendments shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendments quarantine a portion of Delaware County and an additional portion of Randolph County in Indiana because of the existence of hog cholera. This action is deemed necessary to prevent further spread of the disease. The restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas as contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, will apply to the quarantined areas.

The amendments exclude a portion of Johnston County in North Carolina and portions of Breckinridge, Hardin, and Meade Counties in Kentucky from the areas quarantined because of hog cholera. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, do not apply to the excluded areas, but will continue to apply to the quarantined areas described in § 76.2(e). Further, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from nonquarantined areas contained in said Part 76 apply to the excluded areas. No area in Kentucky remains under quarantine.

Insofar as the amendments impose certain further restrictions necessary to prevent the interstate spread of hog cholera, they must be made effective immediately to accomplish their purpose in the public interest. Insofar as the amendments relieve restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of hog cholera, they should be made effective promptly in order to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rule making proceeding would make additional relevant information available to the Department.

Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendments are impracticable, unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making them effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

PART 82—EXOTIC NEWCASTLE DISEASE; AND PSITTACOSIS OR ORNITHOSIS IN POULTRY

Release of Areas Quarantined

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1, 2, 3, and 4 of the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, sections 1 and 2 of the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, sections 4, 5, 6, and 7 of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, and sections 3 and 11 of the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111, 112, 113, 115, 117, 120, 123, 124, 125, 126, 134b, 134f), Part 82, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, is hereby amended in the following respects:

In § 82.3, in paragraph (a)(1) relating to the State of California, in subdivision (iv) relating to Orange County, (a) is deleted, and subdivisions (i) relating to Ventura County and (iii) relating to Riverside and San Bernadino Counties are amended to read:

(a) • • •

(1) California. (i) That portion of Ventura County bounded by a line beginning at the junction of the north bank of the Santa Clara River and the Pacific Ocean; thence, following the north bank

(Secs. 4-7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791-792, as amended; secs. 1-4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; sections 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; 21 U.S.C. 111-113, 115, 117, 120, 123-126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended; 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment excludes portions of Ventura, Riverside, Orange, and San Bernardino Counties in California from the areas quarantined because of exotic Newcastle disease. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of poultry, mynah, and psittacine birds, and birds of all other species under any form of confinement, and their carcasses and parts thereof, and certain other articles from quarantined areas, as contained in 9 CFR Part 82, as amended, will not apply to the excluded areas, but will continue to apply to the quarantined areas described in § 82.3. Further, the provisions of the regulations relating to movements from nonquarantined areas apply with respect to the dequarantined areas.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of exotic Newcastle disease, and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rule making proceeding would make additional relevant information available to this Department. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and unnecessary, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

Title 13—BUSINESS CREDIT AND ASSISTANCE

Chapter I—Small Business Administration

[Amdt. 1]

PART 115—SURETY BOND GUARANTEE

Fees

On September 2, 1972, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 17980) a notice that the Small Business Administration proposed to change the fee structure of the Surety Bond Guarantee Program by amending Part 115 of Chapter I of Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations, § 115.7. Interested parties were given 30 days in which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed amendment. No objections have been received, and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

§ 115.7 Guarantee fees.

(a) An applicant small business concern, being required to provide a bond for performance or payment equivalent to 100 percent of the contract price shall pay to SBA a guarantee fee of 0.2 percent of the contract price upon obtaining the contract.

(b) An applicant small business concern, being required to provide a bond for performance or payment of less than 100 percent of the contract price shall pay the SBA a guarantee fee of 0.2 percent of the contract price or an amount equal to 20 percent of the premium charged by the surety, whichever is less, upon obtaining the contract.

(c) The surety company shall pay to SBA a guarantee fee of 10 percent of its bond premium.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective as of November 1, 1972.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airworthiness Docket No. 72-WE-8-AD; Amdt. 39-1549]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Beech Aircraft With Volpar Tricycle Landing Gears

Beech Models C-45G, TC-45G, C-45H, TC-45H, TC-45J (SNB-5), RC-45J (SNB-5P), D18C, D18S, E18S, E18S-9700, G18S, H18, JRB-6, 3N, 3NM, and 3TM aircraft with Volpar tricycle landing gear (STC SA4-1531, STC SA111WE, STC SA1832WE or any other STC modification incorporating the provisions of this installation).

Amendment 39-1494 (37 F.R. 15421), AD 72-16-2, provides, inter alia, procedures for the inspection and modification of the Beech main landing gear cylinder and top brace assembly, P/N 404-188406, for airplanes with Volpar trigear which do not incorporate the Volpar P/N 859 strap reinforcement. After issuing Amendment 39-1494, the agency determined that inspection and modification of the main landing gear cylinder and top brace assembly can be accomplished without complete disassembly of the main landing gear shock strut. Therefore, paragraph 3 of the AD is being amended to provide procedures for the inspection and modification of the main landing gear cylinder and top brace assembly with the main landing gear shock strut assembled.

Since this amendment relieves a restriction and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-1494 (37 F.R. 15421), AD 72-16-2 is amended as follows:

Amend paragraph 3 to read:

3. Main landing gear cylinder and top brace assembly:

a. For airplanes with Volpar trigear which do not incorporate the Volpar P/N 859 strap reenforcement on Beech main landing gear cylinder and top brace assembly P/N 404-188406, inspect the cylinder and top brace assembly for cracks within 50 hours' time in service after the effective date of this amendment to AD 72-16-2, unless already accomplished. For inspection purposes accomplish the following:

(1) Support aircraft on jacks.

(2) Remove main wheel and brake assembly.

(3) Remove main landing gear shock strut assembly from aircraft.

(4) Clean surfaces and inspect the cylinder and top brace assembly for cracks using magnetic particle inspection method per MIL-I-6868 or dye penetrant inspection method "C", type II, per MIL-I-6866.

b. If cracks are found by the inspections per paragraph 3a above, repair in accordance with FAR Part 43 prior to accomplishing modification per paragraph 3c below.

NOTE: The repair is restricted to the areas shown on the attached Figure No. 2. If cracks are found in areas other than shown, disassembled shock strut and replace cylinder and top brace assembly as follows:

(1) Release air charge and remove AN 6286 valve from main landing gear shock strut.

(2) Remove the following components from shock strut:

(a) Cylinder cap assembly P/N 414-188438.

(b) Bracket P/N 709.

(c) Torque links P/N 738 and P/N 706.

(3) Drain oil from the cylinder.

(4) Remove the AN 365-820 nut from the lower end of the piston at the P/N 426 fork.

NOTE: Care must be taken to avoid shearing the roll pin installed on the E-G-H18 aircraft metering rod assembly. Use a ¾-inch socket to hold the upper end of the metering rod. On C-45 and D18 aircraft, a slotted screw driver is used to hold the metering rod.

(5) Remove the P/N 426 fork from the piston by pressing off. Heat may be used on the fork to facilitate removal. Heat to a maximum of 300° F., to 350° F.

(6) Remove the P/N 275 stud from the bottom of the piston and slide piston, metering rod, inner cylinder, and seals from the outer cylinder assembly.

(7) Reverse the above procedure for the assembly of shock strut using a cylinder and top brace assembly that has been inspected and modified in accordance with paragraph 3c below.

(8) Complete a landing gear operational check before returning the aircraft to service.

CAUTION: (a) The AN 936-816 lock washer should be installed on to the threaded portion of the metering rod between the P/N 275 stud and the base of the piston.

(b) The AN 6227-7 "O" ring should be installed in groove on metering rod before installation in the piston.

(c) The 426 fork should not be driven or pressed on to piston with the AN 365 nut. Heat should be used on the P/N 426 fork. Cool piston with ice to allow slide fit, then torque AN 365 nut in place on stud.

c. If no cracks are found by the inspections per paragraph 3a above, modify cylinder and top brace assembly with Volpar P/N 859 strap reinforcement prior to further flight in accordance with the attached figure No. 1.

NOTE: Following the installation of the reinforcement, reinspect the top brace assembly for cracks using magnetic particle inspection method per MIL-I-6868. If cracks are found, repair in accordance with FAR Part 43 prior to further flight.

This amendment becomes effective November 3, 1972.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone Extension

On September 12, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 F.R. 18472) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration proposed an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would increase the Guam (NAS Agana) control zone extension.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. No objections were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., December 6, 1972, as hereinafter set forth.

GUAM ISLAND (NAS AGANA)

Within a 5-mile radius of NAS Agana (latitude 13°29'00" N., longitude 144°47'00" E.); within 4 miles each side of Agana VORTAC 244° R. (245° T.), extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles southwest of the VORTAC, and within 1.5 miles each side of the Guam RBN 046° T. bearing, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 2 miles northeast of the RBN.

SUBCHAPTER C—DRUGS

PART 135c—NEW ANIMAL DRUGS IN ORAL DOSAGE FORMS

Sulfamethazine

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has evaluated evaluated a supplemental new animal drug application (32-378V) filed by Norden Laboratories, Lincoln, Nebr. 68501, proposing revised labeling regarding the safe and effective use of sulfamethazine boluses by deleting reference to "sustained-release". The supplemental application is approved.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512(i), 82 Stat. 347; 21 U.S.C. 360b(i)) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), § 135c.10 Sulfamethazine is amended in paragraph (d) in the table under the "Limitations" column by deleting the words "sustained-release" and by inserting following the word "bolus" the word "form", and by deleting the phrase "for use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian" and substituting therefore the phrase "Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian".

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11-3-72).

PART 121—SPECIAL VALIDATION ENDORSEMENT FOR EMERGENCY SERVICE FOR MERCHANT MARINE PERSONNEL

SUBCHAPTER L—SECURITY OF WATERFRONT FACILITIES

PART 125—IDENTIFICATION CREDENTIALS FOR PERSONS REQUIRING ACCESS TO WATERFRONT FACILITIES OR VESSELS

Revocation of Standard

The amendments in this document to the security regulations revoke one of the standards that the Coast Guard uses to determine whether or not an applicant for a special validation endorsement for emergency service, or a holder of such endorsement, may be precluded from a determination that his character and habits of life are such to warrant the belief that his presence on board vessels of the United States would not be inimical to the security of the United States. This standard is contained in §§ 121.03 (e) and 125.19(e) of Title 33, Code of Federal Regulations, and concerns membership in, or affiliation or sympathetic association with any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group, or combination of persons designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450, as amended.

In a review of its security program, the Coast Guard has determined that the standard contained in §§ 121.03(e) and 125.19(e) is stated in indefinite terms and such vagueness does not fully inform the public of the standard to be applied. This document revokes these sections as an interim measure until a more definitive delineation of the standard to be applied is proposed in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Since the amendment in this document contains a revocation of a general statement of policy, the exception to the notice of proposed rule making contained in 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(A) applies, and the revocation may be made effective in less than 30 days, as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(2).

In consideration of the foregoing, Chapter 1 of Title 33, Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

1. By revoking paragraph (c) of § 121.03.

2. By revoking paragraph (e) of § 125.19.

(Executive Orders 10173, 10277, and 10352, 3 CFR, 1949–53 Comp., pp. 356, 778, and 873; sec. 6(b)(1), 80 Stat. 937; 49 U.S.C. 1655(b)(1); 49 CFR 1.46(b))

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective on November 6, 1972.

Dated: October 27, 1972.

C. R. BENDER,
Admiral, U.S. Coast Guard,
Commandant.

Change of Title of Hearing Examiners; Miscellaneous Amendments

The Judicial Officer pursuant to 39 CFR 222.2(b)(5) has amended the rules of procedure before the Judicial Officer codified in Parts 951–955, 957, and 958. The amendments reflect the change of the title "hearing examiner" to "Administrative Law Judge" in Part 930 of the Civil Service Commission's regulations (5 CFR Part 930) and amendments to the organization regulations of the Postal Service published in the daily issue of September 27, 1972 (37 F.R. 20167). An amendment to § 957.9 conforms terminology in that section to terminology used elsewhere in postal regulations.

The amendments made by the Judicial Officer are set out below and are effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (11–3–72).

(39 U.S.C. 204, 401, 404)

ROGER P. CRAIG,
Deputy General Counsel.

ADAM G. WENCHEL,
Judicial Officer.

The rules of practice before the Judicial Officer are amended as follows:

1. Section 952.17 is amended by changing "Chief Hearing Examiner" where it appears in paragraph (a) to "Chief Administrative Law Judge".

2. Section 953.11 is amended by changing "Chief Hearing Examiner" to "Chief Administrative Law Judge."

3. Section 954.14 is amended by changing "Chief Hearing Examiner" where it appears in paragraph (a) to "Chief Administrative Law Judge."

4. Section 955.1 is amended by changing the second sentence of paragraph (b) to read: "The Board is composed of the Judicial Officer as Chairman, the Chief Administrative Law Judge and one other Administrative Law Judge designated by the Chairman."

5. Section 957.9 is amended by striking out "departmental decision" and inserting "Postal Service Decision" in lieu thereof.

6. Section 958.7 is amended by changing "Chief Hearing Examiner" to "Chief Administrative Law Judge."

7. Parts 951–954 and 958 are amended by changing "hearing examiner" and "hearing examiners" wherever those terms appear to "Administrative Law Judge" and "Administrative Law Judges", respectively.

Subpart 114–26.4—Purchase of Items From Federal Supply Schedule Contractors

The table of contents for Subpart 114–26.4 is amended by deleting the reference to § 114–26.406–6, Notice to GSA of assignment of billing codes and billing addresses.

Section 114-26.406–4(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 114–26.406–4 Administrative control of credit cards.

• • • • •

(b) The head of each bureau and office shall be responsible for establishing procedures to provide for the administrative control of credit cards in accordance with the guidelines set forth in FPMR 101–26.406–4(b).

§ 114–26.406–6 [Deleted]

Section 114–26.406–6 is deleted in its entirety.

Subpart 114–38.1—Reporting Motor Vehicle Data

The table of contents for Subpart 114–38.1 is revised to provide for new entries as follows:

Sec.
114-38.100 Scope of subpart.
114-38.101 Records.
114-38.102 Preparation of Standard Form 82, Agency Report of Motor Vehicle Data.
114-38.102-1 Reporting period and submission.

Authority: The provisions of this Subpart 114-38.1 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301 and section 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Subpart 114–38.1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 114–38.100 Scope of subpart.

This subpart sets forth the responsibility of each bureau and office for maintaining inventory, cost, and operating data needed for the management and control of motor vehicles and to fulfill the reporting requirements established herein.

§ 114–38.101 Records.

(a) Accounting records. The head of each bureau and office is responsible for the development and maintenance of motor vehicle cost accounting records, and for the establishment of reporting procedures to insure compliance with the requirements of FPMR 101–38.1 and this Subpart 114–38.1.

(b) Utilization records, bureau-owned vehicles. Heads of bureaus and offices shall establish procedures to insure that:

(1) Records are maintained to reflect utilization data (miles or hours operated) on an individual motor vehicle basis.

(2) Utilization data are recorded each day a vehicle is operated. Data covering two or more short trips during a single day may be combined to record total utilization during that particular day.

(3) The utilization record of each motor vehicle is analyzed not less frequently than once each year by appropriate management officials, and

(4) Any necessary followup action is taken promptly to achieve maximum effective utilization at the minimum cost.

(c) Utilization records, interagency motor pool vehicles. Utilization records on interagency motor pool vehicles shall be recorded and reported in accordance with instructions issued by GSA regional offices and individual motor pools.

(d) Operator's record, Form DI–120, Operator's Record, may be used for recording utilization data prescribed in IPMR 114–38.103(b). This form is available on requisition from the Branch of Supply, Division of General Services, Office of Management Operations, Washington, D.C.

§ 114–38.102 Preparation of Standard Form 82, Agency Report of Motor Vehicle Data.

Each bureau and office which owns and/or rents motor vehicles shall prepare and submit a consolidated Standard Form 82, Agency Report of Motor Vehicle Data. Only the applicable portions of Standard Form 82 need to be completed if a bureau or office operates only rental vehicles. Section II is to be completed only by those bureaus having accountability for a fleet of 2,000 or more vehicles.

§ 114–38.102–1 Reporting period and submission.

Standard Form 82 shall be prepared as of June 30 of each year and submitted in triplicate, to reach the Director of Management Operations by September 1 of each year.

Title 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury

SUBCHAPTER A—INCOME TAX

[T.D. 7216]

PART 1—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1953

Determination of Income Effectively Connected With U.S. Business of Nonresident Aliens or Foreign Corporations

On January 23, 1969, notice of proposed rule making with respect to the amendment of the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) to conform the regulations to section 864(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, relating to rules for determining income effectively connected with the U.S. business of nonresident alien individuals or foreign corporations, as added by section 102(d) of the Foreign Investors Tax Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 1544), was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (34 F.R. 1030). Further, on January 23, 1971, notice of proposed rule making withdrawing a portion of the proposed regulations contained in the previous notice and proposing regulations in lieu thereof was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 1149). After consideration of all relevant matter as was presented by interested persons regarding the rules proposed, the amendment of the regulations as proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the changes set forth below:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.864–3, as set forth in paragraph 2 of the notice of proposed rule making, is changed by revising example (2) of paragraph (b) thereof and by adding a new example (3) to such paragraph. These revised and added provisions read as set forth below.

PAR. 2. Paragraph (c) of § 1.864–4, as set forth in paragraph 2 of the notice of proposed rule making, is changed by revising subdivision (ii) of subparagraph (1), by revising subdivisions (i) and (iii) (b) of subparagraph (2), by revising subdivision (i) of subparagraph (3), and by revising subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii), (vi), and (vii) of subparagraph (5). These revised provisions read as set forth below.

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

PAR. 3. Section 1.864–5, as set forth in paragraph 2 of the notice of proposed rule making, is changed by revising paragraph (a), by revising paragraph (b)(2)(i), the example in paragraph (b)(2)(ii), and paragraph (b)(3)(i), by adding a new subdivision (iii) to paragraph (b)(3), by revising paragraph (c)(1), by revising that part of paragraph (d)(2) that precedes the examples therein, and by revising paragraph (d)(3). These revised and added provisions read as follows:

PAR. 4. Section 1.864–6, as set forth in paragraph 2 of the notice of proposed rule making, is changed by revising paragraph (a), by revising paragraph (b)(1), (2), and (3)(i), and by revising paragraph (c)(1) and (2) and example (1) in paragraph (c)(3). These revised provisions read as set forth below.

PAR. 5. Section 1.864–7 is changed by revising paragraphs (c), (d)(1), (2), and (3)(i) and (ii), (e), and (f), by revising example (1) in paragraph (g), and by adding new examples (4), (5), and (6) in paragraph (g), as set forth below.

(Sec. 7805, Internal Revenue Code of 1954, 68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805)

[SEAL] JOHNNIE M. WALTERS,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: October 31, 1972.

FREDERIC W. HICKMAN,
Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.864 is amended by adding a subsection (c) to section 864 as follows and by leaving the historical note unchanged:

§ 1.864 Statutory provisions; definitions.

SEC. 864. Definitions. * * *

(c) Effectively connected income, etc.—

(1) General rule. For purposes of this title—

(A) In the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year, the rules set forth in paragraphs (2), (3), and (4) shall apply in determining the income, gain, or loss which shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(B) Except as provided in section 871(d) or sections 882 (d) and (e), in the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation not engaged in trade or business within the United States during the taxable year, no income, gain, or loss shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(2) Periodical, etc., income from sources within United States—Factors. In determining whether income from sources within the United States of the types described in section 871(a)(1) or section 881(a), or whether gain or loss from sources within the United States from the sale or exchange of capital assets, is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States, the factors taken into account shall include whether—

(A) The income, gain, or loss is derived from assets used in or held for use in the conduct of such trade or business, or

(B) The activities of such trade or business were a material factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss.

In determining whether an asset is used in or held for use in the conduct of such trade or business or whether the activities of such trade or business were a material factor in realizing an item of income, gain, or loss, due regard shall be given to whether or not such asset or such income, gain, or loss was accounted for through such trade or business. In applying this paragraph and paragraph (4), interest referred to in section 861(a)(1)(A) shall be considered income from sources within the United States.

(3) Other income from sources within United States. All income, gain, or loss from sources within the United States (other than income, gain, or loss to which paragraph (2) applies) shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(4) Income from sources without United States.—

(A) Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), no income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(B) Income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation if such person has an office or other fixed place of business within the United States to which such income, gain, or loss is attributable and such income, gain, or loss—

(i) Consists of rents or royalties for the use of or for the privilege of using intangible property described in section 862(a)(4) (including any gain or loss realized on the sale of such property) derived in the active conduct of such trade or business;

(ii) Consists of dividends or interest, or gain or loss from the sale or exchange of stock or notes, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness, and either is derived in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business within the United States or is received by a corporation the principal business of which is trading in stocks or securities for its own account; or

(iii) Is derived from the sale (without the United States) through such office or other fixed place of business of personal property described in section 1221(1), except that this clause shall not apply if the property is sold for use, consumption, or disposition outside the United States and an office or other fixed place of business of the taxpayer outside the United States participated materially in such sale.

(C) In the case of a foreign corporation taxable under part I of subchapter L, any income from sources without the United States which is attributable to its U.S. business shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States.

(D) No income from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States if it either—

(i) Consists of dividends, interest, or royalties paid by a foreign corporation in which the taxpayer owns (within the meaning of section 958(a)), or is considered as owning (by applying the ownership rules of section 958(b)), more than 50 percent of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote, or

(ii) Is subpart F income within the meaning of section 952(a).

(5) Rules for application of paragraph (4)(B). For purposes of subparagraph (B) of paragraph (4)—

(A) In determining whether a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has an office or other fixed place of business, an office or other fixed place of business of an agent shall be disregarded unless such agent (i) has the authority to negotiate and conclude contracts in the name of the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation and regularly exercises that authority or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on behalf of such individual or foreign corporation, and (ii) is not a general commission agent, broker, or other agent of independent status acting in the ordinary course of his business.

(B) Income, gain, or loss shall not be considered as attributable to an office or other fixed place of business within the United States unless such office or fixed place of business is a material factor in the production of such income, gain, or loss and such office or fixed place of business regularly carries on activities of the type from which such income, gain, or loss is derived, and

(C) The income, gain, or loss which shall be attributable to an office or other fixed place of business within the United States shall be the income, gain, or loss property allocable thereto, but, in the case of a sale described in clause (iii) of such subparagraph, the income which shall be treated as attributable to an office or other fixed place of business within the United States shall not exceed the income which would be derived from sources within the United States if the sale were made in the United States.

PAR. 2. The following new sections are added immediately after § 1.864–2:

§ 1.864–3 Rules for determining income effectively connected with U.S. business of nonresident aliens or foreign corporations.

(a) In general. For purposes of the Internal Revenue Code, in the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation that is engaged in a trade or business in the United States at any time during the taxable year, the rules set forth in §§ 1.864–4 through 1.864–7 and this section shall apply in determining whether income, gain, or loss shall be treated as effectively connected for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1966, with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States. Except as provided in sections 871 (c) and (d) and 882 (d) and (e), and the regulations thereunder, in the case of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation that is at no time during the taxable year engaged in a trade or business in the United States, no income, gain, or loss shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States. The general rule prescribed by the preceding sentence shall apply even though the income, gain, or loss would have been treated as effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States if such income or gain had been received or accrued, or such loss had been sustained, in an earlier taxable year when the taxpayer was engaged in a trade or business in the United States. In applying §§ 1.864–4 through 1.864–7 and this section, the determination whether an item of income, gain, or loss is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States shall not be controlled by any administrative, judicial, or other interpretation made under the laws of any foreign country.

(b) Illustrations. The application of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). During 1967 foreign corporation N, which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in the business of purchasing and selling household equipment on the installment plan. During 1967 N is engaged in business in the United States by reason of the sales activities it carries on in the United States for the purpose of selling therein some of the equipment which it has purchased. During 1967 N receives installment payments of $800,000 on sales it makes that year in the United States, and the income from sources within the United States for 1967 attributable to such payments is $200,000. By reason of section 864(c)(3) and paragraph (b) of § 1.864–4 this income of $200,000 is effectively connected for 1967 with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by N. In December of 1967, N discontinues its efforts to make any further sales of household equipment in the United States, and at no time during 1968 is N engaged in a trade or business in the United States. During 1968 N receives installment payments of $500,000 on the sales it made in the United States during 1967, and the income from sources within the United States for 1968 attributable to such payments is $125,000. By reason of section 864(c)(1)(B) and this section, this income of $125,000 is not effectively connected for 1968 with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by N, even though such amount, if it had been received by N during 1967, would have been effectively connected for 1967 with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that corporation.

Example (2). R, a foreign holding company, owns all of the voting stock in five corporations, two of which are domestic corporations. All of the subsidiary corporations are engaged in the active conduct of a trade or business. R has an office in the United States where its chief executive officer, who is also the chief executive officer of one of the domestic corporations, spends a substantial portion of the taxable year supervising R's investment in its operating subsidiaries and performing his function as chief executive officer of the domestic operating subsidiary. R is not considered to be engaged in a trade or business in the United States during the taxable year by reason of the activities carried on in the United States by its chief executive officer in the supervision of its investment in its operating subsidiary corporations. Accordingly, the dividends from sources within the United States received by R during the taxable year from its domestic subsidiary corporations are not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by R.

Example (3). During the months of June through December 1971, B, a nonresident alien individual who uses the calendar year as the taxable year and the cash receipts and disbursements method of accounting, is employed in the United States by domestic corporation M for a salary of $2,000 per month, payable semimonthly. During 1971, B receives from M salary payments totaling $13,000, all of which income by reason of section 864(c)(2) and paragraph (c)(6)(ii) of § 1.864–4, is effectively connected for 1971 with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by B. On December 31, 1971, B terminates his employment with M and departs from the United States. At no time during 1972 is B engaged in a trade or business in the United States. In January of 1972, B receives from M salary of $1,000 for the last half of December 1971, and a bonus of $1,000 in consideration of the services B performed in the United States during 1971 for that corporation. By reason of section 864(c)(1)(B) and this section, the $2,000 received by B during 1972 from sources within the United States is not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, even though such amount, if it had been received by B during 1971, would have been effectively connected for 1971 with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by B.

§ 1.864–4 U.S. source income effectively connected with U.S. business.

(a) In general. This section applies only to a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation that is engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1966, and to the income, gain, or loss of such person from sources within the United States. If the income, gain, or loss of such person for the taxable year from sources within the United States consists of (1) gain or loss from the sale or exchange of capital assets or (2) fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income or certain other gains described in section 871(a)(1) or 881(a), certain factors must be taken into account, as prescribed by section 864(c)(2) and paragraph (c) of this section, in order to determine whether the income, gain, or loss is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that person. All other income, gain, or loss of such person for the taxable year from sources within the United States shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that person, as prescribed by section 864(c)(3) and paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Income other than fixed or determinable income and capital gains. All income, gain, or loss for the taxable year derived by a nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation engaged in a trade or business in the United States from sources within the United States which does not consist of income, gain, or loss described in section 871(a)(1) or 881(a), or of gain or loss from the sale or exchange of capital assets, shall, for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, whether or not the income, gain, or loss is derived from the trade or business being carried on in the United States during the taxable year. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M, a foreign corporation which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in the business of manufacturing machine tools in a foreign country. It establishes a branch office in the United States during 1968 which solicits orders from customers in the United States for the machine tools manufactured by that corporation. All negotiations with respect to such sales are carried on in the United States. By reason of its activity in the United States M is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. The income or loss from sources within the United States from such sales during 1968 is treated as effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a business in the United States by M. Occasionally, during 1968 the customers in the United States write directly to the home office of M, and the home office makes sales directly to such customers without routing the transactions through its branch office in the United States. The income or loss from sources within the United States for 1968 from these occasional direct sales by the home office is also treated as effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a business in the United States by M.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that during 1967 M was also engaged in the business of purchasing and selling office machines and that it used the installment method of accounting for the sales made in this separate business. During 1967 M was engaged in business in the United States by reason of the sales activities it carried on in the United States for the purpose of selling therein a number of the office machines which it had purchased. Although M discontinued this business activity in the United States in December of 1967, it received in 1968 some installment payments on the sales which it had made in the United States during 1967. The income of M for 1968 from sources within the United States which is attributable to such installment payments is effectively connected for 1968 with the conduct of a business in the United States, even though such income is not connected with the business carried on in the United States during 1968 through its sales office located in the United States for the solicitation of orders for the machine tools it manufactures.

Example (3). Foreign corporation S, which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in the business of purchasing and selling electronic equipment. The home office of such corporation is also engaged in the business of purchasing and selling vintage wines. During 1968, S establishes a branch office in the United States to sell electronic equipment to customers, some of whom are located in the United States and the balance, in foreign countries. This branch office is not equipped to sell, and does not participate in sales of, wine purchased by the home office. Negotiations for the sales of the electronic equipment take place in the United States. By reason of the activity of its branch office in the United States, S is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. As a result of advertisements which the home office of S places in periodicals sold in the United States, customers in the United States frequently place orders for the purchase of wines with the home office in the foreign country, and the home office makes sales of wine in 1968 directly to such customers without routing the transactions through its branch office in the United States. The income or loss from sources within the United States for 1968 from sales of electronic equipment by the branch office, together with the income or loss from sources within the United States for that year from sales of wine by the home office, is treated as effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a business in the United States by S.

(c) Fixed or determinable income and capital gains—(1) Principal factors to be taken into account—(i) In general. In determining for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section whether any income for the taxable year from sources within the United States which is described in section 871(a)(1) or 881(a), relating to fixed or determinable annual or periodical gains, profits, and income and certain other gains, or whether gain or loss from sources within the United States for the taxable year from the sale or exchange of capital assets, is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, the principal tests to be applied are (a) the asset-use test, that is, whether the income, gain, or loss is derived from assets used in, or held for use in, the conduct of the trade or business in the United States, and (b) the business-activities test, that is, whether the activities of the trade or business conducted in the United States were a material factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss.

(ii) Special rule relating to interest on certain deposits. For purposes of determining under section 861(a)(1)(A) (relating to interest on deposits with banks, savings and loan associations, and insurance companies paid or credited before Jan. 1, 1976) whether the interest described therein is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, such interest shall be treated as income from sources within the United States for purposes of applying this paragraph and § 1.864–5. If by reason of the application of this paragraph such interest is determined to be income which is not effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, it shall then be treated as interest from sources without the United States which is not subject to the application of § 1.864–5.

(2) Application of the asset-use test—(i) In general. For purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the asset-use test ordinarily shall apply in making a determination with respect to income, gain, or loss of a passive type where the trade or business activities as such do not give rise directly to the realization of the income, gain, or loss. However, even in the case of such income, gain, or loss, any activities of the trade or business which materially contribute to the realization of such income, gain, or loss shall also be taken into account as a factor in determining whether the income, gain, or loss is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States. The asset-use test is of primary significance where, for example, interest or dividend income is derived from sources within the United States by a nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation that is engaged in the business of manufacturing or selling goods in the United States. See also subparagraph (5) of this paragraph for rules applicable to taxpayers conducting a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States.

(ii) Cases where applicable. Ordinarily, an asset shall be treated as used in, or held for use in, the conduct of a trade or business in the United States if the asset is—

(a) Held for the principal purpose of promoting the present conduct of the trade or business in the United States, as, for example, in the case of stock acquired and held to assure a constant source of supply for the trade or business, or

(b) Acquired and held in the ordinary course of the trade or business conducted in the United States, as, for example, in the case of an account or note receivable arising from that trade or business, or

(c) Otherwise held in a direct relationship to the trade or business conducted in the United States, as determined under subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Direct relationship between holding of asset and trade or business—(a) In general. In determining whether an asset is held in a direct relationship to the trade or business conducted in the United States, principal consideration shall be given to whether the asset is needed in that trade or business. An asset shall be considered needed in a trade or business, for this purpose, only if the asset is held to meet the present needs of that trade or business and not its anticipated future needs. An asset shall be considered as needed in the trade or business conducted in the United States if, for example, the asset is held to meet the operating expenses of that trade or business. Conversely, an asset shall be considered as not needed in the trade or business conducted in the United States if, for example, the asset is held for the purpose of providing for (1) future diversification into a new trade or business, (2) expansion of trade or business activities conducted outside of the United States, (3) future plant replacement, or (4) future business contingencies.

(b) Presumption of direct relationship. Generally, an asset will be treated as held in a direct relationship to the trade or business if (1) the asset was acquired with funds generated by that trade or business, (2) the income from the asset is retained or reinvested in that trade or business, and (3) personnel who are present in the United States and actively involved in the conduct of that trade or business exercise significant management and control over the investment of such asset.

(iv) Illustrations. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). M, a foreign corporation which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in industrial manufacturing in a foreign country. M maintains a branch in the United States which acts as importer and distributor of the merchandise it manufactures abroad; by reason of these branch activities, M is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. The branch in the United States is required to hold a large current cash balance for business purposes, but the amount of the cash balance so required varies because of the fluctuating seasonal nature of the branch's business. During 1968 at a time when large cash balances are not required the branch invests the surplus amount in U.S. Treasury bills. Since these Treasury bills are held to meet the present needs of the business conducted in the United States they are held in a direct relationship to that business, and the interest for 1968 on these bills is effectively connected for that year with the conduct of the business in the United States by M.

Example (2). R, a foreign corporation engaged in the manufacture of goods, maintains a factory at its branch in the United States and by reason of its activities therein is engaged in business in the United States during the taxable year 1968. R engages a stock brokerage firm in the United States to manage its securities which were purchased with funds from R's general surplus reserves. The brokerage firm is engaged by the U.S. branch and is instructed to deposit all income and gains derived from the securities in the New York bank account of the U.S. branch. The funds invested in these securities are not necessary to provide for the present needs of the U.S. branch. Accordingly, the securities are not held in a direct relationship to the business conducted in the United States by R, and all such income and gains for 1968 from sources within the United States are not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of the business in the United States.

Example (3). S, a foreign corporation which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in the manufacture of goods in a foreign country. S maintains a branch in the United States and by reason of the activities of that branch is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. S invests excess cash, which is generated by the U.S. branch but not currently needed in the business of the branch, in securities issued by domestic corporations. The securities are held in the name of S in a brokerage office in the United States, which receives and remits all income from the securities to S's home office abroad. The officers of the U.S. branch have authority to manage the securities held in the brokerage account of S. Any dividends and interest on the securities for 1968, and any gain or loss for that year resulting from the sale or exchange of the securities, are not effectively connected for 1968 with the conduct of the business in the United States by S, because the securities are not held to meet the present needs of that business and thus are not held in a direct relationship to that business.

Example (4). F, a foreign corporation which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, is engaged in business in the United States during 1968 through its manufacturing branch in the United States. The branch holds on its books stock in domestic corporation D, a wholly owned subsidiary of F. There is no relationship between the business of D and the business of F's branch in the United States, and the officers of D report to the home office of F and not to its U.S. branch. Dividends paid on the stock in D are paid to F's branch in the United States and are mingled with its general funds, but the U.S. branch has no present need in its business operations for the cash so received. Since the stock in D is not held in a direct relationship to the business conducted in the United States by F, any dividends received by F during 1968 on such stock are not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of that business.

Example (5). Foreign corporation M, which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, has a branch office in the United States where it sells to customers located in the United States various products which are manufactured by that corporation in a foreign country. By reason of this activity M is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. The U.S. branch establishes in 1968 a fund to which are periodically credited various amounts which are derived from the business carried on at such branch. The amounts in this fund are invested in various securities issued by domestic corporations by the managing officers of the U.S. branch, who have the responsibility for maintaining proper investment diversification and investment of the fund. During 1968, the branch office derives from sources within the United States dividends on these securities, and gains and losses resulting from the sale or exchange of such securities. Since the securities were acquired with amounts generated by the business conducted in the United States, the dividends are retained in that business, and the portfolio is managed by personnel actively involved in the conduct of that business, the securities are presumed under subdivision (iii)(b) of this subparagraph to be held in a direct relationship to that business. However, M is able to rebut this presumption by demonstrating that the fund was established to carry out a program of future expansion and not to meet the present needs of the business conducted in the United States. Consequently, the income, gains, and losses from the securities for 1968 are not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by M.

(3) Application of the business-activities test—(i) In general. For purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the business-activities test shall ordinarily apply in making a determination with respect to income, gain, or loss which, even though generally of the passive type, arises directly from the active conduct of the taxpayer's trade or business in the United States. The business-activities test is of primary significance, for example, where (a) dividends, interest, or gain or loss are derived by a dealer in stocks or securities, or similar business, (b) royalties are derived in the active conduct of a business consisting of the licensing of patents or similar intangible property, or (c) service fees are derived in the active conduct of a servicing business. In applying the business-activities test, activities relating to the management of investment portfolios shall not be treated as activities of the trade or business conducted in the United States unless the maintenance of the investments constitutes the principal activity of that trade or business. See also subparagraph (5) of this paragraph for rules applicable to taxpayers conducting a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States.

(ii) Illustrations. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Foreign corporation S is a foreign investment company organized for the purpose of investing in stocks and securities. S is not a personal holding company or a corporation which would be a personal holding company but for section 542(c)(7) or 543(b)(1)(C). Its investment portfolios consist of common stocks issued by both foreign and domestic corporations and a substantial amount of high grade bonds. The business activity of S consists of the management of its portfolios for the purpose of investing, reinvesting, or trading in stocks and securities. During the taxable year 1968, S has its principal office in the United States within the meaning of paragraph (c)(2)(iii) of § 1.864–2 and, by reason of its trading in the United States in stocks and securities, is engaged in business in the United States. The dividends and interest derived by S during 1968 from sources within the United States, and the gains and losses from sources within the United States for such year from the sale of stocks and securities from its investment portfolios, are effectively connected for 1968 with the conduct of the business in the United States by that corporation, since its activities in connection with the management of its investment portfolios are activities of that business and such activities are a material factor in the realization of such income, gains, and losses.

Example (2). N, a foreign corporation which uses the calendar year as the taxable year, has a branch in the United States which acts as an importer and distributor of merchandise; by reason of the activities of that branch, N is engaged in business in the United States during 1968. N also carries on a business in which it licenses patents to unrelated persons in the United States for use in the United States. The businesses of the licensees in which these patents are used have no direct relationship to the business carried on in N's branch in the United States, although the merchandise marketed by the branch is similar in type to that manufactured under the patents. The negotiations and other activities leading up to the consummation of these licenses are conducted by employees of N who are not connected with the U.S. branch of that corporation, and the U.S. branch does not otherwise participate in arranging for the licenses. Royalties received by N during 1968 from these licenses are not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of its business in the United States because the activities of that business are not a material factor in the realization of such income.

(4) Method of accounting as a factor. In applying the asset-use test or the business-activities test described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, due regard shall be given to whether or not the asset, or the income, gain, or loss, is accounted for through the trade or business conducted in the United States, that is, whether or not the asset, or the income, gain, or loss, is carried on books of account separately kept for that trade or business, but this accounting test shall not by itself be controlling. In applying this subparagraph, consideration shall be given to whether the accounting treatment of an item reflects the consistent application of generally accepted accounting principles in a particular trade or business in accordance with accepted conditions or practices in that trade or business and whether there is a consistent accounting treatment of that item from year to year by the taxpayer.

(5) Special rules relating to banking, financing, or similar business activity—(i) Definition of banking, financing, or similar business. A nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation shall be considered for purposes of this section and paragraph (b)(2) of § 1.864–5 to be engaged in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States if at some time during the taxable year the taxpayer is engaged in business in the United States and the activities of such business consist of any one or more of the following activities carried on, in whole or in part, in the United States in transactions with persons situated within or without the United States:

(a) Receiving deposits of funds from the public,

(b) Making personal, mortgage, industrial, or other loans to the public,

(c) Purchasing, selling, discounting, or negotiating for the public on a regular basis, notes, drafts, checks, bills of exchange, acceptances, or other evidences of indebtedness,

(d) Issuing letters of credit to the public and negotiating drafts drawn thereunder,

(e) Providing trust services for the public, or

(f) Financing foreign exchange transactions for the public.

Although the fact that the taxpayer is subjected to the banking and credit laws of a foreign country shall be taken into account in determining whether he is engaged in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business, the character of the business actually carried on during the taxable year in the United States shall determine whether the taxpayer is actively conducting a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States. A foreign corporation which acts merely as a financing vehicle for borrowing funds for its parent corporation or any other person who would be a related person within the meaning of section 954(d)(3) if such foreign corporation were a controlled foreign corporation shall not be considered to be engaged in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States.

(ii) Effective connection of income from stocks or securities with active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business. Notwithstanding the rules in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph with respect to the asset-use test and the business-activities test, any dividends or interest from stocks or securities, or any gain or loss from the sale or exchange of stocks or securities which are capital assets, which is from sources within the United States and derived by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation in the active conduct during the taxable year of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States shall be treated as effectively connected for such year with the conduct of that business only if the stocks or securities giving rise to such income, gain, or loss are attributable to the U.S. office through which such business is carried on and—

(a) Were acquired—

(1) As a result of, or in the course of making loans to the public,

(2) In the course of distributing such stocks or securities to the public, or

(3) For the purpose of being used to satisfy the reserve requirements, or other requirements similar to reserve requirements, established by a duly constituted banking authority in the United States, or

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

(b) Consist of securities (as defined in subdivision (v) of this subparagraph) which are—

(1) Payable on demand or at a fixed maturity date not exceeding 1 year from the date of acquisition.

(2) Issued by the United States, or any agency or instrumentality thereof, or

(3) Not described in (a) or in (1) or (2) of this (b).

However, the amount of interest from securities described in (b)(3) of this subdivision (ii) which shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States shall be an amount (but not in excess of the entire interest for the taxable year from sources within the United States from such securities) determined by multiplying the entire interest for the taxable year from sources within the United States from such securities by a fraction the numerator of which is 10 percent and the denominator of which is the same percentage, determined on the basis of a monthly average for the taxable year, as the book value of the total of such securities held by the U.S. office through which such business is carried on bears to the book value of the total assets of such office. The amount of gain or loss, if any, for the taxable year from the sale or exchange of such securities which shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States shall be an amount (but not in excess of the entire gain or loss for the taxable year from sources within the United States from the sale or exchange of such securities) determined by multiplying the entire gain or loss for the taxable year from sources within the United States from the sale or exchange of such securities by the fraction described in the immediately preceding sentence. The percentage of the denominator of the limiting fraction for such purposes shall be the percentage obtained by separately adding the book value of such securities and such total assets held at the close of each month in the taxable year, dividing each such sum by 12, and then dividing the amount of securities so obtained by the amount of assets so obtained. This subdivision does not apply to dividends from stock owned by a foreign corporation in a domestic corporation of which more than 50 percent of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote is owned by such foreign corporation and which is engaged in the active conduct of a banking business in the United States. The application of this subdivision may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. Foreign corporation M, created under the laws of foreign country Y, has in the United States a branch, B, which during the taxable year is engaged in the active conduct of the banking business in the United States within the meaning of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. During the taxable year M derives from sources within the United States through the activities carried on through B, $7,500,000 interest from securities described in subdivision (b)(3) of this subdivision (ii) and $7,500,000 gain from the sale or exchange of such securities. The monthly average, determined as of the last day of each month in the taxable year, of such securities held by B divided by the monthly average, as so determined, of the total assets held by B equals 15 percent. Under this subdivision, the amount of interest income from such securities that shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the active conduct by M of a banking business in the United States is $5 million ($7,500,000 interest × 10%/15%), and the amount of gain from the sale or exchange of such securities that shall be treated as effectively connected for such year with the active conduct of such business is $5 million ($7,500,000 gain × 10%/15%).

(iii) Stocks or securities attributable to U.S. office—(a) In general. For purposes of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, a stock or security shall be deemed to be attributable to a U.S. office only if—

(1) Such office actively participated in soliciting, negotiating, or performing other activities required to arrange, the acquisition of such stock or security, and

(2) Such stock or security is or was held in the United States by or for such office and recorded on its books or records as having been purchased or acquired by such office or for its account.

(b) Exceptions. A stock or security shall not be deemed to be attributable to a U.S. office merely because such office conducts one or more of the following activities:

(1) Collects or accounts for the dividends, interest, gain, or loss from such stock or security,

(2) Exercises general supervision over the activities of the persons directly responsible for carrying on the activities described in (a)(1) of this subdivision,

(3) Performs merely clerical functions incident to the acquisition of such stock or security, or

(4) Exercises final approval over the execution of the acquisition of such stock or security.

(iv) Acquisitions in course of making loans to the public. For purposes of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph—

(a) A stock or security shall be considered to have been acquired in the course of making a loan to the public where, for example, such stock or security was acquired as additional consideration for the making of the loan,

(b) A stock or security shall be considered to have been acquired as a result of making a loan to the public if, for example, such stock or security was acquired by foreclosure upon a bona fide default of the loan and is held as an ordinary and necessary incident to the active conduct of the banking, financing, or similar business in the United States, and

(c) A stock or security acquired on a stock exchange or organized over-the-counter market shall be considered not to have been acquired as a result of, or in the course of, making loans to the public.

(v) Security defined. For purposes of this subparagraph, a security is any bill, note, bond, debenture, or other evidence of indebtedness, or any evidence of an interest in, or right to subscribe to or purchase, any of the foregoing items.

(vi) Limitations on application of subparagraph—(a) Other business activity. This subparagraph provides rules for determining when certain income from stocks or securities is effectively connected with the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States. Any dividends, interest, gain, or loss from sources within the United States which by reason of the application of subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph is not effectively connected with the active conduct by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States may be effectively connected for the taxable year, under subparagraph (2) or (3) of this paragraph with the conduct by such taxpayer of another trade or business in the United States, such as, for example, the business of selling or manufacturing goods or merchandise or of trading in stocks or securities for the taxpayer's own account.

(b) Other income. For rules relating to income, gain, or loss from sources within the United States (other than dividends or interest from, or gain or loss from the sale or exchange of, stocks or securities referred to in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph) derived in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States, see subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph and paragraph (b) of this section.

(vii) Illustrations. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Foreign corporation F, which is created under the laws of foreign country X and engaged in the active conduct of the banking business in country X and a number of other foreign countries, has in the United States a branch, B, which during the taxable year is engaged in the active conduct of the banking business in the United States within the meaning of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph. In the course of its banking business in foreign countries, F receives at its branches located in country X and other foreign countries substantial deposits in U.S. dollars which are transferred to the accounts of B in the United States. During the taxable year, B actively participates in negotiating loans to residents of the United States, such as call loans to U.S. brokers, which are financed from the U.S. dollar deposits transferred to B by F. In addition, B actively participates in purchasing on the New York Stock Exchange and over-the-counter markets long-term bonds and notes issued by the U.S. Government, U.S. Treasury bills, and long-term interest-bearing bonds issued by domestic corporations and having a maturity date of less than 1 year from the date of acquisition, all of which are purchased from the deposits transferred to B by F. All of the securities so acquired are held by B and recorded on its books in the United States. Pursuant to subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, the interest received by F during the taxable year on these loans, bonds, notes, and bills is effectively connected for such year with the active conduct by F of a banking business in the United States.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that B also actively participates in using part of the U.S. dollar deposits, which are transferred to it by F, to purchase on the New York Stock Exchange shares of common stock issued by various domestic corporations. All of the shares so purchased are considered to be capital assets within the meaning of section 1221 and are recorded on B's books in the United States. None of the shares so purchased were acquired for the purpose of meeting reserve or other similar requirements. During the taxable year some of the shares are sold by B on the stock exchange. Pursuant to subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, the dividends and gains received by F during the taxable year on these shares of stock are not effectively connected with the active conduct by F of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that B also uses part of the U.S. dollar deposits, which are transferred to it by F, to make a loan to domestic corporation M. As part of the consideration for the loan, M gives to B a number of shares of common stock issued by M. All of these shares of stock are considered to be capital assets within the meaning of section 1221 and are recorded on B's books in the United States. During the taxable year one-half of these shares of stock is sold by B on the New York Stock Exchange. Pursuant to subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph, the dividends and gains received by F during the taxable year on these shares of stock are effectively connected for such year with the active conduct by F of a banking business in the United States.

Example (4). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that during the taxable year the home office of F in country X actively participates in negotiating loans to residents of the United States, such as call loans to U.S. brokers, which are financed by the U.S. dollar deposits received at the home office and are recorded on the books of the home office. B does not participate in negotiating these loans. Pursuant to subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph the interest received by F during the taxable year on these loans made by the home office in country X is not effectively connected with the active conduct by F of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States.

(6) Income related to personal services of an individual—(i) Income, gain, or loss from assets. Income or gains from sources within the United States described in section 871(a)(1) and derived from an asset, and gain or loss from sources within the United States from the sale or exchange of capital assets, realized by a nonresident alien individual engaged in a trade or business in the United States during the taxable year solely by reason of his performing personal services in the United States shall not be treated as income, gain, or loss which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, unless there is a direct economic relationship between his holding of the asset from which the income, gain, or loss results and his trade or business of performing the personal services. This direct economic relationship exists, for example, where the individual purchases stock in a domestic corporation to assure the opportunity of performing personal services in the United States for that corporation.

(ii) Wages, salaries, and pensions. Wages, salaries, fees, compensations, emoluments, or other remunerations, including bonuses, received by a nonresident alien individual for performing personal services in the United States which, under paragraph (a) of § 1.864–2, constitute engaging in a trade or business in the United States, and pensions and retirement pay attributable to such personal services, constitute income which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that individual if he is engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during the taxable year in which such income is received.

§ 1.864–5 Foreign source income effectively connected with U.S. business.

(a) In general. This section applies only to a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation that is engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1966, and to the income, gain, or loss of such person from sources without the United States. The income, gain, or loss of such person for the taxable year from sources without the United States which is specified in paragraph (b) of this section shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States, only if he also has in the United States at some time during the taxable year, but not necessarily at the time the income, gain, or loss is realized, an office or other fixed place of business, as defined in § 1.864–7, to which such income, gain, or loss is attributable in accordance with § 1.864–6. The income of such person for the taxable year from sources without the United States which is specified in paragraph (c) of this section shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States when derived by a foreign corporation carrying on a life insurance business in the United States. Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, no income, gain, or loss of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation for the taxable year from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that person. Any income, gain, or loss described in paragraph (b) or (c) of this section which, if it were derived by the taxpayer from sources within the United States for the taxable year, would not be treated under § 1.864–4 as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States shall not be treated under this section as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States.

(b) Income other than income attributable to U.S. life insurance business. Income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States other than income described in paragraph (c) of this section shall be taken into account pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section in applying §§ 1.864–6 and 1.864–7 only if it consists of—

(1) Rents, royalties, or gains on sales of intangible property. (i) Rents or royalties for the use of, or for the privilege of using, intangible personal property located outside the United States or from any interest in such property, including rents or royalties for the use, or for the privilege of using, outside the United States, patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trademarks, trade brands, franchises, and other like properties, if such rents or royalties are derived in the active conduct of the trade or business in the United States.

(ii) Gains or losses on the sale or exchange of intangible personal property located outside the United States or from any interest in such property, including gains or losses on the sale or exchange of the privilege of using, outside the United States, patents, copyrights, secret processes and formulas, good will, trademarks, trade brands, franchises, and other like properties, if such gains or losses are derived in the active conduct of the trade or business in the United States.

(iii) Whether or not such an item of income, gain, or loss is derived in the active conduct of a trade or business in the United States shall be determined from the facts and circumstances of each case. The frequency with which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation enters into transactions of the type from which the income, gain, or loss is derived shall not of itself determine that the income, gain, or loss is derived in the active conduct of a trade or business.

(iv) This subparagraph shall not apply to rents or royalties for the use of, or for the privilege of using, real property or tangible personal property, or to gain or loss from the sale or exchange of such property.

(2) Dividends or interest, or gains or loss from sales of stocks or securities—(i) In general. Dividends or interest from any transaction, or gains or losses on the sale or exchange of stocks or securities, realized by (a) a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States or (b) a foreign corporation engaged in business in the United States whose principal business is trading in stocks or securities for its own account. Whether the taxpayer is engaged in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States for purposes of this subparagraph shall be determined in accordance with the principles of paragraph (c)(5)(i) of § 1.864–4.

(ii) Incidental investment activity. This subparagraph shall not apply to income, gain, or loss realized by a nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation on stocks or securities held, sold, or exchanged in connection with incidental investment activities carried on by that person. Thus, a foreign corporation which is primarily a holding company owning significant percentages of the stocks or securities issued by other corporations shall not be treated under this subparagraph as a corporation the principal business of which is trading in stocks or securities for its own account, solely because it engages in sporadic purchases or sales of stocks or securities to adjust its portfolio. The application of this subdivision may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. F, a foreign corporation, owns voting stock in foreign corporations M, N, and P, its holdings in such corporations constituting 15, 20, and 100 percent, respectively, of all classes of their outstanding voting stock. Each of such stock holdings by F represents approximately 20 percent of its total assets. The remaining 40 percent of F's assets consist of other investments, 20 percent being invested in securities issued by foreign governments and in stocks and bonds issued by other corporations in which F does not own a significant percentage of their outstanding voting stock, and 20 percent being invested in bonds issued by N. None of the assets of F are held primarily for sale; but, if the officers of that corporation were to decide that other investments would be preferable to its holding of such assets, F would sell the stocks and securities and reinvest the proceeds therefrom in other holdings. Any income, gain, or loss which F may derive from this investment activity is not considered to be realized by a foreign corporation described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(3) Sale of goods or merchandise through U.S. office. (i) Income, gain, or loss from the sale of inventory items or of property held primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of business, as described in section 1221(1), where the sale is outside the United States but through the office or other fixed place of business which the nonresident alien or foreign corporation has in the United States, irrespective of the destination to which such property is sent for use, consumption, or disposition.

(ii) This subparagraph shall not apply to income, gain, or loss resulting from a sales contract entered into on or before February 24, 1966. See section 102(e)(1) of the Foreign Investors Tax Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 1547). Thus, for example, the sales office in the United States of a foreign corporation enters into negotiations for the sale of 500,000 industrial bearings which the corporation produces in a foreign country for consumption in the Western Hemisphere. These negotiations culminate in a binding agreement entered into on January 1, 1966. By its terms delivery under the contract is to be made over a period of 3 years beginning in March of 1966. Payment is due upon delivery. The income from sources without the United States resulting from this sale negotiated by the U.S. sales office of the foreign corporation shall not be taken into account under this subparagraph for any taxable year.

(iii) This subparagraph shall not apply to gains or losses on the sale or exchange of intangible personal property to which subparagraph (1) of this paragraph applies or of stocks or securities to which subparagraph (2) of this paragraph applies.

(c) Income attributable to U.S. life insurance business. (1) All of the income for the taxable year of a foreign corporation described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph from sources without the United States, which is attributable to its U.S. life insurance business, shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that corporation. Thus, in determining its life insurance company taxable income from its U.S. business for purposes of section 802, the foreign corporation shall include all of its items of income from sources without the United States which would appropriately be taken into account in determining the life insurance company taxable income of a domestic corporation. The income to which this subparagraph applies shall be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section without reference to §§ 1.864–6 and 1.864–7.

(2) A foreign corporation to which subparagraph (1) of this paragraph applies is a foreign corporation carrying on an insurance business in the United States during the taxable year which—

(i) Without taking into account its income not effectively connected for that year with the conduct of any trade or business in the United States, would qualify as a life insurance company under part I (section 801 and following) of subchapter L, chapter 1 of the Code, if it were a domestic corporation, and

(ii) By reason of section 842 is taxable under that part on its income which is effectively connected for that year with its conduct of any trade or business in the United States.

(d) Excluded foreign source income. Notwithstanding paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, no income from sources without the United States shall be treated as effectively connected for any taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation if the income consists of—

(1) Dividends, interest, or royalties paid by a related foreign corporation. Dividends, interest, or royalties paid by a foreign corporation in which the nonresident alien individual or the foreign corporation described in paragraph (a) of this section owns, within the meaning of section 958(a), or is considered as owning, by applying the ownership rules of section 958(b), at the time such items are paid more than 50 percent of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote.

(2) Subpart F income of a controlled foreign corporation. Any income of the foreign corporation described in paragraph (a) of this section which is subpart F income for the taxable year, as determined under section 952(a), even though no part of the income is attributable to amounts which, if distributed by the foreign corporation, would be distributed with respect to its stock which is owned by shareholders who are not U.S. shareholders within the meaning of section 951(b). This subparagraph shall not apply to any income of the foreign corporation which is excluded in determining its subpart F income for the taxable year for purposes of section 952(a). Thus, for example, this subparagraph shall not apply to—

(i) Any dividends, interest, or gains from qualified investments in less developed countries which are excluded under section 954(b)(1),

(ii) Foreign base company income amounting to less than 30 percent of gross income which by reason of section 954(b)(3)(A) does not become subpart F income for the taxable year,

(iii) Any income excluded from foreign base company income under section 954(b)(4), relating to exception for foreign corporations not availed of to reduce taxes,

(iv) Any income derived in the active conduct of a trade or business which is excluded under section 954(c)(3), or

(v) Any income received from related persons which is excluded under section 954(c)(4).

This subparagraph shall apply to the foreign corporation's entire subpart F income for the taxable year determined under section 952(a), even though no amount is included in the gross income of a U.S. shareholder under section 951(a) with respect to that subpart F income because of the minimum distribution provisions of section 963(a) or because of the reduction under section 970(a) with respect to an export trade corporation. This subparagraph shall apply only to a foreign corporation which is a controlled foreign corporation within the meaning of section 957 and the regulations thereunder. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Controlled foreign corporation M, incorporated under the laws of foreign country X, is engaged in the business of purchasing and selling merchandise manufactured in foreign country Y by an unrelated person. M negotiates sales, through its sales office in the United States, of its merchandise for use outside of country X. These sales are made outside the United States, and the merchandise is sold for use outside the United States. No office maintained by M outside the United States participates materially in the sales made through its U.S. sales office. These activities constitute the only activities of M. During the taxable year M derives $100,000 income from these sales made through its U.S. sales office, and all of such income is foreign base company sales income by reason of section 954(d)(2) and paragraph (b) of § 1.954–3. The entire $100,000 is also subpart F income, determined under section 952(a). In addition, all of this income would, without reference to section 864(c)(4)(D)(ii) and this subparagraph, be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by M. Through its entire taxable year 60 percent of the one class of stock of M is owned within the meaning of section 958(a) by U.S. shareholders, as defined in section 951(b), and 40 percent of its one class of stock is owned within the meaning of section 958(a) by persons who are not U.S. shareholders, as defined in section 951(b). Although only $60,000 of the subpart F income of M for the taxable year is includible in the income of the U.S. shareholders under section 951(a), the entire subpart F income of $100,000 constitutes income which, by reason of section 864(c)(4)(D)(ii) and this subparagraph, is not effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by M.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that the foreign base company sales income amounts to $150,000 determined in accordance with paragraph (d)(3)(i) of § 1.954–1, and that M also has gross income from sources without the United States of $50,000 from sales, through its sales office in the United States, of merchandise for use in country X. These sales are made outside the United States. All of this income would, without reference to section 864(c)(4)(D)(ii) and this subparagraph, be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by M. Since the foreign base company income of $150,000 amounts to 75 percent of the entire gross income of $200,000, determined as provided in paragraph (d)(3)(ii) of § 1.954–1, the entire $200,000 constitutes foreign base company income under section 954(b)(3)(B). Assuming that M has no amounts to be taken into account under paragraphs (1), (2), (4), and (5) of section 954(b), the $200,000 is also subpart F income, determined under section 952(a). This subpart F income of $200,000 constitutes income which, by reason of section 864(c)(4)(D)(ii) and this subparagraph, is not effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by M.

(3) Interest on certain deposits. Interest which, by reason of section 861(a)(1)(A) (relating to interest on deposits with banks, savings and loan associations, and insurance companies paid or credited before January 1, 1976) and paragraph (c) of § 1.864–4, is determined to be income from sources without the United States because it is not effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation.

§ 1.864–6 Income, gain, or loss attributable to an office or other fixed place of business in the United States.

(a) In general. Income, gain, or loss from sources without the United States which is specified in paragraph (b) of § 1.864–5 and received by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1966, shall be treated as effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States only if the income, gain, or loss is attributable under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section to an office or other fixed place of business, as defined in § 1.864–7, which the taxpayer has in the United States at some time during the taxable year.

(b) Material factor test—(1) In general. For purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, income, gain, or loss is attributable to an office or other fixed place of business which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has in the United States only if such office or other fixed place of business is a material factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss, and if the income, gain, or loss is realized in the ordinary course of the trade or business carried on through that office or other fixed place of business. For this purpose, the activities of the office or other fixed place of business shall not be considered to be a material factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss unless they provide a significant contribution to, by being an essential economic element in, the realization of the income, gain, or loss. Thus, for example, meetings in the United States of the board of directors of a foreign corporation do not of themselves constitute a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss. It is not necessary that the activities of the office or other fixed place of business in the United States be a major factor in the realization of the income, gain, or loss. An office or other fixed place of business located in the United States at some time during a taxable year may be a material factor in the realization of an item of income, gain, or loss for that year even though the office or other fixed place of business is not present in the United States when the income, gain, or loss is realized.

(2) Application of material factor test to specific classes of income. For purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, an office or other fixed place of business which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation, engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during the taxable year, had in the United States, shall be considered a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss consisting of—

(i) Rents, royalties, or gains on sales of intangible property. Rents, royalties, or gains or losses, from intangible personal property specified in paragraph (b)(1) of § 1.864–5, if the office or other fixed place of business either actively participates in soliciting, negotiating, or performing other activities required to arrange, the lease, license, sale, or exchange from which such income, gain, or loss is derived or performs significant services incident to such lease, license, sale, or exchange. An office or other fixed place of business in the United States shall not be considered to be a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss for purposes of this subdivision merely because the office or other fixed place of business conducts one or more of the following activities: (a) develops, creates, produces, or acquires and adds substantial value to, the property which is leased, licensed, or sold, or exchanged, (b) collects or accounts for the rents, royalties, gains, or losses, (c) exercises general supervision over the activities of the persons directly responsible for carrying on the activities or services described in the immediately preceding sentence, (d) performs merely clerical functions incident to the lease, license, sale, or exchange or (e) exercises final approval over the execution of the lease, license, sale, or exchange. The application of this subdivision may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). F, a foreign corporation, is engaged in the active conduct of the business of licensing patents which it has either purchased or developed in the United States. F has a business office in the United States. Licenses for the use of such patents outside the United States are negotiated by offices of F located outside the United States, subject to approval by an officer of such corporation located in the U.S. office. All services which are rendered to F's foreign licensees are performed by employees of F's offices located outside the United States. None of the income, gain, or loss resulting from the foreign licenses so negotiated by F is attributable to its business office in the United States.

Example (2). N, a foreign corporation, is engaged in the active conduct of the business of distributing motion picture films and television programs. N does not distribute such films or programs in the United States. The foreign distribution rights to these films and programs are acquired by N's U.S. business office from the U.S. owners of these films and programs. Employees of N's offices located in various foreign countries carry on in such countries all the solicitations and negotiations for the licensing of these films and programs to licensees located in such countries and provide the necessary incidental services to the licensees. N's U.S. office collects the rentals from the foreign licensees and maintains the necessary records of income and expense. Officers of N located in the United States also maintain general supervision over the employees of the foreign offices, but the foreign employees conduct the day to day business of N outside the United States of soliciting, negotiating, or performing other activities required to arrange the foreign licenses. None of the income, gain, or loss resulting from the foreign licenses so negotiated by N is attributable to N's U.S. office.

(ii) Dividends or interest, or gains or losses from sales of stock or securities—(a) In general. Dividends or interest from any transaction, or gains or losses on the sale or exchange of stocks or securities, specified in paragraph (b)(2) of § 1.864–5, if the office or other fixed place of business either actively participates in soliciting, negotiating, or performing other activities required to arrange, the issue, acquisition, sale, or exchange, of the asset from which such income, gain, or loss is derived or performs significant services incident to such issue, acquisition, sale, or exchange.

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

An office or other fixed place of business in the United States shall not be considered to be a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss for purposes of this subdivision merely because the office or other fixed place of business conducts one or more of the following activities: (1) collects or accounts for the dividends, interest, gains, or losses, (2) exercises general supervision over the activities of the persons directly responsible for carrying on the activities or services described in the immediately preceding sentence, (3) performs merely clerical functions incident to the issue, acquisition, sale, or exchange, or (4) exercises final approval over the execution of the issue, acquisition, sale, or exchange.

(b) Effective connection of income from stocks or securities with active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business. Notwithstanding (a) of this subdivision (ii), the determination as to whether any dividends or interest from stocks or securities, or gain or loss from the sale or exchange of stocks or securities which are capital assets, which is from sources without the United States and derived by a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation in the active conduct during the taxable year of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States, shall be treated as effectively connected for such year with the active conduct of that business shall be made by applying the principles of paragraph (c)(5)(ii) of § 1.864–4 for determining whether income, gain, or loss of such type from sources within the United States is effectively connected for such year with the active conduct of that business.

(c) Security defined. For purposes of this subdivision (ii), a security is any bill, note, bond, debenture, or other evidence of indebtedness, or any evidence of an interest in, or right to subscribe to or purchase, any of the foregoing items.

(d) Limitations on application of rules on banking, financing, or similar business—(1) Trading for taxpayer's own account. The provisions of (b) of this subdivision (ii) apply for purposes of determining when certain income, gain, or loss from stocks or securities is effectively connected with the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States. Any dividends, interest, gain, or loss from sources without the United States which by reason of the application of (b) of this subdivision (ii) is not effectively connected with the active conduct by a foreign corporation of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States may be effectively connected for the taxable year, under (a) of this subdivision (ii), with the conduct by such taxpayer of a trade or business in the United States which consists of trading in stocks or securities for the taxpayer's own account.

(2) Other income. For rules relating to dividends or interest from sources without the United States (other than dividends or interest from, or gain or loss from the sale or exchange of, stocks or securities referred to in (b) of this subdivision (ii)) derived in the active conduct of a banking, financing, or similar business in the United States, see (a) of this subdivision (ii).

(iii) Sale of goods or merchandise through U.S. office. Income, gain, or loss from sales of goods or merchandise specified in paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.864–5, if the office or other fixed place of business actively participates in soliciting the order, negotiating the contract of sale, or performing other significant services necessary for the consummation of the sale which are not the subject of a separate agreement between the seller and the buyer. The office or other fixed place of business in the United States shall be considered a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss from a sale made as a result of a sales order received in such office or other fixed place of business except where the sales order is received unsolicited and that office or other fixed place of business is not held out to potential customers as the place to which such sales orders should be sent. The income, gain, or loss must be realized in the ordinary course of the trade or business carried on through the office or other fixed place of business in the United States. Thus, if a foreign corporation is engaged solely in a manufacturing business in the United States, the income derived by its office in the United States as a result of an occasional sale outside the United States is not attributable to the U.S. office if the sales office of the manufacturing business is located outside the United States. On the other hand, if a foreign corporation establishes a sales office in the United States to sell for consumption in the Western Hemisphere merchandise which the corporation produces in Africa, the income derived by the sales office in the United States as a result of an occasional sale made by it in Europe shall be attributable to the U.S. sales office. An office or other fixed place of business in the United States shall not be considered to be a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss for purposes of this subdivision merely because of one or more of the following activities: (a) the sale is made subject to the final approval of such office or other fixed place of business, (b) the property sold is held in, and distributed from, such office or other fixed place of business, (c) samples of the property sold are displayed (but not otherwise promoted or sold) in such office or other fixed place of business, or (d) such office or other fixed place of business performs merely clerical functions incident to the sale. Activities carried on by employees of an office or other fixed place of business constitute activities of that office or other fixed place of business.

(3) Limitation where foreign office is a material factor in realization of income—(i) Goods or merchandise destined for foreign use, consumption, or disposition. Notwithstanding subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, an office or other fixed place of business which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has in the United States shall not be considered, for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, to be a material factor in the realization of income, gain, or loss from sales of goods or merchandise specified in paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.864–5 if the property is sold for use, consumption, or disposition outside the United States and an office or other fixed place of business, as defined in § 1.864–7, which such nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation has outside the United States participates materially in the sale. For this purpose an office or other fixed place of business which the taxpayer has outside the United States shall be considered to have participated materially in a sale made through the office or other fixed place of business in the United States if the office or other fixed place of business outside the United States actively participates in soliciting the order resulting in the sale, negotiating the contract of sale, or performing other significant services necessary for the consummation of the sale which are not the subject of a separate agreement between the seller and buyer. An office or other fixed place of business which the taxpayer has outside the United States shall not be considered to have participated materially in a sale merely because of one or more of the following activities: (a) The sale is made subject to the final approval of such office or other fixed place of business, (b) the property sold is held in, and distributed from, such office or other fixed place of business, (c) samples of the property sold are displayed (but not otherwise promoted or sold) in such office or other fixed place of business, (d) such office or other fixed place of business is used for purposes of having title to the property pass outside the United States, or (e) such office or other fixed place of business performs merely clerical functions incident to the sale.

(ii) Rules for determining country of use, consumption, or disposition—(a) In general. As a general rule, personal property which is sold to an unrelated person shall be presumed for purposes of this subparagraph to have been sold for use, consumption, or disposition in the country of destination of the property sold; for such purpose, the occurrence in a country of a temporary interruption in shipment of property shall not cause that country to be considered the country of destination. However, if at the time of a sale of personal property to an unrelated person the taxpayer knew, or should have known from the facts and circumstances surrounding the transaction, that the property probably would not be used, consumed, or disposed of in the country of destination, the taxpayer must determine the country of ultimate use, consumption, or disposition of the property or the property shall be presumed to have been sold for use, consumption, or disposition in the United States. A taxpayer who sells personal property to a related person shall be presumed to have sold the property for use, consumption, or disposition in the United States unless the taxpayer establishes the use made of the property by the related person; once he has established that the related person has disposed of the property, the rules in the two immediately preceding sentences relating to sales to an unrelated person shall apply at the first stage in the chain of distribution at which a sale is made by a related person to an unrelated person. Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this subdivision (a), a taxpayer who sells personal property to any person whose principal business consists of selling from inventory to retail customers at retail outlets outside the United States may assume at the time of the sale to that person that the property will be used, consumed, or disposed of outside the United States. For purposes of this (a), a person is related to another person if either person owns or controls directly or indirectly the other, or if any third person or persons own or control directly or indirectly both. For this purpose, the term "control" includes any kind of control, whether or not legally enforceable, and however exercised or exercisable. For illustrations of the principles of this subdivision, see paragraph (a)(3)(iv) of § 1.954–3.

(b) Fungible goods. For purposes of this subparagraph, a taxpayer who sells to a purchaser personal property which because of its fungible nature cannot reasonably be specifically traced to other purchasers and to the countries of ultimate use, consumption, or disposition shall, unless the taxpayer establishes a different disposition as being proper, treat that property as being sold, for ultimate use, consumption, or disposition in those countries, and to those other purchasers, in the same proportions in which property from the fungible mass of the first purchaser is sold in the ordinary course of business by such first purchaser. No apportionment is required to be made, however, on the basis of sporadic sales by the first purchaser. This (b) shall apply only in a case where the taxpayer knew, or should have known from the facts and circumstances surrounding the transaction, the manner in which the first purchaser disposes of property from the fungible mass.

(iii) Illustration. The application of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. Foreign corporation M has a sales office in the United States during the taxable year through which it sells outside the United States for use in foreign countries industrial electrical generators which such corporation manufactures in a foreign country. M is not a controlled foreign corporation within the meaning of section 957 and the regulations thereunder, and, by reason of its activities in the United States, is engaged in business in the United States during the taxable year. The generators require specialized installation and continuous adjustment and maintenance services. M has an office in foreign country X which is the only organization qualified to perform these installation, adjustment, and maintenance services. During the taxable year M sells several generators through its U.S. office for use in foreign country Y under sales contracts which also provide for installation, adjustment, and maintenance by its office in country X. The generators are installed in country Y by employees of M's office in country X, who also are responsible for the servicing of the equipment. Since the office of M in country X performs significant services incident to these sales which are necessary for their consummation and are not the subject of a separate agreement between M and the purchaser, the U.S. office of M is not considered to be a material factor in the realization of the income from the sales and, for purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, such income is not attributable to the U.S. office of that corporation.

(c) Amount of income, gain, or loss allocable to U.S. office—(1) In general. If, in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, an office or other fixed place of business which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has in the United States at some time during the taxable year is a material factor in the realization for that year of an item of income, gain, or loss specified in paragraph (b) of § 1.864–5, such item of income, gain, or loss shall be considered to be allocable in its entirety to that office or other fixed place of business. In no case may any income, gain, or loss for the taxable year from sources without the United States, or part thereof, be allocable under this paragraph to an office or other fixed place of business which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has in the United States if the taxpayer is at no time during the taxable year engaged in a trade or business in the United States.

(2) Special limitation in case of sales of goods or merchandise through U.S. office. Notwithstanding subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, in the case of a sale of goods or merchandise specified in paragraph (b)(3) of § 1.864–5, which is not a sale to which paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section applies, the amount of income which shall be considered to be allocable to the office or other fixed place of business which the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation has in the United States shall not exceed the amount which would be treated as income from sources within the United States if the taxpayer had sold the goods or merchandise in the United States. See, for example, section 863(b)(2) and paragraph (b) of § 1.863–3, which prescribes, as available methods for determining the income from sources within the United States, the independent factory or production price method, the gross sales and property apportionment method, and any other method regularly employed by the taxpayer which more clearly reflects taxable income from such sources than those specifically authorized.

(3) Illustrations. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Foreign corporation M, which is not a controlled foreign corporation within the meaning of section 957 and the regulations thereunder, manufactures machinery in a foreign country and sells the machinery outside the United States through its sales office in the United States for use in foreign countries. Title to the property which is sold is transferred to the foreign purchaser outside the United States, but no office or other fixed place of business of M in a foreign country participates materially in the sale made through its U.S. office. During the taxable year M derives a total taxable income (determined as though M were a domestic corporation) of $250,000 from these sales. If the sales made through the U.S. office for the taxable year had been made in the United States and the property had been sold for use in the United States, the taxable income from sources within the United States from such sales would have been $100,000, determined as provided in section 863 and 882(c) and the regulations thereunder. The taxable income which is allocable to M's U.S. sales office pursuant to this paragraph and which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by that corporation is $100,000.

Example (2). Foreign corporation N, which is not a controlled foreign corporation within the meaning of section 957 and the regulations thereunder, has an office in a foreign country which purchases merchandise and sells it through its sales office in the United States for use in various foreign countries, such sales being made outside the United States and title to the property passing outside the United States. No other office of N participates materially in these sales made through its U.S. office. By reason of its sales activities in the United States, N is engaged in business in the United States during the taxable year. During the taxable year N derives taxable income (determined as though N were a domestic corporation) of $300,000 from these sales made through its U.S. sales office. If the sales made through the U.S. office for the taxable year had been made in the United States and the property had been sold for use in the United States, the taxable income from sources within the United States from such sales would also have been $300,000, determined as provided in sections 861 and 882(c) and the regulations thereunder. The taxable income which is allocable to N's U.S. sales office pursuant to this paragraph and which is effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that corporation is $300,000.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (2), except that N has an office in a foreign country which participates materially in the sales which are made through its U.S. office. The taxable income which is allocable to N's U.S. sales office is not effectively connected for the taxable year with the conduct of a trade or business in the United States by that corporation.

§ 1.864–7 Definition of office or other fixed place of business.

(a) In general. (1) This section applies for purposes of determining whether a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation that is engaged in a trade or business in the United States at some time during a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1966, has an office or other fixed place of business in the United States for purposes of applying section 864(c)(4)(B) and § 1.864–6 to income, gain, or loss specified in paragraph (b) of § 1.864–5 from sources without the United States or has an office or other fixed place of business outside the United States for purposes of applying section 864(c)(4)(B)(iii) and paragraph (b)(3)(i) of § 1.864–6 to sales of goods or merchandise for use, consumption, or disposition outside the United States.

(2) In making a determination under this section due regard shall be given to the facts and circumstances of each case, particularly to the nature of the taxpayer's trade or business and the physical facilities actually required by the taxpayer in the ordinary course of the conduct of his trade or business.

(3) The law of a foreign country shall not be controlling in determining whether a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has an office or other fixed place of business.

(b) Fixed facilities—(1) In general. As a general rule, an office or other fixed place of business is a fixed facility, that is, a place, site, structure, or other similar facility, through which a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation engages in a trade or business. For this purpose an office or other fixed place of business shall include, but shall not be limited to, a factory; a store or other sales outlet; a workshop; or a mine, quarry, or other place of extraction of natural resources. A fixed facility may be considered an office or other fixed place of business whether or not the facility is continuously used by a nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation.

(2) Use of another person's office or other fixed place of business. A nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business merely because such alien individual or foreign corporation uses another person's office or other fixed place of business, whether or not the office or place of business of a related person, through which to transact a trade or business, if the trade or business activities of the alien individual or foreign corporation in that office or other fixed place of business are relatively sporadic or infrequent, taking into account the overall needs and conduct of that trade or business.

(c) Management activity. A foreign corporation shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business merely because a person controlling that corporation has an office or other fixed place of business from which general supervision and control over the policies of the foreign corporation are exercised. The fact that top management decisions affecting the foreign corporation are made in a country shall not of itself mean that the foreign corporation has an office or other fixed place of business in that country. For example, a foreign sales corporation which is a wholly owned subsidiary of a domestic corporation shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States merely because of the presence in the United States of officers of the domestic parent corporation who are generally responsible only for the policy decisions affecting the foreign sales corporation, provided that the foreign corporation has a chief executive officer, whether or not he is also an officer of the domestic parent corporation, who conducts the day-to-day trade or business of the foreign corporation from a foreign office. The result in this example would be the same even if the executive officer should (1) regularly confer with the officers of the domestic parent corporation, (2) occasionally visit the U.S. office of the domestic parent corporation, and (3) during such visits to the United States temporarily conduct the business of the foreign subsidiary corporation out of the domestic parent corporation's office in the United States.

(d) Agent activity—(1) Dependent agents—(i) In general. In determining whether a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation has an office or other fixed place of business, the office or other fixed place of business of an agent who is not an independent agent, as defined in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, shall be disregarded unless such agent (a) has the authority to negotiate and conclude contracts in the name of the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation, and regularly exercises that authority, or (b) has a stock of merchandise belonging to the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation from which orders are regularly filed on behalf of such alien individual or foreign corporation. A person who purchases goods from a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation shall not be considered to be an agent for such alien individual or foreign corporation for purposes of this paragraph where such person is carrying on such purchasing activities in the ordinary course of its own business, even though such person is related in some manner to the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation. For example, a wholly owned domestic subsidiary corporation of a foreign corporation shall not be treated as an agent of the foreign parent corporation merely because the subsidiary corporation purchases goods from the foreign parent corporation and resells them in its own name. However, if the domestic subsidiary corporation regularly negotiates and concludes contracts in the name of its foreign parent corporation or maintains a stock of merchandise from which it regularly fills orders on behalf of the foreign parent corporation, the office or other fixed place of business of the domestic subsidiary corporation shall be treated as the office or other fixed place of business of the foreign parent corporation unless the domestic subsidiary corporation is an independent agent within the meaning of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(ii) Authority to conclude contracts or fill orders. For purposes of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, an agent shall be considered regularly to exercise authority to negotiate and conclude contracts or regularly to fill orders on behalf of his foreign principal only if the authority is exercised, or the orders are filled, with some frequency over a continuous period of time. This determination shall be made on the basis of the facts and circumstances in each case, taking into account the nature of the business of the principal; but, in all cases, the frequency and continuity tests are to be applied conjunctively. Regularity shall not be evidenced by occasional or incidental activity. An agent shall not be considered regularly to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of his foreign principal if the agent's authority to negotiate and conclude contracts is limited only to unusual cases or such authority must be separately secured by the agent from his principal with respect to each transaction effected.

(2) Independent agents. The office or other fixed place of business of an independent agent, as defined in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, shall not be treated as the office or other fixed place of business of his principal who is a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation, irrespective of whether such agent has authority to negotiate and conclude contracts in the name of his principal, and regularly exercises that authority, or maintains a stock of goods from which he regularly fills orders on behalf of his principal.

(3) Definition of independent agent—(i) In general. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "independent agent" means a general commission agent, broker, or other agent of an independent status acting in the ordinary course of his business in that capacity. Thus, for example, an agent who, in pursuance of his usual trade or business, and for compensation, sells goods or merchandise consigned or entrusted to his possession, management, and control for that purpose by or for the owner of such goods or merchandise is an independent agent.

(ii) Related persons. The determination of whether an agent is an independent agent for purposes of this paragraph shall be made without regard to facts indicating that either the agent or the principal owns or controls directly or indirectly the other or that a third person or persons own or control directly or indirectly both. For example, a wholly owned domestic subsidiary corporation of a foreign corporation which acts an an agent for the foreign parent corporation may be treated as acting in the capacity of independent agent for the foreign parent corporation. The facts and circumstances of a specific case shall determine whether the agent, while acting for his principal, is acting in pursuance of his usual trade or business and in such manner as to constitute him an independent agent in his relations with the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation.

(iii) Exclusive agents. Where an agent who is otherwise an independent agent within the meaning of subdivision

(i) of this subparagraph acts in such capacity exclusively, or almost exclusively, for one principal who is a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation, the facts and circumstances of a particular case shall be taken into account in determining whether the agent, while acting in that capacity, may be classified as an independent agent.

(e) Employee activity. Ordinarily, an employee of a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation shall be treated as a dependent agent to whom the rules of paragraph (d)(1) of this section apply if such employer does not in and of itself have a fixed facility (as defined in paragraph (b) of this section) in the United States or outside the United States, as the case may be. However, where the employee, in the ordinary course of his duties, carries on the trade or business of his employer in or through a fixed facility of such employer which is regularly used by the employee in the course of carrying out such duties, such fixed facility shall be considered the office or other fixed place of business of the employer, irrespective of the rules of paragraph (d)(1) of this section. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. M, a foreign corporation, opens a showroom office in the United States for the purpose of promoting its sales of merchandise which it purchases in foreign country X. The employees of the U.S. office, consisting of salesmen and general clerks, are empowered only to run the office, to arrange for the appointment of distributing agents for the merchandise offered by M, and to solicit orders generally. These employees do not have the authority to negotiate and conclude contracts in the name of M, nor do they have a stock of merchandise from which to fill orders on behalf of M. Any negotiations entered into by these employees are under M's instructions and subject to its approval as to any decision reached. The only independent authority which the employees have is in the appointment of distributors to whom M is to sell merchandise, but even this authority is subject to the right of M to approve or disapprove these buyers on receipt of information as to their business standing. Under the circumstances, this office used by a group of salesmen for sales promotion is a fixed place of business which M has in the United States.

(f) Office or other fixed place of business of a related person. The fact that a nonresident alien individual or a foreign corporation is related in some manner to another person who has an office or other fixed place of business shall not of itself mean that such office or other fixed place of business of the other person is the office or other fixed place of business of the nonresident alien individual or foreign corporation. Thus, for example, the U.S. office of foreign corporation M, a wholly owned subsidiary corporation of foreign corporation N, shall not be considered the office or other fixed place of business of N unless the facts and circumstances show that N is engaged in trade or business in the United States through that office or other fixed place of business. However, see paragraph (b)(2) of this section.

(g) Illustrations. The application of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). S, a foreign corporation, is engaged in the business of buying and selling tangible personal property. S is a wholly owned subsidiary of P, a domestic corporation engaged in the business of buying and selling similar property, which has an office in the United States. Officers of P are generally responsible for the policies followed by S and are directors of S, but S has an independent group of officers, none of whom are regularly employed in the United States. In addition to this group of officers, S has a chief executive officer, D, who is also an officer of P but who is permanently stationed outside the United States. The day-to-day conduct of S's business is handled by D and the other officers of such corporation, but they regularly confer with the officers of P and on occasion temporarily visit P's offices in the United States, at which time they continue to conduct the business of S. S does not have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States for purposes of this section.

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that, on rare occasions, an employee of P receives an order which he, after consultation with officials of S and because P cannot fill the order, accepts on behalf of S rather than on behalf of P. P does not hold itself out as a person which those wishing to do business with S should contact. Assuming that orders for S are seldom handled in this manner and that they do not constitute a significant part of that corporation's business, S shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States because of these activities of an employee of P.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (1) except that all orders received by S are subject to review by an officer of P before acceptance. S has a business office in the United States.

Example (4). S, a foreign corporation organized under the laws of Puerto Rico, is engaged in the business of manufacturing dresses in Puerto Rico and is entitled to an income tax exemption under the Puerto Rico Industrial Incentive Act of 1963. S is a wholly owned subsidiary of P, a domestic corporation engaged in the business of buying and selling dresses to customers in the United States. S sells most of the dresses it produces to P, the assumption being made that the income from these sales is derived from sources without the United States. P in turn sells these dresses in the United States in its name and through the efforts of its own employees and of distributors appointed by it. S does not have a fixed facility in the United States, and none of its employees are stationed in the United States. On occasion, employees of S visit the office of P in the United States, and executives of P visit the office of S in Puerto Rico, to discuss with one another matters of mutual business interest involving both corporations, including the strategy for marketing the dresses produced by S. These matters are also regularly discussed by such persons by telephone calls between the United States and Puerto Rico. S's employees do not otherwise participate in P's marketing activities. Officers of P are generally responsible for the policies followed by S and are directors of S, but S has a chief executive officer in Puerto Rico who, from its office therein, handles the day-to-day conduct of S's business. Based upon the facts presented, and assuming there are no other facts which would lead to a different determination, S shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States for purposes of this section.

Example (5). The facts are the same as in example (4) except that the dresses are manufactured by S in styles and designs furnished by P and out of goods and raw materials purchased by P and sold to S. Based upon the facts presented, and assuming there are no other facts which would lead to a different determination, S shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States for purposes of this section.

Example (6). The facts are the same as in example (5) except that, pursuant to the instructions of P, the dresses sold by P are shipped by S directly to P's customers in the United States. Based upon the facts presented, and assuming there are no other facts which would lead to a different determination, S shall not be considered to have an office or other fixed place of business in the United States for purposes of this section.

SCHEDULES OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

Excluded Nonnarcotic Substances

The Director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs has received an application pursuant to § 308.21 of Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations requesting that a product, Rynal, containing a nonnarcotic controlled substance (methamphetamine) be excluded from all schedules pursuant to section 201(g)(1) of the Controlled Substances Act and § 308.21 of Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The Bureau has been informed by the Food and Drug Administration that Rynal may be sold over the counter without a prescription.

Therefore, under the authority vested in the Attorney General by sections 201(g)(1) and 501(b) of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (21 U.S.C. 811(g)(1) and 871(b)) and redelegated to the Director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs by § 0.100 of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations, the Director hereby proposes that Part 308 of Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended as follows:

By amending § 308.22 by adding the following product:

LETTUCE GROWN IN LOWER RIO GRANDE VALLEY IN SOUTH TEXAS

Proposed Limitation of Shipments

Consideration is being given to the issuance of a limitation of shipments regulation, hereinafter set forth, which was recommended by the South Texas Lettuce Committee. The committee has been established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 144 and Marketing Order No. 971 (7 CFR Part 971) which regulates the handling of lettuce grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in South Texas. This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

During 1971–72, a strong U.S. winter lettuce market extended from early December through mid-February. Temporary supply gaps caused by irregular weather patterns in the West resulted in sharp price advances in January and February.

Texas harvested 5,000 acres of winter lettuce in 1972, with a production of 850,000 hundredweight, for which they received a seasonal average price of $8.20 per hundredweight. The 1971 comparison was 7,200 harvested acres, 900,000 hundredweight production and a $5.12 price.

There is presently no official estimate of 1973 U.S. winter lettuce production. The committee estimates that planted acreage in the Lower Rio Grande Valley will amount to 7,000 acres compared to 3,969 acres last year.

It is not likely that the favorable combination of marketing factors that existed for south Texas lettuce during the 1972 winter season will be repeated in 1973. Their 1973 season average price is not expected to exceed parity.

This proposal is in accord with the committee's recommendations and marketing policy and reflects its appraisal of the composition of the 1972–73 crop of lettuce in the Lower Valley and marketing prospects for the season.

The south Texas lettuce industry as well as other lettuce shipping areas are accustomed to operating on a 6-day shipping week. The experience has been that a 6-day shipping week is adequate for 5 days distribution in terminal markets. Experience has shown that these "packaging holidays" on Sundays and Christmas contribute to the improvement of growers prices and are beneficial in promoting more orderly marketing.

The pack and container requirements are needed to maintain the accepted commercial practices of the south Texas lettuce industry of packing specified numbers of heads of lettuce in specific sized containers limited to those found acceptable to the trade for safe transportation of the lettuce and to avoid deceptive practices.

No purpose would be served by regulating the pack or requiring the inspection and assessment of insignificant quantities of lettuce. Therefore quantities up to two cartons of lettuce per day may be handled without regard to such requirements.

Provision with respect to special purpose shipments, including export, are designed to meet the different requirements for other than commercial channels of trade. Because of the production area's proximity to the Mexican border, Mexican buyers have been accustomed to acquiring small lots of production area lettuce for their home market; these buyers can utilize lettuce which fails to meet the domestic pack and container regulations. Inasmuch as such shipments have negligible effect on the domestic market, they should be permitted provided certain safeguard requirements are met.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with these proposals shall file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112–A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than November 8, 1972.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)). The proposal is as follows:

§ 971.313 Limitation of shipments.

During the period November 15, 1972, through March 31, 1973, no person shall handle any lot of lettuce grown in the production area unless such lettuce meets the requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section, or unless such lettuce is handled in accordance with paragraph (e) or (f) of this section. Further, no person may package lettuce during the above period on any Sunday or on Christmas Day.

(a) [Reserved]

(b) Pack. (1) Lettuce heads, packed in container No. 7303, 7306, or 7313, if wrapped may be packed only 18, 20, 22, 24, or 30 heads per container; if not wrapped, only 18, 24, or 30 heads per container.

(2) Lettuce heads in container No. 85–40 may be packed only 24 or 30 heads per container.

(c) Containers. Containers may be only—

(1) Cartons with inside dimensions of 10 inches by 14¼ inches by 21⅝ inches (designated as carrier container No. 7303), or

(2) Cartons with inside dimensions of 9¾ inches by 14 inches by 21 inches (designated as carrier container Nos. 7306 and 7313), or

(3) Cartons with inside dimensions of 21½ by 16⅛ inches by 10¾ inches (designated as carrier container No. 85–40—flat pack).

(d) Inspection. (1) No handler shall handle lettuce unless such lettuce is inspected by the Texas-Federal Inspection Service and an appropriate inspection certificate has been issued with respect thereto, except when relieved of such requirement pursuant to paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section.

(2) No handler may transport, or cause the transportation of, any shipment of lettuce by motor vehicle, for which inspection is required unless each such shipment is accompanied by a copy of an appropriate inspection certificate or shipment release form (SPI–23) furnished by the inspection service verifying that such shipment meets the current grade, pack, and container requirements of this section. A copy of such inspection certificate or shipment release form shall be available and surrendered upon request to authorities designated by the committee.

(3) For administration of this part, such inspection certificate or shipment release form required by the committee as evidence of inspection is valid for only 72 hours following completion of inspection, as shown on such certificate or form.

(e) Minimum quantity. Any person may handle up to, but not to exceed two cartons of lettuce a day without regard to inspection, assessment, grade, and pack requirements, but must meet container requirements. This exception may not be applied to any shipment of over two cartons of lettuce.

(f) Special purpose shipments. Lettuce not meeting grade, pack, or container requirements of paragraphs (a), (b), or (c) of this section may be handled for any purpose listed, if handled as prescribed in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph. Inspection and assessments are not required on such shipments. These special purpose shipments are as follows:

(1) For relief, charity, experimental purposes, or export to Mexico, if, prior to handling, the handler pursuant to §§ 971.120–971.125 obtains a Certificate of Privilege applicable thereto and reports thereon; and

(2) For export to Mexico, if the handler of such lettuce loads and transports it only in a vehicle bearing Mexican registration (license).

(g) Definitions. (1) "Wrapped" heads of lettuce refers to those which are enclosed individually in parchment, plastic, or other commercial film (Cf. AMS 481) and then packed in cartons or other containers.

(2) Other terms used in this section have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 144 and this part.

Dated: October 30, 1972.

[7 CFR Part 989]

RAISINS PRODUCED FROM GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

Finding That Estimated Season Average Price of Raisins for 1972–73 Is in Excess of Parity

This action is pursuant to the provisions of § 989.61 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 989, as amended (7 CFR Part 989; 37 F.R. 19621, 20022), hereinafter referred to collectively as the "order," regulating the handling of raisins produced from grapes grown in California. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), hereinafter referred to as the "act." This action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act and is not for the purpose of maintaining prices to farmers above the level which it is declared to be the policy of Congress to establish thereunder.

In its meeting of October 5, 1972, the Raisin Administrative Committee considered data relevant to the formulation of a marketing policy for the crop year which began September 1, 1972, and recommended that volume regulation not be applied to the handling of raisins during such crop year. The Committee estimated that 91,695 tons of natural Thompson Seedless raisins would be produced and determined that the price for that varietal type had been established between handlers and producers at $476 per ton. During the week of October 9, that price advanced to $500 per ton. At its October 5 meeting, the Committee also estimated that 1972 production of other varietal types of raisins would approximate 10,250 tons, and determined that the producer prices established for such varietal types ranged from $440 per ton to $550 per ton. The September 29, 1972, parity price for raisins was $411 per ton.

In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that the estimated season average price to producers for raisins for the crop year which began September 1, 1972, will be in excess of the parity level specified in section 2(1) of the act. Accordingly, only the provisions of the order which apply in over-parity situations, with an exception hereinafter set forth regarding minimum grade and condition standards, will be applicable in the 1972–73 crop year. The provisions which apply only to volume regulation will not be applicable. In this regard, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of September 23, 1972 (37 F.R. 20037; F.R. Doc. 72–16237), a proposal to designate a desirable free tonnage for natural Thompson Seedless raisins of 131,340 tons. In view of the Committee's production estimate of 91,695 tons for natural Thompson Seedless raisins, designation of a desirable free tonnage for such raisins for the 1972–73 crop year is unnecessary and would serve no purpose. Therefore, the action proposed in said notice is hereby terminated.

Section 989.61 of the order provides that the provisions of the order relating to minimum grade and condition standards and inspection requirements, within the meaning of section 2(3) of the act, and any other provisions pertaining to the administration and enforcement thereof, shall continue in effect irrespective of whether the estimated season average price to producers for raisins is in excess of the parity level specified in section 2(1) of the act. Section 2(5) of the act provides for continuance for the remainder of any marketing season or marketing year, such regulation pursuant to any order as will tend to avoid a disruption of the orderly marketing of any commodity and be in the public interest, if the regulation of such commodity under an order has been initiated during such marketing season or marketing year on the basis of its need to effectuate the policy of the act.

The minimum grade and condition standards with respect to natural condition raisins are prescribed in § 989.97 (Exhibit B); the minimum grade standards for packed raisins are prescribed in the U.S. Standards for Grades of Processed Raisins. Action published in the FEDERAL REGISTER August 31, 1972 (37 F.R. 17723), amended § 989.201 of Subpart—Supplementary Orders Regulating Handling (7 CFR §§ 989.201–989.229), effective September 1, 1972. This action made a change in the maturity requirements of the minimum grade and condition standards for natural condition Thompson Seedless raisins.

To more closely align such minimum standards with industry needs, the change reduced (from not more than 12 percent, by weight, to not more than 8 percent, by weight) the tolerance for substandard raisins permitted in incoming lots of standard natural condition Thompson Seedless raisins and deleted a requirement for a specific (not less than 45 percent, by weight) minimum proportion of mature raisins which had been required in such lots. Said action also provided for a dockage system whereby lots of such raisins containing excess quantities of substandard raisins could be received by handlers. Said action included a finding that the change, including the dockage system, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Handlers have already acquired a substantial quantity of standard natural condition Thompson Seedless raisins on the basis of the aforesaid minimum grade and condition standards as changed by the action effective September 1, 1972. However, a large proportion of the 1972 crop of such raisins remains to be delivered by producers to handlers. Terminating § 989.201 for the balance of the current 1972–73 crop year would result in the application of minimum standards to raisins delivered thereafter by producers to handlers different from those standards applied earlier in such crop year. This could result in inequities among producers and handlers due to the application of different requirements for different parts of the crop year. Moreover, this would result in hardship to handlers to the extent they experience any difficulty in processing such raisins to meet the minimum grade standards for packed raisins. Therefore, it is hereby further found that to continue § 989.201 for the remainder of the 1972–73 crop year will tend to avoid a disruption of the orderly marketing of standard natural condition Thompson Seedless raisins and be in the public interest.

It is hereby further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice of this action and engage in public rule making procedure, and that good cause exists for not postponing the effective time until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that: (1) The estimated 1972–73 season average price to producers for raisins is above parity and this fact is well known to the raisin industry; (2) this action is applicable to operations under the order during the 1972–73 crop year, which began September 1, 1972; (3) this action will require no advance preparation by handlers; and (4) no useful purpose would be served by delaying this action.

Dated: October 31, 1972.

Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

MILK IN NEBRASKA-WESTERN IOWA MARKETING AREA

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Marketing Agreement and to Order

A public hearing was held upon proposed amendments to the marketing agreement and the order regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area. The hearing was held, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice (7 CFR Part 900), at Omaha, Nebr., on March 21–22, 1972, pursuant to notice thereof issued on February 28, 1972 (37 F.R. 4352).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on September 5, 1972 (37 F.R. 18203), filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings, and conclusions, rulings and general findings of the recommended decision are hereby approved and adopted and are set forth in full herein with the following modifications:

INDEX OF CHANGES

1. In the text following the centerhead "Description of Plan", the first paragraph is revised and the 22d paragraph is replaced with three new paragraphs.

2. Additional text is added to the sixth and seventh paragraphs following the centerhead "Updating of Production History Bases", and following the seventh paragraph a new paragraph is added.

3. The eighth paragraph following the centerhead "Allocation of Class I Bases" is revised.

4. The 15th paragraph following the centerhead "Base Transfers" is revised.

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Diversion of producer milk.
2. Deletion of takeout-payback (Louisville) seasonal production incentive plan.
3. Need for emergency action with respect to issue No. 2.
4. Adoption of a Class I base plan.
5. Optional handler status for a cooperative on its deliveries of member milk to pool plants.
6. Defining milk received at a pool plant from a cooperative bulk tank handler as "producer milk" for which the plant operator would be obligated at the uniform price.
7. Miscellaneous:

(a) Adoption of more specific terminology in referring to health authorities and Grade A product.

(b) Redefining "route disposition."

(c) Computation of uniform price: Handlers' reports to be included.

(d) Adoption of appropriate terminology for partial payments, and conforming changes where necessary.

Issue No. 1 was dealt with in a decision issued June 5, 1972 (37 F.R. 11482). This decision deals with the remaining issues.

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

2. Louisville plan. The Louisville seasonal production incentive plan should be deleted from the order.

This plan was provided originally to encourage milk producers to reduce seasonal changes in their milk production. This was to be accomplished by withholding part of the money due producers for milk deliveries in the April–June period and paying out such money to producers on deliveries of milk in September, October, and November.

For several years, however, producer organizations in the market have not favored use of the plan, and it has been rendered inoperative through suspension for the years 1970, 1971, and 1972 (37 F.R. 6491).

Even without the plan in operation, there is relatively small seasonal variation in milk production in this market. During April, May, and June 1971, production (including estimated overdiversions) was approximately 108 percent of production in the September-November period of the same year.

In these circumstances there is no need to continue the Louisville plan provisions in the order. Further, the Class I base plan as proposed to be adopted herein will provide incentive to producers to keep seasonal variation of production to a minimum. The Louisville plan provisions accordingly are deleted from the order.

3. Emergency action for deletion of the Louisville plan. In view of the suspension order issued March 24, 1972, previously cited, making the Louisville plan inoperative for 1972, there is sufficient time to consider under regular procedure the proposal to revoke the Louisville plan. An emergency decision therefore is not necessary.

4. Adoption of a Class I base plan. Producers supplying plants regulated by the Nebraska-Western Iowa Federal order should have the opportunity to decide whether the proceeds from the sale of their milk should be distributed among them by means of a Class I base plan issued in conformity with the Agricultural Act of 1970.

A witness for a cooperative organization representing a majority of the producers on the Nebraska-Western Iowa market testified that member producers generally favor the adoption of a Class I base plan. The plan is favored also by another cooperative. Producer members of the two cooperative associations comprise nearly all of the producers serving the market.

The plan, proponent stated, will allow the individual producer to adjust his production in line with a specific quantity of Class I disposition in the market allocated to him as his Class I base. He will be better able to adjust production in relation to market Class I disposition than under the present blend price system because his returns can be relatively free of the influence of excess production by other producers.

Testimony in opposition to the plan was presented by organizations that do not presently have producer members on this market. A witness for a dairy farmer's group with membership in the North Central States opposed the plan on grounds that it would impede the entry of new plants and dairy farmers into this market, limit the effectiveness of the order pricing to assure an adequate supply, and add administrative expense. A cooperative association not marketing milk under this order also opposed, in a brief, the base plan as (1) ineffectual and administratively unenforceable, and (2) a barrier to more economic and efficient milk production and distribution.

Subsequent findings explain the method by which the plan adopted herein provides opportunity for dairy farmers not now producers to qualify for participation under the plan upon becoming producers and allows for adjustment of bases to changing supply and demand conditions. The objections are considered to be substantially met by the provisions adopted.

THE PURPOSE OF THE CLASS I BASE PLAN

The purpose of the Class I base plan is to provide a method for each producer supplying the Nebraska-Western Iowa market to adjust his production individually in accordance with the Class I needs of the market without necessarily reducing his participation in the Class I sales of the market.

The Class I base assigned to each producer will represent a share of the total Class I disposition of the market. Such base assignment will be in proportion to the producer's production history during the representative period. To provide a reserve over the level of Class I disposition in the market, the total of all producers' Class I bases assigned each year will be 120 percent of Class I disposition of handlers in the preceding year.

The proposed base plan is designed also to adapt to changing supply-demand conditions. Producer's bases will be updated each year to reflect changes in the volume of Class I milk disposed of in the market and changes in the volume of milk produced by individual producers. Further, new producers will be able to come on the market and earn, over a reasonable period of time, bases comparable to those of other producers. Also, any producer already on the market who desires to increase his production and thus earn additional base may do so.

DESCRIPTION OF PLAN

A Class I base will be assigned on the effective date of the plan to each producer who is on the market on such date and for whom a production history base is computed.

Production history bases will be computed from milk deliveries to plants in a representative period. The representative period adopted herein for use in the initial determination of production history base is the 2-year period 1971 and 1972.

The proponent cooperative association requested that a 3-year period be used in the initial determination of production history. Under proponent's plan, the higher year of the first 2 years' production of each producer would be averaged with the most recent year in determining a producer's initial production history base.

Proponent's representative, in support of this procedure, stated that nearly all dairymen from time to time experience production problems on their farms, such as disease, poor quality of feed, and breeding problems, that could result in lower milk production for an extended period of time. The averaging of daily milk deliveries during the most recent year of the proposed 3-year representative period with the higher of average daily deliveries during the 2 earlier years, this witness stated, would provide opportunity to delete from production history an abnormally low production year and would tend to promote equity among producers in establishing base.

Under proponent's proposal, therefore, a certain group of producers (those in production during the first of the 3 years) would be provided alternative periods of production history for use in establishing initial production history base. Similar alternatives are not proposed for producers who were not in production during the first year of the proposed representative period but who nevertheless began production shortly thereafter and also might have experienced unusual production problems.

There is inadequate basis in the record to support the proposal that producers who were in production during the first year of a 3 year period should be treated differently in establishing initial production history base from producers who were not in production during such year but nevertheless came on the market shortly thereafter.

Situations may exist in which some producers are scaling down their production for one reason or another or are phasing out their dairy enterprises entirely. The proponent's plan would increase the likelihood of producers receiving a base in excess of their actual ability to supply the fluid market. This would not be in the best interests of producers who are continuing to supply the market and would not promote orderly marketing.

Using deliveries during 1971 and 1972 will be more representative of the level of production a producer may be expected to deliver under the plan since most producers in this market, in fact, have been increasing their production.

Consideration was given on the record also to use of a 1-year period. A single year period, as pointed out by the proponent cooperative could be a time of adverse production conditions for some producers. Such producers could claim the plan is inequitable for this reason. The 2-year period adopted herein will meet the objection of the cooperative to a 1-year period.

The production history base of a producer will be his average daily deliveries of milk during the representative period, except for producers whose delivery periods are not sufficient for determination of a full production history base. This distinction between producers with longer production history and those who have been in production for only a brief period agrees generally with the scheme proposed by the cooperative.

The cooperative proposed that dairy farmers whose production began at any time before June 1, 1972, would receive a production history base equal to their average daily deliveries during the period beginning with their first delivery through the end of the representative period. Producers beginning on or after June 1, 1972, however, would have production history bases reduced by specified percentages.

Specifically the cooperative proposed that producers beginning on or after June 1 but before September 1, 1972, would be assigned production history bases equal to 80 percent of their average daily deliveries, while those beginning on or after September 1, 1972, would be assigned production history bases equal to 50 percent of average daily deliveries. These dates, in the cooperative proposal, were related to a suggested effective date of January 1, 1973. Thus, dairy farmers whose production began as much as 7 months before the effective date would receive full credit for their average daily deliveries in computation of production history and those with lesser periods of production would have reduced bases, as indicated.

At the hearing proponent stated that February 1, 1973, would be an acceptable effective date if it would implement using calendar years for the representative period rather than a period ending with August 1972, as specified in the hearing notice.

Since a February 1, 1973, effective date will accommodate use of calendar years for production history, it is used herein as a tentative effective date. Data for the most recent calendar year would be available for computation of base effective on February 1 each year.

The computation of production histories as proposed by the cooperative is accordingly modified to fit a February 1, 1973, effective date. The same percentages (as proposed) will be applied in the calculation of production history bases for producers whose deliveries began later than 7 months before the effective date.

Equitable apportionment of bases to producers should not allow the same amount of base for production in a relatively brief period as the base allowed when earned by producers from deliveries during the full representative period. Further, producers whose entire period of deliveries is within the few months preceding the effective date will have had opportunity to gauge their operations in contemplation that a base plan will be operative. For these reasons a graduated reduction in production history bases calculated from only the most recent months preceding the effective date of the plan is necessary to preserve equity among all producers.

For a producer who was in production for 7 months before the effective date there are only 6 months of production data since monthly data are available only after several days following the month. Accordingly, 6 months of deliveries will be the minimum period for which the average daily deliveries of the producer will be his production history base. Bases assigned to producers with less than 6 production months should be reduced by multiplying the average daily deliveries by the 80-percent factor, and bases assigned to producers beginning October 1, 1972, or later should be the average daily deliveries multiplied by the 50 percent factor.

Milk deliveries by a dairy farmer during the representative period to both pool plants and nonpool plants will be used to compute production history base.

An interruption of 90 days or more in deliveries will cause a break in production history. As noted elsewhere in this decision, such an interruption after the effective date by a baseholding producer will cause forfeiture of his base and require a waiting period prior to the beginning of a new production history period.

Interruption of deliveries due to storm conditions also will require a modification of the computation of production history. While proponent requested that 15 days in any one calendar year be allowed as interruption for storm conditions, an allowance of 8 days of nondelivery (8 days of production) per year should be adequate for most occurrences where weather prevents milk delivery by a producer. If, under unusual circumstances, storm conditions prevent delivery by a producer for more than 8 days' production then the matter may be considered for relief under the hardship provisions. In periods of 6 months or less the allowed days of nondelivery for storm conditions will be four.

When a producer is prevented by storm conditions from delivering milk of his production, the calculation of his average daily deliveries will be modified by excluding from the divisor the allowed days of nondelivery.

Continuity of production history will be provided in the case of an intrafamily transfer of the operation of a herd. The person continuing milk production with the herd will be allowed credit for the production of the previous operator unless Class I base is transferred to a third party. This is a modification from the recommended decision, which associated transfer of production history with transfer of complete farm operations. Proponent, in exceptions filed, requested that production history be allowed to transfer with the herd.

Intrafamily transfers include transfers to husband, wife, son, daughter, father, mother, sister, brother, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, and to the estate of the baseholder.

On the effective date, the assignment of bases will be made only to those producers on the market who are eligible for such assignment. Conceivably a producer might be temporarily off the market on the effective date, without losing eligibility for base assignment if he resumes deliveries shortly thereafter. As explained previously, however, an interruption of 90 days or more in deliveries results in a break of production history.

The average daily deliveries of a producer during any specified period will be determined by dividing the quantity of milk delivered by the producer in the applicable period by the appropriate number of days. The number of days will be the days of production delivered but not less than the calendar days beginning with the first day of delivery and to the end of the period, excluding allowed days of nondelivery because of storm conditions. In this market, milk of a dairy farmer is picked up by a hauler normally on an every-other-day basis, and thus deliveries may include more days of production than the number of days in such period. The division by the number of days' production delivered will provide an equitable basis of computation for those producers whose average deliveries cover a relatively brief period.

For computations of production history bases, including those established after the plan becomes operative, it is desirable to define more generally the periods used for determination of each producer's production history base. A "production history period" is defined as the period during which milk deliveries used in the computation of production history base are made by the producer. Production history periods are designated as 1-year, 2-year or 3-year production history periods, depending on whether the deliveries of the producer are made in 1, 2, or 3 calendar years.

For purposes of base computation, average daily deliveries in a portion of a calendar year beginning on or before July 1 and through the end of the year will be given the same credit towards production history base as average deliveries of a producer who delivered the full year. As noted elsewhere, average daily deliveries of a dairy farmer starting production after July 1 are subject to a specified reduction in computation of production history base. Accordingly, a portion of any calendar year beginning on or before July 1 and continuing through December 31 will be considered to be a 1-year production history period.

Average daily deliveries of a producer during a 2- or 3-year production history period will be obtained by computing first the average daily deliveries in each calendar year (or portion of a year) and then dividing the sum of such averages by the number of periods (years or portions of years).

NEW PRODUCERS

The plan provides that after the effective date dairy farmers who enter the market as new producers may obtain an assignment of Class I base and production history base in amounts and at times related to the circumstances of entry into the market.

A dairy farmer who becomes a producer when a plant to which he delivers his milk becomes a pool plant will normally be assigned a base effective at the time he becomes a producer. His Class I and production history bases will be computed as if his deliveries prior to becoming a producer were deliveries to a pool plant. Assignment of base will not be immediate, however, if the producer had been on the market previously and had disposed of his base. In this circumstance he would not be eligible for base assignment until the 15th month after the sale of base. Also, as noted below, a producer with less than 1 year of production history would receive a later base assignment.

Another type of new producer is the dairy farmer who comes on the market as an individual and has a history of deliveries of milk to nonpool plants. If the producer has at least a 1-year production history period he will be assigned production history base and Class I base as if his deliveries to the nonpool plants had been deliveries to a pool plant, except that (1) such base assignment will be effective on the first day of the second month following the month in which the producer began deliveries to a pool plant, and (2) the production history base so computed will not exceed the average daily deliveries of such producer during the first 2 months on the market from the same production facilities from which he marketed milk during his production history period.

The Act provides that a producer entering the market under these circumstances will be assigned base effective within 90 days after becoming a producer. Proponent requested, however, that assignment of base be on the first day of the third month following the month in which the producer commenced deliveries to a pool plant. A producer beginning deliveries on June 1 would thus be assigned base on September 1 or 92 days after the first delivery. The assignment of base on the first day of the second month following the month of first delivery, as here adopted, will avoid exceeding the statutory limit of 90 days prior to assignment.

For those producers who enter the market with less than 1 year of production history a production history base will be assigned equal to 50 percent of the average daily milk deliveries of the producer during his first 2 calendar months on the market. This production history base will be effective on the first day of the second month following the month in which the producer began deliveries. If base is acquired by transfer, however, the producer's effective production history base will be the larger of (1) the computation previously described, or (2) the production history base acquired by transfer.

A dairy farmer is not entitled to add to a purchased base the base allotted to him computed from only 2 months' production. The latter base, because of the brief period from which computed, does not have similar status with bases computed from 6 months or more of deliveries in representing the ability of the producer to furnish milk to the market.

Dairy farmers who previously held base but have either forfeited or disposed of such base will be treated as new producers when they again become eligible for assignment of base computed from their own production. The provisions specify that after forfeiting or disposing of all his base 12 months must elapse before a producer's milk deliveries are considered for establishment of a new production history and Class I base. His base assignment will be effective on the first day of the second month following the first month in which he delivers milk eligible for production history. For example, if a producer forfeits his base in June 1973, his base assignment would be made, at earliest, on September 1, 1974. The reasons for such a waiting period are discussed in connection with base rules.

A dairy farmer who has forfeited base would be entitled also to become a baseholder, without the waiting period, through purchase of base.

UPDATING OF PRODUCTION HISTORY BASES

After the plan becomes effective, adjustment will be made each year in the production history and Class I bases assigned to producers. The most recent year's production data will be used for updating on February 1 each year. Predicated on an effective date of February 1, 1973, the first updating of producer bases will occur on February 1, 1974.

At the time of the first updating, the year 1973 will be added to the production history period of each producer who has an effective base assignment. Thus, producers who on the effective date of the plan had a 2-year production history period will have a 3-year production history period on February 1, 1974. In subsequent updatings for such producers the earliest year will be dropped and the most recent year included, thus resulting in a 3-year rolling average.

Similarly, for a producer who originally had a 1-year production history period, successive years will be added until he has a 3-year production history period.

The updating process allows a producer to obtain an increase in his production history base through any increase in the level of his production over his existing base. On the other hand if his production does not increase, he can retain his existing production history base.

The updating procedure also will reflect changes in a producer's base due to purchase or disposal of Class I base. Other modifications of his Class I base because of underdelivery or hardship also will affect the updating.

Adjustment of a producer's Class I base for underdelivery is provided if his average daily milk deliveries in the preceding calendar year are less than 90 percent of the Class I base assigned to the producer on February 1 of the preceding year as adjusted for hardship and net disposal of base by transfer. The reduction of Class I base will be the difference between such average daily milk deliveries and the Class I base as so adjusted. The reduction for underdelivery will not be made, however, if during the preceding year total producer milk equalled or exceeded 135 percent of Class I dispositions described in § 1065.95(a)(1) of the Class I base provisions adopted herein.

Although in the record proponent opposed adjustment for underdelivery, it is concluded that when market supply is less than the quantity specified an adjustment of this nature is necessary if the Class I base program is to operate effectively and be in the public interest. Similar adjustments are provided under the Puget Sound and Georgia orders, the two markets which currently provide for a Class I base plan. The Class I base assigned to a producer under this program represents the extent to which reliance is placed on the producer to maintain an adequate and regular supply for the Class I market. An adjustment, therefore, is warranted that will reduce a producer's Class I base under the conditions specified to the extent that he fails to deliver a quantity equal to his allotted share of the market. A 10-percent tolerance is provided, however, so that a producer's base will not be reduced if he fails to maintain deliveries equal to his base but delivers at least 90 percent of base.

In exceptions filed, proponent requested deletion of the provisions for underdelivery but stated that if not deleted, the effect of such provisions should be limited to any year in which total producer milk is less than 135 percent of specified Class I milk dispositions. Such limitation is adopted as indicated in the foregoing findings.

The updating procedure on February 1, 1974, will apply to every producer who has at least 1 year of production history. As indicated earlier, a producer who delivered milk for the period July 1 through December 31, 1973, will be considered as having 1 year of production history.

The updating computation on February 1, 1974, will be as follows: The initial production history base assigned to the producer on the effective date of the plan, as adjusted for transfers, underdelivery or hardship, will be multiplied by two; to this will be added the average daily deliveries during 1973 and the sum will be divided by three. If the result of such computation is less than the initial production history base assigned to such producer on the effective date, adjusted for transfers, underdelivery or hardship, then such initial production history base as adjusted shall be the updated production history base.

For producers who entered the market during the first year of the plan their production history bases will be updated also on February 1, 1974, provided they have 1 year of production history.

At the second updating of bases on February 1, 1975, somewhat different calculations will be needed than in the first updating. Separate calculations will be made for producers with 1-year, 2-year and 3-year production history periods.

It will be necessary for purposes of updating to make certain adjustments in a producer's production history for previous years if he disposes of some of his base. An adjustment will be made in the producer's average daily deliveries in each year prior to such disposition of base. Such earlier production that is represented by the Class I base disposed of should not again be used in assignment of new Class I base or production history base. Sale of Class I base, therefore, is regarded as voiding an amount of previous production that had been used in the computation of the production history base that was transferred. It is necessary for this purpose to treat a base transfer in any January as if transferred in the preceding December in order that adjustment of deliveries in preceding years will be in the years preceding such December.

The average daily deliveries will be reduced also in the same manner for any downward adjustment of the producers' Class I base due to underdelivery. Such reduction of average deliveries will apply in the years preceding the year of underdelivery.

These reductions in average daily deliveries will be in proportion to the reduction in Class I base due to transfer or underdelivery.

If the entire effect of such adjustments is a reduction greater than the respective average daily deliveries, then the resulting amount after adjustment will be zero, and the period for which a zero amount is determined will not be regarded as a production history period. Only years following such period would be included in the calculation of the production history base of the producer.

Subject to these adjustments, the average daily deliveries in each of the years of a 3-year production history period will be combined and divided by three to obtain an average for the 3-year period. If the result is less than the production history base assigned to such producer on the preceding February 1 after adjustment for change in base because of transfers, underdelivery and hardship, then such previously assigned production history base, as adjusted, shall be the updated production history base.

For each producer who on February 1, 1975, has a 2-year production history period, and has not purchased base, the updating computation would require adjustment of average daily deliveries in the first year for disposal of Class I base by the producer and for underdelivery. The sum of (1) such adjusted average daily deliveries, (2) the average daily deliveries in the most recent year, and (3) the initial production history base assigned to such producer as a new producer, adjusted for transfers, underdelivery or hardship, will be divided by three. If such result is less than the production history base assigned to such producer on the preceding February 1 after adjustment for transfers, underdelivery and hardship, then such previously assigned production history base, as adjusted, shall be the updated production history base.

A producer with a 2-year production history period may have acquired base by transfer at any time during the 2-year period or before such period. Regardless of the time of acquisition of base by transfer, the computation will compare the average daily milk deliveries of the producer during the most recent year with the previously assigned production history base as adjusted for transfers, underdelivery, and hardship. The effect of the computation will be to increase the producer's base one-third of any excess of average daily deliveries in the most recent year over his existing production history base.

The updating on February 1, 1975, for each producer who has a 1-year production history period will be as follows: The initial production history base of such producer will be subject to adjustment for transfer, underdelivery, or hardship. The initial production history base, so adjusted, multiplied by 2, plus the average daily milk deliveries of the producer in the most recent year, will be divided by 3. If such result is less than the initial production history base as adjusted for transfers, underdelivery, and hardship, then such initial base, as adjusted shall be the updated production history base.

ALLOCATION OF CLASS I BASES

On the effective date of this base plan the market administrator will assign a "Class I base" to each producer who has a production history base. On February 1, 1974, and on February 1 of each subsequent year the market administrator will update producers' Class I bases to reflect changes in Class I sales and production history bases.

The total of Class I bases to be assigned will exceed by 20 percent Class I disposition in the market in the preceding year. Such a reserve is needed because of seasonal and daily fluctuations in milk supply and Class I disposition.

A 20-percent reserve was supported by proponent cooperative association at the hearing. In testimony proponent stated that experience in recent years indicates a reserve of 20 percent is necessary to assure that at all times base milk will be sufficient for handlers' Class I dispositions.

The following Class I dispositions in the preceding calendar year will be included in the computation.

(1) Class I producer milk pursuant to § 1065.46;

(2) The Class I milk disposition of any plant that was a nonpool plant during part of the year and held pool plant status in December preceding the effective date, or February 1 on which the bases are computed; and

(3) The Class I sales of any person who was a producer-handler if such person were a producer in December preceding such February 1, or effective date.

The total of such Class I disposition will be multiplied by 120 percent and converted to a daily average by dividing by the number of days in the year.

The ratio of total Class I bases to total production histories will be expressed as a percentage, referred to as the "Class I base percentage." A producer's production history base multiplied by the Class I base percentage will be his Class I base.

Class I bases will be assigned also to new producers at the time they are issued production history bases. The Class I base percentage determined on the preceding February (or the effective date of the plan, whichever is most recent) will be applied to the production history base of the new producer (except as explained below) to determine his Class I base.

The Class I base of any producer having a production history period of less than 3 years whose milk deliveries (to pool plants or to nonpool plants) began after the effective date of the plan will be reduced by 20 percent for a period not to exceed 36 months from the beginning of such production history period. This 20 percent reduction will apply to base exclusive of any acquired by transfer.

In view of the current and anticipated supply-demand situation in the market, there is no need to provide an incentive for entry of new producers in substantial numbers. During 1971, producer milk was about 163 percent of Class I sales of regulated handlers. Thus, the 20-percent reduction of bases for new producers, as authorized by the Act, is reasonable and will tend to facilitate operation of the base plan in this market.

BASE TRANSFERS

Proponent requested that transfer of base be permitted. Provisions for transfer of base under specified conditions are adopted.

A transfer of base will be defined to mean the disposal of Class I base and production history base by a transferor and the associated acquisition of Class I base and production history base by transferee. Disposal of base will mean disposal of Class I base and disposal of a proportionate amount of the production history base held by the transferor. Acquisition of base will mean the acquisition of Class I base and an amount of production history base, which is the quantity of Class I base acquired multiplied by the reciprocal of the Class I base percentage.

The Act specifies that bases may be transferable under terms and conditions that do not result in bases taking on an "unreasonable value."

The value of base obtainable by sale should not be such that it is an incentive for a producer to leave the market to become a producer for another market. If such incentive exists, the base plan could disrupt the regular supply for the market and promote a value of base for purposes other than supplying this market. These effects would be contrary to the purpose of the Act to promote orderly marketing, including assurance of a stable supply for the market.

For these reasons it is necessary to place limits on disposal of base by transfer. A producer will be able to dispose of his entire base if he is terminating his dairy enterprise, or transferring his base to another member of the immediate family. Transfer of the complete base will be possible also in case of death of the baseholder, or when a baseholder enters the armed services. A baseholder as an individual will be able to transfer his base to a partnership or corporation if it is established to the satisfaction of the market administrator that the transferor has a material management interest in the transferee's milk production enterprise.

Allowing an entire base to be disposed of only subject to the above restrictions will bring to a minimum any windfall gains a producer may obtain from changing his deliveries to another market.

While such restrictions on the transfer of entire bases are necessary to stabilize the operation of the program by reducing incentive for windfall gains, it is necessary also to allow relatively unrestricted transfers of base for producers desiring to adjust the scale of their operations.

As pointed out elsewhere in these findings, a specific purpose of transfer is to afford a flexibility in the operation of the plan such that producers desiring to increase or decrease their production may acquire or dispose of base to achieve the adjustment between their base and production.

For those producers desiring to decrease production, the plan should allow a producer to dispose of by transfer a portion of his base. This amount should not be so large as to give incentive for windfall gains as described previously but should be adequate to permit adjustments in scale of operations. The opportunity to dispose of as much as 30 percent of base in most circumstances will allow a reasonable adjustment for the producer wishing to scale down his operation although not intending to cease production.

For those producers desiring to increase production, base may be available to them by transfer from other producers who are leaving the dairy enterprise or who are disposing of the allowed percentage of their base. The restriction on the percentage of base transferred would apply to the quantity assigned to the producers on the preceding February 1 or later date of initial base assignment.

To the extent that bases may be acquired under these limitations, they provide an alternative to a new producer that may operate to the benefit of both such producer and other producers on the market. Instead of going through the steps of building a base from his own production, he will have opportunity to acquire base by transfer. Further, if the producer desires to aline his production closely with his Class I base he can do so from the beginning through acquisition of base. Otherwise he would go to the expense of first expanding his production to build the base and then reducing his operation in line with such base. Also, through purchase of base he will minimize the effect on other baseholders since he will not be adding to the total base on the market.

Certain features of the plan adopted herein should tend to prevent bases from taking on unreasonable value. First, the base plan allows new dairy farmers an alternative to buying base. They may establish a production history and thus earn a full base over a period of 3 years. Similarly, established producers may increase Class I base by building up a greater production history through their own production. Thus new producers and established producers are not limited to buying base.

Second, there will be a one-third lapse of transferred Class I base and the production history base associated therewith, with limited exceptions. To illustrate, a producer with a Class I base of 300 pounds and a production history base of 500 pounds may decide to transfer 150 pounds of his Class I base. The transferee producer actually will receive only 100 pounds of Class I base. The amount of production history base disposed of by transferor will be proportional to the change in his Class I base, specifically, 250 pounds. The production history acquired by transferee is 167 pounds.

The lapse of base will tend to prevent abuse of the transfer provisions and discourage some of the arrangements that otherwise might arise. As an example, without such a provision a producer whose production is temporarily below his base could transfer a portion of his Class I base to another producer with the understanding that the base will be transferred back to him once his production has come up to his base. The producers would be thereby manipulating the ownership of base for undue financial gain at the expense of other producers. They would be also defeating a purpose of the plan that is to encourage milk deliveries from each producer in line with his own ability to supply a portion of the Class I market. The one-third lapse of base will tend to discourage such arrangements. The one-third lapse will be to the advantage of baseholding producers generally, since each transfer will leave less production history be apportioned to Class I sales in the market. On each transfer of 150 pounds of base, 50 pounds will lapse, thereby increasing the Class I base percentage.

Various other rules will apply to transfers in the interest of integrity of the plan and administrative feasibility. It is provided that a producer may transfer his base in its entirety (subject to the prescribed rules), or portions of his base, not less than 150 pounds or multiples thereof.

The transfer of an entire base may be made effective on the day on which the transfer takes place if the market administrator receives an application for such transfer within 5 days after the transaction. It is likely that an entire base will be transferred in the case of the death of a producer or of the cessation of milk production. In the latter instances, the base transfer often is accompanied by a dispersal sale at which time the herd and base are disposed of simultaneously. When the entire herd is dispersed, the base of the selling producer should be transferable on the same date. However, if application for transfer is not made within the 5-day period, the transfer will become effective on the 1st day of the following month.

Partial transfers of base, in 150-pound multiples, will be effective the 1st day of the month following that in which the application for transfer is made to the market administrator.

In the case of jointly held bases the transfer of either the entire base or a portion thereof will be recognized only if the application for transfer is signed by each of the joint holders. Insofar as the order is concerned, the executor or trustee of an estate that holds a Class I base will be able to sign an application for transfer of such base.

A base established by two or more persons operating a dairy farm as joint owners or as a partnership may be divided between the owners. Such division will be effective on the 1st day of the month following receipt of written notification by the market administrator indicating the agreed division and signed by each baseholder (joint owner, partner, heir, executor, or trustee).

The question may arise as to whether formation of a joint enterprise followed by division of the jointly held base can be used as a device for transfer while avoiding one-third lapse of any base transferred. For example, producer A who has a 1,000-pound base could join in partnership with producer B who has an 800-pound base. A short time later producer B could leave the partnership without base, thus in effect transferring his 800 pounds of Class I base to producer A.

Such a transfer should be subject to the one-third lapse, just as any other transfer, if the producer's participation in the joint enterprise is of temporary duration. In division of a jointly held base, therefore, the one-third lapse should apply to the extent that a transfer of base results.

Such one-third lapse will apply to the quantity by which an individual's share of base on leaving a joint enterprise is less than the base contributed by him to the enterprise not more than 12 months previous. This provision will discourage use of joint enterprise as a device for avoiding one-third lapse in transfers.

A base established by combining the bases of two or more producers for the purpose of joint enterprise to be operated by such producers will not be subject to the one-third lapse except as discussed above.

Proponent requested other restrictions of base transfers, specifically that a producer who transferred base would not be permitted for 3 months thereafter to receive base by transfer. Similarly, a producer who received base by transfer would not be permitted for 3 months thereafter to transfer base.

The proposed 3-month restriction on transfers is unnecessary in view of other provisions adopted. The one-third lapse of base will make frequent transfers of base uneconomical.

It is necessary however to require a 12-month waiting period after base assignment before the bases of certain producers may be transferred. This will apply to any base assigned to a dairy farmer as a new producer. Producers assigned bases during a temporary period on the market would likely sell such bases upon leaving, thus adding to the base pool and diluting the Class I utilization assignable to base of producers who remain. The 12-month waiting period thus will tend to assure that these producers are a regular part of the market supply before transfer of their bases may occur.

For instance, a group of new producers might receive bases when a plant becomes pooled because it obtains a short-term contract in this market. The producers shipping to the plant might sell their allocated bases if the plant loses pool status, thereby receiving a windfall gain—clearly not the purpose of this base plan.

In some instances, however, a dairy farmer who is delivering his milk to a plant that temporarily has pool status may have purchased base in addition to the base assigned to him when the plant became pooled. Such producer will be allowed to dispose of by transfer the quantity of Class I base which he had acquired by transfer. The 12-month waiting period would not apply to this quantity of base.

One type of new producer for whom the 12-month waiting period on transfers should apply is a producer who had been a producer-handler. Such person's status as a producer may be only temporary. As in the instance of other new producers who may have temporary status, disposal of newly assigned base should not be permitted. Particularly in the cases where the dairy farmer has still available plant facilities, he will be in a position to shift his status alternately to producer and producer-handler. Under these circumstances he should not be permitted to dispose of the base assigned to him each time he becomes a producer. Such a practice, if permitted, would add to the quantity of base on the market without a corresponding increase in Class I milk assignable to such base. It would also allow the producer-handler to profit at the expense of other dairy farmers in the market. The 12-month waiting period on transfers will substantially prevent such a practice.

ADDITIONAL BASE RULES

Besides the limitation on transfer of base, the plan requires that any producer becoming a producer-handler shall forfeit the maximum Class I base he held in the past 12 months as a producer. If a producer were free to sell his base while changing to producer-handler status, he would be diluting the Class I utilization for base-holding producers, since his Class I disposition as a producer-handler is exempt from pooling. He thus would be achieving a windfall gain at the expense of producers generally and simultaneously have exemption as a producer-handler.

To prevent such undue advantage the plan must require that a producer changing to producer-handler status shall forfeit the largest amount of Class I base held by him during the preceding 12 months. If he has disposed of his Class I base by transfer, the producer could not receive a producer-handler designation until the first day of the 12th month after disposition of his base. His alternative to such a waiting period will be to repurchase base equal to the largest amount he held in the preceding 12 months and then forfeit such base. Base forfeiture should also be required if producer-handler designation is to be issued to any member of such producer's family, any affiliate of such a producer, or any business unit of which such a producer is a part.

The definition of producer-handler should be modified to reflect the base forfeiture requirement for granting producer-handler status.

Even with the limitations previously described there may be some producers who seek to profit by disposition of their base while intending to reestablish base through a new dairy enterprise. The plan accordingly provides that a producer disposing of his entire base by transfer will not be eligible to receive a base as a new producer until the first day of the 15th month after the month in which such transfer was made.

V 37 - 213 NOV 3 72 XUM

Such a provision is reasonable since a dairy farmer who disposes of his entire Class I base by transfer does so with the knowledge that he is disposing of his privilege to receive returns for his milk at the minimum base price under the order. He likewise would be aware that if he establishes a new dairy enterprise he would be eligible to participate under the plan only as a new producer.

It is necessary to insure that a producer who transfers his entire base shall not evade the prescribed waiting period. It is provided, therefore, that the restrictions set forth above shall apply to a person using the same production facilities as had been used by the transferor-producer if such person is a member of the immediate family of the transferor-producer (or is the transferor-producer under a different name). In such cases, continuation of production of milk by transferee producer using the same facilities would be considered as a continuation of the operation by the transferor-producer. This restriction shall apply also to the use of any production facility to which a Class I base has not been assigned, wherever located, operated by a person in which the transferor-producer has a financial interest, if such facility commences production after the effective date of the transfer or if the transferor-producer acquired his financial interest in such person later than 3 months prior to the effective date of the transfer.

The same restrictions should apply to a base-holding producer who ceases deliveries as a producer for a period of 90 days or more and then returns to the market. The person who thus forfeits his base and resumes production at a subsequent date is not a new producer in the same sense as other nonbaseholding dairy farmers. Therefore, he need not be assigned a base in the same manner or in the same time period as other dairy farmers becoming producers.

The Class I base plan should operate to encourage a steady and reliable supply for the market. It would not serve this purpose if a producer could freely cease deliveries to the market for an extended period, and then return with the privilege of receiving payment under the plan for Class I base milk as though he had not left the market. A producer who ceases deliveries for as long as 90 days cannot be regarded as a regular supplier for the market. Therefore, the Class I base and production history of such producer will be forfeited. The same 15-month waiting period as in the case of the producer who disposed of all his base should apply in the case of forfeiture before assignment of base as a new producer.

A producer who enters the military service will be excepted from the forfeiture rule. He will be allowed to retain his Class I base and production history until 1 year after he is discharged from active military duty.

A special rule will apply to forfeiture of Class I base when a producer leaves the market because the plant to which he delivers milk loses pool status. If such a dairy farmer continues delivering to the same plant as a nonpool plant, his base will be forfeited after 90 days of such delivery. There is the possibility, however, that such plant will regain pool status and dairy farmers delivering to the plant will again be producers. Such a dairy farmer will be entitled to base assignment again without the 15-month waiting period unless he is a producer who has disposed of his base.

A further rule is necessary with respect to the dairy farmer who has lost producer status because the plant to which he delivers has lost pool plant status. Such a nonproducer will not be permitted to dispose of base since his base corresponds to a portion of total Class I disposition which is no longer pooled. If he regains producer status by delivery to another plant that is a pool plant, he will be entitled to retain his previously held base if such reentry is less than 90 days after the preceding disqualification from producer status.

Proponent cooperative requested that the order permit a producer to retain his Class I base if his milk is marketed by the cooperative to a plant which had been a pool plant but became regulated by another order. Such exception to forfeiture was supported on the basis that in these circumstances the producer is leaving the market on an involuntary basis, perhaps without his knowledge, and that such producer, as a cooperative member, would continue to receive a blend based substantially on returns of the cooperative from this market.

Whether the farmer ceases deliveries on the market voluntarily or involuntarily, his production is not part of the supply for this market. The base plan is intended to apply to dairy farmers who constitute the regular, dependable supply for the market. In the instance described, since the dairy farmer's milk will be delivered to a plant regulated by another order, it will be part of the regular supply for the other market. Accordingly, no exception to the rule of forfeiture should be made for the situation described.

The Class I base plan should exclude any dairy farmer if any of his milk is delivered during the month other than as producer milk to a nonpool plant having Class I disposition. For instance, a producer might find it advantageous to market his milk in part to a nonpool plant which has Class I disposition, thereby obtaining a higher return than under the order. In so doing, however, the producer is committing his milk in part to another fluid market and is not fully engaged as a dependable part of the supply for this market. The producer is also avoiding the intended effect of the base plan, to provide incentive for a producer to adjust his production in relation to the Class I needs of the market.

On a larger scale, a cooperative may market milk of baseholding members to a Class I outlet not regulated by the order.

This arrangement could be employed to the extent that outside Class I sales will be made only on certain days of the week, but on days when such milk is not needed by the other market it could be returned to the Nebraska-Western Iowa pool. Other producers on the market then will bear the burden of surplus of such out-of-market sales.

For these reasons the base plan should not allow a dairy farmer to retain the benefits of the plan in any month when his milk in whole or in part is marketed outside of order regulation for Class I use. The producer definition should be modified to provide that a dairy farmer is not a producer under these conditions. The effect of the provision adopted is that the dairy farmer will have no base milk in the month if any of his milk is delivered as other than producer milk to a nonpool plant that has Class I disposition. Also, his production history will be reduced because of the exclusion of his milk deliveries during the month. The corresponding number of days, however, will not be excluded in the computation of average daily deliveries. The rule of forfeiture will apply if the dairy farmer loses producer status for a period of 90 days.

PROVISIONS FOR ALLEVIATION OF HARDSHIP AND INEQUITY

The Agricultural Act of 1970 requires that provision be made for the alleviation of hardship and inequity among producers. Therefore, certain administrative guidelines should be established for review of hardship claims and the alleviation of hardship and inequities to producers under the Class I base plan adopted herein.

Certain provisions are included in the order to define circumstances for which a producer may apply for relief. A producer may apply for adjustment to alleviate hardship or inequity if he feels his production history is not representative of his level of milk production because of conditions which are beyond his control (such as acts of God, disease, pesticide residue, and condemnation of milk). Conditions over which a producer could have exerted control through prudent precautionary measures are not cause for hardship adjustment. These conditions would include, for example, inability to obtain adequate labor, or equipment failure during the representative base period.

The producer would be responsible for filing a written request for review of any hardship condition or inequity affecting him. Such request would be submitted to the market administrator for review by the hardship committee. A claimed hardship or inequity would set forth the following: (1) Conditions that caused alleged hardship or inequity; (2) extent of relief or adjustment requested; (3) basis upon which the amount of adjustment requested was determined; and (4) reasons why the relief or adjustment should be granted. Such request must be filed within 45 days of the date on which Class I bases are issued, or of the occurrence to which it is related.

The market administrator would establish one or more "Producer Base Committees." A committee would consist of five producers appointed by the market administrator. The committee would review the requests for relief from hardship or inequity referred to it by the market administrator in a meeting called by the market administrator. The market administrator, or his designated representative, would be the recording secretary at such meeting. The committee decision must be endorsed by at least three of the five members to represent a committee quorum.

Producer Base Committee recommendations to deny any request would be final upon notification to the producer, subject only to appeal by such producer to the Director, Dairy Division within 45 days thereafter. Recommendations of the committee to grant a request, in whole or in part, would be transmitted to the Director, Dairy Division, and would become final unless vetoed by the Director within 15 days after transmitted.

The market administrator is authorized to reimburse committee members for their services at $30 per day, and for necessary travel and subsistence expenses incurred in carrying out their duties as committee members. Reimbursement to committee members would be from moneys collected under the administrative expense fund.

The moneys collected in the administrative fund are to pay for the necessary expenses incurred in the administration of the order. The statute expressly requires that provision be made for the relief of hardship and inequity among producers. It has been concluded that the review of petitions for such relief can be handled most effectively by a committee of producers. Hence, the expense associated with the operation of a Producer Base Committee is one incurred in the performance of an appropriate and necessary function of the order. Therefore, the order should provide that the necessary expenses incurred by the Producer Base Committee be paid from moneys collected pursuant to the administrative assessment.

UNIFORM PRICES FOR BASE MILK AND EXCESS MILK

Uniform prices to producers for base milk and excess milk will be computed each month. The price to producers who have no base will be the Class III price adjusted by the producer butterfat differential. The uniform price for excess milk will be the Class III price unless the quantity of excess milk (and milk of producers who have no base) exceeds the Class III producer milk. In the latter case Class II milk and then Class I milk will be assigned, in that sequence, to excess milk.

Location adjustments will apply to the price of base milk according to the location of the plant where the milk is received from producers. Since some of a producer's milk may be diverted, and thus may be subject to different location adjustment than when received at a pool plant, it will be necessary to prorate the producer's base milk to the quantities of his milk received at the various locations.

5. and 6. Cooperative as handler for deliveries of member milk. No change should be made in the definition of handler in the case of a cooperative association delivering milk of member producers from the farm to a pool plant in a tank truck owned or operated by, or under contract to, such cooperative association. Delivery of such milk to the plant should continue to be treated as an interhandler transfer of milk first received by the cooperative association as producer milk.

The order presently specifies that a cooperative association shall be a handler with respect to milk of its member producers delivered from the farm to a pool plant of another handler in a tank truck owned or operated by, or under contract to, such cooperative association. No evidence was presented at the hearing to modify the existing definition of handler in this respect or the interhandler nature of the transfer upon delivery to the plant. The proposals for the hearing bearing on these subjects were withdrawn by proponent at the hearing.

7. Miscellaneous. (a) Terminology for designation of health authority and Grade A product.

Order provisions specifying approval of plants or products by a health authority should specify such authority uniformly as "duly constituted health authority." Such term presently appears in § 1065.7 Producer but a different terminology ("appropriate health authority") is used in the definitions of "distributing plant" and "supply plant." The term "any health authority" is used in § 1065.12 Pool plant.

The term "duly constituted health authority" is commonly used in Federal milk orders in provisions where approval by a health authority of a plant or product is specified in a provision.

The term "duly constituted health authority" is sufficiently general to include any health authority empowered by Federal, State, city, or other governmental unit to approve milk for disposition for fluid consumption and dairy plants for the handling of such milk. The term "duly constituted health authority" accordingly should be used in each case in the order provisions where reference to health authority is made to eliminate possible confusion from using different terms in this regard.

Another instance of inadequate terminology, in § 1065.11 supply plant, is the phrase "for distribution in the marketing area under a Grade A label." The intent of the provision is to specify products that qualify as Grade A under health authority regulations. It is not necessary for this purpose to involve labeling requirements, if such exist. Further, the phrase cited might be interpreted as restricting approval to that given by health authorities in the marketing area. As indicated above, such restriction should not apply.

(b) Definition of "route disposition."

The order contains a definition of "route" as follows:

"Route" means any delivery (including delivery by a vendor or through a distribution point, or sale from a plant store) of a fluid milk product to retail or wholesale outlets other than a delivery (a) in bulk to a milk plant, or (b) to a food processing plant pursuant to § 1065.41(c)(4).

While the provision clearly excludes deliveries in bulk to a milk plant, it does not exclude packaged milk deliveries to a milk plant. A proposal placed in the hearing notice by the Dairy Division, Consumer and Marketing Service (now Agricultural Marketing Service) provided opportunity for interested parties to recommend changes to clarify the status of packaged milk deliveries to milk plants. Although no industry representative presented testimony on the matter, a statement by counsel in behalf of a cooperative opposed any change which would exclude packaged disposition to milk plants from the route definition. Other testimony, by a representative of the Dairy Division, served only to describe the aspect of the provision for which clarification would be desirable.

In view of the lack of substantial evidence, no change is made in the status of packaged disposition to milk plants under the route definition.

(c) Handlers' reports included in uniform price computation.

The order provides that the computation of the uniform price for each month include the value of the net pool obligation of all handlers who have: (1) Submitted reports of receipts and utilization for the month, (2) made required payments to producers and cooperatives for milk delivered in the preceding month, and (3) who have paid their obligation to the producer-settlement fund for the previous month.

Obviously, if a handler does not file a report of his receipts and utilization such data cannot be included in the current uniform price computation. Federal orders generally exclude a handler's utilization from the uniform price computation for the additional reason that the handler has failed to pay his previous month's obligation to the producer-settlement fund. If the handler reports, but has failed to pay his producer-settlement fund obligation for the preceding month, this fact is known to the market administrator prior to the time for computing a uniform price in the following month.

Except for a "de minimus" situation, it is reasonable to require that payment to the producer-settlement fund for the preceding month also be a prerequisite for including the handler's receipts and uses in the current pool. Failure to pay in the preceding month provides strong indication of the handler's intention for the current month, which could affect moneys available for payments out of the pool.

Excluding a handler's utilization from the computation of the uniform price if he has not paid producers or cooperative associations presents obvious administrative difficulties. At the time the uniform price is computed, the market administrator may not know whether a handler has paid producers or cooperative associations for the prior month. Audit of such payments for the preceding month normally has not been made by the date of the current uniform price computation. Whether such payments have been made could involve disputed questions of fact or arrangements between producers or cooperative associations, and handlers. The market administrator may not know, prior to the next computation of the pool, the complete facts concerning a particular incident of payment. It may not be feasible to have such questions cleared up prior to the date on which the uniform price must be computed. For this reason, the order should be amended to eliminate this prerequisite to pooling in the current month.

(d) Partial payments.

In the provisions for payments to producers the term "partial payment" should be substituted for "advance payment."

In § 1065.80(b) the order requires each handler to pay each producer before the 27th day of the month with respect to milk received from such producer during the first 15 days of the month at a rate not less than the uniform price for the preceding month. In case payments are made to a cooperative association for producers such payments are to be made to the cooperative on or before the 26th day of the month.

The order further provides that when the handler completes payment to producers or cooperative associations for all the milk received during the month, he is given credit for a payment made for milk delivered during the first 15 days of the month.

The payment made by the handler for milk received in the first 15 days of the month is a partial payment with respect to the quantity received during the entire month. The term "partial payment" is therefore more descriptive of the type of payment made than "advance payment" and the former term should be used. The order specifies that these payments shall be made only to each producer who has not discontinued shipping to such handler before the 27th day of the month. Thus the money calculated using the quantity of milk delivered during the first 15 days of the month would not in any case be as much as the handler's obligation for all the milk the producer has delivered up to the time of the payment.

In § 1065.80(d), the introductory text preceding subparagraph (1) specifies payments by a handler to a cooperative as a handler pursuant to § 1065.8 (c) or (d). The provisions in § 1065.8(c) defines a cooperative as a handler on milk it diverts to nonpool plants. The payments pursuant to § 1065.80, however, are payments by regulated handlers to producers and cooperatives and would not include any payments on milk diverted by a cooperative. The reference to § 1065.8(c) therefore is deleted.

(e) In § 1065.92(h) set forth in the tentative order accompanying the recommended decision, the text contained in subparagraph (1) is deleted and the remaining two subparagraphs are renumbered as (1) and (2), respectively. The adjustments described in the text deleted are more appropriately set forth in other provisions of the order herein adopted.

(f) Certain other minor changes have been made in the tentative order provisions for the purpose of more specifically implementing the intent of the findings and conclusions.

RULINGS ON PROPOSED FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

GENERAL FINDINGS

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

RULINGS ON EXCEPTIONS

In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents, a marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk, and an order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area, which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That this entire decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which is published with this decision.

DETERMINATION OF PRODUCER APPROVAL OF THE ORDER; REFERENDUM ORDER TO DETERMINE PRODUCER APPROVAL OF THE CLASS I BASE PLAN; DETERMINATION OF REPRESENTATIVE PERIOD; AND DESIGNATION OF REFERENDUM AGENT

September 1972 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended (except for the proposed Class I base plan) regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

It is hereby further directed that a referendum, in which each individual producer has one vote, be conducted and completed on or before the 30th day from the date this decision is issued, in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda (7 CFR 900.300 et seq.), to determine whether the proposed order provisions constituting a Class I base plan of payment to producers, as specified in the attached order, regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area is separately approved or favored by the producers, as defined under the terms of the order, and who during the representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

The representative period for the conduct of the referendum is hereby determined to be the month of September 1972.

The agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum is hereby designated to be U. Grant Grayson.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 30, 1972.

RICHARD E. LYNG,
Acting Secretary.

Order[1] amending the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa Marketing Area

FINDINGS AND DETERMINATIONS

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings. A public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area. The hearing was held pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure (7 CFR Part 900).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Nebraska-Western Iowa marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the order, as amended, and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on September 5, 1972, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 8, 1972 (37 F.R. 18203), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order, amending the order, and are set forth in full herein with the following modifications:

INDEX OF CHANGES

1. In § 1065.71(a), the text preceding paragraph (a)(1) is revised.

1a. A reference in § 1065.82(b)(1) is changed.

2. Section 1065.90(b)(3) is revised.

3. Text in § 1065.92 (a), (b), and (c) is revised for purposes of clarification.

4. In § 1065.92(h), a paragraph is deleted (see findings under "7. Miscellanous (e)").

5. In § 1065.93 (b) and (c) text is added.

6. In § 1065.94(a)(3), a proviso is added; and in paragraph (b) of this section, in the last sentence, a word is changed.

7. In § 1065.94(c), the reference "§ 1065.93" where it appears in subparagraphs (2) and (3) is changed to "§ 1065.93(c)" and in subpargraph (2) thereof, certain text is deleted.

8. Section 1065.96(d)(1) is revised.

§ 1065.7 [Amended]

1. § 1065.7 Producer, the period at the end of the provision is changed to a colon and the following proviso is added:

Provided, That a dairy farmer shall not be a producer in any month in which he holds a Class I base if any portion of his milk is delivered, other than as producer milk, to a nonpool plant at which there is Class I disposition.

§ 1065.9 [Amended]

2. In § 1065.9, the word "and" at the end of paragraph (b) is deleted, the period at the end of paragraph (c) is changed to a semicolon followed by the word "and", and a new paragraph (d) is added to read as follows:

(d) Has met the requirements pursuant to § 1065.97(c).

§ 1065.10 [Amended]

3. In § 1065.10 Distributing plant, the words "an appropriate health authority" are changed to "a duly constituted health authority."

§ 1065.11 [Amended]

4. In § 1065.11 Supply plant, the words "an appropriate health authority" are changed to "a duly constituted health authority"; also, the words "under a Grade A label" are changed to "as Grade A milk."

§ 1065.12 [Amended]

5. In § 1065.12 Pool plant, the words "any health authority" in the language preceding paragraph (a) is changed to "a duly constituted health authority."

6. Paragraph (k) of § 1065.22 is amended by revising subparagraph (2) to read as follows:

§ 1065.22 Additional duties of the market administrator.

* * * * * * *

(k) * * *

(2) The 12th day after the end of each month, the applicable uniform prices pursuant to § 1065.71 or § 1065.71a, and the butterfat differential to be paid pursuant to § 1065.72;

* * * * * * *

§ 1065.71 [Amended]

7. In § 1065.71, paragraphs (h), (i), (j), (k), and (l) are revoked and paragraph (g) is revised to read as follows:

(g) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight. The result shall be the "weighted average price," and except for any month in which a Class I base plan is effective shall be the "uniform price" for milk received from producers.

8. A new § 1065.71a is added to read as follows:

§ 1065.71a Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk.

For each month in which a base plan is effective the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and excess milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers as follows:

(a) From the net amount computed pursuant to § 1065.71 (a) through (e) subtract the amounts specified in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph:

(1) The amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk specified in § 1065.71(f)(2) by the weighted average price for all milk;

(2) The amount obtained by multiplying by the Class III price the total hundredweight of milk delivered by all producers who have no Class I base; and

(3) The amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of excess milk by the Class III price for 3.5 percent butterfat milk provided that the quantity of milk to which the Class III price is applied pursuant to this subparagraph plus the quantity pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall not exceed the quantity of producer milk in Class III;

(4) An amount computed by multiplying any remaining hundredweight of excess milk by the Class II price for 3.5 percent butterfat milk to the extent that producer milk in Class II is available for such assignment; and

(5) An amount computed by multiplying any remaining hundredweight of excess milk by the Class I price for 3.5 percent butterfat milk.

(b) Divide the net amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk and subtract not less than 4 cents but less than 5 cents. This result shall be known as the uniform base price per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content; and

(c) Divide the amount obtained in paragraphs (a) (3), (4), and (5) of this section by the hundredweight of excess milk, and subtract any fractional part of 1 cent. This result shall be known as the uniform excess price per hundredweight of milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content.

9. Section 1065.73 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

V 37 - 213 NOV 3 72 XUM

§ 1065.73 Location differentials to producers and on nonpool milk.

* * * * *

(d) For any month in which a base plan is effective, the uniform price for base milk computed pursuant to § 1065.71a shall be adjusted in the same manner as specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section; Provided, That if the milk of a producer is delivered as producer milk to plants at which different base prices apply, then for purposes of location adjustment the base milk of the producer shall be prorated to plants in proportion to deliveries of the producer's milk to such plants.

10. In § 1065.80, the introductory text preceding paragraph (a), and the introductory text of paragraph (d) preceding subparagraph (1) thereof is revised to read as follows:

§ 1065.80 Time and method of payment.

Except in each month in which § 1065.80a applies, each handler shall make payments as follows:

* * * * *

(d) To a cooperative association with respect to receipts of milk for which such cooperative association is the handler pursuant to § 1065.8(d) as follows:

* * * * *

11. A new § 1065.80a is added to read as follows:

§ 1065.80a Time and method of payment to producers and to cooperative associations.

For each month in which a base plan is effective each handler shall make payment as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of each month during which the milk was received, to each producer for whom payment is not made pursuant to paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, at not less than the uniform base price for the quantity of base milk received, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1065.72 and by any location adjustment applicable under § 1065.73, at not less than the uniform excess price for the quantity of excess milk received, adjusted by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1065.72 and at not less than the Class III price adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 1065.72 for the quantity of milk received from producers for whom no base milk is computed, less the following amounts: (1) The payments made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section; (2) Marketing service deductions pursuant to § 1065.85; and (3) Any proper deductions authorized by the producer: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 1065.83, he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this paragraph if he reduces uniformly for all producers his payments per hundredweight pursuant to this paragraph by a total amount not in excess of the reduction in payment from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payments is received from the market administrator;

(b) On or before the 27th day of each month to each producer for whom payment is not received from the handler by a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (c) or (d) of this section and who has not discontinued shipping milk to such handler, a partial payment with respect to milk received from such producer during the first 15 days of the month in an amount per hundredweight not to be less than the weighted average price for the preceding month;

(c) To a cooperative association which has filed a written request for such payment with such handler with respect to producers for whose milk the market administrator determines such cooperative association is authorized to collect payment as follows:

(1) On or before the 26th day of the month, an amount not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to producers pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, less any deductions authorized in writing by such cooperative association;

(2) On or before the 14th day after the end of each month an amount not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to producers pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, less proper deductions authorized in writing by such cooperative association;

(d) To a cooperative association with respect to receipts of milk for which such cooperative association is the handler pursuant to § 1065.8(d) as follows:

(1) On or before the 26th day of the month, for milk received during the first 15 days of the month an amount per hundredweight equal to not less than the weighted average price for the preceding month; and

(2) On or before the 14th day after the end of each month not less than the value of such milk at the applicable class prices, less payment made pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(e) In making payments to producers pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (c) of this section, each handler shall furnish each producer or cooperative association with a supporting statement, in such form that it may be retained by the producer, which shall show:

(1) The month and the identity of the handler and of the producer;

(2) The pounds per shipment, the total pounds, and the average butterfat test of milk delivered by the producer;

(3) The minimum rate or rates at which payment to the producer is required under the provisions of §§ 1065.71a, 1065.72, and 1065.73;

(4) The rate which is used in making the payment, if such rate is other than the applicable minimum rate;

(5) The amount or the rate per hundredweight of each deduction claimed by the handler, including any deduction claimed under paragraph (b) of this section and § 1065.85 together with a description of the respective deductions; and

(6) The net amount of payment to the producer.

§ 1065.82 [Amended]

11a. In § 1065.82, Payments to the producer-settlement fund, paragraph (b)(1) is revised to read:

(b)(1) The value of such handler's producer milk at the applicable uniform prices specified in § 1065.80 or § 1065.80a; and

12. A new centerhead "Class I Base Plan" is inserted after § 1065.86 and new §§ 1065.90 through 1065.98 are added as follows:

CLASS I BASE PLAN

§ 1065.90 Production history base and Class I base.

For purposes of determination and assignment of Class I base of each producer:

(a) "Production history base" as assigned to each producer means a quantity of milk in pounds per day as computed pursuant to §§ 1065.92, 1065.93, or 1065.94.

(b) "Production history period" means the period to be used for the computation of production history base. Subject to the conditions of subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph, a production history period for a producer shall be a 1-year, 2-year, or 3-year production history period depending on whether milk deliveries by the producer began on or before July 1 in the first, second, or third calendar year, respectively, preceding the February 1 on which the production history base is being determined or preceding the most recent February 1.

(1) The production history period of a producer who has forfeited his Class I base pursuant to § 1065.97(a) or has disposed of all of his Class I base shall begin on the later of the following dates:

(i) The first day of the 13th month after the month in which the producer ceased deliveries of producer milk or disposed of his Class I base, or

(ii) The first day of production delivered when the producer resumes deliveries of producer milk.

(2) Except as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, if the milk deliveries of any dairy farmer are interrupted for 90 days or more during the period prior to the effective date of this provision or prior to the dairy farmer qualifying as a producer, only the period of milk deliveries following such interruption shall be included in the producer's production history period.

(3) In the case of a producer who has acquired the herd of a member of his immediate family (either before or after the effective date of this provision) and has continued production with such herd, the deliveries made by the previous producer during the production history period shall be assumed to have been delivered by the current producer for use in computing a production history base, unless the previous owner transferred the Class I base to a third person.

(c) "Class I base" means a quantity of milk in pounds per day as computed pursuant to § 1065.95 for which a producer may receive the uniform price for base milk;

(d) "Average daily milk deliveries" of a producer in any specified period used for computing production history bases means the total pounds of milk delivered during the period by the producer to pool plants and to nonpool plants excluding milk delivered other than as a producer pursuant to the proviso of § 1065.7 divided by the greater of the number of days pursuant to subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

(1) The number of days' production delivered; or

(2) The calendar days from the first day of delivery through the last day of the period less the number of days' production the producer is prevented from delivering because of storm conditions: Provided, That the subtraction for storm conditions shall not exceed 8 days in any calendar year or exceed 4 days if a period of 6 months or less is involved.

§ 1065.91 Base milk and excess milk.

(a) "Base milk" means milk received from a producer during a month which is not in excess of his Class I base multiplied by the number of days in the month, except that if milk is received from a producer for only part of a month, base milk shall be milk received from such producer which is not in excess of his Class I base multiplied by the number of days of production of producer milk delivered during the month; and

(b) "Excess milk" means producer milk other than that defined under paragraph (a) of this section from producers delivering base milk.

§ 1065.92 Computation of production history base for each producer.

A production history base shall be determined by the market administrator pursuant to this section and § 1065.93 for each producer eligible for such base on the effective date of this provision and on February 1 of each year thereafter, respectively. Subject to the conditions of paragraph (h) of this section, a production history base for each producer on the effective date of this provision shall be determined by the market administrator as follows:

(a) The production history base for each producer who began milk deliveries not later than July 1, 1971, shall be calculated by adding the average daily milk deliveries during 1971 to the average daily milk deliveries in 1972 and dividing by two.

(b) The production history base for each producer who began delivery after July 1, 1971, but not later than July 1, 1972, shall be the average daily milk deliveries during the period beginning with the first delivery and through the end of the year 1972.

(c) The production history base for each producer not specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section who began milk deliveries before October 1, 1972, shall be the average daily milk deliveries during the period beginning with the first delivery and through the end of such year multiplied by 0.80.

(d) The production history base for each producer who began milk deliveries on or after October 1, 1972, shall be computed pursuant to § 1065.93(c).

(e) For each producer who became a producer for this market before the effective date of this provision because the plant to which he regularly delivered milk became a fully regulated plant pursuant to this order, a production history base shall be determined, if possible, pursuant to paragraph (a), (b), (c), or (d) of this section, based on his deliveries of milk as if the nonpool plant(s) to which he delivered had been a pool plant(s) during the representative period;

(f) A producer not described pursuant to paragraph (e) of this paragraph who delivered milk to a nonpool plant(s) prior to becoming a producer shall be assigned a production history base if such base can be computed pursuant to paragraph (a), (b), (c), or (d) of this section from deliveries of milk from the same farm on which he is a producer at time of base assignment as if the plant(s) to which he delivered had been a pool plant(s) during the production history period.

(g) For a producer who held producer-handler status at any time subsequent to January 1, 1971, a production history base shall be calculated as described in paragraph (a), (b), (c), or (d) of this section as if the milk of his own production received at his producer-handler plant had been received at a pool plant;

(h) The determination of a production history base pursuant to this section shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) If a producer operated more than one farm at the same time, a separate production history base shall be determined with respect to the average daily producer milk deliveries from each farm, except that only one production history base shall be determined with respect to milk production resources and facilities of a producer handler; and

(2) Only one production history base shall be allowed with respect to milk produced by one or more persons at a single location where the land, building, and equipment, are jointly used, owned, or operated.

§ 1065.93 New producers.

The market administrator shall determine a production history base for each producer for whom a production history base was not determined pursuant to § 1065.92 as follows:

(a) Any producer who delivered his milk to a nonpool plant that became a pool plant shall be assigned a production history base on the same basis as other producers under the order as though the deliveries to the nonpool plant had been deliveries to a pool plant, except that assignment of base in the case of any producer who previously forfeited base or disposed of base by transfer will be subject to the provisions of paragraph (d) of this section.

(b) A producer other than a producer pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section who delivered milk to a nonpool plant prior to becoming a producer as defined in this order and who has at least a 1-year production history period shall be assigned a production history base, effective on the first day of the second month following the month in which he began deliveries of producer milk to a pool plant, on the same basis as if he had been a producer under the order and his milk deliveries to the nonpool plant had been deliveries to a pool plant: Provided, That the production history base effective for such producer pursuant to this paragraph in any month before updating shall not exceed the average daily milk deliveries of such producer during the first 2 months of producer milk deliveries from the same production facilities from which milk deliveries were made during his production history period.

(c) A producer whose production history period is less than a 1-year production history period, except a producer assigned production history base pursuant to § 1065.92(c), shall be assigned a production history base on the effective date of this provision or on the first day of the second month following the month in which as a producer he began milk deliveries in an amount equal to 50 percent of his average daily milk deliveries during the immediately preceding 2-month period. Such production history base shall be effective for such producer unless a production history base is acquired by transfer, in which case the greater of the acquired or the base computed from his own production shall be the effective production history base.

(d) A producer who, after having forfeited or disposed of all his Class I base, either continues as a producer on the market or discontinues deliveries to the market and thereafter returns to the market as a producer, shall be assigned a production history base in the manner provided in paragraph (c) of this section, such assignment to be effective not earlier than the first day of the 15th month after the month in which the producer who forfeits his base ceases deliveries or a producer who disposes of all his Class I base makes such disposition. In the application of this provision, use of the same production facilities by another person (or the same person under a different name) to produce milk after the above described forfeiture or transfer of base shall be considered as a continuation of the operation by the previous operator if the new operator is a member of the immediate family of the previous operator. This provision shall be applied also to any production facility to which a Class I base has not been assigned that is operated by a person in which the producer who forfeited or transferred his base has a financial interest if such facility commences production on or after the effective date of the transfer or forfeiture, or such producer acquired his financial interest in such person later than 3 months prior to the effective date of the base transfer or forfeiture: Provided, That in the case of a producer who forfeited his base because he continued to deliver his milk to a plant that had been a pool plant but lost its pool plant qualification, assignment of base pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section will not be subject to delay to the first day of the 15th month after forfeiture, and deliveries by such producer during the period of forfeiture shall not be excluded from production history by reason of such forfeiture.

§ 1065.94 Updating of production history bases.

The production history base for each producer who has neither disposed of his entire base by transfer nor forfeited his base pursuant to § 1065.97(a), or after having disposed of his entire base by transfer or forfeiture has met the delivery requirement prescribed in § 1065.93 (d) for determination of new production histotry base, shall be determined by the market administrator on February 1, 1974, and each February 1 thereafter as follows:

(a) In updating a production history base as described in this paragraph, adjustments to a producer's previously assigned production history base and/or average daily milk deliveries in prior years shall be made as follows:

(1) The prior production history base assigned to such producer shall be changed in proportion to the change in Class I base due to adjustment for hardship or loss of Class I base because of underdelivery of base. In the case of transfer of base production history base shall be adjusted as specified in § 1065.96 (a).

(2) The average daily milk deliveries of a producer in any calendar year that is part of his production history period prior to any net disposal of Class I base by transfers since January 31 of the preceding year or any underdelivery causing reduction of Class I base, shall be reduced in proportion to the net change in Class I base. For the purpose of this subparagraph disposal of base in January shall be treated as if disposed of in the preceding December.

(3) If the average daily milk deliveries of the producer in the preceding year are less than 90 percent of the Class I base assigned to such producer in the preceding year as adjusted for hardship and less any net disposal of base by transfer, then the producer's Class I base shall be reduced by the amount of the difference between such average daily milk deliveries and such Class I base as adjusted for hardship and disposal of base by transfer, and the production history base of such producer shall be reduced in the same proportion as the reduction of Class I base: Provided, That this subparagraph shall not apply in any year in which total producer milk is 135 percent or more of the Class I disposition described in § 1065.95(a)(1).

(4) If the net effect of all adjustments for any period is a reduction greater than the production history base or average daily deliveries prior to adjustment, then the resulting amount shall be zero and such period shall not be a production history period.

(b) Effective February 1, 1974, the market administrator shall update the production history base of each producer who has a production history period of 1 year or more as follows: Add (1) the average daily milk deliveries of such producer during the year 1973 and (2) twice the production history base previously assigned to such producer as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide the sum by 3. If such result is less than the production history base previously assigned to such producer as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, then such previous production history base as adjusted shall be the effective production history base.

(c) Effective February 1, 1975, and February 1 in each year thereafter the market administrator shall update the production history base for specified producers as follows:

(1) For each producer who has a 3-year production history period, add (i) the average daily milk deliveries during the preceding calendar year and (ii) the average daily milk deliveries during each of the second and third preceding calendar years (or portion of a year) reduced by any adjustment pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide such total by 3. If such result is less than the production history base assigned to such producer on or after February 1 of the preceding year as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section then such previously assigned production history base, as adjusted, shall be the effective production history base.

(2) For each producer who has a 2-year production history period who did not acquire Class I base by transfer add (i) the average daily milk deliveries in the preceding year, (ii) the average daily milk deliveries in the second preceding year reduced by any adjustment pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and (iii) the initial production history base assigned to (or computed for) such producer pursuant to § 1065.92 (c) or (d) or § 1065.93(c) adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide the sum by 3. If such result is less than the production history base assigned to such producer on or after February 1 of the preceding year as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, then such previously assigned production history base, as adjusted, shall be the effective production history base.

(3) For each producer who has a 1-year production history period add (i) the average daily milk deliveries of such producer during such 1-year period and (ii) twice the initial production history base assigned to (or computed for) such producer pursuant to § 1065.93(c) adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide the sum by 3. If such result is less than the initial production history base assigned to (or computed for) such producer as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, then such initial production history base, as adjusted, shall be the effective production history base.

(4) For each producer who has a 2-year production history period and who has acquired Class I base by transfer, add (i) the average daily milk deliveries of such producer during the preceding year and (ii) twice the production history base assigned to such producer on or after February 1 of the preceding year adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, and divide the sum by 3. If such result is less than the production history base previously assigned to such producer as adjusted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, then such previously assigned production history base, as adjusted, shall be the effective production history base.

(d) For a producer who is assigned an initial history of production pursuant to § 1065.92 (e), (f), (g) and § 1065.93 the market administrator shall update his history of production from year to year in the manner applicable to a producer delivering to a pool plant as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

§ 1065.95 Computation of Class I base for each producer.

On the effective date of this provision and on February 1, 1974, and February 1 of each subsequent year the market administrator shall assign a Class I base to each producer who has a production history base. Class I bases shall be assigned to producers described in § 1065.93 when they are issued production history bases. On February 1 of each year Class I bases shall be computed as follows:

(a) Compute a "Class I base percentage" as follows:

(1) Determine the sum of Class I dispositions during the preceding calendar year specified in subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph:

(i) Class I producer milk pursuant to § 1065.46;

(ii) The Class I disposition of plants during the period when they were nonpool plants, if such plants were pool plants in the preceding December; and

(iii) The Class I disposition of a person who was a producer-handler during a portion of the year and who held producer status in the preceding December.

(2) Multiply the quantity computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) by 1.20 and divide such result by the number of days in such year.

(3) Divide the quantity computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph by a quantity which is the total of production history bases computed pursuant to §§ 1065.93, 1065.93, and 1065.94, whichever is applicable. The result shall be converted to a percentage by multiplying by 100 and rounding to the third decimal place. Such percentage shall be known as the "Class I base percentage."

(b) The Class I base of each producer with a production history base shall be determined by multiplying his production history base by the "Class I base percentage" and rounding the result to the nearest pound: Provided, That with respect to a producer with a production history period of less than 3 years beginning after the effective date of this provision, 20 percent shall be subtracted from the result of the preceding calculation, and: Provided further, That such 20 percent reduction shall be effective continuously with respect to a producer for a period not exceeding 36 months from the beginning of such production history period. With respect to a producer who has acquired production history base by transfer, such 20 percent reduction shall apply only to base exclusive of that acquired by transfer.

§ 1065.96 Transfer of bases.

Production history base and Class I base may be transferred pursuant to the following rules and conditions:

(a) A transfer of base means the disposal of Class I base and production history base by a transferor and the associated acquisition of Class I base and production history base by transferee. Disposal of base means disposal of Class I base and disposal of a proportionate amount of the production history base held by the transferor. Acquisition of base means the acquisition of Class I base and an amount of production history base which is the quantity of Class I base acquired multiplied by the reciprocal of the Class I base percentage. A transfer may be made only to a person who is a dairy farmer. The amount of Class I base credited to the transferee shall be two-thirds of the Class I base disposed of by the transferor: Provided, That such one-third reduction shall not apply to:

(1) An intrafamily transfer (including transfer to an estate and from an estate to a member of the immediate family);

(2) The division of base except as provided pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section; and

(3) The combining of bases of two or more producers for purpose of joint enterprise operated by such producers.

(b) A person receiving base by transfer must notify the market administrator in writing of the name of the producer transferring the base, the effective date of the transfer and the amount of base to be transferred. Application for transfer must be made to the market administrator on forms approved by the market administrator and signed by the transferor, his heirs, executor, or trustee and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred;

(c) Subject to paragraphs (a) and (k) of this section, transfers of an entire base or transfers other than pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section may not be made except in the case of:

(1) Death of the baseholder;

(2) Intrafamily transfers;

(3) Termination of the dairy enterprise of base holder;

(4) The baseholder entering the armed services;

(5) Transfer to a partnership or corporation in which the transferor has a material management interest; and

(6) Transfers allowed as a hardship adjustment.

(d) Subject to paragraphs (a) and (k) of this section, a producer may transfer a portion of his Class I base, in multiples of 150 pounds, as follows:

(1) Not more than the larger of 150 pounds or 30 percent of the Class I base assigned to a producer on the most recent of the effective date, February 1 of any year, or the initial assignment of base to such producer, may be disposed of by transfer prior to the February 1 following.

(2) A jointly held base may be divided among individuals engaged in a joint enterprise.

(e) Subject to paragraph (k) of this section a transfer of an entire base may be made effective on any day of the month if application for such transfer is filed with the market administrator within 5 days thereafter. Otherwise such transfer shall be effective on the first day of the month following that in which application is made;

(f) A transfer of a portion of a base shall be effective the first day of the month following that in which application for which such transfer is made to the market administrator;

(g) A base which is jointly held or in a partnership may be transferred subject to limitations otherwise provided in this section only upon application signed by each joint holder or partner, his heirs, executors, or trustee and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred;

(h) A base which has been established by two or more persons operating a dairy farm jointly or as a partnership may be divided among the joint holders or partners if written notification of the agreed division of base signed by each joint holder or partner, his heirs, executor, or trustee, is filed with the market administrator prior to the first day of the month for which such division is to be effective: Provided, That, however, a one-third lapse of base shall apply to base to the extent it constitutes a transfer by a person leaving a joint enterprise of base held by such person as an individual not more than 12 months prior to leaving such enterprise.

(i) It must be established to the satisfaction of the market administrator that the conveyance of base is bona fide and not for the purpose of evading any provision of this order, and comes within the remaining provisions of this section;

(j) In the case of an intrafamily transfer (including transfers to an estate and from an estate to a member of the immediate family), or any transfer not subject to the one-third lapse, all restrictions on transferring base applicable to the transferor producer shall also apply to the transferee;

(k) A producer who receives a base pursuant to § 1065.92 (c), (d), (e), (f), or (g) or § 1065.93 (a), (b), or (c) may not transfer such base, for 1 year from the date of receipt, provided, however, that such limitation shall not apply to:

(1) Intrafamily transfers; or

(2) The quantity of base such producer acquires by transfer.

(l) If a base is held by a corporation, a change in ownership of the stock which transfers control to a new person or persons other than a member of the immediate family of the person transferring such stock will be considered to result in a transfer of base and in this case compliance with all base rules affecting transfers will be required: Provided, That if the transferor(s) is the sole holder of the stock and transfers such stock to a member or members of the immediate family, there will be no lapse of base.

(m) A dairy farmer who has ceased deliveries of producer milk because he is delivering milk to a plant formerly a pool plant that no longer has pool plant qualification shall not be permitted to dispose of Class I base.

§ 1065.97 Miscellaneous base rules.

The following base rules shall be observed in the determination of bases.

(a) A person who discontinues delivery of producer milk for a period of 90 consecutive days after a Class I base is issued to him or fails to begin delivery of producer milk within 90 days of receipt of a Class I base by transfer shall forfeit his production history, together with any Class I base and production history base held pursuant to the provisions of this order, except that a person entering the military service may retain such production history, Class I base and production history base until 1 year after being released from active military service;

(b) As soon as production history bases and Class I bases are computed by the market administrator, notice of the amount of each producer's production history base and Class I base shall be given by the market administrator to the producer, to the handler receiving such producer's milk if the producer is not a member of a qualified cooperative association, and to the cooperative association of which the producer is a member;

(c) As a condition for designation as a producer-handler pursuant to § 1065.9, any person (including any member of the immediate family of such a person, any affiliate of such a person or any business of which such a person is a part) who has held Class I base any time during the 12-month period prior to such designation shall forfeit the maximum amount of Class I and production history base held at any time during such 12-month period; and

(d) In assigning Class I base to a producer, the market administrator shall round such base to the nearest pound.

§ 1065.98 Hardship provisions.

Requests of producers for relief from hardship or inequity arising under the provisions of §§ 1065.92 through 1065.97 will be subject to the following:

(a) After bases are first issued under this plan and after bases are issued on each succeeding February 1, a producer may request review of the following circumstances because of alleged hardship or inequity:

(1) He was not issued a Class I base;

(2) His production history base is not appropriate because of unusual conditions during the base-earning period such as loss of building, herds, or other facilities by fire, flood or storms, official quarantine, disease, pesticide residue, condemnation of milk, military service of the producer or his son;

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

(3) Loss or potential loss of Class I base pursuant to § 1065.97(a);

(4) Loss or potential loss of Class I base because of underdeliveries pursuant to § 1065.94(a)(3).

(5) Inability to transfer base.

(b) The producer shall file with the market administrator a request in writing for review of hardship or inequity not later than 45 days after notice pursuant to § 1065.97(b) with respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a) (1) or (2) of this section, or not later than 45 days after the occurrence with respect to request pursuant to paragraph (a) (3), (4), or (5) of this section, setting forth:

(1) Conditions that caused the alleged hardship or inequity;

(2) The extent of the relief or adjustment requested;

(3) The basis upon which the amount of adjustment requested was determined; and

(4) Reasons why the relief or adjustment should be granted.

(c) One or more producer base committees shall be established and function as follows:

(1) Each producer base committee shall consist of five producers appointed by the market administrator;

(2) Each committee shall review the requests for relief from hardship or inequity referred to it by the market administrator at a meeting in which the market administrator or his representative serves as recording secretary and at which the applicant may appear in person if he so requests.

(3) Recommendations with respect to each such request shall be endorsed at the meeting by at least three committee members and shall:

(i) With respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a) (1), (3), (4), or (5) of this section, grant or adjust production history bases and average daily producer milk deliveries for prior years where it appears appropriate, delay forfeiture of Class I base, restore forfeited base or reduced average daily producer milk deliveries where appropriate, and permit transfer of base not otherwise possible under the order provisions.

(ii) With respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, either reject the request or provide adjustment in the form of additional production history base and average daily producer milk deliveries for prior years where it appears appropriate and the effective date thereof of such adjustment. In considering such requests the loss of milk production due to the following shall not be considered a basis for hardship adjustment:

(a) Loss of milk due to mechanical failure of farm tank or other farm equipment; and

(b) Inability to obtain adequate labor to maintain milk production, except that hardship adjustment may be granted in the case of a producer or the son of a producer who entered into military service directly from employment in milk production;

(4) Recommendation of the producer base committee shall:

(i) If to deny the request, be final upon notification to the producer, subject only to appeal by the producer to the Director; Dairy Division, within 45 days after such notification; or

(ii) If to grant the request in whole or in part, be transmitted to the Director, Dairy Division, and shall become final unless vetoed by such Director within 15 days after transmitted.

(5) Committee members shall be reimbursed by the market administrator from the funds collected under § 1065.86 for their services at $30 per day or portion thereof, plus necessary travel and subsistence expense incurred in the performance of their duties as committee members.

(d) The market administrator shall maintain files of all requests for alleviation of hardship and the disposition of such requests. These files shall be open to the inspection of any interested person during the regular office hours of the market administrator.

[Docket No. AO 275-A25]

MILK IN INLAND EMPIRE MARKETING AREA

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Marketing Agreement and to Order

A public hearing was held upon proposed amendments to the marketing agreement and the order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area. The hearing was held, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice (7 CFR Part 900), at Spokane, Wash., on September 12, 1972, pursuant to notice thereof issued on August 22, 1972 (37 F.R. 17855).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on October 6, 1972 (37 F.R. 21539), filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, rulings, and general findings of the recommended decision are hereby approved and adopted and are set forth in full herein.

The material issues on the record relate to:

1. Diversion of produced milk.
2. Pricing point for diverted milk.
3. Pool plant definition.

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. Diversion of producer milk. The diversion provisions of the order should be revised to provide that during the months of September through March the quantity of producer milk diverted in any of these months may not exceed 50 percent of the producer milk received at pool plants (including that diverted), and that during the months April through August, such diversion may not exceed 70 percent of the producer milk received at pool plants (including that diverted). Also, the order should provide that with respect to the diversion of producer milk to nonpool plants, at least 2 days' production must be delivered to pool plants in any of the months of September through November to be eligible for diversion during such months.

Currently, the order provides seasonal limitations on the quantity of producer milk that may be diverted. The present provisions have been effective since 1968 and provide that the quantity of milk that may be diverted in any month shall not exceed 50 percent (April through August), 30 percent (December through March), and 20 percent (September through November) of the total producer milk received at pool plants in any month or diverted therefrom. The order provides also that to be eligible for diversion at least 6 days' production of each producer must be received at a pool plant in any of the months of September through November.

Diversion of milk directly from the farm to a nonpool manufacturing plant is a method by which a handler may efficiently dispose of the reserve milk that is a necessary part of his regular supply. In order to be assured of an adequate supply every day, a handler procuring his own milk supply must arrange to purchase sufficient milk to allow for variations in production and in his daily needs for fluid processing. Production of milk varies seasonally and, accordingly, producers furnishing a sufficient supply for the low production season will produce more than an adequate supply in high production months. Handlers' daily milk requirements also vary, chiefly because fluid milk packaging is not carried on all days of the week.

A cooperative association supplying the market proposed that the proportion of producer milk that may be diverted in any month be increased to 50 percent in any of the months of September through March and be unlimited in all other months. Proponent proposed also that to be eligible for diversion at least 2 days' production of each producer should be physically received at pool plants in any of the months of September through November to be eligible for diversion during such months.

Another cooperative supplying the market concurred with the proposals except to propose that for each of the months of April through August the proportion of producer milk that may be diverted should be increased to 70 percent in any of such months and should not be unlimited as proposed by proponent. In its brief, proponent concurred in this change.

No testimony was received at the hearing in opposition to increasing the percentage of producer milk that may be diverted, or to changing the minimum delivery requirements for individual producers.

The chief reasons put forth by both associations for making the proposed changes are that (1) the present provisions no longer accommodate the orderly disposition of the reserve supplies of milk for the market, and (2) the construction of a nonfat dry milk plant in the market has resulted in larger quantities of reserve milk being handled as diverted milk rather than as transfers from pool plants to nonpool plants, as previously the case.

Proponent is a qualified cooperative association under the order. It represents 39 percent of the producers supplying the market and handles about 87 percent of the Class III disposition. It carries the major burden of handling reserve supplies of milk for the market.

The association sells milk to every handler regulated by the order. Some of the handlers buy their full supply from the association while other handlers utilize the association to balance their own supply of producer milk. During certain days of the week, months of the year, or at times when they might obtain bids to supply school or government contracts, the handlers call upon the reserve supplies of milk handled by the association.

The present order provisions concerning the diversion of producer milk to nonpool plants do not facilitate the orderly and economical disposal of milk that is in excess of the fluid needs of the market. The problems of handling excessive producer milk supplies have been such that in 1970, 1971, and currently, it has been necessary to suspend the diversion limits for the months September through November.

Annual receipts of producer milk in the market have increased steadily without a corresponding increase in the Class I utilization of such milk. Between 1970 and 1971 producer receipts increased 9.9 percent while producer milk in Class I increased 3 percent. For the months January through July 1972, producer receipts increased 6.8 percent over the same months of 1971, while Class I utilization increased 6 percent. While Class I utilization increased for the period January through July 1972, as compared with a year earlier, the problem of increased production relative to Class I utilization stems from changes in previous years and is expected to continue.

As indicated previously, proponent association assumes the responsibility of handling and disposing of its member milk that is in excess of its sales for fluid uses. During the months of seasonally high production this burden becomes greater as those handlers being supplied in part by proponent rely on their regular producer supplies for their fluid requirements. In 1971, proponent diverted 55.5 percent of its total member milk. In July of that year (the peak month for diversion) it diverted 66.6 percent of its member milk to nonpool plants. In July 1972, 73.4 percent of such milk was so diverted. This relatively large increase over the previous year results from increased production by producers regularly associated with the market, and has caused larger quantities of reserve milk to be diverted to the newly constructed nonfat dry milk plant in the market. The chronic condition of increased need to divert relative to the diversion limits provided in the order is what has encouraged review of the diversion provisions at this time. As previously indicated, a part of such need is that some milk previously transferred from pool plants to distant manufacturing plants is now being diverted to the nonpool nonfat dry milk plant at Spokane, Washington.

The order provides that two or more cooperative associations may have their allowable diversions computed on the basis of the combined deliveries of milk by their member producers. In the past this has aided proponent in diverting milk within the limits provided by the order. Under current marketing conditions the provision may no longer be adequate in the near future within the limits presently provided. As indicated earlier, suspension actions have been taken in the months of low production to accommodate the necessary diversion of milk. In July 1972, diversion of milk was 49.4 percent of the combined receipts of the cooperative associations, and for the future is expected to exceed the present diversion limits provided by the order. It is evident from the data introduced into evidence that the present diversion provisions may no longer be adequate in any month of the year.

In developing order provisions to pool those milk supplies that serve the fluid markets regularly, it is necessary to include provisions that will not also pool supplies that do not serve the fluid market. The level of the percentage limits provided herein for the months of September through March will accommodate the quantity of milk that proponent must divert in handling the increasing reserve supplies of the market without jeopardizing the producer status of dairy farmers who regularly have supplied milk for the fluid needs of the market.

The higher percentage limit provided herein for the remaining months of April through August recognizes the seasonally greater production of milk and the consequent need during that period for diverting a larger proportion of the total producer milk supply. The present order provisions already reflect this to a degree but need to be revised under current marketing conditions.

The diversion limits provided herein require specific performance by each producer. He must deliver to pool plants at least 2 days' production in any of the months September through November when Class I utilization for the market is highest in relation to production. Also, the diversion privilege would continue to apply in other months only to the milk of those dairy farmers who have previously attained producer status through shipment to a pool plant. The order presently provides that to be eligible for diversion at least 6 days' production of a producer must be delivered to pool plants in any of the months of September through November. However, under present supply conditions for the market it is apparent that the present provisions may require uneconomic movements of milk to qualify producers whose milk needs to be diverted more frequently than the milk of other producers. For the most part, distributing plants in the market are located at the market center. The supply area, particularly for proponent, is located throughout most of the eastern half of the State of Washington.

Proponent regularly brings producer milk to the center of the market from farms in excess of 200 miles from Spokane. The farms are widely scattered, and under present marketing conditions of full supply it would be more economic to provide fewer days' production that individual producers must deliver milk to pool plants to have their milk qualify for diversion to nonpool plants. For example, producers whose farms are located in the Idaho panhandle (in the vicinity of Bonners Ferry) can have their milk diverted to a nonpool manufacturing plant at Sand Point, Idaho, instead of having a substantial portion of it hauled all the way to a Spokane pool plant to qualify for diversion.

The uneconomic movement of milk of producers who are regularly associated with the market then would be avoided.

In view of the aforementioned considerations, it is concluded that the diversion limits proposed herein should be adopted. Such limits will enhance orderly marketing by assuring that only milk of producers regularly supplying the market share in the proceeds of the market, but yet permitting flexibility to handle efficiently milk not needed for fluid use.

The diversion provisions of the order now provide that the operator of a pool plant may divert the milk of any producer member of a cooperative association that is commingled with milk of nonmember producers on a tank truck at the time of delivery from the farm. This provision has not been used since its inception in 1965, and it is not likely to be useful in the future because the cooperatives transport their member milk. Accordingly, the provision is not included as part of the revised diversion provisions.

2. Pricing point on diverted milk. The order should be amended to provide that, for purposes of pricing only, milk diverted from a pool plant to a nonpool plant, either for the account of a handler as the operator of a pool plant or for the account of a cooperative association in its capacity as a handler, shall be treated as a receipt at the plant to which diverted.

The change was requested by a cooperative association supplying the market. The representative of another cooperative association supplying the market testified at the hearing in favor of the proposal. No opposition to the proposal was expressed either at the hearing or in briefs.

Most of the producer milk in excess of Class I requirements is diverted to a non-pool plant in the base price zone where no location adjustment is applicable. Thus, a change in the point of pricing on this milk will not affect the pool obligation of most of the diverting handlers, or the uniform price received by most producers.

When diverted milk is priced at the plant from which diverted, there is always the incentive for association of distant milk with local plants in the market even though such milk is not needed for fluid use, is not a part of the market's regular supply, and is intended for manufacturing uses. If dairy farmers relatively distant from the market have their milk diverted to a nonpool plant near their farms and receive a uniform price based on the location of a pool plant in the marketing area, such farmers are compensated as if their milk had incurred the expense of delivery all the way to the market center.

We find no reason why milk diverted from a pool plant to a nonpool plant at any particular location under usual circumstances should draw a higher return from the market pool than milk received at a pool plant at the same location.

3. Pool plant definition. The introductory language to the pool plant definition should be changed to provide that if a portion of a plant is physically separated from the Grade A portion of such plan, is operated separately and is not approved by any health authority for the receiving, processing or packaging of any fluid milk product for Grade A disposition, it shall not be considered as part of a pool plant.

The change was proposed by the cooperative association that is now operating a new nonfat dry milk plant in the market. The need for the provisions stems from the operation of the plant.

The plant is operated by proponent in space leased from another cooperative supplying the market and operating a distributing pool plant under the same roof. While the two operations are conducted under one roof they are entirely separated from each other by immovable partitions and walls. No milk or cream product lines extend from one plant into the other.

The manufacturing plant was built exclusively for the manufacture of nonfat dry milk. It is currently designated as a nonpool plant under the order. It is not licensed or inspected by the authority having jurisdiction over Grade A distribution in the marketing area, although all the milk processed in the plant is Grade A reserve milk for the market. The plant comes under the jurisdiction of the Washington Department of Agriculture, which is the licensing agency for plants engaged in the manufacture of nonfat dry milk and other manufactured dairy products.

By changing the order as proposed, the pool plant definition will provide explicitly that the manufacturing portion of the facility should be distinguished from the distributing pool plant portion of the facility, and should be designated separately as a nonpool plant as long as it meets the requirements of the provision. In such instance, the manufacturing portion of the plant would not be supplying the fluid milk needs of the market by means of Grade A milk sales to other handlers and would appropriately be distinguished from the distributing pool plant with which it shares, in common, land and a building and might otherwise be designated as a single plant under the order.

Rulings on Proposed Findings and Conclusions

Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings, and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusion set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General Findings

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on Exceptions

No exceptions were received.

Marketing Agreement and Order

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents, a marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk, and an order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That this entire decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the Federal Register. The regulatory provisions of the marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which is published with this decision.

Determination of Producer Approval and Representative Period

August 1972 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 30, 1972.

Richard E. Lyng,
Acting Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Inland Empire Marketing Area

Findings and Determinations

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings. A public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area. The hearing was held pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure (7 CFR Part 900).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

(3) The said order as hereby amended regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the order, as amended, and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on October 6, 1972, and published in the Federal Register on October 12, 1972 (37 F.R. 21539), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order, amending the order, and are set forth in full herein:

1. In § 1133.8, the introductory text is revised to read as follows:

§ 1133.8 Pool plant.

"Pool plant" means any plant described in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, other than the plant of a producer-handler or a plant with respect to which the handler is exempt pursuant to § 1133.61, which is approved by an appropriate health authority for the receiving of milk qualified for distribution as Grade A milk in the marketing area. If a portion of such plant is physically separated from the Grade A part of such plant, is operated separately, and is not approved by any health authority for the receiving, processing, or packaging of any fluid milk product for Grade A disposition, it shall not be considered as part of a pool plant pursuant to this section.

* * * * * *

2. In § 1133.12, paragraph (c) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1133.12 Producer milk.

* * * * * *

(c) With respect to diversions to nonpool plants:

(1) A cooperative association may divert for its account, under paragraph (b)(1) of this section, the milk of any member-producer eligible for diversion. The total quantity of milk so diverted may not exceed 50 percent in any of the months of September through March, and 70 percent in any of the months of April through August, of its total member milk received at all pool plants or diverted therefrom during the month. Two or more cooperative associations may have their allowable diversions computed on the basis of the combined deliveries of milk by their member producers if each association has filed in writing with the market administrator a request for such computation;

(2) A handler operating a pool plant may divert for his account under paragraph (a)(2) of this section, milk of any producer eligible for diversion, other than a member of a cooperative association which diverts milk under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. The total quantity of milk so diverted may not exceed 50 percent in any of the months of September through March and 70 percent in any of the months of April through August, of the milk received at or diverted from such pool plant during the month from producers who are not members of a cooperative association that diverts milk under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(3) Milk diverted in excess of the limits specified shall not be considered as producer milk, and the diverting handler shall specify the producers whose milk is ineligible as producer milk. If a handler fails to designate such producers, producer milk status shall be forfeited with respect to all milk diverted by the handler;

(4) Producers eligible for diversion are those whose milk has been received at the pool plant prior to diversion from such plant (but not necessarily in the current month). Producers eligible for diversion in the months of September, October, or November must in addition have at least 2 days' production received at a pool plant in the respective month; and

(5) For the purpose of location adjustments pursuant to §§ 1133.53 and 1133.81, diverted milk shall be considered to have been received at the location of the plant to which diverted.

3. In § 1133.81, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1133.81 Location adjustments to producers and on nonpool milk.

(a) In making payments pursuant to § 1133.80 the market administrator shall reduce the uniform price computed pursuant to § 1133.71 by the location adjustment applicable at the plant where the milk was first physically received from producers, and the uniform price of producer milk diverted to a nonpool plant according to the location of the nonpool plant, each at the rates set forth in § 1133.53.

WAREHOUSE STORED RESEAL LOAN PROGRAM FOR THE 1973–74 STORAGE PERIOD

Storage Period for Various Crops of Feed Grains and Wheat

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of Agriculture under authority of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended, proposes to make determinations and issue regulations relative to extending the maturity date for outstanding loans secured by various crops of feed grain such as corn, grain sorghum, barley and oats and various crops of wheat under the extended warehouse storage reseal loan program. Determinations relating to the need for such a program are based on such factors as, but not limited to, the need to isolate stocks of these commodities from the market, to stabilize, support and protect farm income and prices, assist farmers to get a fair share of the market for their commodities and to maintain a commodity reserve to meet changing world conditions.

Detailed regulations concerning commodity eligibility requirements, storage requirements and related requirements necessary to carry out this program are also being considered. Provisions of this kind under the current program may be found in the regulations governing loans, purchases, and other operations for grains and similarly handled commodities which appear in Title 7, Part 1421 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Prior to making any of the foregoing determinations, consideration will be given to any data, views, and recommendations which are submitted in writing to the Director, Grain Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. In order to be sure of consideration, all submissions must be received by the Director not later than 15 days after publication of this notice in the Federal Register. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Director during regular business hours (8:15 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.).

This determination was inadvertently omitted from the notice of proposed determinations relative to the 1973 feed grain set-aside program, 1973 crop feed grain loan and purchase program, and reseal program for the 1973–74 storage period published in the Federal Register on October 7. Since this decision is important to producers in planning their operations it is considered impractical and contrary to the public interest to allow 30 days for submission of views and recommendations.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on October 30, 1972.

Glenn A. Weir,
Acting Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

FOOD ADDITIVES

Proposed Revocation of Use of Morpholine

An order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 30, 1962 (27 F.R. 6232), provided for morpholine to be added to boiler water in the preparation of steam that will contact food. Subsequent orders were published (1) in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 20, 1962 (28 F.R. 6878), to provide for the use of morpholine and its salts of fatty acids derived from animal or vegetable oils, as corrosion inhibitors for steel or tinplate intended for food-contact use and (2) in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 30, 1962 (28 F.R. 11799), to provide for the use of morpholine as the salt(s) of one or more of the fatty acids meeting the requirements of § 121.1070, as a component of protective coatings applied to fruits and vegetables.

Since the establishment of the regulations cited above, questions have been raised about the safety of morpholine. It has been shown that under acid conditions, it is possible for this substance at significant levels to combine with nitrite, forming nitrosomorpholine that may be a health hazard. In view of this information, the above listed uses of morpholine and its salts, can no longer be regarded as having been shown to be safe as required by section 409 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 409, 701(a), 72 Stat. 1785–1788, as amended, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U.S.C. 348, 371(a)) and under authority delegated to him (21 CFR 2.120), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposes to amend Part 121, as follows:

1. In § 121.1088 Boiler water additives by deleting the item "morpholine" from the substances listed in paragraph (d).

2. By revoking § 121.1105 Morpholine.

3. In § 121.2551 Corrosion inhibitors used for steel or tinplate by deleting the item, "morpholine and its salts of fatty acids derived from animal or vegetable oils" from the "List of substances" in paragraph (b)(1).

Interested persons may, within 60 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 6–88, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852, written comments (preferably in quintuplicate) regarding this proposal. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. Received comments may be seen in the above office during working hours, Monday through Friday.

Dated: November 1, 1972.

FOOD ADDITIVES

Use of Sodium Nitrite, Sodium Nitrate, Potassium Nitrite, and Potassium Nitrate

Recent information indicates that under some conditions nitrites may react with secondary and tertiary amines, which occur naturally in many foods, to form nitrosamines in food and perhaps that nitrites may also react with such amines in man's gastrointestinal tract to form nitrosamines. Certain nitrosamines have been found to be carcinogenic in test animals, and are, therefore, potentially hazardous to human health.

Nitrite is normally present in human saliva. Nitrates occur naturally in many foods, including vegetables, meat, poultry, fish, and water and may be reduced to nitrite by harmless microorganisms present in such food and the human intestinal tract.

Nitrites and nitrates have long been used in the curing of meat and poultry, such use predating the Food Additives Amendment of 1958. Nitrites prevent red meat from turning brown and are responsible for the familiar red color of cured meats. The unique organoleptic qualities of cured meats are often the result of the use of nitrites. At the present time the use of nitrites and nitrates (insofar as nitrates are converted to nitrites) is essential in the production of certain staple foods in maintaining the characteristics of color, taste, and texture which the consumer through long exposure has come to associate with and demand of such foods. For example, without nitrite bacon is salt pork, frankfurters are bratwurst and ham is salty roast pork.

The appreciation of the critical importance of nitrites in retarding growth and toxin development of Clostridium botulinum has grown over the last 40 years. C. botulinum is a microorganism that is ordinarily quite harmless and which is naturally present in the soil, in the sea, and in the food supply. C. botulinum becomes a source of concern only when it grows in food because it then produces a toxin which, when ingested, causes botulism, an acute food poisoning marked by a high mortality rate. Nitrites are essential to inhibit the growth of C. botulinum in canned ham, bacon, and in some processed meat, poultry, and fish products.

There have been no outbreaks of botulism attributable to commercially prepared foods which have been treated with nitrites or nitrates. On the other hand, there have been a number of fatalities due to botulism associated with consumption of commercially prepared foods prior to use of nitrite as a preservative. There is need, therefore, to consider with extreme care any changes in regulations governing the use of these substances. From a public health standpoint, the choice to be made is between the risk of the possibility of a chronic illness (cancer) and a very real and more immediate hazard (botulism).

Regulations promulgated by the Food and Drug Administration permit the use of nitrites and nitrates in certain foods as follows:

An order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 23, 1961 (26 F.R. 8972), permitted sodium nitrite to be used as a preservative and color fixative in canned pet food containing meat or fish (21 CFR 121.223).

An order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 23, 1961 (26 F.R. 8973), permitted sodium nitrate and sodium nitrite, respectively, to be used as preservatives and color fixatives in smoked cured salmon. The regulations were amended by orders published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of (1) March 3, 1962 (27 F.R. 2090), to permit the additives to be used in meat-curing preparations for the home curing of meat and meat products, (2) July 31, 1963 (28 F.R. 7776), to permit the use of the additives in smoked cured shad, and (3) November 5, 1964 (29 F.R. 14985), to permit the use of the additives in smoked cured sablefish. The order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 23, 1961 (26 F.R. 8973), also permitted sodium nitrite to be used as a color fixative in smoked cured tuna fish products (21 CFR 121.1063, 121.1064).

An order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 26, 1963 (28 F.R. 7594), permitted potassium nitrate to be used as a curing agent in the processing of cod roe (21 CFR 121.1132).

An order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 26, 1969 (34 F.R. 13659), permitted sodium nitrite to be used in combination with salt (NaCl) to aid in inhibiting the outgrowth and toxin formation from Clostridium botulinum type E in the processing of smoked chub in accordance with prescribed conditions of manufacturing and storage of the finished product. The regulation was amended by an order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 25, 1970 (35 F.R. 5034), to revise the cooling parameters after cooking (21 CFR 121.1230).

Nitrite and nitrate also have prior sanction for use as curing agents in meat and meat and poultry products. These uses were first sanctioned under the Meat Inspection Act of 1907 and the Federal Food and Drug Act of 1906 and are currently recognized under regulations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (9 CFR 318.7, 381.147).

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs concludes that, in view of the possible health hazard of nitrosamines, the use of nitrites and nitrates in food should be limited to only those uses which are essential in inhibiting the growth of C. botulinum and for obtaining the essential characteristics of cured meats at this time. Thus he proposes to amend the Food Additive Regulations to delete the following non-essential uses:

1. Sodium nitrite in canned pet food containing meat or fish. These products are fully retorted and require no further preservation.

2. Sodium nitrate in smoked cured sablefish, salmon, and shad. Sodium nitrite (together with the use of salt, cooking, and refrigeration) is sufficient to control C. botulinum, and there is no need for the sodium nitrate as well. Although the available information indicates that there is no need for the use of sodium nitrate in smoked cured salmon, Nova Scotia salmon which is lightly salted (NaCl) may be a possible exception and the Food and Drug Administration will give careful consideration to any data or other information regarding such use that interested persons may wish to submit to the Hearing Clerk.

3. Sodium nitrite in smoked tuna fish products. The only function of the additive is to fix the color of the fish.

4. Potassium nitrate in cod roe. The additive is used as a curing agent. There are no data indicating its usefulness in inhibiting C. botulinum. It appears that this inhibition is accomplished by the use of a high percentage of sodium chloride in the cure.

In the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 12, 1972 (37 F.R. 1640), the Commissioner proposed to expand Subpart E under Part 121, within which would be established regulations governing all prior sanctioned direct and indirect food ingredients known to the Commissioner. As set forth below, the Commissioner proposes that two new sections, § 121.2007 Sodium or potassium nitrite and § 121.2008 Sodium or potassium nitrate be added to Subpart E of Part 121 as proposed at 37 F.R. 1640. The limitations proposed are the prior sanctions known to the Commissioner. Documented evidence of additional or different prior sanctions for these ingredients may be submitted in comments.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 409, 701, 72 Stat. 1785–1788, as amended, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U.S.C. 348, 371) and under authority delegated to him (21 CFR 2.120), the Commissioner proposes to amend Part 121 as follows:

§ 121.223 [Revoked]

1. By revoking § 121.223 Sodium nitrite.

§ 121.1063 [Amended]

2. Paragraph (a) of § 121.1063 Sodium nitrate is amended by deleting subparagraph (1), relating to the use of sodium nitrate in smoked cured sablefish, salmon, and shad, and by deleting the words "and color fixative" from subparagraph (2).

§ 121.1064 [Amended]

3. Paragraph (a) of § 121.1064 Sodium nitrite is amended by deleting subparagraph (1), relating to the use of sodium nitrite in smoked tuna fish products, and by deleting the references that relate to the use of sodium nitrate in smoked cured sablefish, salmon, and shad in subparagraph (2), and by deleting the words "and color fixative" from subparagraphs (2) and (3).

§ 121.1132 [Revoked]

4. By revoking § 121.1132 Potassium nitrate.

5. By adding §§ 121.2007 and 121.2008 to Subpart E as follows:

§ 121.2007 Sodium or potassium nitrite.

Sodium and potassium nitrite are subject to prior sanctions for use as curing agents, with or without sodium or potassium nitrate, in meat and meat products and in poultry products in the following amounts: 2 pounds to 100 gallons of pickle at 10 percent pump level; 1 ounce to 100 pounds of meat (dry cure) or poultry product (dry cure); ¼ ounce to 100 pounds of chopped meat and/or chopped meat by product or chopped poultry meat. Sodium and potassium nitrite used in food shall comply with the specifications contained in the Food Chemicals Codex. The use of nitrites, nitrates, or any combination thereof shall not result in more than 200 parts per million of nitrite in the finished product.

§ 121.2008 Sodium or potassium nitrate.

Sodium and potassium nitrate are subject to prior sanctions for use as sources of nitrite in the production of cured meat and meat products and cured poultry products in the following amounts: 7 pounds to 100 gallons of pickle; 3½ ounces to 100 pounds of meat (dry cure) or poultry product (dry cure); 2¾ ounces to 100 pounds of chopped meat or chopped poultry meat. Sodium and potassium nitrate used in food shall comply with the specifications contained in the Food Chemicals Codex. The use of nitrites, or nitrates, or any combination thereof shall not result in more than 200 parts per million of nitrite in the finished product.

Interested persons may, within 60 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 6–88, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852, written comments (preferably in quintuplicate) regarding this proposal. Comments may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. Received comments may be seen in the above office during working hours, Monday through Friday.

[46 CFR Part 12]

[CGD 72–204P]

CERTIFICATION OF SEAMEN

Proposed Firefighter Endorsement

The Coast Guard is considering amending its rules for the certification of seaman to add a "firefighter" endorsement.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed rule to the U.S. Coast Guard (GCMC), 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. The comments should refer to this notice number CGD 72–204P and should give the reasons upon which any recommended changes are based, any specific wording recommended, and the name, address, and organization, if any, of the commenter.

All written comments received on or before December 8, 1972, will be considered before final action is taken on this proposal. The proposed rule may be changed in the light of comments received.

Copies of all written comments received will be available for examination in Room 8234, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC both before and after the closing date for receipt of written comments.

The endorsement as "firefighter" is being proposed to recognize those seamen who have attended a formal training course and to identify those seamen who have had special training in firefighting techniques. This proposal conforms to the Intergovernmental Maritime Consultative Organization resolution (A. 124(V)) dated October 25, 1967, which recommends that each member State should aim at training all its seafarers in fire prevention and firefighting to an extent appropriate to their function on board ship.

Following a disaster in the Adriatic Sea, the Greek Government has announced that after April 15, 1972, no Greek seaman will be allowed to embark in any ship flying the Greek flag unless he has taken a special course in firefighting. Although at the present time the United States does not intend to require all U.S. seamen to take a special firefighting course, it is known that many seamen have not had basic firefighting training. Those seamen who have not had basic firefighting training may not know the capabilities of firefighting equipment found on board ship or how to use it effectively in that many shipboard drills do not teach all the details. With the advent of reduced manning requirements due to technological advances, it is incumbent that the remaining personnel be more highly trained. By giving Coast Guard recognition with the endorsement as "firefighter," an interest in firefighting training should be stimulated which will serve to implement the recommendation of the Intergovernmental Maritime Consultative Organization.

The U.S. Maritime Administration is the agency of the Federal Government charged with the training of seamen and that agency presently has ongoing firefighting training courses given at the U.S. Navy facilities at Bayonne, N.J., and Treasure Island, Calif. If the regulation proposed in this document is adopted, the Maritime Administration has informed the Coast Guard that consideration will be given to expanding the firefighting training by offering courses at a port on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico and the Great Lakes.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 12 of Title 46, Code of Federal Regulations by adding a new § 12.25–40 to follow § 12.25–35 to read as follows:

§ 12.25–40 Firefighter.

A holder of a Merchant Mariner's document who completes a training course after January 1, 1971, in shipboard firefighting techniques accepted by the U.S. Maritime Administration and presents an authorized certificate of completion of the course to the Coast Guard, may have the endorsement "firefighter" placed on that document.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of 46 U.S.C. 375, 416, 672; 49 U.S.C. 1655(b)(1); 49 CFR 1.46(b).

Dated: October 27, 1972.

G. H. READ,
Captain, U.S. Coast Guard, Acting Chief, Office of Merchant Marine Safety.

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter the description of the Redmond, Oreg. transition area.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Operations, Procedures and Airspace Branch, Northwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, FAA Building, Boeing Field, Seattle, Wash. 98108. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the office of the Regional Counsel, Northwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, FAA Building, Boeing Field, Seattle, Wash. 98108.

The alteration to the transition area would provide controlled airspace for the proposed VOR/DME Runway 34R approach to the City-County Airport, Madras, Oreg.

In consideration of the foregoing, the FAA proposes the following airspace action:

In § 71.181 (37 FR 2143) the description of the Redmond, Oreg. transition area is amended as follows:

In line 3, after, "• • • 5 miles south of the VORTAC," insert, "within 4 miles each side of the Redmond VORTAC 014° radial, extending from 15 miles north of the VORTAC to 35 miles north." In addition, amend by adding to the end of the description, "• • • and that airspace north of Redmond VORTAC bounded on the west by the east side of V25, and on the north by an arc of a 32 mile radius arc centered on the Redmond VORTAC, and on the northeast by the northwest edge of V536."

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)), and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Seattle, Wash., on October 24, 1972.

PARACHUTE JUMPING

Proposed Authorization

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 105 that would require any person conducting an intentional parachute jump in any controlled airspace to obtain an authorization from ATC and give prior notice to ATC before making that jump. In addition, the time during which lights are required for a parachute jump would be changed to conform with the time specified in § 91.73 of the flight rules. Other changes, nonsubstantive in nature, would be made as more fully described herein.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, GC–24, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591. All communications received on or before March 5, 1973, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

As defined in § 105.1, "a parachute jump" means the descent of a person to the surface from an aircraft in flight, when he intends to use, or uses, a parachute during all or part of that descent. In the case of sport parachuting or other parachute jumping operations that do not involve an inflight emergency, Part 105 requires the individual parachute jumper (or parachute jumping organization that represents a group of jumpers) to comply with the requirements of that part. These requirements include an authorization for the jump and a notice of the jump, depending upon the type of airspace or area to be used. For example, §§ 105.15, 105.19, and 105.21 now require an FAA authorization for a parachute jump conducted over or into certain congested areas or open air assemblies of persons, control zones with functioning control towers operated by the United States, or positive control areas. For the use of "other airspace," § 105.23 requires a notice to be given to ATC at least 1 hour before the jump is conducted. This notice may be given for a single jump or a "series of jumps" to be made over a specified period of time not to exceed 12 months.

The proposed § 105.19 would require an FAA authorization for the use of the airspace for a parachute jumping operation (single or series) conducted in any controlled airspace. It would no longer be limited in its application to those parachute jumping operations conducted in airspace designated as a control zone or a positive control area. This extension of the requirement of an authorization for the use of all controlled airspace is considered necessary in order for the FAA to properly provide for the safe and efficient utilization of that airspace by both the jumpers and aircraft. Accordingly, since § 105.21 would no longer be appropriate it would be deleted under this proposal.

In order to apply the foregoing requirement for an airspace authorization with a minimum burden upon the parachute jumpers and the pilots of the aircraft used for those jumps, it is also proposed that an authorization for the use of the airspace may be issued for a single jump or a series of jumps conducted over a period not to exceed 12 months. In addition, an individual, or a parachute jumping organization representing a group of jumpers would be allowed to make application for and be eligible to receive the FAA authorization. We believe these changes would provide the assurance for the use of a particular segment of the airspace that is needed for those clubs that wish to enter into long term agreements for the lease or purchase of real estate and facilities for their jumping activities.

Proposed § 105.19(b) would provide that an application for an authorization must be made in writing and submitted to the FAA not less than 15 days before the parachute jumping operation begins. Although it would be desirable for the application to be submitted to the ATC facility exercising control over the airspace in which the jumping operation is to be conducted, the rule permits the application to be submitted to any FAA facility or office which would then forward the application to the ATC facility. This will relieve the jumper or the jumping organization from the necessity of determining the appropriate ATC facility for the particular jumping operation. The proposed requirement for filing the application at least 15 days before the jumping operation is conducted is the time that the FAA considers is reasonably necessary to effect coordination between the appropriate ATC facility and the individual or organization conducting the parachute jumping operation. In appropriate cases it will also permit time for the selection of an alternate airspace site, if the one selected by the applicant cannot be authorized by ATC. In addition, the 15-day period would permit the FAA to disseminate appropriate safety information concerning the jump by means of Notices to Airmen. In the case of an authorization covering an extended period of time, information would also be published in the Airman's Information Manual and distributed for publication in aeronautical charts.

Unless otherwise authorized by ATC, the individual or organization to whom an authorization is issued to use an area in controlled airspace for a parachute jump would also be required to give notice to ATC at least 1 hour before the jump is to be made. If the authorization is for the use of controlled airspace for a series of jumps, or for an extended period of time, notice would be required to be given in accordance with the provisions of the authorization.

The proposed amendment to § 105.33 merely changes the term "night" to "the period between sunset and sunrise." This change would bring the lighting requirements for parachute jumping in conformity with the aircraft lighting requirements of § 91.73. The amendment would also take into account the special visibility conditions in the State of Alaska.

In the event that the amendments proposed herein are adopted, the title and the provisions of § 105.23 would also be amended so that the notice to ATC required by that section would only be applicable to parachute jumping operations conducted in uncontrolled airspace. This nonsubstantive amendment would clarify the applicability of that section.

The amendment to the information requirements of § 105.25 is also nonsubstantive. The introductory paragraph would be amended to include the name of the individual, club or other organization requesting an authorization for the use of controlled airspace, or submitting a notice for the use of uncontrolled airspace. For convenient reference the provisions of present paragraph (b) requiring a notice of the cancellation or postponement of a parachute jump have been incorporated in proposed §§ 105.19 and 105.23.

The proposed paragraph (b) of § 105.25 would require the applicant for an authorization to make a jump in controlled airspace to inform ATC if that jump is to be made over or onto an airport. If the jump is to be made in or into a congested area or open air assembly of persons that information must be given regardless of whether the jump is made in controlled or uncontrolled airspace.

Paragraph (b) of § 105.15 would be amended to avoid the necessity of making application to both an FAA District Office and an FAA air traffic control facility when the jump is to be conducted over a congested area or open air assembly of persons and within controlled airspace. As proposed, a single application for that jump may be made to the nearest FAA office.

It is to be noted that for a parachute jump over or onto an airport, prior approval of the airport management would still be required regardless of whether the airport is located within controlled or uncontrolled airspace.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 105 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as follows:

1. By amending § 105.15(b) to read as follows:

§ 105.15 Jumps over or into congested areas or open air assembly of persons.

• • • • • •

(b) Unless otherwise authorized by ATC, an application for a certificate of authorization required under the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section is submitted to the nearest FAA office. It must be submitted in writing at least 15 days before the initial use of the airspace in which the parachute jump is to be made and include the information specified in § 105.25.

• • • • • •

2. By revising § 105.19 to read as follows:

§ 105.19 Jumps in or into controlled airspace.

(a) No person may make a parachute jump, and no pilot in command of an aircraft may allow a parachute jump to be made from that aircraft, in or into controlled airspace, without or in violation of an authorization issued under this section for the airspace used for that jump.

(b) Unless otherwise authorized by ATC, an application for an authorization for the use of controlled airspace for the purpose of conducting a single parachute jump, or a series of parachute jumps, is submitted to the FAA air traffic control facility exercising control over the airspace in which the parachute jumping is to be conducted, or to any other FAA office. It must be submitted in writing at least 15 days before the initial use of the airspace in which the parachute jump is to be made and include the information specified in § 105.25.

(c) Unless otherwise authorized by ATC, no person may make a parachute jump, and no pilot in command of an aircraft may allow a parachute jump to be made from that aircraft, under an authorization issued under this section, unless the ATC facility that issued the authorization is notified of the jump by telephone or radio at least 1 hour before the parachute jump is made but not more than 24 hours before the jump is completed. If the authorization is for a series of parachute jumps or for an extended period of time, the notice shall be given as specified in that authorization.

(d) Unless otherwise authorized by ATC, each applicant for, or holder of, an authorization issued under this section, shall promptly notify the FAA air traffic control facility that issued the authorization when the parachute jump or series of parachute jumps requested or authorized is canceled, postponed, or completed.

(e) An authorization issued under this section is valid for the period specified in that authorization, unless it is sooner canceled by the holder, or suspended or revoked by the Administrator.

(f) Each holder of a certificate of authorization issued under this section shall present that certificate for inspection upon request of the Administrator, or any Federal, State, or local official.

§ 105.21 [Deleted]

3. By deleting § 105.21.

4. By amending § 105.23 to read as follows:

§ 105.23 Jumps in or into uncontrolled airspace.

(a) No person may make a parachute jump, and no pilot in command may allow a parachute jump to be made from that aircraft, in or into uncontrolled airspace, unless the FAA Air Traffic Control facility or FAA Flight Service Station nearest to the place where the jump is to be made has been notified of that jump in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

(b) The notice required by paragraph (a) of this section must be given by telephone or in writing at least 1 hour before the jump is made, but not more than 24 hours before the jump is completed, and contain the information specified in § 105.25.

(c) Each person who submitted a notice of a proposed parachute jump to an FAA Air Traffic Control facility or FAA Flight Service Station, shall promptly notify that facility or station when the proposed jump or series of jumps are canceled, postponed, or completed.

5. By amending the section heading of § 105.25, the introductory paragraph of paragraph (a) of that section, and the provisions of paragraph (b) of that section to read as follows:

§ 105.25 Information required.

(a) Each person applying for an authorization for the use of airspace under § 105.15 or § 105.19, and each person submitting a notice under § 105.23, must specify the name of the individual, club, or other organization conducting the jump and include the following information:

* * * * *

(b) Each person requesting an authorization to conduct a parachute jump over or onto an airport in controlled airspace, or over or into a congested area or open air assembly of persons located in controlled or uncontrolled airspace, shall include that information in his application or notice.

6. By amending § 105.33 to read as follows:

§ 105.33 Parachute jumps at night.

(a) No person may make a parachute jump, and no pilot in command of an aircraft may allow any person to make a parachute jump from that aircraft, during the period from sunset to sunrise (or, in Alaska during the period a prominent unlighted object cannot be seen from a distance of 3 statute miles or the sun is more than 6° below the horizon), unless that person is equipped with a means of producing a light that is visible for at least 3 miles.

(b) Each person making a parachute jump during the period specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall display the required light from the time his canopy opens until he reaches the surface.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration

[49 CFR Part 571]

[Docket No. 69-18; Notice 12]

LAMPS, REFLECTIVE DEVICES, AND ASSOCIATED EQUIPMENT

Turn Signal and Hazard Warning Signal Flashers

The purpose of this notice is to propose an amendment to 49 CFR 571.108, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 108, Lamps, reflective devices, and associated equipment, that would amend requirements for turn signal and hazard warning signal flashers effective January 1, 1973.

The requirements proposed are those established by an amendment published on August 28, 1971 (36 F.R. 13743), and deleted on October 3, 1972 (37 F.R. 20695), pursuant to the decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals (Wagner Electric Corp. v. Volpe, No. 71-1976 (3d Cir. 1972)).

The Court stated in its opinion in that case:

> Our holding, then, is limited to setting aside the order of August 28, 1971, because it was adopted without observance of the notice procedure required by law, 5 U.S.C. section 706(2)(D), and to remanding the matter to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for a new rulemaking proceeding on adequate notice. In that new proceeding we urge that the Administrator make clear, if it adopts a standard which eliminates sampling provisions, whether it does so because that action is compelled by the Act, or as an informed policy judgment pursuant to 15 U.S.C. section 1392.

The action hereby proposed is based on an informed policy judgment pursuant to 15 U.S.C. section 1392. In the judgment of this agency, permissible failure rates raise difficult problems of interpretation and enforcement, and in any event are not in accordance with the need for motor vehicle safety with respect to these items of motor vehicle equipment.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed that 49 CFR 571.108, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 108, be amended as follows:

1. The reference in the first sentence of paragraph S4.1.1 to "S4.1.1.16" would be changed to "S4.1.1.—."

2. A new paragraph S4.1.1.– would be added to read "In addition to the equipment required by Table I or Table III, each passenger car, multipurpose passenger vehicle, truck, and bus shall be equipped with a turn signal flasher and a hazard warning signal flasher, and each motorcycle shall be equipped with a turn signal flasher that meets the requirements of paragraph S4.6 of this standard."

3. In Tables I and III, "Turn signal flasher" and "Vehicular hazard warning signal flasher" would be deleted as items of equipment under Column 1. Corresponding deletions would be made under Columns 2, 3, and 4 of Table I, and Columns 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Table III.

4. Paragraph S4.4.2 would be deleted.

5. Paragraph "S4.6" would be renumbered "S4.5.8."

6. A new paragraph S4.6 would be adopted to read as follows:

S4.6 Turn signal flashers; hazard warning signal flashers. Each turn signal flasher and hazard warning signal flasher shall meet the following performance and durability requirements when tested in accordance with SAE Standard J823b, "Flasher Test Equipment," April 1968. The design load used in testing each flasher used as original motor vehicle equipment shall be the design current of the motor vehicle on which the flasher is installed. The design load used in testing each fixed-load flasher used as replacement motor vehicle equipment shall be stated by the flasher manufacturer as a single design load. The design load used in testing each variable-load flasher used as replacement motor vehicle equipment shall be stated by the flasher manufacturer as minimum and maximum design loads. The maximum design load shall be used to determine voltage drop (S4.6.1.2 and conformance to durability requirements (S4.6.2). The minimum and maximum design loads shall both be used to determine starting time (S4.6.1.1) and percent current "on" time (S4.6.1.3).

S4.6.1 Performance requirements.

S4.6.1.1 Starting time. When tested under the following conditions, the time required for closed contacts to open (on a flasher with normally closed contacts) or for open contacts to close and open again (on a flasher with normally open contacts) shall not exceed 2 seconds for a turn signal flasher, and 3 seconds for a hazard warning signal flasher.

(a) Ambient temperature is 75° F.

(b) Measurement of time starts when the voltage is initially applied.

(c) The design load is connected in the standard test circuit with the power source adjusted as specified in SAE Standard J823b.

(d) The test is run three times, each of which is separated by a cooling interval of 5 minutes, and the results are averaged to determine starting time.

S4.6.1.2 Voltage drop. When tested under the following conditions, the lowest voltage drop across a flasher shall not exceed 0.8 volt.

(a) Ambient temperature is 75° F.

(b) The design load is connected in the standard test circuit with the power source adjusted as specified in SAE Standard J823b.

(c) The voltage drop is measured between the input and the load terminals at the flasher and during the "on" period after the flasher has completed at least five consecutive cycles.

S4.6.1.3 Flash rate and percent current "on" time. The flash rate and the percent current "on" time of normally closed type flashers shall be within the unshaded portion of Figure 1 and those for normally open type flashers shall be within the entire rectangle of Figure 1, including the shaded areas.

Each flasher shall meet these requirements under the following conditions:

(a) The flash rate and percent current "on" time are measured after the flasher has been operating for five consecutive cycles, and is calculated upon an average of not less than three consecutive cycles.

(b) For turn signal flashers, the operating tolerances apply over the combinations of bulb voltages and temperatures listed below as applicable:

(i) 12.8 or 6.4 volts; 75° F.
(ii) 12.0 or 6.0 volts; 0° F.
(iii) 15.0 or 7.5 volts; 0° F.
(iv) 11.0 or 5.5 volts; 125° F.
(v) 14.0 or 7.0 volts; 125° F.

(c) For hazard warning signal flashers, the operating tolerances apply over the combinations of bulb voltages and ambient temperatures listed below as applicable:

(i) 12.8 or 6.4 volts; 75° F.
(ii) 11.0 or 5.5 volts; 0° F.
(iii) 13.0 or 6.5 volts; 0° F.
(iv) 11.0 or 5.5 volts; 125° F.
(v) 13.0 or 6.5 volts; 125° F.

S4.6.2 Durability requirements.

S4.6.2.1 Turn signal flashers. Each turn signal flasher shall operate continuously for not less than 25 hours with the design load connected in the standard test circuit with the power source adjusted to apply 14 volts or 7 volts to the input terminals of the circuit. Each flasher shall then meet the requirements of paragraphs S4.6.1.1, S4.6.1.2, and S4.6.1.3 under the conditions of S4.6.1.-3(a) and (b)(i). The ambient temperature for the durability test is 75° F.

S4.6.2.2 Hazard warning signal flashers. Each hazard warning signal flasher shall operate continuously for not less than 12 hours with the design load connected in the standard test circuit with the power source adjusted to apply 13 volts or 6.5 volts to the input terminals of the circuit. Each flasher shall then meet the requirements of paragraphs S4.6.1.1, S4.6.1.2, and S4.6.1.3 under the conditions of S4.6.1.3(a) and (c)(i). The ambient temperature for the durability test is 75° F.

S4.6.3 Combination flashers. Each combination turn signal and hazard warning signal flasher shall meet the requirements of paragraphs S4.6.1 and S4.6.2 when tested in the following sequence:

(a) For performance as a turn signal flasher pursuant to paragraph S4.6.1;

(b) For performance as a hazard warning signal flasher pursuant to paragraph S4.6.1;

(c) For durability as a turn signal flasher pursuant to paragraph S4.6.2.1; and

(d) For durability as a hazard warning signal flasher pursuant to paragraph S4.6.2.2.

Interested persons are invited to submit comments on the proposal. Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Room 5221, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. It is requested but not required that 10 copies be submitted.

All comments received before the close of business on December 4, 1972, will be considered, and will be available for examination in the docket at the above address both before and after the closing date. To the extent possible, comments filed after the above date will also be considered by the Administration. However, the rule making action may proceed at any time after the date, and comments received after the closing date and too late for consideration in regard to the action will be treated as suggestions for future rule making. The Administration will continue to file relevant material, as it becomes available, in the docket after the closing date, and it is recommended that interested persons continue to examine the docket for new material.

Proposed effective date: January 1, 1973.

This notice is issued under the authority of sections 103 and 119 of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act, 15 U.S.C. 1392, 1407, and the delegations of authority at 49 CFR 1.51 and 49 CFR 501.8.

Issued on October 31, 1972.

ROBERT L. CARTER,
Associate Administrator,
Motor Vehicle Programs.

Pursuant to the provisions of section 5 of the Act of October 9, 1965 (79 Stat. 969; 16 U.S.C. 20), public notice is hereby given that thirty (30) days after the date of publication of this notice, the Department of the Interior, through the Superintendent, Great Smoky Mountains National Park, proposes to issue a concession permit to Smokemont Riding Stables, Inc., authorizing it to provide horse rental service for the public in the Smokemont area, for a period of 5 years from January 1, 1973, through December 31, 1977.

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

The foregoing concessioner has performed its obligations under a prior permit to the satisfaction of the National Park Service and, therefore, pursuant to the Act cited above, is entitled to be given preference in the renewal of the permit and in the negotiation of a new permit. However, under the Act cited above, the National Park Service is also required to consider and evaluate all proposals received as a result of this notice. Any proposal to be considered and evaluated must be submitted within thirty (30) days after publication date of this notice.

Interested parties should contact the Superintendent, Great Smoky Mountains National Park, Gatlinburg, Tenn. 37738, for information as to the requirements of the proposed permit.

Dated: September 26, 1972.

VERMONT

Designation of Areas for Emergency Loans

It has been determined that property loss or damage or injury in certain counties in Vermont has resulted from natural disasters caused by excessive rains and flooding from April through August 1972 and cold weather during January, February, and March 1972. The following counties of Vermont are affected by such natural disasters:

Addison	Lamoille
Bennington	Orange
Caledonia	Orleans
Chittenden	Rutland
Essex	Washington
Franklin	Windham
Grand Isle	Windsor

It has further been determined that in the above counties of Vermont a general need for credit exists. Therefore, these counties are declared eligible for low-interest rate disaster loans, pursuant to the provisions of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act, as amended by Public Laws 91-606 and 92-385. Applications for such loans must be received by this Department prior to July 1, 1973, except that qualified borrowers who receive initial loans pursuant to this designation may be eligible for subsequent loans.

The urgency of the need for loans in the designated areas makes it impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give advance notice of proposed rule making and invite public participation.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 30th day of October, 1972.

EARL L. BUTZ,
Secretary.

CITY COLLEGE OF THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty-free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 F.R. 3892 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 72-00553-33-46070. Applicant: City College of the City University of New York, 138th Street and Convent Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10031. Article: Scanning electron microscope, Model S4. Manufacturer: Cambridge Scientific Instruments, Ltd., United Kingdom. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to examine and record (in micrographs) the surface contours of biological materials. Specific purposes include the following:

(1) Determination of morphological characteristics of a variety of fresh water and deep sea organisms;

(2) Investigation of surface features such as integument, mouth parts, and appendages of several invertebrates;

(3) Study of the specializations of parasite surfaces and host-tissue damage sites stemming from parasitic infections; and

(4) Exploration by microsurgical probing or with a laser probe of a variety of nerve cells; including cells grown in isolation, that specialize in the production of neurohormones. The teaching materials and information derived from the use of this instrument will be used in a variety of courses at the City College including: Biology of the invertebrates, cell physiology, vertebrate histology, and biological oceanography. The article may be used by other disciplines within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, such as the Department of Geology, and is related to their academic programs by supporting graduate students studying for the master's and doctoral degrees.

Comments: Comments dated June 28, 1972, have been received from the Advanced Metals Research Corp. (AMR) which state inter alia "the AMR Model 900 provides a domestic source for this type of instrumentation which is fully competitive, if not superior to, the foreign made instrument in the areas of scientific capability, routine performance, availability of accessories, etc."

Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States.

Reasons: The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) in its memorandum dated September 18, 1972, advises that a vacuum system utilizing separate pumps on the column and chamber is pertinent to the applicant's studies of host tissue parasite damage sites, parasite organs, and secretions of damage; also surface and probed undersurface morphology of fresh and salt water organisms. The foreign article satisfies this pertinent specification by providing a two diffusion pump system. The AMR 900 has a single diffusion pump system. In its comments, AMR pointed out that the single diffusion pump system of the AMR 900 is equipped with a manifold with two separate high vacuum valves dividing the pumping conductance such that the specimen chamber is pumped independently of the column so that either both the chamber and column, either section alone or neither section may be pumped along in full automatic operation. As to this HEW advises that the single pump system provided in the AMR Model 900 does not fully match the control provided by the system of the article. HEW cites as a precedent its prior recommendation relating to Docket No. 72-00032-36-46070 which conforms in essential particulars to this application.

For these reasons we find that the Model AMR-900 scanning electron microscope is not of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article for such purposes as this article is intended to be used.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

Acting Director,
Office of Import Programs.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty-free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 F.R. 3892 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, DC.

Docket No. 72-00479-33-46040. Applicant: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 77 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, MA 02139. Article: Electron microscope, Model JEM 100B. Manufacturer: JEOL Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in a wide variety of investigations being conducted in the biology department. Notable among these are the investigation of the growth and development of tumor viruses, the growth of malignant human cells, and the genetic control of virus structure.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: The foreign article has a specified resolving capability of 3 angstroms. The most closely comparable domestic instrument is the Model EMU-4C electron microscope manufactured by the Forgflo Corp. The Model EMU-4C has a specified resolving capability of 5 angstroms. (The lower the numerical rating in terms of angstrom units, the better the resolving capability.) We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in its memorandum dated October 6, 1972, that the additional resolving capability of the foreign article is pertinent to the purposes for which the foreign article is intended to be used. We, therefore, find that the Model EMU-4C is not of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article for such purposes as the article is intended to be used.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intened to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Dockets Nos. 50-324, 50-325]

CAROLINA POWER AND LIGHT CO.

Notice of Consideration of Issuance of Facility Operating Licenses and Opportunity for Hearing; Notice of Hearing

In the matter of Carolina Power and Light Co. (Brunswick Steam Electric Plant Units 1 and 2).

The Atomic Energy Commission (the Commission) will consider the issuance of facility operating licenses to the Carolina Power and Light Co. (the applicant) which would authorize the applicant to possess, use, and operate the Brunswick Steam Electric Plant, Units 1 and 2, two boiling water nuclear reactors (the facilities), located on the Cape Fear River, near Southport, N.C. at steady-state power levels not to exceed 2,436 megawatts thermal each in accordance with the provisions of the license and the technical specifications appended thereto. The licenses would be issued upon the completion of a favorable safety evaluation of the application by the Commission's Directorate of Licensing, the completion of the environmental review required by the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix D, the receipt of a report on the applicant's application for facility operating licenses by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, and a finding by the Commission that the application for the facility licenses, as amended, complies with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (Act), and the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR Chapter 1. Construction of the facilities was authorized by Construction Permit Nos. CPPR-67 and CPPR-68 issued by the Commission on February 7, 1970. Construction of Unit 2 is anticipated to be completed by December 1, 1973, and Unit 1 by December 1, 1974.

Prior to issuance of each operating license, the Commission will inspect the facility to determine whether it has been constructed in accordance with the application, as amended, and the provisions of the construction permit. In addition, the licenses will not be issued until the Commission has made the findings, reflecting its review of the application under the Act which will be set forth in the proposed licenses, and has concluded that the issuance of the licenses will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public. Upon issuance of the licenses, the applicant will be required to execute an indemnity agreement as required by section 170 of the Act and 10 CFR Part 140 of the Commission's regulations.

In addition to the above, the facilities are subject to the provisions of section B of Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, which sets forth procedures applicable to review of environmental considerations for production and utilization facilities for which construction permits or operating licenses were issued in the period January 1, 1970–September 9, 1971. These provisions require that a hearing be held to consider whether the construction permits should be continued, modified, terminated, or appropriately conditioned to protect environmental values. With respect to this consideration, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Act and the regulations in 10 CFR Part 2, "Rules of Practice," and Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, "Implementation of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969," that a hearing will be held in the captioned proceeding by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board (Board) at a time and place to be fixed by subsequent order of the Board to consider and make determinations on the matters set forth below.

1. In the event that this proceeding is not a contested proceeding as defined by 10 CFR 2.4(n) of the Commission's "Rules of Practice," the Board will without conducting a de novo evaluation of the application determine whether the environmental review conducted by the Commission's regulatory staff pursuant to Appendix D of 10 CFR Part 50 has been adequate.

2. In the event that this proceeding is a contested proceeding, the Board will decide any matters in controversy among the parties within the scope of Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, with regard to whether, in accordance with the requirements of Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, the construction permits should be continued, modified, terminated, or appropriately conditioned to protect environmental values:

3. Regardless of whether the proceeding is contested or uncontested, the Board will, in accordance with section A.11 of Appendix D of 10 CFR Part 50, (a) determine whether the requirements of section 102(2) (C) and (D) of NEPA and Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50 of the Commission's regulations have been complied with in this proceeding; (b) independently consider the final balance among conflicting factors contained in the record of the proceeding with a view toward determining the appropriate action to be taken; and (c) determine, after weighing the environmental, economic, technical, and other benefits against environmental costs and considering available alternatives, whether the construction permits should be continued, modified, terminated, or appropriately conditioned to protect environmental values.

The Board will be designated by the Atomic Energy Commission. Notice as to its membership will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Within thirty (30) days from the date of publication of this present notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the applicant may file a request for a hearing with respect to issuance of the facility operating licenses and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a petition for leave to intervene (1) with respect to the issuance of the facility operating licenses; or (2) with respect to whether, considering those matters covered by Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, the construction permits should be continued, modified, terminated, or appropriately conditioned to protect environmental values. Requests for a hearing and petitions for leave to intervene shall be filed in accordance with the Commission's "Rules of Practice" in 10 CFR Part 2.

A petition for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 2.714. As required by 10 CFR 2.714, a petition for leave to intervene shall set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and any other contentions of the petitioner including the facts and reasons why he should be permitted to intervene, with particular reference to the following factors: (1) The nature of the petitioner's right under the Act to be made a party to the proceeding; (2) the nature and extent of the petitioner's property, financial, or other interest in the proceeding; and (3) the possible effect of any order which may be entered in the proceeding on the petitioner's interest. Any such petition shall be accompanied by a supporting affidavit identifying the specific aspect or aspects of the subject matter of the proceeding as to which the petitioner wishes to intervene and setting forth with particularity both the facts pertaining to his interest and the basis for his contentions with regard to each aspect on which he desires to intervene. A petition that sets forth contentions relating only to matters outside the jurisdiction of the Commission will be denied.

A request for a hearing or a petition for leave to intervene must be filed with the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, DC 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff, or may be delivered to the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, not later than thirty (30) days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A petition for leave to intervene which is not timely will not be granted unless the Commission determines that the petitioner has made a substantial showing of good cause for failure to file on time and after the Commission has considered those factors specified in 10 CFR 2.714(a).

If a request for a hearing or petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of facility operating licenses is filed within the time prescribed in this notice, the Commission will issue a notice of hearing or an appropriate order.

Any person who does not wish to, or is not qualified to become a party to this proceeding concerning continuation, modification, termination, or conditioning the construction permits may request permission to make a limited appearance pursuant to the provisions of 10 CFR 2.715. A person making a limited appearance may only make an oral or written statement on the record, and may not participate in the proceeding in any other way. Limited appearances will be permitted at the time of the hearing in the discretion of the Board, within such limits and on such conditions as may be fixed by the Board. Persons desiring to make a limited appearance are requested to inform the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, not later than thirty (30) days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

A person permitted to make a limited appearance does not become a party, but may state his position and raise questions which he would like to have answered to the extent that the questions are within the scope of the hearing as specified in the issues set out above.

In the event that this proceeding concerning continuation, modification, termination, or conditioning the construction permits is not contested, the Board will convene a prehearing conference of the parties within sixty (60) days after this notice of hearing or such other time as may be appropriate, at a time and place to be set by the Board. It will also set the schedule for the evidentiary hearing. Notice of the prehearing conference and the hearing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In the event that this proceeding concerning continuation, modification, termination, or conditioning the construction permits becomes a contested proceeding, the Board will convene a special prehearing conference of the parties to the proceeding and persons who have filed petitions for leave to intervene, or their counsel, to be held within sixty (60) days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or within such other time as may be appropriate, at a place to be set by the Board for the purpose of dealing with the matters specified in 10 CFR 2.751a.

The Board will convene a prehearing conference of the parties, or their counsel, to be held subsequent to any special prehearing conference and within sixty (60) days after discovery has been completed, or within such other time as may be appropriate, at a place to be set by the Board for the purpose of dealing with the matters specified in 10 CFR 2.752.

Notices of the dates and places of the special prehearing conference, the prehearing conference and the hearing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

For further details pertinent to the matters under consideration, see the application for the facility operating licenses dated May 30, 1972, as amended, and the applicant's Environmental Report dated November 8, 1971, which are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, and at the Southport-Brunswick County Library, 109 West Moore Street, Southport, NC 28461. As they become available, the following documents also will be available at the above locations: (1) Safety Evaluation prepared by the Directorate of Licensing; (2) the Commission's draft detailed statement on environmental considerations pursuant to 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix D; (3) the Commission's final detailed statement on environmental considerations; (4) the report of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards on the application for facility operating licenses; (5) the proposed facility operating licenses; and (6) the proposed technical specifications, which will be attached to the proposed facility operating licenses. Copies of items (1), (3), (4), and (5) may be obtained by request to Deputy Director for Reactor Projects, Directorate of Licensing, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

With respect to this proceeding concerning continuation, modification, termination, or conditioning the construction permits, the Commission will delegate to the Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board the authority and the review function which would otherwise be exercised and performed by the Commission. The Commission will establish the Appeal Board pursuant to 10 CFR 2.785 and will make the delegation pursuant to subparagraph (a)(1) of that section. The Appeal Board will be composed of a chairman, and two other members to be designated by the Commission. Notice as to the membership of the Appeal Board will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 21828; Order 72-10-98]

AMERICAN-TRANS CARIBBEAN MERGER CASE

Order on Petition and Order To Show Cause

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 31st day of October, 1972.

On April 26, 1972, James Matthiesen, a former pilot of Trans Caribbean Airways, Inc., who is now employed by American Airlines, filed a petition with the Board requesting an order to compel American Airlines to arbitrate his claim for a displacement allowance pursuant to the labor protective provisions imposed by the Board in the American-Trans Caribbean Merger Case, Order 70-12-161, December 31, 1970. An answer to the petition was filed by American Airlines. Subsequently, motions for leave to file a response to American's answer were filed by the Trans Caribbean Airways Master Executive Counsel (TCA-MEC) and the petitioner. These responses are directly relevant to this proceeding and we will grant leave to file them. Similarly, we will grant the request of certain American pilots formerly employed by Trans Caribbean who have displacement allowance claims under the labor protective provisions that they be allowed to file a "statement of position" vis-a-vis American's answer. Petitioner thereafter filed a motion for expedited treatment.

Petitioner claims that for the 12 months preceding the merger of American and Trans Caribbean he earned an average of $4,015.01 per month, but that during the 10-month period immediately following the date of his displacement from a Trans Caribbean captaincy, his average monthly compensation by American Airlines was $1,751.65. For the 10-month period this amounts to a gross differential of $22,633.60. Petitioner filed a claim for a displacement allowance with American on May 25, 1971, to which the airline replied it could not directly respond. Subsequently, on July 30, 1971, purportedly acting on the advice of the Allied Pilots Association he mailed a "grievance letter" to American protesting the carrier's alleged violation of the labor protective provisions by its failure to provide the prescribed displacement allowance. On October 6, American denied the petitioner's claim, but proposed that the dispute might be presented to the AA-APA System Board of Adjustment, with a neutral referee for a fifth member of the board. On December 2, 1971, American wrote to petitioner and invited him to participate in proceedings before the System Board sitting with a neutral member which would make final and binding findings on all claims. Petitioner alleges he was offered no opportunity to participate in the selection of the neutral and that the System Board is comprised of two representatives from American, two from APA and the neutral, named by American, but that the panel does not include any representative of the former Trans Caribbean pilots. This panel was unsatisfactory to petitioner.[1] Moreover, after retention of an attorney it was determined by petitioner that the dispute under the labor protective provisions was not within the jurisdiction of the American/APA System Board because it does not arise from the terms of the American/APA collective bargaining agreement.

On February 23, 1972, petitioner's attorney wrote American and requested a written response to the displacement allowance claim and "withdrew" the "grievance" filed July 30, 1971. Petitioner alleges that subsequent communication with American's attorney was also fruitless and that the carrier was not prepared to pay the allowance absent arbitration of the matter. It is therefore urged that the Board issue an order (a) declaring that, by its delay and failure to respond to or process petitioner's claim, American has violated both the letter and spirit of the labor protective provisions; (b) directing American to respond within 10 days to an arbitration proposal previously made by petitioner, and absent acceptance of this proposal directing that the dispute may be referred by either party to an arbitrator chosen by a specifically set out procedure; (c) directing that the salary and expenses of the arbitrator so selected, together with all related expenses of arbitration, shall be borne solely and fully by American; (d) directing that the arbitrator's decision be final and binding on all parties; (e) requiring American to reimburse and make whole the petitioner for all costs and expenses, including attorneys fees and expenses, incurred in obtaining both the Board's order and the arbitration award; and (f) directing that American act promptly and process all claims filed by former Trans Caribbean employees under the labor protective provisions.

American's answer asserts that there has been, and is, no reluctance on American's part to arbitrate Captain Matthiesen's claim. Indeed, American states that the petitioner's claim was duly included in the displacement allowance claims pending before Mr. Leverett Edwards (former Chairman of the National Mediation Board) sitting as the neutral member of the American/APA System Board of Adjustment. The carrier claims that after receipt of the February 23, 1972, letter from petitioner's attorney, American proposed that Matthiesen's displacement allowance claim be included among the issues heard in the Board-ordered arbitration of the flight crew seniority list integration dispute,[2] for which the various parties had agreed that Prof. Russell Smith should act as arbitrator. Moreover, the airline asserts, it is the petitioner, acting through his attorney, who has refused to arbitrate the displacement claim as described above, but instead has attempted to withdraw unilaterally from an arbitration already agreed upon.[3]

American urges that in deciding what to do, a number of factors should be taken into account. First, it asserts that petitioner's claim is not a matter of simple mechanical calculations from known figures, for it involves a number of questions of interpretation and application of labor protective provisions in light of conditions existing at Trans Caribbean prior to the merger. Second, issues involved in petitioner's displacement allowance claim are related, and perhaps intertwined with, issues before Arbitrator Smith in the arbitration of seniority list integration. Third, fairness, consistency of result, and practical convenience to everyone point to having one arbitration covering all displacement allowance claims growing out of the American-Trans Caribbean merger.

American concludes that the Board need not issue any further order, but can rely on normal processes of accommodation to produce arbitration of petitioner's claim. It urges that, if we disagree, we should interpret our previous order directing arbitration of the seniority list dispute to include arbitration of displacement allowance claims and all other flight-crew claims that may arise out of the American-Trans Caribbean merger. It urges that there is no basis to sustain petitioner's additional requests for relief.[4]

In his reply to America's answer, petitioner rejects the carrier's suggestion that the petitioner's claim is related to or intertwined with the issues before Arbitrator Smith. To the contrary, he urges that the displacement allowance claim is separate from and unrelated to the matters which have been before the arbitrator in the seniority integration case for the past 6 months. It is urged that in contrast to the thorny issues in that proceeding, the claim here involves the difference between petitioner's average premerger earnings, and his average postmerger earnings. Moreover, the seniority integration arbitration is a prolonged, four-party proceeding, while the dispute here involves only Matthiesen and American. It is urged that, in view of these circumstances it would be unfair to the petitioner to require him to undertake the time and expense of becoming a party to the seniority list integration proceeding and to have resolution of his claim delayed until a decision is rendered in that case.

The TCA-MEC reply similarly opposes consolidation of this claim with the seniority list arbitration because it feels such action can only delay the seniority arbitration which has already been delayed too long. Further, TCA-MEC urges that while American urges that consolidation would eliminate duplication, it in reality is seeking a "free ride" and under section 13 of the labor protective provisions "would be obligated to defend rejection of these claims in any event." Also, of the parties to the Smith arbitration proceeding, only American is a party to this dispute. Finally, it urges that American's claim that a separate arbitration may be unfair to employees is undercut by the fact that numerous other employees do not wish to have their claims tied to the seniority list arbitration. The reply of American pilots formerly employed by Trans Caribbean who also have displacement allowance claims against American urges that they are presently attempting to negotiate the entire matter of their claims with American and that under no circumstances do they want to be included in the seniority list dispute.

Upon consideration, we have determined to deny both the request by American that this dispute be included in the present seniority arbitration, and the specific relief requested by the petitioner. In this connection, the Board wishes to emphasize its concern that the procedures for resolution of labor disputes by negotiation with ultimate recourse to arbitration, provided for in section 13 of the labor protective provisions, have been repeatedly frustrated by both the airlines and the employees petitioning the Board for modifications which, presumably, it is hoped would further their cause. As the Board has repeatedly stated,[5] it does not possess peculiar expertise in labor matters. It is for this reason that the arbitration provisions of the labor conditions are designed specifically to provide resolution of disputes in a fair and impartial manner without submission of the controversy to the Board. Moreover, the Board perceives no reason why carriers should delay in responding to requests for arbitration or if they do, why the employee should not resort to the more expeditious remedy of requesting a court to direct arbitration rather than directing the request to the Board (as opposed to requesting the Board to impose sanctions upon the carrier for its failure to comply with the arbitration requirement). Our recent revision in the Allegheny-Mohawk Merger (Order 72-4-31/32) of the arbitration provisions is designed to facilitate the arbitration procedures, as well as their enforcement.

With this in mind, we turn to the specific contentions of the parties in this proceeding. American argues that this dispute should be included in the pending seniority arbitration. We find no justification for such a procedure. To interject this nonpriority and largely tangential matter into the pending seniority proceeding would only serve to further complicate and delay that arbitration proceeding, which has already been delayed far too long. There has been no showing of any necessary relationship between this matter and the pending seniority list dispute.

Moreover, we are becoming increasingly concerned over the repeated failure of American to arrange for prompt presentation of these relatively minor issues to an arbitration procedure. In this connection, we wish to serve notice that we do not anticipate that further reliance on the Board will be necessary to implement the carrier's obligation to submit such disputes for impartial consideration by arbitration. In order to insure that there will be no grounds for future delay on the basis of failure of the parties to agree upon appropriate arbitration procedures, we propose to amend section 13 of the arbitration procedures applicable to the American-TCA merger to provide (but solely with respect to future arbitration proceedings (inclusive of the one at issue) and not with respect to any pending arbitration proceeding), the specific arbitration procedures adopted in the Allegheny-Mohawk Merger, Order 72-4-31/32. That provision reads as follows:

Section 13(a). In the event that any dispute or controversy (except as to matters arising under section 9) arises with respect to the protection provided herein, which cannot be settled by the parties within 20 days after the controversy arises, it may be referred by any party to an arbitrator selected from a panel of seven names furnished by the National Mediation Board for consideration and determination. The parties shall select the arbitrator from such panel by alternately striking names until only one remains, and he shall serve as arbitrator. Expedited hearings and decisions will be expected, and a decision shall be rendered within 90 days after the controversy arises, unless an extension of time is mutually agreeable to all parties. The salary and expenses of the arbitrator shall be borne equally by the carrier and (i) the organization or organizations representing the employee or employees, or (ii) if unrepresented, the employee or employees or group or groups of employees. The decision of the arbitrator shall be final and binding on the parties.

(b) The above condition shall not apply if the parties by mutual agreement determine that an alternative method for dispute settlement or an alternative procedure for selection of an arbitrator is appropriate in their particular dispute. No party shall be excused from complying with the above condition by reason of having suggested an alternative method or procedure, unless and until that alternative method or procedure shall have been agreed to by all the parties.

We also propose to provide that within 10 days of selection of the arbitrator in all future disputes arbitrated in accordance with the amended provisions, the arbitrator's identity shall be reported to the Board by American. Thereafter when final decision by an arbitrator is rendered, American shall provide the Board with copies of such decision within 10 days of its issuance.

With respect to the various specifications of relief sought by the petitioner, we again take this opportunity to express the Board's concern over the growing tendency of employee groups and individuals following mergers, to attempt to invoke the Board's limited jurisdiction[6] over labor disputes, rather than to seek relief from the courts or through an administrative enforcement proceeding. We wish to advise all carriers subject to the Board's labor protective provisions that the Board views the enforcement provisions of the statute, including the penalty provisions, as being fully applicable to a failure to comply with the arbitration provisions.

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That American Airlines, Inc., and any other interested person be and they hereby are directed to show cause, within 7 days after the date of this order:

(a) Why the Board should not amend section 13 of the labor protective provisions imposed in Order 70-12-161, to substitute therefor, effective upon the date of this order, section 13 of the labor protective provisions imposed by the Board in the Allegheny-Mohawk Merger Case, Order 72-4-31/32, with a proviso that the substitution shall not be deemed to affect any arbitration proceeding pending on the date of this order;

(b) Why the Board should not direct American, with respect to all future arbitrations subject to the labor protective provisions imposed by Order 70-12-161 as modified in accordance with (a) above,

(i) To file in this docket within 10 days after the selection of an arbitrator a report indicating the identity of the individual selected; and

(ii) To file two (2) copies of any arbitration decision with the Board immediately upon its issuance.

[1] There is an outstanding dispute between the APA and the former Trans Caribbean flight personnel concerning integration of seniority lists which is currently the subject of an arbitration proceeding ordered by the Board.

[2] See Order 71-5-30, served May 7, 1971, and Order 71-6-71, served June 14, 1971, both aff'd. American Airlines v. C.A.B., 445 F.2d 891 (C.A. 2, 1971), cert. denied 92 S. Ct. 681 (1972).

[3] American states that petitioner's specific proposals concerning an arbitration are unacceptable to it.

[4] American claims that the new section 13(a) of the labor protective provisions adopted by the Board in the Allegheny-Mohawk merger, Orders 72-4-31/32, in its procedure for alternately striking names contemplates only a two-party dispute. The procedure outlined is readily adaptable to a multiparty dispute, and clearly the provisions were intended to be applicable whether two or more parties are involved. Moreover, if it should be determined that a list of seven names is not sufficient to permit all the parties to participate in the selection of an arbitrator, the parties under section 13(b) may increase or decrease the number to resolve their difficulty.

[5] See, e.g., American Airlines v. C.A.B., 445 F. 2d 891 (C.A. 2, 1971), cert denied, 92 S. Ct. 681 (1972); Outland v. C.A.B., 284 F. 2d 224 (D.C. Cir., 1960).

[6] The Board has jurisdiction to enter orders to implement the labor protective conditions (Order 71-5-30) and specifically reserves jurisdiction to make such amendments, modifications and additions to the protective labor conditions as circumstances may require. See Order 70-12-161.

2. That, except to the extent granted, the petition of James Matthiesen and all other requests herein be and they hereby are denied.

3. That this order shall be served upon American Airlines, Inc., the petitioner, the persons responding to the petition, and all labor parties in Docket 21828.

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

ARKWRIGHT MILLS

Firm and Workers' Petition for Determinations; Notice of Investigations and Hearing

On the basis of a petition filed under section 301(a)(2) of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962, on behalf of Arkwright Mills, Spartanburg, S.C., and its former workers, the U.S. Tariff Commission, on October 27, 1972, instituted investigations under sections 301(c)(1) and 301(c)(2) of the Act to determine whether, as a result in major part of concessions granted under trade agreements articles like or directly competitive with woven fabrics of cotton and of manmade fibers (of the types provided for in items 320.11–320.17, 321.11–321.17, 322.11–322.17, 327.11–327.17, 328.11–328.17, and 338.30 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States) produced by said firm are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to cause, or threaten to cause serious injury to such firm, and/or the unemployment or underemployment of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or an appropriate subdivision thereof.

A public hearing in connection with this investigation will be held beginning at 10 a.m., e.s.t., on December 1, 1972, in the Hearing Room, U.S. Tariff Commission Building, Eighth and E Streets NW., Washington, DC. Appearances at the hearing should be entered in accordance with § 201.13 of the Tariff Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

The petitions filed in this case are available for inspection at the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Tariff Commission, Eighth and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C., and at the New York City office of the Tariff Commission located in Room 437 of the Customhouse.

By order of the Commission.

Issued: October 30, 1972.

APPENDIX II

DEFINITION OF CODES FOR THE GENERAL NATURE OF EPA COMMENTS

(1) General agreement/lack of objections. The Agency generally:

(a) Has no objections to the proposed action as described in the draft impact statement;

(b) Suggests only minor changes in the proposed action or the draft impact statement; or

(c) Has no comments on the draft impact statement or the proposed action.

(2) Inadequate information. The Agency feels that the draft impact statement does not contain adequate information to assess fully the environmental impact of the proposed action. The Agency's comments call for more information about the potential environmental hazards addressed in the statement, or ask that a potential environmental hazard be addressed since it was not addressed in the draft statement.

(3) Major changes necessary. The Agency believes that the proposed action, as described in the draft impact statement, needs major revisions or major additional safeguards to adequately protect the environment.

(4) Unsatisfactory. The Agency believes that the proposed action is unsatisfactory because of its potentially harmful effect on the environment. Furthermore, the Agency believes that the safeguards which might be utilized may not adequately protect the environment from the hazards arising from this action. The Agency therefore recommends that alternatives to the action be analyzed further (including the possibility of no action at all).

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. CI73-283]

ANADARKO PRODUCTION CO.

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 31, 1972.

Take notice that on October 18, 1972, Anadarko Production Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 9317, Fort Worth, TX 76107, filed in Docket No. CI73-283 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. (Panhandle) in Seward County, Kans., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to sell Panhandle pursuant to a letter agreement dated September 25, 1972, volumes of natural gas up to 20,000 Mcf per day for a term limited of 1 year after the first day of the month following the date of initial delivery within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70). Applicant proposes to charge Panhandle a rate of 35 cents per Mcf, adjusted for heat value at 14.65 p.s.i.a. for such gas.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 12, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

PERRY R. BASS

Notice of Application

OCTOBER 31, 1972.

Take notice that on October 26, 1972, Perry R. Bass, individually and as agent for Bass Enterprises Production Co. (Applicant), Fort Worth National Bank Building, Fort Worth, Tex. 76102, filed in Docket No. CI73-299 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certification of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public contural) from acreage in Eddy County, N. Mex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to sell up to 5,000 Mcf of gas per day at 35 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a., plus upward B.t.u. adjustment, for 12 months from the date of initial delivery under the requested authorization within the contemplation of section 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70).

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before November 10, 1972, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Report 620]

COMMON CARRIER SERVICES INFORMATION [1]

Domestic Public Radio Services Applications Accepted for Filing [2]

OCTOBER 30, 1972.

Pursuant to §§ 1.227(b)(3) and 21.30 (b) of the Commission's rules, an application, in order to be considered with any domestic public radio services application appearing on the attached list, must be substantially complete and tendered for filing by whichever date is earlier: (a) The close of business one business day preceding the day on which the Commission takes action on the previously filed application; or (b) within 60 days after the date of the public notice listing the first prior filed application (with which subsequent applications are in conflict) as having been accepted for filing. An application which is subsequently amended by a major change will be considered to be a newly filed application. It is to be noted that the cutoff dates are set forth in the alternative—applications will be entitled to consideration with those listed below if filed by the end of the 60-day period, only if the Commission has not acted upon the application by that time pursuant to the first alternative earlier date. The mutual exclusivity rights of a new application are governed by the earliest action with respect to any one of the earlier filed conflicting applications.

[1] All applications listed in the appendix are subject to further consideration and review and may be returned and/or dismissed if not found to be in accordance with the Commission's rules, regulations, and other requirements.

[2] The above alternative cutoff rules apply to those applications listed in the appendix as having been accepted in Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio, Rural Radio, Point-to-Point Microwave Radio and Local Television Transmission Services (Part 21 of the rules).

The attention of any party in interest desiring to file pleadings pursuant to section 309 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, concerning any domestic public radio services application accepted for filing, is directed to § 21.27 of the Commission's rules for provisions governing the time for filing and other requirements relating to such pleadings.

PPG INDUSTRIES, INC.

Grant of Variance

I. Background. On November 5, 1971, PPG Industries, Inc., 1 Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, PA 15222, made application pursuant to section 6(d) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1596) and 29 CFR 1905.11, for a variance, and for an interim order pending a decision on the application for a variance, from the national consensus standard prescribed in 29 CFR 1910.145 (a) through (e), concerning specifications for accident prevention signs and tags. Notice of the application for variance made by PPG Industries, Inc., and of the granting of an interim order pending a decision on the application, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 10, 1972 (36 F.R. 5198). The notice invited interested persons, including affected employers and employees, to submit written data, views, and arguments regarding the grant or denial of the variance requested. In addition, affected employers and employees were permitted to request a hearing on the application for a variance. One letter expressing an opinion on the matter has been received; no request for a hearing has been received.

II. Facts. The request for a variance is limited to the following addresses of manufacturing and research facilities which the applicant states are directly affected by the application:

PPG states that in 1968 a professionally developed accident prevention sign program for use primarily in the Company's manufacturing and research facilities was initiated. Although the accident prevention sign program was based substantially on the specifications in ANSI Z35.1–1969. Specifications for Accident Prevention Signs (substantially the source of § 1910.145 (a) through (e)), PPG determined that in some categories they could be improved.

In support of its application PPG states that in developing its accident prevention sign program it corrected alleged deficiencies in ANSI Z35.1–1969 and 29 CFR 1910.145 (a) through (e). The differences which it seeks in the variance application are related principally to the format of the signs. PPG states that the sizes of their signs and letters will be calculated according to a formula based on the viewing distance from which the sign is to be read. PPG also states that its sign program, which is set out in the PPG Corporate Sign Manual Bulletin No. 25, copyright 1970, and attached to the application as appendix A, includes such changes as the use of 100 percent color surface, the use of reflective signs, both interior and exterior, when clear legibility is needed at night, and a simpler format to improve readability and effectiveness.

In the one letter which was received, a signage designer and director of a signage and graphic design group wholeheartedly supports the request by PPG for a variance. The signage designer comments that the changes proposed by PPG will achieve a higher degree of legibility.

III. Decision. The primary purpose of the standard from which the variance is sought is to indicate and to define specific hazards of a nature such that failure to designate them may lead to accidental injury to workers. PPG has demonstrated, with information which is uncontroverted, credible, and, in fact, supported by a sign specialist, that the proposed sign program will satisfy this purpose at least as effectively as a sign program which complies with the standard. The technical staff of the Office of Standards, which has examined the PPG Corporate Sign Manual Bulletin No. 25, also has recommended the sign program proposed by PPG on the ground that it would result in more effective accident prevention than would the signs based on the Federal standard. The differences which PPG seeks in the variance application are necessary to permit the implementation of its proposed sign program.

Many of the changes which PPG proposes to make go beyond the specifications set out in § 1910.145 (a) through (e). For example, it proposes the use of reflective signs, both interior and exterior, when clear legibility is needed at night, while there is no such requirement in the Federal standard. PPG's proposal to use a 100-percent color surface renders the sign less cluttered than if it followed the Federal standard which requires that only 35 percent of the sign surface be color-coated. While the PPG sign program calculates its sign and letter sizes by a formula based on viewing distance, the Federal standard makes no reference to viewing distance, nor does it limit the size of the message to be printed on a particular size sign. Consequently, the PPG sign format is simpler and less confusing to read and understand.

In conclusion, it appears from the PPG application, the PPG Corporate Sign Manual Bulletin No. 25, and other supporting data, that the methods of design, format, construction, and use of the PPG accident prevention signs will provide employment and places of employment as safe and as healthful as those which would prevail if PPG were to comply with the requirements of 29 CFR 1910.145 (a) through (e). Therefore:

IV. Order. It is ordered, Pursuant to authority in section 6(d) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 and in Secretary of Labor's Order No. 12–71 (36 F.R. 8754), that PPG Industries, Inc. be, and it is hereby authorized, to use the methods of design construction and format for accident prevention signs in accordance with the specifications set forth in its PPG Corporate Sign Manual Bulletin No. 25, attached to the application as appendix A, in lieu of the requirements set forth in § 1910.145 (a) through (e), and in accordance with the following conditions:

(1) All accident and prevention signs shall be designed, constructed, and utilized in accordance with the specifications described in the PPG Corporate Sign Manual Bulletin No. 25, copyright 1970, submitted with the application. The Bulletin will be maintained in the Office of Standards, U.S. Department of Labor, Railway Labor Building, Room 500, 400 First Street NW., Washington, DC 20210, for reference and inspection;

(2) All standard symbols, including the radiation symbol, the slow-moving vehicle emblem, and the biohazard symbol, prescribed in 29 CFR 1910.145 shall be used where required; and

(3) PPG Industries, Inc. shall give notice to affected employees of the terms of this variance by the same means required to be used to inform them of the application for the variance.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on November 2, 1972, and shall remain in effect until modified or revoked in accordance with section 6(d) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 30th day of October 1972.

G. C. GUENTHER,
Assistant Secretary of Labor.

OTTO GOEDECKE, INC.

Notice of Certification of Eligibility of Workers To Apply for Adjustment Assistance

Under date of September 15, 1972, the U.S. Tariff Commission made a report on the results of its investigation (TEA–W–150) under section 301(c)(2) of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (76 Stat. 884) "in response to a petition for determination of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance submitted by the Textile Workers Union of America (AFL–CIO) on behalf of workers formerly employed by Otto Goedecke, Inc., Hallettsville, Tex. In this report the Commission found that articles like or directly competitive with certain cotton yarns and plain-woven fabrics produced by Otto Goedecke, Inc. are, as a result in major part of concessions granted under trade agreements, being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to cause or threaten to cause unemployment of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm.

Upon receipt of the Tariff Commission's affirmative finding, the Department, through the Director of the Office of Foreign Economic Policy, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, instituted an investigation. Following this, the Director made a recommendation to me relating to the matter of certification (Notice of Delegation of Authority and Notice of Investigation, 34 F.R. 18342; 37 F.R. 2472; 20137). In the recommendation she noted that imports like or directly competitive with certain cotton yarns and fabrics produced by Otto Goedecke, Inc., increased substantially. As a result, the corporation cut back production. Employment levels and hours worked began to decline in early 1969 and 1970 and continued despite efforts to remain competitive. Unemployment and underemployment directly related to import competition began in March 1969 and January 1970. All production at Otto Goedecke, Inc. and its affiliates ended in April and July 1970, and the plants were closed. After due consideration, I make the following certifications:

All workers, hourly and salaried, of Otto Goedecke, Inc., Hallettsville, Tex., who were not engaged in raw cotton merchandising and who became unemployed or underemployed after January 7, 1970, and before August 5, 1970, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under title III, chapter 3, of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

All hourly and salaried workers of Otto Goedecke, Inc.'s affiliate, Lone Star Textile Cuero plant, Cuero, Tex., who became unemployed or underemployed after January 3, 1970, and before June 22, 1970, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under title III, chapter 3, of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

All hourly and salaried workers of Otto Goedecke, Inc.'s affiliate, Lone Star Textile Mexia plant, Mexia, Tex., who became unemployed or underemployed after January 3, 1970, and before July 20, 1970, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under title III, chapter 3, of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

All hourly and salaried employees of Otto Goedecke, Inc.'s affiliate, Red River Cotton Mills, Bonham plant, Bonham, Tex., who became unemployed or underemployed after March 15, 1969, and before April 27, 1970, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under title III, chapter 3, of the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 31st day of October, 1972.

JOEL SEGALL,
Deputy Under Secretary, International Affairs.

It is ordered, That pursuant to the authority vested in me by Car Service Rule 19, plain boxcars described in the Official Railway Equipment Register, ICC R.E.R. No. 385, issued by W. J. Trezise, or successive issues thereof, as having mechanical designation XM, with inside length 44 feet 6 inches or less and equipped with doors less than 9-feet wide owned by any of the aforementioned railroads and located empty on such lines, may be loaded with grain or grain products, as defined herein, to stations located on any of the aforementioned railroads. When so loaded, such cars shall be exempt from the provisions of Car Service Rules 1 and 2.

The term grain and grain products shall comprise the commodities specifically named in lists 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, and 8 published in Western Trunk Lines Freight Tariff 330–U, ICC A–4797, issued by Fred Ofcky, supplements thereto, or consecutive issues thereof.

Effective October 31, 1972.

Expires November 30, 1972.

Issued at Washington, D.C., October 26, 1972.

No. 213—Pt. II——1

V 37-213 NOV 3 72 XUM

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Employment Standards Administration

MINIMUM WAGES FOR FEDERAL AND FEDERALLY ASSISTED CONSTRUCTION

Area Wage Determination Decisions, Modifications, and Supersedeas Decisions

New determinations. There is set forth below general Area Wage Determination Decisions Nos. AP–29, AP–356, AP–440, and AP–441 of the Secretary of Labor. These decisions specify, in accordance with applicable law and on the basis of information available to the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and from other sources, the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed in construction activity of the character and in the localities specified therein. These decisions are applicable to Federal and federally assisted construction in the described localities in the States of Arkansas, Illinois, and Virginia.

The determinations in these decisions of such prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 F.R. 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24–70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determinations by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates (37 F.R. 21138) and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 12–71 and 15–71 (36 F.R. 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged on contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 and not providing for delay in effective date as prescribed in that section, because the necessity to issue construction industry wage determinations frequently and in large volume causes procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest.

These wage determinations are effective without limitation as to time and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR Parts 1 and 5. Accordingly, the applicable determination together with any modifications issued subsequent to this date shall be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR Part 5. The wage rates contained therein shall be the minimum paid under such contract by contractors and subcontractors on the work.

Modifications and supersedeas decisions to area wage determination decisions. Modifications and supersedeas decisions to area wage determination decisions for specified localities in the States of Arizona, Arkansas, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Montana, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Virginia.

Are hereby modified and/or superseded as set forth below. Supersedeas decision numbers are in parentheses following the number of the decision being superseded.

These modifications and/or supersedeas decisions are based upon information obtained concerning changes in prevailing hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments since these determinations were issued.

The determinations of prevailing rates and fringe benefits made in these modifications and/or supersedeas decisions have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 F.R. 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24–70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determination by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates (37 F.R. 21138) and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 13–71 and 15–71 (36 F.R. 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in the foregoing area wage determination decisions, as hereby modified, and/or superseded shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged in contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

The modifications and/or supersedeas decisions are effective from their date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR Parts 1 and 5.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the wages determined as prevailing is encouraged to submit wage rate information for consideration by the Department. Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Office of Special Wage Standards, Division of Wage Determinations, Washington, D.C. 20210. The cause for not utilizing the rule making procedures prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 is set forth in the document being modified.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 27th day of October 1972.

HORACE E. MENASCO, Administrator,
Wage and Hour Division.

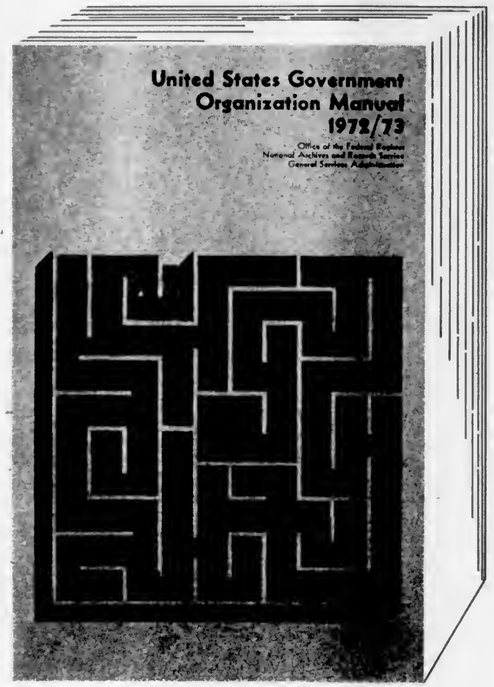
An Invaluable Reference Tool



1972/73 Edition

This guidebook provides information about significant programs and functions of the U.S. Government agencies, and identifies key officials in each agency.

Included with most agency statements are "Sources of Information" sections which give helpful information on:

- Employment
- Contracting with the Federal Government
- Environmental programs
- Small business opportunities
- Federal publications
- Speakers and films available to civic and educational groups

This handbook is a "must" for teachers, students, librarians, researchers, businessmen, and lawyers who need current official information about the U.S. Government.

Title 5—ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL

Chapter XI—U.S. Soldiers' and Airmen's Home

CHANGE IN TITLE

By action of the Secretary of Defense, copy enclosed,[1] the title of the U.S. Soldiers' Home has been changed to "United States Soldiers' and Airmen's Home," effective September 7, 1972. To effect this change the chapter heading is amended to read as set forth above, and wherever in the regulations the term "United States Soldiers' Home," appears the term "United States Soldiers' and Airmen's Home" should be inserted.

CHARLES F. DUPONT,
Lt. Colonel, USAF (Ret.), Secretary, Board of Commissioners, United States Soldiers' and Airmen's Home.

Title 6—ECONOMIC STABILIZATION

Chapter III—Price Commission

PART 300—PRICE STABILIZATION

Acquisition and Divestitures of Entities; Correction

The document amending Part 300 of the regulations of the Price Commission and captioned "Acquisition and Divestitures of Entities," published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 4, 1972 (37 F.R. 20828) is corrected by substituting the words "including adjustment" for the words "or to allow a restatement" in § 300.355(a), and by substituting the words "legal person" for the words "legal entity" in § 300.375(a)(4).

(Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, as amended, Public Law 91-379, 84 Stat. 799; Public Law 91-558, 84 Stat. 1468; Public Law 92-8, 85 Stat. 13; Public Law 92-15, 85 Stat. 38; Economic Stabilization Act Amendments of 1971, Public Law 92-210; Executive Order No. 11640, 37 F.R. 1213, January 27, 1972; Cost of Living Council Order No. 4, 36 F.R. 20202, October 16, 1971)

By direction of the Commission.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on November 2, 1972.

JAMES B. MINOR,
General Counsel, Price Commission.

PART 305—PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

Miscellaneous Amendments

The purpose of these amendments to §§ 305.37 and 305.38 of the regulations of the Price Commission is to provide needed procedural flexibility to set a hearing date for a reconsideration by the Commission and for the submission of a report of that hearing to the Commission, and to expand the applicability of § 305.38 to include requests for modification or rescission.

Since these amendments involve procedural rules of the Commission, further notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary, and they may be adopted in less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, as amended, Public Law 91-379, 84 Stat. 799; Public Law 91-558, 84 Stat. 1468; Public Law 92-8, 85 Stat. 13; Public Law 92-15, 85 Stat. 38; Economic Stabilization Act Amendments of 1971, Public Law 92-210; Executive Order No. 11640, 37 F.R. 1213, January 27, 1972; Cost of Living Council Order No. 4, 36 F.R. 20202, October 16, 1971)

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 305 of Title 6 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as set forth below, effective November 2, 1972.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on November 2, 1972.

By direction of the Commission.

JAMES B. MINOR,
General Counsel, Price Commission.

1. Paragraph (a) of § 305.37 is amended by substituting the words "as expeditiously as possible after" for the words "within 10 days of" appearing in that paragraph.

2. Paragraph (d) of § 305.37 is amended by substituting the words "Where administratively feasible, within 10 days" for the words "Within 10 days" appearing at the beginning of that paragraph.

3. Section 305.38 is amended by adding the words "modification, or rescission," immediately after the word "reconsideration," appearing in the introductory clause of that section.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-272]

DETERMINING BASE RENT WHERE RENT PAYMENTS ARE FORGIVEN

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. On July 1, 1971, a tenant signs a 12-month lease for $100 per month. Possession is given on July 1, 1971, however, in consideration for having signed the lease, the $100 payments do not begin until September 1, 1971. On August 1, 1972, the landlord wishes to enter into a new lease on the residence for $100. Except for the 2½-percent authorized increase, no rent adjustments are authorized under Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.101, 37 F.R. 13226 (1972). The landlord does not intend to forgive the first month's rent; the payments begin on August 1, 1972.

Issue. May the landlord charge $100 under the new lease?

Ruling. No. Base rent is $85.71. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.201, 37 F.R. 13226 (1972) indicates that base rent is the rent charged (converted to a monthly basis) in the most recent rent payment interval before August 15, 1971. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 301.3, 37 F.R. 13226 (1972), relating to discounts in the case of forgiveness of any rent payment, gives the method for converting rent to a monthly basis. Under § 301.3 monthly rent so converted is $85.71

$$\frac{(12\times$100)}{14}.$$

Thus, the rent charged in the most recent rent payment interval before August 15, 1971, is $85.71, and any increase beyond 2½ percent of base rent is unauthorized under the regulations.

This ruling has been approved by the General Counsel of the Price Commission.

Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-273]

LOW PROFIT FIRM—SERVICE ORGANIZATION

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. P is a service organization. P also owns 100 percent interest in S and R. S is a service organization. R is a retailer. P, S, and R maintain consolidated financial statements on a calendar year basis. P produced revenues of $1 million in 1971. In the same year S produced revenues of $7 million and R produced $2 million. During its most recently ended fiscal year, S had a profit margin of less than 1 percent.

Issue. May the entity S or the group of entities P, S, and R, qualify for the service organization low-profit firm provisions of the Economic Stabilization Regulations?

V 37-214 NOV 4 72 XUM

Ruling. No. For the purposes of the low-profit provisions, the firm is considered to include the entities P, S, and R, and not the entity S standing alone.

Section 300.32(a) provides in part that "low profit firm" means any service organization which during its most recently ended fiscal year, obtained at least 90 percent of its revenues from the furnishing of services. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 300.32(a), 37 F.R. 10943 (1972). Firm means any entity however organized, and includes any entity that is part of or is directly or indirectly controlled by the firm. Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 101.2 (1972). In the present case, the firm is considered to include entities P, S, and R. Consequently, S may not qualify for low-profit treatment because it is not considered to be the firm. During the firm's most recently completed fiscal year only 80 percent of its revenues was obtained from furnishing services. Consequently, the firm does not qualify as a low-profit firm because it failed to obtain more than 90 percent of its revenues from services. However, a firm which does not qualify under § 300.31 or 300.32, but believes that its situation nevertheless warrants relief may apply for an exception.

This ruling has been approved by the General Counsel of the Price Commission.

[Price Commission Ruling 1972-274]

EFFECT OF PARENT FIRM'S FAILURE TO PRENOTIFY A PRICE INCREASE BY A CONTROLLED SUBSIDIARY

Price Commission Ruling

Facts. Corporation A, a prenotification firm, is a manufacturer which controls two manufacturing subsidiaries, B and C. On June 1, 1972, Corporation A properly requested approval of the Price Commission to increase the prices of certain of the products manufactured and sold by subsidiary B. The Commission approved the request on June 15, 1972, but on July 1, 1972, before the approved price increases were put into effect, subsidiary C improperly increased prices without prenotification in violation of Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.51(a) (1972).

Issue. Can subsidiary B increase its prices after July 1, 1972, pursuant to the Commission's approval of June 15, 1972?

Ruling. No. Economic Stabilization Regulations, § 300.53, 37 F.R. 13716 (1972) provides, among other things, that a person which fails to file a report or other document required by Economic Stabilization Regulations, 6 CFR 300.51 (1972) "may not implement any further price increases until he has complied with that reporting requirement and has obtained the specific approval of the Price Commission." Since the "person" which failed to prenotify the Commission, with respect to subsidiary C's price increases, was corporation A, it is the "person" to which § 300.53 applies and under that section, neither corporation A nor any of its subsidiaries may implement any further price increases until subsidiary C's increase has been properly prenotified and approved by the Commission and the Commission has approved other increases by the corporation. Further price increases are not authorized under § 300.53(a), until Commission approval is granted, even if they were previously approved by the Commission, but not yet instituted.

This ruling has been approved by the General Counsel of the Price Commission.

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS (INCLUDING POULTRY) AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

PART 75—COMMUNICABLE DISEASES IN HORSES, ASSES, MULES, AND ZEBRAS

Release of Area Quarantined and Deletion of Provisions Relating to Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis

Pursuant to provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, and the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126), Part 75, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of horses, asses, mules, and zebras, is hereby amended in the following respects:

In Part 75 the center heading "Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis" and § 75.4 are deleted.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended; secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended; secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended, 36 F.R. 20707, 21529, 21530, 37 F.R. 6327, 6505)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance. However, this action does not affect any violation that occurred, liability that was incurred or right that accrued prior to said date.

The amendment excludes Texas from the areas quarantined because of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis, and terminates the notice relating to the existence of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis and/or the vector of said disease and the other provisions in § 75.4 providing for quarantine and restrictions upon the interstate movement of horses, asses, mules, and zebras from quarantined areas. No area in the United States remains under quarantine.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis, and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. It does not appear that public participation in this rulemaking proceeding would make additional information available to the Department. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and unnecessary, and good cause is found for making it effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 31st day of October 1972.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

Title 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Chapter II—Federal Reserve System

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

PART 265—RULES REGARDING DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

Bank Acquisitions by Holding Companies

By order dated August 19, 1971, the Board delegated to the Reserve Banks authority to approve applications for the formation of one-bank holding companies, retaining exclusive authority to deny such applications. On August 20, 1971, by letter to the Reserve Banks, the Board established certain guidelines for the use of those Banks in exercising the authority delegated to them by the Board's order of August 19, 1971.

Thereafter, the Board received comments from various persons to the effect that the guidelines were being applied in a manner more restrictive than desirable and that the guidelines were having an undue adverse effect upon the transferability of bank stock. In order to explore these questions, the Board, by order of May 26, 1972, ordered that an oral presentation before available members of the Board be held on June 28, 1972. Upon consideration of material presented orally at that proceeding and through written submissions, the Board has decided to revise the guidelines and to incorporate them into the Board's rules regarding delegation of authority.

In adopting these guidelines, the Board emphasized that they are intended to expedite one-bank holding company formations by establishing general standards as set forth therein that will be used by a Reserve Bank under delegated authority to approve such applications. Applications not meeting such standards will be forwarded to the Board for further consideration. The Board noted that the standards as adopted are to be subject to continuing analysis and review. Amendments may be made if experience indicates that such changes are necessary or appropriate.

To accomplish this delegation, § 265.2 (f)(22) of the Board's rules regarding delegation of authority is amended to read as follows:

§ 265.2 Specific functions delegated to Board employees and Federal Reserve Banks.

* * * * *

(f) Each Federal Reserve Bank is authorized, as to member banks or other indicated organizations headquartered in its district:

* * * * *

(22) Under the provisions of section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842), to approve the acquisition by a company of a controlling interest in the voting shares of one bank, if all of the following conditions are met:

(i) No objection to the proposed acquisition has been made by the bank's supervisory authority,

(ii) No significant policy issue is raised by the proposal as to which the Board has not expressed its views,

(iii) Neither the holding company nor any of its subsidiaries or affiliates is engaged in any activities other than those specifically permissible for bank holding companies by either the Act or Part 225 of this chapter (Regulation Y),

(iv) Any offer to acquire shares of the bank will be extended to all shareholders of the same class on a substantially equal basis,[2]
